LAWYER FOUND GUILTY OF TAKING RANSOM MONEY

Ben B. Laska of Denver, Defender of Urschel Kidnaper, Convicted of Accepting It as Fee.

WOMAN WITNESS, AN ATTORNEY, HELD

Mrs. Molly O. Edison Accused of Perjury; Three Others in Oklahoma Case Given Paroles.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 15—Ben B. Laska, Denver lawyer, was convicted by a Federal Court jury today of knowingly accepting as a fee part of the $200,000 ransom paid in the abduction of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire. Laska was alleged to have received the money for defending Albert Bates, convicted kidnaper now serving a life sentence. The case went to the jury at 4:55 p. m. yesterday and the verdict was reached shortly after 6 p. m.

Crying "persecution," Laska moved for a new trial. Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught set July 2 for the hearing. He indicated the motion would be overruled and sentence passed then. A maximum of life imprisonment is possible.

When the jury had returned its verdict, Laska's star witness, Mrs. Molly O. Edison, also a Denver attorney, was arrested for alleged perjury.

Three Given Paroles.

Three Government witnesses who admitted guilt and aided the prosecution were given paroles from five-year sentences. They are Mrs. Clara Feldman—whom Bates married three months before his arrest in 1933—her son Edward and her brother-in-law, Alvin Scott.

James C. Mathers, Oklahoma City lawyer, co-defendant with Laska, had been acquitted by directed verdict. Mathers defended Harvey Bailey. Both Bates and Bailey are serving life sentences in Alcatraz prison.

Mrs. Edison, tearful at Laska's conviction and shocked by her own arrest, was released under $5000 bond pending preliminary hearing June 21. She pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Edison had testified in behalf of Laska that Edward Feldman, stepson of Bates, paid Laska $2970 in bills of various denominations instead of in the $20 ransom notes as Feldman testified. The Government will contend she did not tell the truth in testifying she helped count the money and that she erred in saying another person was with Feldman at the time.

"To Slit My Throat."

Laska is the first defender of kidnapers prosecuted by the Government on the contention he had guilty knowledge of the disposal of the ransom money.

During the trial, Feldman, member of the kidnaping gang, testified Laska not only accepted a part of the ransom money but directed its disposal. "He threatened to slit my throat if I didn't do as he directed," declared Feldman.

Judge Vaught had told the jurors Laska was charged with the same offense as his convicted client, for whose defense the lawyer was charged with receiving $10,000 of the ransom money.

"You are instructed that the purpose of the act," the Judge said, referring to the Lindbergh kidnaping law, "was to prevent kidnaping and to provide punishment for those guilty of a violation of the act.

"The underlying motive for kidnaping is not revenge or to wantonly bring sorrow and distress to a victim's home, but it is to secure a cash ransom for the release of the captive."

"It Will Put Fear Into Them."

"It's the worst miscarriage of justice I have seen in all my 27 years as an attorney," Laska railed. "They make an example of me because I have been successful in defending kidnapers, and it hurt their pride. . . It's one of the most inconsistent prosecutions in America. It's persecution, pure and simple. That jury never went out and considered the evidence. It had its mind made up. Each and every one of those jurors took an oath to listen fairly to all the testimony and they did not do it—they violated that oath."

W. C. Lewis, United States Attorney, said: "The conviction of Laska is one of the biggest victories the Government has won in its fight against kidnapers. It will put the fear of the law into a lot of crooked lawyers."

PENNSYLVANIA ABOLISHES "COAL AND IRON" POLICE

Gov. Earle Signs Bill Making Company-Paid Force Illegal After Long Record of Industrial Violence.

By the Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 15.—The "coal and iron" police who ruled company towns in Pennsylvania's great centers of industry for years, were abolished by the stroke of a pen today.

Gov. George H. Earle signed a bill making company-hired police illegal.

The history of the coal and iron police has been marked by violence. Workers in mill towns and mining camps have repeatedly banded together to fight them. The fatal beating of John Barcoski, a miner in the Pittsburgh district several years ago, hastened the end of the system.

Three coal and iron police were tried on charges of murdering Barcoski, but were freed. Later they were taken to another county and convicted of manslaughter. The Barcoski incident served to increase public indignation against what opponents termed "unwarranted brutality" of the company guards.

Pennsylvania in reality has not used coal and iron police for several years. Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot, outspoken opponent of the system, refused to renew commissions as they expired and Gov. Earle has continued this practice.

The officers generally were hired by the coal, iron and steel companies to protect their properties. Some wore uniforms, others had only cape to indicate their office, and some dressed much like the mine workers and mill hands they policed.

The guards had absolute authority on company ground. They made arrests. They had authority to carry on investigations and their opponents said these usually amounted to inquisitions. They maintained barracks where prisoners were held and many a miner has come forward with the charge that these barracks were "hell holes."

In recent years, since there have been no coal and iron police, companies have been paying deputies appointed by the Sheriffs, to guard their holdings. The deputies are responsible to the counties and not to the companies. Another bill in the Legisltaure is designed to prohibit this private employment of deputies.

If this measure is passed, the entire property guard system will be erased.

ITALY RECALLS ALL SILVER COINS FOR EAST AFRICAN USE

Officials Say Metal Is Needed for Possible Ethiopian Hostilities.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, June 15.—The Italian Government ordered tonight the recall of silver money circulating in the country.

Official and financial circles said the reason for the step was the ever greater necessity for supplies of this metal in connection with Italy's preparations for possible hostilities with Ethiopia.

Silver coins are the sole medium of exchange in both of Italy's African colonies, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland, and in Ethiopia.

A contributing factor, it was stated, was the United States' silver purchasing policy which has greatly increased the value of the metal both here and in East Africa.

The coins withdrawn from circulation, of five, ten and 20 lire, will be replaced by paper notes of the same denominations.

The official decree said the silver would be called into the National Treasury and held there in reserve. Official and other quarters agree, however, that the metal would be used in East Africa.

250 AT WEDDING TRAPPED IN FIRE; ONE DEAD, 50 HURT

Many Seriously Hurt in New York Including Bride-to-Be—Blaze in 5-Story Building.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Trapped in a flaming building, one man was fatally burned today, and at least 50 others attending a wedding were burned or injured, many seriously.

Firemen were unable to say whether anybody failed to get out of the building, a five-story structure known as The Mansion on the lower East Side.

Among those taken to hispitals in a serious condition were the bride-to-be, Pearl Sokolower, 21 years old, and her brother, David. The bridegroom, Louis Shein, 26, was slightly burned.

Screams of the terrified guests drew attention of patrolmen and pedestrians. It was estimated 250 peersons were in the building.

Police said the dead man was identified from cards in his pocket as Paul Stricker, 23, of Brooklyn. He lost his life after he had made several trips in and out of the burning building carrying children to safety.

Many members of the party became panic stricken and hung out the windows. Others jumped or fell to the sidewalk. The fire started on the second floor and made its way upward, shutting off all means of exit to the wedding group on the third floor. The pair had planned to be married at midnight.

Forty-seven persons were treated at Bellevue Hospital, of whom 21 remained, all suffering from first or second degree burns.

The car was driven by a man who said he was John H. Davis of Springfield, Ill. The injured man died of a skull injury at St. Louis County Hospital two hours after the accident.

17 ARE KILLED, 40 HURT IN RAIL CRASH IN LONDON

IMPACT SHATTERS FOUR COACHES

Explosion Follows and Rescuers Work in Darkness to Extricate Victims From Wreckage.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 15.—Seventeen persons were killed tonight when a fast train carrying newspapers ploughed into the London-Newcastle Express which was standing at Welwyn Station, in the metropolitan area.

The official report telephoned from Welwyn said 17 were killed, but two London newspapers said the dead numbered "30 so far." This could not be confirmed but it was thought many victims still were in the wreckage.

Forty persons, all aboard the Express which had stopped at Welwyn, were seriously injured.

An explosion followed the crash.

Soon after the accident eight bodies were removed from the wreckage.

The victims were aboard the express, the second section of the train running to Newcastle. It was crowded with week-end travelers leaving the city for a holiday.

Rescue work was hampered greatly by lack of lighting facilities.

The noise of the explosion was heard for miles around and brought to scene many persons in automobiles, on bicycles and afoot, some wearing evening clothes. All took part in the rescue work in the darkness.

All railway traffic was stopped, as the debris of four shattered coaches was strewn over four tracks of the line.

Volunteers from London hospitals hurried to the scene. The injured were taken over the bumpy rural roads for miles to the hospital at Hertford. There were only eight beds available in the local Cottage Hospital.

The authorities said the express train had not been scheduled to stop at Welwyn Station. The reason for the stop was not immediately learned. "That is a matter which still has to be investigated," said an official.

WILEY POST FAILS IN FOURTH SUB-STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT

Broken Piston Forces Him Down at Wichita in Attempt to Span Continent.

By the Associated Press.

WICHITA, Kan., June 15.—Wiley Post's monoplane "Winnie Mae," which has carried him on two record-breaking flights around the world, failed him today in his fourth attempt to set a transcontinental record through the substratosphere. He landed here at 3:30 p. m. because of a broken piston.

Post took off from Burbank, Cal., at 4:27 a. m. today for New York, 2447 miles away. He landed the plane on its fusilage here, having dropped the landing gear at the takeoff to reduce wind resistance. He said the broken piston forced him to turn back from a point near Davenport, Ia. The flyer who had expected to span the continent in eight hours, consumed about nine in reaching Wichita, only half-way across.

Post's first attempt last Feb. 22 ended on the Mojave Desert. In his second, March 15, effort, he reached Cleveland. His third, April 15, got him as far as Lafayette, Ind. Post said today he would try again, but not in the "Winnie Mae." Airport mechanics said the broken piston had permitted oil to enter the cockpit. Post's feet appeared to have been burned slightly, despite his heavy boots. Grimy-faced, he stepped out of the monoplane to encounter heat quite in contrast with the cold temperatures of the sub-stratosphere.

EWING MITCHELL FIRED; TO EXPOSE ABUSES, HE SAYS

CHARGED GRAFT IN DEPARTMENT

"I May Be Able to Clean It Up From Outside"—Successors' Confirmation Held Up.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Ewing Y. Mitchell, ousted as Assistant Secretary of Commerce by Order of President Roosevelt, after he had refused to resign, expressed a determination today to expose conditions in the Department of Commerce which he charges is riddled with graft and bureaucratic inefficiency.

"I haven't been able to clean it up from the inside," Mitchell said, "but perhaps I shall be more successful in cleaning it up from the optside. I expect to be here at least six months and I shall give all or most of my time to this effort."

Mitchell, a native of Springfield, Mo., where he practiced law for 20 years, has in numerous memoranda to his former chief, Secretary of Commerce Roper, made serious charges against the Bureau of Lighthouses, the Bureau of Air Commerce, the Bureau of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection, and particularly against the United States Shipping Board. He has promised to make public Monday correspondence he has had with President Roosevelt, setting forth certain of these charges.

Letter of Dismissal.

Roper called Mitchell into his office this morning to inform him that he was giving him one more opportunity to resign. "I have no intention of resigning," Mitchell replied.

"Then I must give you this," Roper said, handing him a letter from President Roosevelt.

The letter follows:

"Dear Sir: Reference is made to your recent letters of May 29 and 30, bringing to my attention certain matters relating to the Shipping Board Bureau and other services in the Department of Commerce. You state that these have been called to the attention of the Secretary of Commerce, and I am advised that on May 13 of this year, after conference with him, and as stated in your letter, pursuant to his suggestion you submitted what information you had to Attorney-General Cummings. Consequently, I am referring your two recent letters to the Department of Justice. You will, of course, be furnished every opportunity to amplify and substantiate your comments. The Department of Justice is being requested to continue energetically its consideration of your communications.

"In my letter to you of May 29, advising of my desire to reorganize and make more effective the transportation service of the Federal Government, I requested your resignation to open the way for the appointment of a man of wide administrative experience. You have declined to resign. Therefore, I hereby remove you from your office as Assistant Secretary of Commerce, effective immediately.

"Yours truly,
"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Successor Nominated.

The man of "wide administrative experience" was J. Monroe Johnson, a civil engineer of Columbia, S. C. Roper has never made public Johnson's name but Johnson announced in his home town that he had been offered the post and had wired his acceptance to Washington. That occurred on the day after President Roosevelt first wrote to demand Mitchell's resignation. Roper has long been active in the politics of South Carolina, his native state.

President Roosevelt sent Johnson's name to the Senate today for confirmation. Senator Byrnes (Dem.), South Carolina, moved for immediate confirmation but action was delayed by the objection of Senator Black (Dem.), of Alabama. Black is chairman of the Senate Committee that investigated ship and air mail subsidies. The Alabama Senator made a thorough inquiry into the deal under which the International Mercantile Marine Co., dominated by Vincent Astor, gained control of the Leviathan and

TWO AUTOS CRASH, BOY ON SIDEWALK INJURED

William K. Shields, 17-year-old son of William M. Shields, vice-president of the David G. Evans Coffee Co., was seriously injured last night when he was pinned against a telephone pole by an automobile which had been knocked by another on to the sidewalk at the southeast corner of Forest Park and Taylor avenues.

Shields was taken to City Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from fractures of the skull, pelvis and ribs and internal injuries. A companion, William Donahue, 16, who was knocked down, was treated at the hospital for bruises.

Phyllis Belflower, 13, daughter of Marvin Belflower, driver of the car which struck the boys, suffered severe cuts of the face and neck. She was taken to St. John's Hospital. Her mother was treated there for cuts and bruises. The Belflowers reside at 3136 Chaucer avenue, Overland.

Their car, southbound on Taylor, was struck by one eastbound on Forest Park and forced over the curb. The latter car overturned after the collision and the driver fled on foot. An hour later police arrested in the basement of a house at 4511 Forest Park, several doors west of Taylor, a man who gave his name as Floyd Hubbard, 23 a meat cutter, 4561 Audubon avenue. Police said he admitted leaving the overturned car after the accident. He was taken to City Hospital, where physicians said he had been drinking.

Hubbard said he had borrowed the car from his mother. The Forest Park address was the home of a friend, who went to the scene after the accident, he said.

Shields, a sophomore at Blewett High School, and Donahue, who attends St. Louis University High, were on their way to the Municipal Theater. The Shields home is at 4430 Forest Park, half a block from the scene of the accident. Donahue resides at 3751 Laclede avenue.

CLIPPER PLANE FLIES TO MIDWAY ISLAND

By the Associated Press.

MIDWAY ISLAND (Via PAN-AMERICAN AIRWAYS RADIO), June 15.—The Pan-American Clipper plane alighted at Midway Island at 7:40 p. m. (St. Louis time), completing its 1323 mile flight from Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu, begun at 10:27 a. m. (St. Louis time). The journey took nine hours and 13 minutes.

The flight is the first made without stop over this lonely sector of the Pacific and the second ever accomplished west from Honolulu.

"Beautiful dash and without indent," Capt. E. C. Musick, the Clipper's skipper, commented after his arrival.

Capt. Musick announced the 19-ton seaplane would remain here over Sunday to permit the flight crew to make a study of approaches to the lagoon and coral reefs which surround this port.

He said he expected to start the return flight to Honolulu, thence to California, Monday morning.

Every member of the staff of the airways base at this Mid-Pacific stop on the projected commercial air route between California and the Orient ran to the beach of the lagoon to greet the ship when it was sighted.

Besides the crew of six the Clipper carried two Pan-American Airways employes as passengers. Five gallons of ice cream was taken along as a treat for the 32 persons living at Midway Island.

The members of the crew estimated they had mapped approximately 300,000 square miles of this remote ocean stretch. The Clipper charts turned into the airport manager's office here this afternoon were filled with notations describing landing areas about the islands, depth of water, anchorages and permanent landmarks.

Captain Musick reported the course of Clipper today covered 1504 miles, although the direct airplane distance was only 1323 miles. The trip was made at normal cruising speed aided over most of the route by southeasterly trade winds.

The Clipper averaged 165 miles an hour.

Tonight a special banquet was served in the mess hall.

The mass flight of about 40 American naval planes several weeks ago was the only previous flight to Midway Island.

ALL STREET CAR SERVICE STOPPED AS TROOPS ARRIVE

Sale of Liquor Also Forbidden by Order of Acting Gov. Jurgensen — Streets Thronged With Crowds in Holiday Mood.

MILITARY COURTS WILL BE SET UP

Entire National Guard of State Ordered Out — Gov. Cochran Flying From Biloxi, Miss. to Take Charge.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., June 15.—Following the proclamation of martial law late today by Acting Governor Walter Jurgenson, no violence was reported here tonight. For the three previous nights in succession there had been clashes between police and sympathizers with the striking street car employes. Last night one man was killed, and 90 have been injured in the rioting. Martial law was proclaimed after the local authorities said they were unable to cope with the situation.

Militiamen appeared on the streets in ever increasing numbers as the entire 1800 men of the Nebraska National Guard mobilized and moved on the city.

The operation of street cars, which has caused the riots, was stopped at 7:30 p. m. today.

Jurgensen ordered all street car movement halted and all liquor dispensaries closed, saying the strike sympathizers needed "no stimulation."

The company removed the cars tonight, but said it expected to resume normal service tomorrow.

Crowds in Holiday Mood.

Crowds surged on the streets, but were in a carnival mood, sharply contrasting with the sullen crowds which clashed with police on previous nights.

The Omaha Guardsmen are under command of Brigadier-General Amos Thomas of Omaha.

Jurgensen issued his order after a long distance telephone conversation with Gov. R. L. Cochran who has been attending the Governors' conference at Biloxi, Miss. Mr. Cochran started home tonight by airplane to take charge of the situation.

Gov. Cochran's suggestion that only a small force be sent in to assist the local authorities was rejected by the Lieutenant-Governor on the advice of Adjutant-General H. J. Paul.

Gen. Paul announced that military courts would be set up immediately to try rioters.

Tear gas would not be used by the troops, he said, adding that regular war gases such as "sickening" gas and "knockout" gas would be furnished the soldiers.

Both Jurgenson and Gen. Paul made it clear that the troops were intervening only to protect lives and were not going in as strike breakers.

Mayor's Telegram.

Mayor Roy N. Towl of Omaha and Sheriff John Hopkins of Douglas County had telegraphed Jurgensen:

"Situation in Omaha beyond control of local authorities. Hundreds are arming and planning attack on car barns and business establishments. One killed and 90 injured last night. Police and Sheriff's force wholly inadequate to cope with the situation. Intervention of National Guards forthwith imperatively necessary to prevent serious loss of life and property. We hereby respectfully request such intervention in time to prevent rioting tonight."

The rioters burned six street cars valued by the company at $72,000.

The recent outbreak occurred after a long period of comparative quiet in the strike. The union employes of the street car company walked out April 20, to enforce demands for higher wages and shorter hours.

KINGFISH CALLED A CRAWFISH BY SENATOR ASHURST

LOUISIANIAN GIVES REPLY IN KIND

Reminds Colleague With Smile That Tadpole Is 'Washed Up in Larger Numbers.'

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The threatened war on Senator Long's anti-administration forays broke in the Senate today as veteran and "freshmen" Democrats alike lashed at the Louisianan with such words as "offensive" and "crawfish, grunt, puffer and King Fish."

Long replied in kind after the scholarly Senator Ashurst of Arizona had given him an extended tongue-whipping.

After the Democratic leader, Robinson of Arkansas, had heatedly resented an inference by Long that Postmaster-General Farley had "stolen" souvenir postage stamps for his friends Ashurst drew from his desk a prepared speech.

Calls Long "Crawfish."

He compared Long to crustacea such as the "crawfish, grunt and puffer," that are washed up on the shores only in turbulent times but which seldom appear when the "sea is calm and tranquil."

Applying this analogy to present-day economics, the Arizonan declared: "The same physical principle operates on mankind, when the distress of depression, the fury of financial panic and storm, and the terror of economic uncertainty agitate the people. . . . To all types of men, when confronted with any insecurity, . . . there come dangerous thoughts, feeling and fears, and thus some men usually called odd-fish, are forced to the surface from the swamps of anonymity."

Long smilingly "thanked" Ashurst for his "specially prepared speech. Apparently, he said, the Arizonan had been waiting for just such an opportunity.

"I thank the Senator," Long said, "but he has his facts a little wrong. . . . The Senator has overlooked one thing. There is another species washed up in larger numbers. That is the tadpole.

Long Says Tadpole is Worst.

"The tadpole is an animal that goes out and promises one thing and comes in and does another. That species is far more numerous than the Kingfish."

The free-for-all started when Ashurst put into the record an editorial criticising the parole system. Without defending the parole system, Long said too many major law violators were going free while minor offenders were being made "sure criminals" by retention for long periods behind prison bars.

He did not mention Farley by name, but said a "high Government official" had "stolen" stamps and nothing was done about it, while minor offenders against the same law were being jailed.

Robinson jumped up and asserted: "There has been to much repitition of this. I do not feel the Senator has any justification for that. It is offensive to everyone in the Senate but himself when he makes that statement."

Ashurst said that in "such a whirligig epoch as the present, many persons in normal times sensible, become over-wrought and unjustly suspect and defame such of their fellow citizens as do not subscribe to their particular reforms and gyrations.

"Therefore, the suspiciousness of the Senator from Louisiana and his intolerant attitude toward and his denunciations of his colleagues, are quite understandable."

"Curved Telescope."

The Arizonan told of an unpatented invention of a "curved telescope," through which a person could "see himself objectively as well as subjectively and hear and see precisely how he appears to the man across the street.

"I will venture the suggestion, that if the Senator from Louisiana should look through this telescope objectively, as he doubtless will do some day, for he is of an inquiring mind, he will distinctly perceive a man frequently disrespectful of the rights and feelings of others, exalting himself with an unwarranted sense of superiority over others less gifted and less fortunate than himself; a man too often taking undue advantage of his privileged position here; a man of reckless abandon in speech and relentless in his forays upon those who disagree with him."

Ashurst then told of Aeschylus, the earliest of the three "great tragic poets," who was born about 500 B. C., saying:

"A legend of doubtful authenticity states that Aeschylus was killed by a large turtle which an eagle let fall upon the head of the poet, mistaking the poet's head for a large stone.

"I express the hope that the American eagle will not be required to drop something on the head of the Senator from Louisiana before he takes the hint and recognizes his true relation to the Senate and the country."

13 DEAD IN TEXAS FLOOD, WATER WRECKS AUSTIN DAM

Trains Tied Up Including Rotarian Specials to Mexico—Strong Winds Sweep Area.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., June 15.—Strong winds swept over the flood area tonight in Central and Southwest Texas, where 13 lives have been lost and many are missing. Cloudbursts increased the floods.

A twisting wind destroyed a farmhouse and killed Elmer Burns, 48 years old, near Kaufman. Five persons were dead at Del Rio. A. J. Mitchell, farmer near Italy, was drowned with his wife and their two small children. Two were drowned at Kenedy and one at Victoria.

The raging Colorado River, at its greatest height in years, bore down on Austin, the State capital. The $800,000 Austin municipal dam, several miles above the city, was being gradually demolished. Water tumbled 10 feet over the top of the dam, ordinarily 68 feet above the water. More than half of the dam's super-structure had been destroyed. Austin was without lights and city water.

Brooks Field army pilots flew over Leakey, Camp Wood and Reagan Wells, cut off by flood waters Thursday night, and reported the towns indicated no outside aid was needed.

Laredo reported train service paralyzed on the National lines of Mexico at Altos, about 25 miles southwest of Laredo. Three special trains of Rotarians from the United States, bound for the international convention at Mexico, D. F., were held at Laredo, while two more were held at Nuevo Laredo, across the Rio Grande.

HOUSE VOTES TO RESTORE VETERANS TO PENSION ROLLS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Without a dissenting vote, the House today virtually ended all traces of the "1933 Economy Act" by approving the bill by Representative Smith (Dem.), Washington, to return 50,000 veterans to the pension rolls.

Advocated by President Roosevelt soon after he took office, the act removed pensions from many Spanish-American, Boxer Rebellion and Philippine Insurrection veterans, who could not prove disability in line of duty and reduced other gratuities.

The Smith bill re-enacts all pension laws in effect before March 19, 1933. It would mean an outlay of $45,581,132 a year, and increase the number of pensioners from 202,012 to 250,600, according to an estmiate by Veterans' Administrator Frank T. Hines.

Rice W. Means, of the United Spanish War veterans, estimated the cost would be $31,789,132.

ROW AT PACIFIST MEETING

Former French Air Minister Attempts to Speak at Macon, France.

By the Associated Press.

MACON, France, June 15.—An attempt of Deputy Pierre Cot, former Air Minister, to address a pacifist meeting tonight started a scuffle in which several policemen and others were injured.

Those attending the meeting fled before police reserves arrived to restore order. Last month a heckler threw a corrosive liquid in Cot's face as he addressed a public meeting at Aix-Les-Bains.

E. Y. MITCHELL, FIRED, TO EXPOSE ABUSES, HE SAYS

other passenger boats of the American Merchant Marine and pointed out that the company proposed to lay up America's only superliner. In the course of the hearings, the record of which fills nine printed volumes, Black did not hesitate to make plain his indignation at methods used by shipping interests to get "subsidies" from the Government. The deal laying up the Leviathan and remitting about $1,700,000 due in forfeits from the company for failure to operate the big boat was protested against by Mitchell before it was approved by Roper.

Johnson's experience as an engineer has been entirely confined to drainage work in South Carolina. He lists in his biography in Who's Who as the "principal projects" of his career the following:

Cow Castle drainage district, Orangeburg, S. C.; Catfish drainage district, Dillon, S. C.; Mars Bluff bridge, Peedee, S. C.; Society Hill (S. C.) bridge; Godfrey's bridge, Gresham, S. C.

He adds that he was "offered appointment as Assistant Secretary of War and regional adviser for public works by President Roosevelt in 1933." Johnson is a high officer of the American Legion.

One of "Original Roosevelt Men."

The ousting of Mitchell has a special irony in that he was the first Democrat in Missouri to work for Roosevelt. He says that he was responsible for swinging the Missouri delegation at the 1932 Democratic convention away from former Senator James A. Reed and for Roosevelt. Boss Tom Pendergast of Missouri, however, has denied that Mitchell rallied the Roosevelt forces at a crisis in the convention.

James A. Farley, leader of the Roosevelt campaign and now Postmaster-General, insisted during the pre-convention campaign, according to Mitchell, that Pendergast could be relied upon. But at the critical moment, Mitchell says, Pendergast remained with Reed and sought to hold the Missouri delegation in line. But before and after the convention Mitchell campaigned for Roosevelt throughout Missouri. He was chairman of the Roosevelt Business and Professional League in Missouri and has a letter from Jesse Isador Strauss, now Ambassador to France, congratulating him as the most effective chairman in a State. When flying from Kansas City to St. Louis to keep a campaign engagement, Mitchell nearly lost his life in an airplane crash.

Pendergast Against Him.

Pendergast and Farley have cooperated with Senators Clark and Truman of Missouri in the effort to oust Mitchell. President Roosevelt has twice refused to grant Mitchell an interview. In June of 1933 it was the President himself who insisted that Mitchell receive the Commerce Department post. The President asked Clark as a personal favor not to oppose Mitchell's confirmation in the Senate.

For several years Mitchell has been the most outspoken opponent of Boss Pendergast in the Democratic party. In April of 1934 during the bitter mayoralty fight in Kansas City, he denounced Pendergast and bossism in Missouri in a fiery speech. For this he was severely censured by Roper who warned him that if he interfered again in State politics he would be dismissed.

Mitchell on Plane Crash.

Mitchell has intimated that it was in part due to negligence and inefficiency on the part of the Bureau of Air Commerce that the Sky Chief, TWA plane, crashed near Atlanta, Mo., killing Senator Bronson C ng of New Mexico and four others. In his official report on the accident yesterday, Roper exonerated the Bureau of Air Commerce of all blame. Although nominally in charge of the bureau, Mitchell was not consulted about the report.

In charges which he is expected to make public next week, Mitchell will allege that the bureau has $14,700,000 in equipment for which there is no invoice. Much of this, according to Mitchell, has never been used and is now antiquated or worthless by reason of the fact that it has been entirely neglected.

ARBITERS SEEK TO BLOCK GENERAL STRIKE IN TOLEDO

Many Street Lights in Ohio City Put Out of Commission; Vandalism Charged.

By the Associated Press.

TOLEDO, O., June 15.—Arbitrators in the Toledo Edison Co. strike worked tonight to prevent a general walkout.

Edward F. McGrady, Assistant Secretary of Labor, late today asked E. D. Bieretz, international president of the Electrical Workers' Union, to fly here from Washington to approve any agreement reached by the conference. Bieretz said he would not come here to urge the men to return to work.

The Central Labor Union's "Committee of 23," representing nearly all labor unions in the city, voted to prepare for a general strike as the peace conference opened. Lawrence Aubry, chairman of the committee, said the Central Labor Union "represents 40,000 union workmen in Toledo."

A wide area of the city was darkened between midnight and dawn today due to damage to power lines. About 2000 of the city's 7000 street lights were out of commission "due to vandalism," J. F. O'Connor, vice-president of the company in charge of production, said.

The electrical workers' local and an office workers' union, both A. F. of L. affiliates, are asking for a 20 per cent wage increase.

The Edison company furnishes power over an area of 800 square miles in the Toledo territory, supplying about 400,000 people.

ROOSEVELT SAID TO PUT LIMIT ON PWA ALLOTMENTS

Reported to Have Made 45 Pct. Donation Maximum on State and City Projects.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Faced with the necessities of speed and the selection of low-cost projects, President Roosevelt is reported authoritatively today to have limited work relief contributions on state and municipal PWA projects to a 45 per cent donation. The remaining 55 per cent, it is asserted in an informed quarter, must come from private financing—or, possibly, from the PWA revolving fund which can be used for loans only.

The President's decision, which, with other policies, means that probably $2,000,000,000 of the works program will be carried out by Harry L. Hopkins' Works Progress Administration, coincided with the second birthday of the Public Works Administration.

Ickes' Statement.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, declaring the old PWA program had been "responsible in no small measure" for improved business conditions, said the PWA had checked the downward trend of construction activities in 1934. Of the initial $3,300,000,000 appropriation, $2,525,000,000 had been spent and the remainder obligated, he added.

"Economists, viewing the results of the PWA program," he said in a statement, "report that business has felt the stimulus. The industrial pulse has quickened, and opportunity for private employment has widened."

Meanwhile, Hopkins' assistants said that although the Works Progress program would be organized on lines similar to the old Civil Works Administration, larger funds for materials would make possible more useful projects.

Speculation in Wages.

They said wages would average about the same as under the CWA, where the average cost was $850, including materials, on the basis of a year's employment. Thus far no PWA projects, including $249,000,000 for the housing division and $1,620,000 in non-Federal allotments, have been approved by the President, although they were recommended by the Allotments Committee a month ago. Reductions in both types were considered probable.

Mr. Roosevelt was reported to be awaiting evidence that they could be completed within a year, and to be questioning, as well, the desirability of some of the $1,280,000,000 of projects he has already approved. They average $2000 a job, well over the $1140 average set for payments to labor and for materials for each man given work on a project. Projects which have high material costs thus have been threatened.

Further modifications in the program, it was reported in one informed quarter, is likely to follow Hopkins' conference with State Works Progress Administrators on Monday.

MAN FATALLY SHOT FLEEING FROM OFFICER

Herbert Votaw Breaks Away From Deputy Constable Trying to Arrest Him at Eureka.

Herbert Votaw, 20-year-old laborer of Allenton, was shot and fatally wounded last night by Deputy Constable Joseph Feco of Meramec Township, St. Louis County, when he broke away from the deputy, who had halted him in Eureka to serve a warrant charging him with forgery of a check.

Votaw was taken to St. Louis County Hospital where he died about an hour later of two bullet wounds in the back. The shooting occurred at 10:30 o'clock.

Feco said he had had the warrant for about six months but had been unable to find Votaw. The warrant was issued on complaint of the Rock Mercantile Co. of Eureka.

"I was driving along Highway 66," the deputy related, "when I saw a Buick sedan with five men in it, one of whom I recognized as Votaw, headed toward Eureka. I turned around and followed, but didn't stop the car until we got in front of a brightly lighted filling station.

"Then I told Votaw to get out, that I had a warrant for him. He jumped out and said: 'You're not going to get me,' and started to grapple with me. He broke away and ran, and after calling on him to stop, I fired one shot in the air and then two at him."

Meanwhile the four men in the Buick drove away. Feco said he did not know them and did not take the license number of their machine.

3 MEN ACCUSED IN INQUIRY IN SUPPOSED $264,000 WILL

Nurse Testifies She Signed Woman's Name to Document Four Hours After Death.

CHICAGO, June 15.—An investigation into a will purported to be that of Dr. Sophia Lipinska, wealthy Polish physician, who died in February, 1934, at Orlando, Fla., resulted today in filing of criminal informations against two witnesses and the executor of the document.

Those named in the information filed in Probate Court by Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the Public Administrator, were Attorney Max A. Drezmal, vice-president of a National bank and a member of the State Parole Board, and Dr. Harry C. Rome, who allegedly witnessed the will, and D. L. Olcese, a real estate broker, named as its executor.

The accusations were made after attorneys for Mrs. Sofjka Miller of Warsaw, Poland, brought suit to have the will set aside, representing that she was Dr. Lipinska's illegitimate daughter. The chief witness against the three men at today's hearing was Miss Marion Kuckta, a nurse, who attended Dr. Lipinska during her last illness, who declared she signed Dr. Lipinska's name to what she later learned was the will, five hours after Dr. Lipinska was dead. She signed, she testified, at the request of Olcese. The purported will left $14,000 to seven friends and the remainder of the estate, valued at $250,000, in trust for a Warsaw hospital.

DR. J. OLIVER BUSWELL,

PUBLIC CHURCH TRIAL JULY 8 FOR WHEATON COLLEGE HEAD

Dr. J. Oliver Buswell Says Result May Be Formation of New Presbyterian Branch.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 15.—The judicial commission of the Chicago Presbytery on July 8 will hold a public trial of Dr. J. Oliver Buswell, president of Wheaton College, for conspiring to "hinder and injure" the Presbyterian Church of the U. S. A.

It was decided to make the trial public at a preliminary hearing yesterday. Before the hearing, Dr. Buswell predicted that the trial might result in a new branch of the Presbyterian Church being formed.

The basis of the charge against him is his membership on the Independent Board for Presbyterian Foreign Missions, organized by a group calling themselves fundamentalists and opposed to "modernistic methods" of the regular Foreign Missions Board.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MAYOR BARS STRIKERS FROM WORK RELIEF

EAST ROCHESTER, N. H., June 15.—About 20 families of strikers at the Cocheco Mills received notices of eviction from company-owned houses today and Mayor S. W. Watson barred them from work relief projects.

Yesterday mill officials announced the indefinite suspension of operations because of inadequate police protection and violence. Fulton Rindge, mill treasurer, announced that families of workers who had continued to report for work after the mill's second reopening Monday, would not be evicted.

Mayor Watson said the strikers had an opportunity to work at the mills and could not take jobs depriving unemployed of subsistence.

FIGHT INDICATED OVER UTILITIES BILL IN HOUSE

Leaders Seek Roosevelt's View on Regulation Rather Than Abolition of Holding Concerns.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A survey of sentiment in the House, raising some doubt of their ability to press through a bill abolishing "unnecessary" utility holding companies, today prompted a decision by congressional chiefs to ask President Roosevelt if he would be satisfied with something less than abolition.

It was learned authoritatively that the poll showed sentiment so closely divided as to presage a stiff fight when the issue is brought to the floor.

Since the Senate by only a one-vote margin—45 to 44—defeated an amendment to regulate rather than abolish holding companies, there were clear indications that the President would be asked what he preferred.

Forecast by Chairman.

Chairman Rayburn (Dem.), Texas, of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, after a talk with the President, predicted today that some sort of bill regulating holding companies would be enacted this session. Although Rayburn, a staunch advocate of abolition, appeared more cheerful than in weeks, some persons on Capitol Hill thought it was significant that Rayburn said "regulation" and not "abolition."

After that conference, Rayburn went back to another sub-committee session, asserting that the utilities bill would be put before his full committee on Monday and be ready for House action week after next. Forecasts were that, whatever the committee did, there would be a clear-cut House vote on abolition vs. regulation.

Plans for TVA Bill.

Coincidently, plans were discussed today to put through a bill broadening the powers of the Tennessee Valley Authority. That also has passed the Senate, but was tabled by the House Military Affairs Committee and all efforts to get it off the table have failed.

There were two suggestions: First, that the Senate add the TVA to some other major bill and send it to the House again; second, that Chairman McSwain (Dem.), South Carolina, introduce a new bill and see what he could accomplish by agreeing to let the Comptroller-General have audit control over expenditures by the TVA.

UTILITIES BACKING FIGHT ON MAYOR, ALDERMAN SAYS

ENTERS HOT DEBATE WITH FITZSIMMONS

Charges Lobbyist Is in Chamber and Clerk's Office "Every Day for No Good Purpose."

Charges of public utility lobby influence were made against the majority of the Board of Aldermen, at yesterday's meeting, by Alderman Emmett Golden, of the minority supporting Mayor Dickmann in his patronage war with the board majority and the Democratic City Committee.

Golden referred especially to measures affecting Union Electric Power and Light Co., and he spoke of the frequent presence about the board room of a utility lobbyist. He was understood to refer to Vernon Flynn of Union Electric. The newly formed political connections of this utility company, which now has William L. Igoe's law firm as its counsel, have aroused much comment.

Golden, in a debate with Alderman Fitzsimmons of the majority, told of the killing, in a former term of the Board of Aldermen, of the proposed $750,000 item in the $16,-100,000 public improvements bond issue for a downtown power plant to light city buildings.

"Smothered Over My Protest."

"When I was vice-president of this board, and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Golden said, "the bond issue proposal had a section that called for a municipal power plant. That provision was smothered in the Ways and Means Committee, over my protest, while I insisted that it be called up.

"I charge that there is an influence of public utility interests in this board which is very strong. Every day, we have in the chamber and the clerk's office a representative of a utility, here for no good purpose.

"The majority of this board is not acting on the merits of legislation, but there is evidence that they are influenced by the public utilities."

No action was taken on pending bills affecting the Union Electric interests. The bills, now in committees controlled by the Mayor's opponents, include one for purchase of a site for the City Hospital power plant, and for reconstruction of other municipal power plants, and for a three-year contract for electric current for park lights and traffic signals. Union Electric would prefer to have a 10-year contract let, covering all the current needed by the city, including street lighting. Director of Public Utilities Wall and the Board of Public Service have withheld their consent to such an arrangement.

May Adjourn Friday.

The board is expected to adjourn for the summer soon, possibly next Friday. No action was taken yesterday on a number of bills which the Mayor, appearing in person a week before, asked the board to pass in the interest of public works and employment.

Fitzsimmons denied Golden's charge of undue lobby influence. He said the utilities had a right to representation at City Hall, and asked why, if lobbying was an evil, the city sends a lobbyist to Jefferson City.

Alderman Hastey, chairman of the public utilities committe, which has the bill for a three-year current contract, said the Mayor had charged that the bill for a power plant at the Chain of Rocks pumping station was being held up by his committee. He said the bill was in the hands of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, and asked Deputy Comptroller Cunningham, who was present, why it was held there.

Cunningham said the bill was being held in the Board of Estimate because Comptroller Nolte had asked time for further inquiry.

"And the Mayor," Hastey said, "charges that we are holding it up."

Alderman Collins said the Committee on Public Welfare, of which he is chairman, would take up, this week, the power plant bills and the bill for a psychopathic hospital, near City Hospital.

Collins Makes Speech.

Collins, earlier in the meeting, made a speech on the right of the board to make its own disposition of the power of appointing committees of the board. Mayor Dickmann has complained of the majority's action in denying to William L. Mason, elected Democratic president of the board, the right to name committees. Collins argued that the action of the board had a precedent in the State Senate, where a Democratic majority repeatedly took the appointing power from the Republican Lieutenant-Governor. When a Democrat, William R. Painter, was elected Lieutenant-Governor, he said, the power was not restored to him.

Defending the course of himself and his colleagues, Collins said all American legislative bodies were meant as checks on the executive power, and added, "If for this I am condemned as an insurgent, an insurgent I shall remain."

Alderman Scott, of the minority, said the precedents in the State Senate did not excuse the "destructive, obstructive methods," which he charged the majority with using.

Fitzsimmons Replies.

Fitzsimmons, replying to Scott, asked why the 12 minority members absented themselves from the recent caucus of the whole board, called to discuss the difficulties with the Mayor. Golden replied that the 12 did not wish to be found by the foreseen action of the majority. He then made his charge of lobby influence.

No direct mention was made, in the debate, of the discharge of 27 men and women, five of them members of the Democratic City Committee, from the city's employ, as an act of reprisal by the Mayor against the City Committee and the aldermanic majority.

A hearing on all pending liquor bills was announced for Wednesday at 10 a. m. At 2 p. m. Tuesday, a hearing will be held on the proposal to repeal the Sunday closing law applying to dry goods stores; also on a proposed bill to close furniture stores on Sunday. At 2 p. m. Wednesday a hearing will be held on a proposed amendment to the city sales, or manufacturers and merchants' license tax. It is proposed to limit the tax to goods produced for sale in the city.

Fitzsimmons introduced a bill to appropriate $15,000 for use of the Board of Estimate and the special gas committee, by an arrangement with the United States Bureau of Mines, to make an exhaustive study of the possibilities of getting a smokeless fuel for St. Louis.

CLARA PHILLIPS WILL LEAVE PRISON TODAY

Californian Hammer Murderer Paroled After Serving 12 Years of 30-Year Term.

By the Associated Press.

TEHACHAPI, Cal., June 15.—Clara Phillips, notorious hammer murderer, will be freed from the California women's prison Monday over the protest of woman's clubs throughout the State. She was granted a parole after serving 12 years of a 30-year term for killing Mrs. Alberta Meadows.

"I hope there are those who will understand me," Mrs. Phillips said. "I want to see my mother."

Mrs. Phillips, then 23 years old, suspected her husband, Armour, of intimacy with Mrs. Meadows. She lured Mrs. Meadows, 20-year-old widow, to a secluded road and beat her to death with a hammer. Later, she escaped from Los Angeles County jail, only to be recaptured in Honduras.

Ten years ago her husband, who, records show, has never divorced her, said he would be waiting when his wife was released and that he would attempt to make amends. Mrs. Phillips, however, indicated he had gone from her life. "I never expect to have another husband," she said.

Her hair has turned from blonde to a light brown with a trace of gray.

Mrs. Phillips has been studying dentistry. She said she wished to become a laboratory worker.

"There is a great deal more kindness in this world behind the bars than in the world outside," she said.

MAN WHO KILLED BROTHER OVER AFFAIR WITH WIFE FREED

District Attorney Says He Lacks Evidence in Case of Irven Weedman of California.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., June 15.—Irven F. Weedman, 28 years old, who confessed he killed his brother, Roy, two weeks ago, was released from the county jail today after District Attorney Tom Scott said he "lacked sufficient evidence to convict."

Evidence at the inquest showed that Irven Weedman's wife, Laverne, had decided to live with Roy Weedman and that when the two came to the husband's home to get her clothes, he shot his brother.

Mrs. Weedman embraced her husband at the Coroner's inquest and again as Weedman was taken to jail.

HOOVER'S NATIONAL PARK IDEA

Suggests Broad Highway Linking Western Scenic Wonders.

OGDEN, Utah, June 15.—Former President Herbert Hoover, suggested an engineering project which would revolutionize motor travel to Western National parks, as he paused in Ogden today with his son, Allan, en route from New York City to his home in California.

He visualized a broad north and south highway, from Glacier National Park near the Canadian border in Montana, through Yellowstone Park, into Utah and through Bryce and Zion National Parks and extending to Grand Canyon of the Colorado in Arizona. "It would be a sort of national park belt line and one of the greatest roads in the West," he said.

JURY DISCHARGED IN MURDER PLOT CASE IN MARYLAND

Unable to Agree After 9 Hours as to Mrs. Lyddane, Accused of Conspiracy to Kill Husband.

By the Associated Press.

ROCKVILLE, Md., June 15.—Unable to agree on a verdict, the jury which heard the trial of Mrs. Anne Lyddane, charged with conspiring to murder her husband, was discharged shortly before midnight tonight.

Mrs. Lyddane, 31-year-old bank secretary, whose husband, Francis Lyddane, testified in here behalf, was accused on five counts of an indictment.

The jury composed of older men, received the case at 2:45 p. m. today.

Final arguments ran more than four hours, punctuated by protests as one side or the other objected that the testimony did not justify the statements of lawyers.

James H. Pugh, State's Attorney, asserted Mrs. Lyddane's love for Arthur Beall, husband of Mrs. Josephine Beall whose life she is also accused of having sought, and a desire to collect her own husband's $30,000 life insurance, were her motives in the alleged negotiations with four underworld figures for the killings.

Stedman Prescott, defense counsel, pleaded with the jury not to convict Mrs. Lyddane on the testimony of "double crossing racketeers and ex-convicts."

State's Attorney Pugh offered the so-called "Googy note" in an effort to refute Mrs. Lyddane's story that in reality she was the victim of a blackmail plot and had paid out "hush money" to keep the men from telling what they knew of her affair with Beall.

Experts testified that this letter, found in the possession of John (Googy) Carnell, one of the men indicted with Mrs. Lyddane, was written on Mrs. Lyddane's typewriter and on paper similar to that in her office. She denies authorship of it.

"Truth will out and this note pins it right on the defendant," Pugh told the jury.

He stressed this sentence in the note: "I am as much implicated as any of you, and I do not care what happens if you do not go through with the deal."

"Why should she be implicated if she only paid hush money?" he asked. "As to her contention that she paid hush money—what did she have to hush up? Everybody knew of her affair with Beall."

"During November several men threatened to disclose things about Beall and myself," Mrs. Lyddane testified yesterday. "The man said he had pictures and I had better come across with hush money. He wanted $200. I didn't have that much. I drew $60 and $40 from two accounts, borrowed $25, took money from a Christmas savings account."

Taking of testimony in the trial was completed last night with Lyddane defending his wife. He testified he never had suspected his wife's behavior and that even after she had been indicted he had continued to live with her.

He admitted that he had given two checks for insurance premiums when he had no bank balance, but that in both instances his wife had made them good.

Woman Aids in Store Holdup.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, June 15.—A red-haired woman and a male companion tonight robbed the Florsheim Shoe Store and its customers of $111, two pairs of shoes and jewelry valued at $400. The woman guarded the victims with a revolver while the man tied them with wire.

DEATH PENALTY FOR CONVICT WHO KILLED OFFICER

Jury Finds George McKeever Guilty in Murder of Highway Patrolman at Columbia, Mo.

By the Associated Press.

FULTON, Mo., June 15. — After less than two hours' deliberation a jury tonight found George McKeever, North Dakota convict, guilty in the first degree for the murder two years ago of Highway Patrolman Ben Booth at Columbia and assessed the death penalty.

It was the first time since the Civil War that either a jury or a Judge in Callaway County has used a death penalty.

Hartley Crowson, farmer-foreman, delivered the verdict to Judge W. M. Dinwiddie shortly before 10 o'clock.

McKeever sat slumped in a chair in the Courtroom. Over on the other side of the room, heavily guarded, was his brother-in-law, Francis McNeiley, Allerton (Ia.) farm youth, who testified against him. Neither showed any change of expression at the verdict.

McKeever was started for Jefferson City tonight to be held there in jail while his attorneys were given until June 24 to file a motion for a new trial.

McNeiley has not been sentenced. He pleaded guilty and testified yesterday that McKeever was his companion when Booth and Sheriff Roger Wilson of Boone County were shot to death by them at a highway intersection near Columbia.

McKeever, he said, stood over Booth, where he had fallen wounded, and fired a shot into his back. McNeiley admitted that he killed the Sheriff.

The jury began deliberating about 7:30 o'clock tonight.

WOMAN WHO KILLED HUSBAND ACQUITTED IN 3 MINUTES

Arkansas Jury Frees Her After Story of Brutality; Unable to Remember Shooting.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 15.—A jury in three minutes late today acquitted Mrs. Iola Wilkerson, 34 years old, in the killing of her husband after hearing the former rural school teacher's story of brutal treatment over a 15-year period of married life.

The defendant, mother of two children, testified she remembered nothing of the shooting of J. T. Wilkerson, cosmetic salesman. Mrs. Wilkerson alleged self defense and temporary insanity. She said her husband had threatened to kill her a few weeks before the shooting.

"He told me he could get someone to kill me for $100 and that he could put my body in a house and burn it," Mrs. Wilkerson testified.

The children, James T. Jr., 11, and Billie Katherine, 8, said their father cursed and hit their mother. They testified he had fired a pistol in the house several times. Wilkerson was found shot to death in the bathroom of their home.

Weighted With Rock, Hands and Feet Bound, in Water at Bangor (Pa.) House.

By the Associated Press.

BANGOR, Pa., June 15.—The nude body of a woman who had been strangled to death with wire, was found at the bottom of a cistern today, bound hand and foot and weighted with a rock.

Dr. Theodore Reichbaum, Deputy Coroner, said the woman was between 25 and 35 years of age. The body had been in the water for between two weeks and a month, he said. There were no outward signs of injury, other than the marks around her neck, he said.

The body was discovered by Miss Olga Dithomas, 18, who went to get a bucket of water from the cistern, in the rear of her home, to sprinkle her garden. Officials planned to pump the water from the cistern to determine if any of the woman's clothing is there.

LIFE FOR ARRANGING STEPSON'S MURDER

Jury Recommends Thayer (Mo.) Man Be Barred From Pardon.

By the Associated Press.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., June 15.—Rufus E. Edwards, Thayer, Mo., was found guilty of plotting the murder of his stepson, Oscar Bushart, for insurance, and recommended a life sentence without pardon. Thayer was accused of hiring two men to murder Bushart and burn the body in his automobile.

The jury was out 46 hours. At one time the jury stood 8 to 4 for the death penalty.

Before the trial began two clergymen on the jury led in the singing of hymns in the courtroom of Judge W. H. D. Green.

Joe Braden, who with Ike Dawson, admitted killing Bushart, testified against Edwards and pleaded guilty. He has not been sentenced. Ike Dawson pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Judge Green said sentence would be pronounced at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon.

On the witness stand Edwards admitted authorship of the confession attributed to him and introduced by the State in which the State said he hoped to collect $4000 in accident insurance by the finding of Bushart's burned body in his overturned automobile. He admitted he wanted to "get rid" of his stepson, but said this was because Bushart was a financial burden, and he feared for his own life at Bushart's hands.

The jury's verdict, as signed by Foreman Barker, read that Edwards be "sentenced the rest of his natural life without pardon." While it is not within a jury's province to determine the length of time a guilty man must serve in prison, this jury sought to show its feeling in the case. Throughout the deliberation there was apparently no doubt about Edwards' guilt.

COAL STRIKE OFF; PARLEY ON NEW CONTRACTS SET

Operators and Miners Agree to Keep Present Scales Till June 30 — Conference on 24th.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15. — The threat of a soft coal strike, set for tomorrow midnight, was removed today when Appalachian producers agreed with the United Mine Workers to continue present wages, hours and working conditions through June 30.

The coal producers represented at a joint conference with the miners agreed unanimously to reassemble June 24 to negotiate new agreements to replace those expiring June 30.

This action was requested by President Roosevelt yesterday to give Congress time to act on the Guffey Coal stabilization bill before the bituminous situation was further confused by a strike.

Several Southern producing districts were not represented at today's conference, but John L. Lewis, president of the mine union, expressed confidence they would "go along." Most of the operators in these Southern districts oppose the Guffey bill to create a "little NRA" for the soft coal industry.

Operators Who Favor Bill.

Operators who oppose the Guffey bill say it would harness the industry with harmful regulation. They plan to test the measure's constitutionality in the courts if it is enacted.

Duncan C. Kennedy of Charleston, W. Va., chairman of the Appalachian joint wage conference, told operators today, however, that the contract extension was entirely apart from any consideration of the Guffey bill. He reported that President Roosevelt had requested the extension yesterday at a White House conference which he, Lewis, Senator Guffey (Dem.), Pennsylvania, and Representative Snyder (Dem.), Pennsylvania, attended. At that time Lewis said Mr. Roosevelt expressed his support for the bill and predicted speedy enactment.

Operators favoring the bill—mostly from the Northern fields—refused to make new wage and hour contracts because, they said, without the bill, they were not assured of sufficient income to guarantee payment of the wages the new contracts would provide.

The Guffey bill would allow the operators to fix prices. Opponents say they could pay the wages the union asks, "with adjustments," if they extended the marketing agency plan started with Appalachian Coals, Inc.

The House Ways and Means Committee will start hearings on the Guffey bill Monday. Lewis and a number of operators expect to testify.

Opposition Statement.

Hugh R. Hawthorne, vice-president of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. and chairman of the committee against Guffey coal bill, issued the following statement:

"During the current week we have made a new survey of the industry as to the attitude of the operators toward the Guffey bill. Based on the production figures of 1934, the survey shows that all or an overwhelming majority of the operators in 21 of the 26 coal states are against the Guffey bill and that there is substantial opposiiton in each of the other states. More than 60 per cent of the industry is definitely opposed to the Guffey bill. This tabulation does not include the operators whose position has not been directly communicated to the committee.

"This survey definitely demonstrates that the sentiment in the industry is overwhelmingly against the Guffey bill.

"The opposition has grown steadily as the operators have informed themselves on the provisions of the bill. Expressions secured from the operators in connection with the survey show a strong feeling throughout the industry that the plan of the Guffey bill is unworkable and the conviction that it is unconstitutional. The industry does not want to be thrown into the turmoil which must follow the enactment of legislation of more than doubtful constitutionality.

"Absolutely Wrong."

"It has been said that the Guffey bill provides a new NRA for the coal industry. This is absolutely wrong. The NRA provided for self-government of industry under Government supervision. The Guffey bill would place the Government in direct control of the industry. The intrusion of Government in management is not to the best interests of the coal business or any other industry. If the principles which are sought to be established in the Guffey bill were to be accepted, we may expect a continuing effort to extend them to all other major industries.

"The opponents of the Guffey bill are gratified that wage negotiations have been resumed. The establishment of fair wages and hours must depend entirely upon economic conditions and cannot be governed by legislation. The Guffey bill is not emergency legislation. There is nothing in it to justify the operators or the miners in delaying for one moment their efforts to secure a continuation of a stabilized industry."

Postponement of the soft coal strike found industries and retail dealers with more than scix weeks' supply of the fuel on hand. The Bureau of Mines reported today production of bituminous coal during the week ended June 8 increased more than 26 per cent over the preceding week to 8,610,000 tons, or "sufficient to provide for a substantial addition to consumers' stocks. On June 1, the Bureau said, the supply on hand was enough for about 38 days. The output of Pennsylvania hard coal increased 11.9 per cent during the week ended June 8 to a total of 1,387,000 tons.

President Signs Seamen's Bill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Roosevelt today signed the bill of Representative Bland (Dem.), Virginia, designed to open 10,000 jobs to American seamen by requiring all United States vessels to carry crews composed of two-thirds native born or naturalized citizens. It nullifies permission for aliens, who merely have filed intention of citizenship, from filling half the berths aboard American ships as provided under the 1928 merchant marine act.

TREASURY RENEWS NOTES; CUTS INTEREST

$770,467,000 Issue at 1 1-2 Pct.; Deficit Estimate Is $3,233,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—While all but one European nation defaulted on war debt payments, as usual, the Treasury—like most any debt-burdened individual—renewed its maturing notes today and took a look at the financial future.

It cut down interest charges through an exchange offer of notes yielding only 1½ per cent for a block of $770,467,800 on which it had been paying higher interest; $416,602,800 in 3 per cent notes maturing today and $353,865,000 in 1⅝ per cent notes maturing Aug. 1.

The annual saving in interest charges was estimated at more than $6,500,000.

At the same time, the Treasury watched June income tax installment payments rise toward an estimated total of $272,000,000. This was less, of course, than March collections which ran to $330,000,000, because many pay the full year's tax in a lump, but well above the total for June 1934.

What Defaulters Owe.

Of the European nations which owed war debt payments today, all defaulted except Finland, which as usual paid. Its payment was $165,453—with $180,000,000 due today and the cumulative total of today's defaulted payments and past arrears which rose to some $812,000,000.

The payments due today and arrears were: Belgium $7,409,453 and $21,578,361; Czecho-Slovakia, $1,682,812 and $6,218,524; Estonia, $322,850 and $1,844,185; France, $64,367,137 and $163,616,845; Great Britain, $85,670,765 and $379,461,776; Hungary, $37,410 and $202,249; Italy, $15,141,593 and $30,570,196; Latvia, $134,883, and $642,028; Lithuania, $164,351 and $490,501; Poland, $4,039,000 and $22,972,909; Rumania, $1,448,750 and $2,346,250, and Yugoslavia, $325,000 and $825,000.

Belgium Cites Trade Barriers.

The Belgian debt note said that nation has been "particularly affected by the paralysis of international commerce" in listing its reasons for not resuming payments.

It declared the Belgian Government is convinced that an "essential condition" for business recovery is the "lowering of the barriers which impede international trade," and asserted that the "agreement recently concluded with the United States constitutes a first step in this direction."

"It is necessary to continue to pursue this policy," the note continued, "its success appears as the essential condition on which depends the comprehensive solution of the economic and financial problems raised by the great war."

Checking its financial outlook in other respects, the Treasury found that on June 13, with 17 days of the 1935 fiscal year to run, it had a deficit of $3,233,024,899, total expenditures of $6,735,052,967 and total receipts of $3,502,028,067. Both receipts and expenditures were greater than on the same date a year ago, while the deficit was smaller than the $3,739,297,931 figure reported on June 13, 1934.

Inheritance and Gift Taxes.

Looking into future needs, the Treasury has recommended the continuation of nuisance taxes otherwise scheduled to expire July 1, which are the estimated source of $501,000,000 in revenue next fiscal year. The necessary legislation has been approved by the Ways and Means Committee and is scheduled for House consideration Monday.

Moreover, Secretary Morgenthau was ready to go before congressional committees, when and if requested, with recommendations for the imposition of an inheritance tax and an increased gift tax estimated to yield from $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 next year.

MILWAUKEE SHOEMAKERS TO SHARE FIRM'S PROFITS

Go On Yearly Salary Basis; Get 52 Pay Checks a Year Regardless of Business.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 15.—The 700 shoemakers employed by the Nunn-Bush factory are going on a yearly salary basis, assured of 52 pay checks a year whether business is good or bad. Their annual income, according to a plan announced today, will rise or fall with the company's profits, but cannot be less than it is now, H. L. Nunn said. The amount of the minimum wage was not made public.

"The whole plan is based on an agreement with the workers as to what part of the dollar we receive, labor is entitled to," Nunn said.

The plan guarantees a fixed proportion of profits to be set aside as "group salary" and distributed as a bonus. It was worked out by the management and the 20-year old employes' organization, and was approved by a vote of slightly more than 89 per cent of the workers.

HOW A FAMOUS SLEUTH TRAILED TAXI DRIVERS—QUIZZED FARMERS, SALESMEN—EVEN SHADOWED POLICEMEN

TO RUN DOWN EVIDENCE ABOUT G3

The saga of a spectacular tire hunt—which sent America's pioneer fingerprint expert on a 7,000-mile search for cold-turkey facts—with an ace reporter hot on his heels

EDITORIAL NOTE: We believe the man who pays out his good money for any product wants to read advertising based on something more than a good imagination and a good dictionary. Guided by this belief, we first introduced the now famous "G-3" All-Weather by presenting evidence of its performance taken straight from Goodyear test-fleet records. Now we carry our search for authentic evidence even farther by hiring a famous former operative from the New York Detective Bureau and present Chief of Department of Identification, Commercial Crime Commission, to find out how this tire is behaving on owners' cars. Here is the true story of what he discovered, written for you by an ace reporter who went along.)

by JAMES CANNON
Former Ace Reporter, New York Journal

TIRE hunting was a new job for Fingerprint Faurot, but he knew how to get the facts.

This famous man-tracker rose from the ranks—from beat-pounding rookie to Deputy Police Commissioner of New York—from uniformed cop to greatest scientific detective of his day—the first man to use fingerprints as evidence in an American court room.

He convicted criminals with facts, not theories—built up a bulwark of evidence that juries recognized as gospel.

So Goodyear sought out Faurot. They needed a super-sleuth for a daring job. They wanted to put their own tire under suspicion. They wanted to know how in the hands of actual users the famed "G-3" All-Weather was living up to its reputation for giving 43% more safety mileage. They wanted unimpeachable evidence, and Faurot was the man to bring it in.

That's how "the case of the "G-3" All-Weather Tire" came to challenge the skill of a great detective—and sent him zigzagging across the country. Tall towers and tumbleweeds—cow country and traffic-knotted streets—boulevards and back yards—byroads and Broadway—he covered them all in the greatest tire hunt in history.

Could any tire match this record?

You may remember how Goodyear "G-3" All-Weathers first made the headlines just about a year ago.

The problem on all tires then—even on Goodyears—was fast tread wear, due to the higher speeds and quicker stops and starts of the nimbler, more powerful new cars.

How I ran down the facts on the "G-3" All-Weather

By JOSEPH A. FAUROT
Former Deputy Commissioner New York Police Department, present Chief of Department of Identification, Commercial Crime Commission

I used the same methods to "get the goods" on "G-3" All-Weather tires that I employed to hunt criminals when I was Deputy Police Commissioner of New York City. Naturally, the element of danger was eliminated in the tire hunt. But, except for that, all the elements of the man-hunt were present as I crossed the country in the greatest tire hunt in history.

I have tracked down many a murderer. I had nothing against them. They had committed a crime against society. It was my job to get them.

The same thing applies to the "G-3" Tire Hunt. I was hired as a detective. They told me to investigate the "G-3" All-Weather tire. They sent me out among the people to discover how "G-3" was standing up under the daily grind. They told me to check "G-3" tires everywhere under all possible conditions.

I had no other instructions. I was not told to make the tire "look good." I was told to get the evidence. I got the evidence.

It was a funny experience for me. All my life I was used to dealing with the criminal class. They always tried to conceal the information I sought. It was just the opposite with these people.

"G-3" All-Weather users were eager to tell me of their experiences with the tire. They boasted they used it—kicked it to show how sturdy it was—patted it affectionately as though it were a human being, and not a piece of rubber filled with air.

It amazed me. When I got the assignment, I thought these people I would have to question would resent my wasting their time. Instead, they welcomed me as soon as I revealed that I was a "G-3" man.

I have been gathering evidence a long time. I guess I have worked on every kind of case that comes into a great police department's jurisdiction.

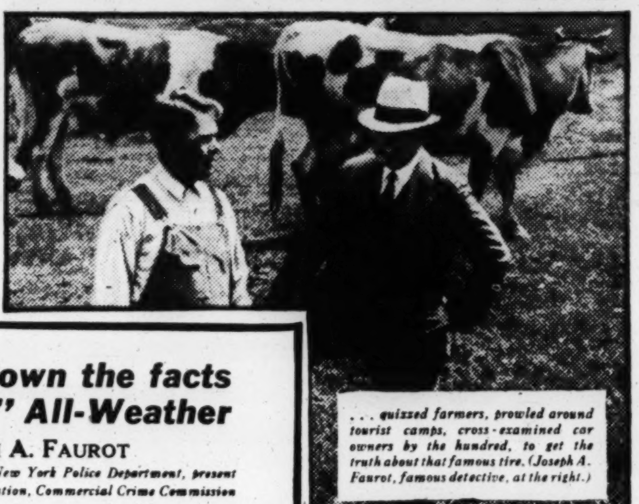
But never have I seen a clearer case than the Case of the "G-3" Tire.

People wanted longer-wearing tires—and more non-skid safety, too—both of which came down to longer non-skid mileage.

In trying to find the answer, Goodyear even shipped granite grit from desert and mountain districts—made grindstones to test tread toughness.

Rubber smoked and shredded under that punishment. But one design stood out above all others. It was marked with the laboratory symbol "G-3."

And then came the road tests—a round-the-clock third degree on the test-fleet. "Speed up to fifty—jam on the brakes—speed up to fifty—jam on the brakes!" Drivers worked in shifts—brakes burned out—but those "G-3" All-Weathers took it on the chin and came back for more. They beat their own famous predecessors in non-skid mileage by 43%—stood up twice as long as other tires tested against them.



... quizzed farmers, prowled around tourist camps, cross-examined car owners by the hundred, to get the truth about that famous tire. (Joseph A. Faurot, famous detective, at the right.)

Then they went out to the public, smashing all sales records as they went.

But there was one factor in tire performance they yet had to meet, and only time could tell how they would meet it.

Where the difference comes in

It's one thing to check a tire's performance on a test-fleet—it's another to know what that tire will do on the wheels of several million cars as the public drives them.

Engineers declare that a tire may deliver anywhere from 4,000 to 40,000 miles, depending on the treatment it gets.

If a man "steps on it" hard, stomps his brakes in sudden, grinding stops, spins his wheels in hurtling getaways, slams around corners on two wheels—he is needlessly burning not only gasoline, but rubber.

But the same tires—on the car of a normal driver—might give three times the mileage.

So the question remained, how would this "G-3" All-Weather, despite its magnificent performance under test, stand up under the varying usage it would get in the hands of different drivers.

A full, true and complete answer to this question was Goodyear's demand—so the bold step was taken—and Fingerprint Faurot took up the trail.

Now comes the evidence!

Let's skip the patient hours of checking, shadowing, trailing every "G-3" tire and "G-3" user—and let the records speak for themselves. Here, in the crisply accurate notes of a scientific detective—shorn of everything except bare facts—are typical cases from the notebooks of Inspector Faurot:

Tire No. 35203277K — one of set, all "G-3" All-Weathers — on light sedan. Spotted on Grand Boulevard, Detroit. Wyoming license number.

Speedometer readings: 13,475. Tire mileage same. Upon examination of tread, felt slight prickling sensation in fingertips when passed along tire shoulder. Under magnifying glass, tiny slivers in rubber were discovered. Extracted samples, found them to be cactus thorns.

Statement of owner: Explained thorns by fact car is used for rabbit hunting, cutting straight across open prairie. Also formerly used Goodyear tires. Drove last set until worn to fabric at 30,000 miles. Refused to estimate comparison between former tires and "G-3".

Evidence in tire: Tread shows very slight wear. Mileage now 44% of total received from former tires, and tread still in excellent condition. Non-skid mileage should equal total mileage received from former Goodyears.

Let's try some more

Here are a few, packed down for brevity. Hundreds more like them are now locked in Goodyear's files:

Chicago salesman—buying new "G-3's" to replace tires of other make on rear wheels. Mileage of "G-3's" on front 22,454 miles. Tread pattern still showing. Mileage of tires replaced 16,000.

Michigan state police—radio squad car, travels 24 hours a day. Speeds, 35 to 80 m. p. h. Mileage 20,341. Practically no sign of wear. At least 45% better than former tires.

San Francisco credit manager—mileage 19,501. Travels 15% dirt and gravel roads, 85% paved. Non-skid tread about half gone. Easily 50% better than former tires.

We let those records speak for themselves. But one thing is missing to complete the real story of "G-3" All-Weathers—and that is the credit due to Supertwist, that super-resilient, extra-durable ply material inside every Goodyear tire—the one thing which could make this bigger, heavier, wider, flatter "G-3" tread a complete success.

With all their extra miles of safety—with all their added protection from blowouts built in every ply—these great tires do not cost an extra cent to buy.

THE GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY, INC.
AKRON, OHIO

Over and over Faurot's reports

PROVED

"G-3" All-Weather tread delivers more than 43% longer non-skid mileage!

—because of the broader road contact of a flatter, wider All-Weather tread —because of the slow, even wear of closer-nested non-skid blocks and wider riding ribs

—because of more rubber in the tread—an average of two pounds more per tire

MEXICO'S PRESIDENT FORMING NEW CABINET

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., June 15.—Students joined labor in condemnation of former President Plutarco Elias Calles today after President Lazaro Cardenas, at odds with Mexico's "strong man," forced his Cabinet and other high officials to resign.

As differences between Calles, the "leader of the revolution," and Cardenas became more pronounced several hundred students, demonstrating before the Department of Agriculture, shouted "Death to Calles" and "Death to Garrido." Thomas Garrido a Canabal, former Governor of Tabasco, is Cardenas' Secretary of Agriculture and leader of the "Red Shirt" organization, accused by Leftists of Fascist tendencies.

Message to Foreign Envoys.

The Ministry of Foreign Relations sent a reassuring telegram to diplomatic representatives who had been anxious over Calles' recent condemnation of the President's policies.

The message said:

"The President of the republic invited his Cabinet to resign. The Government is solidly backed by all social classes. The legislative chambers have made declarations supporting solely the administration of President Cardenas. The Government will continue without hindrance in carrying out constructive work on behalf of the nation. Complete tranquility exists throughout the entire country." The President announced he would name a new Cabinet Monday.

The lines for the apparently approaching political struggle were more precisely drawn when Col. Adalberto Tejeda, former Governor of Vera Cruz province and radical candidate for President in the 1934 elections, backed Cardenas' pro-labor stand and said Calles should leave the country.

Col. Tejeda, who passed through Vera Cruz on his way to the capital, condemned Congress for its approval of Calles' recent statement in which he assailed Mexico's "marathon of radicalism" and, by inference, Cardenas' policies. To Calles' statement the President retorted that he was merely carrying out the revolutionary party's program he and Calles jointly worked out. Early today he demanded and got resignations of his Cabinet.

Strike Threat.

Twelve powerful labor organizations threatening to strike against the "Fascism" they said was foreshadowed by Calles. Calles remained at Cuernavaca, and most of the ousted Ministers left for there to confer with him.

Catholics announced they would demonstrate tomorrow against the Government's religious policy. Other opposition groups also planned manifestations, believing the Government would not interfere because of the Rotarians' presence.

The students, after their clash with police, gathered before the Palace of Fine Arts. Speakers denounced Calles and the Government and appealed to the visiting Rotarians "to understand the true situation of the country."

Erasmo Lozano, former University of Texas student, addressed 500 Rotarians standing on the balconies of the palace and told them Mexico was passing through an economic, moral and political crisis. He assailed Socialistic education and urged the Rotarians to "let the world know we live miserably governed by one man, Calles."

President Cardenas appealed today for the support of his people in the political crisis.

Obviously referring to the Calles faction, the President said "certain political elements . . . undoubtedly piqued because they did not obtain positions which they sought in my administration" had sought to "create all sorts of difficulties to my administration, not only through their murmurings which always cause alarm, but even by means of disloyalty and treason. It is an agitation to divide the revolutionary group.

"In making reference to the labor problems which have arisen during the last few months and which have resulted in strikes in various sections of the country I consider that this is the consequence a readjustment period. . . . In view of these labor problems I am determined to act decisively so that the revolutionary program and the laws regulating the equilibrium of production will be fulfilled and I am resolute in my desire to carry out the six year plan of my country, a plan which was adopted and approved by the National Revolutionary Party. This plan does not pay attention to the alarm sounded by representatives of the capitalistic group."

Italian-Russian Accord Signed.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, June 15.—Premier Mussolini and the Soviet Ambassador Boris Stein, today signed a commercial accord, the principal point of which is a Governmental guarantee of credits for exports. The new commercial treaty follows the lines of an existing accord. An official communique said the Governments hoped the accord would favor commerce between the two nations.

DEPOSITIONS IN SUIT OVER TRADING ACCOUNT

Brokers Say Late Judge W. M. Vandeventer Was Liable for Relatives' Debits.

Whether the late Wilton M. Vandeventer, former Judge of the East St. Louis City Court, assumed liability in trading accounts carried in the name of his wife, Mrs. Ida Vandeventer, now dead, and two brothers, F. A. and L. A. Vandeventer, with Francis Bro. & Co., investment brokers, was the issue to be determined in a suit filed in Circuit Court. Depostions bearing on the contentions were filed yesterday. There was a debit balance of $114,207 in the two accounts.

The suit was filed by Judge Vandeventer, who alleged the firm rendered a statement to him in November, 1929, showing that he had a net credit balance in his account amounting to $35,034 for which he sued. The firm filed an answer admitting that the account had been so stated to the plaintiff, but saying the computation was a mistake made by employes. The answer asked the Court to take into consideration the plaintiff's alleged liability on the other two accounts, which, it was contended, he had guaranteed and in which he had traded.

The depositions were given by D. R. Francis, Talton T. Francis, G. Gates Williams and John E. Riley, members of the firm, and Judge Vandeventer. D. R. Francis said he understood the plaintiff had guaranteed all of the accounts. Williams said Judge Vandeventer talked about his accounts, saying he would take care of them. Testimony of Talton Francis was to the effect that there was a letter written by Mrs. Vandeventer and the two brothers authorizing the plaintiff to deal in their accounts. According to Riley, orders were given by Judge Vandeventer in regard to all of the accounts and it was supposed he was trading for himself.

In his deposition, Judge Vandeventer, however, said he opened the other accounts with funds belonging to his wife and brothers. He denied he was legally liable for any account except the one in his own name. "I told Mr. Riley it was none of my affair when he spoke about debit balances in the other accounts," he testified.

The depositions were taken a year ago. Judge Vandeventer died last month. To continue the litigation it will be necessary to revive the suit in the name of his estate, but his attorney, Leo F. Laughren, said he had not received instructions in the matter.

Jacob M. Lashly and Charles M. Polk were counsel for the investment firm at the deposition hearing. The case is pending before Judge O'Malley.

16 OF 42 BODIES IDENTIFIED IN EXPLOSION IN GERMANY

Dead Taken From Wrecked Munitions Plant to Wittenberg; Memorial Services in Churches.

By the Associated Press.

WITTENBERG, Germany, June 15.—Only 16 of the 46 bodies recovered in the explosion at the munitions-making plant at Reinsdorf, were identified up to tonight.

A carload of black coffins containing the dead arrived at Wittenberg. Workers in other factories stood silent and with heads bared. Reinsdorf employes who escaped death, some of them limping and walking with canes, returned to the plant to collect wages.

Labor service units in the district assisted Reinsdorf inhabitants in repairing damage to their homes. Protestant churches throughout the Reich will hold memorial services tomorrow.

INSURANCE COMPANIES SUED FOR $1,600,000 PREMIUM TAX

Arkansas Attorney-General Brings Action Against 34 So-called Fraternal Organizations.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 15.—Attorney-General Carl E. Bailey filed suit in Pulaski Chancery Court today against 34 so-called fraternal insurance associations for $1,600,000 alleged to be due the State of Arkansas in gross premium tax.

"The purpose of this litigation is to correct inequities which now exist and by reason of which old-line regal reserve companies are discriminated against, and to procure needed revenue for the State of Arkansas for the support of governmental institutions and agencies of which these so-called fraternal insurance companies are one of the largest beneficiaries," Bailey said.

Sovereign Camp Woodmen of the World, Omaha, Neb., heads the list of companies sued with $639,317.34 claimed by the State. The Modern Woodmen of America, Rock Island, Ill., was sued for $151,830.90, and the Supreme Forest of Woodmen Circle, Omaha, Neb., for $126,815. Royal Neighbors of America, Rock Island, Ill., is sued for the next highest amount, $42,885.08, while $42,680.34 is asked for the Security Benefit Association, Topeka, Kan.

KILLS ESTRANGED WIFE IN PRESENCE OF SON, 7

Peter Christ, New York, Shoots Man With Whom She Lived, Then Goes to Newspaper With Story.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—While his 7-year-old son looked on helpless, Peter Christ, 32 years old, knocked down his estranged wife with a gas pipe today, bound her hands with a strap, stabbed her in the throat and placed her body into a trunk.

He took the boy, Perry, back to his own home and returned alone to the flat where Mrs. Stella Christ, 28 years old, had been living with Costis Koulouras, 40. When Koulouras came home Christ shot him in the knee.

Christ then took a taxicab to the office of the Mirror, where he told what he had done. Police were called.

MARTIN INSULL CASE DROPPED

Bankruptcy Charge Last Outstanding Against Any of Family.

CHICAGO, June 15.—A formal "finis" was written at the end of the long Insull court record today. United States District Attorney Igoe appeared before Federal Judge John C. Knox and moved to quash the last of the cases involving the former utility magnates—the bankruptcy law violation case against Martin Insull. Entering the order, the just remarked: "Well, I guess that clears the ledger."

Judge Knox ordered directed verdicts of acquittal yesterday in the trial of Samuel Insull, Samuel Insull Jr. and Harold L. YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN" THE FORD V·8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip—to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. Instead of dragging along at slow speeds for days, you can make good time from the start.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth running.

Longer life, greater economy and better performance are bound to result from such precision methods. They are further proof of the care and quality that go into the making of the Ford V-8.

Formerly only the most expensive cars could be driven at normal speeds from the beginning. That still holds true today—except in the case of the Ford V-8. It gives you fine-car construction, along with fine-car performance, comfort, safety and beauty.

JAPAN PUTS ON 'DEFENSE DRILL' IN CHINESE CITY

Machine Gun Fire Heard in Mock Battle at Tientsin —Fresh Troops of Mikado Arrive.

By the Associated Press.

TIENTSIN, June 16.—(Sunday)—The streets of the city rang out today with machine-gun fire as newly arrived Japanese troops put on a mock battle, described by their officers as "a defense drill."

As Japan awaited China's next move in the Asiatic crisis, the Empire's troops blocked off a large section of the Japanese concession with barbed-wire entanglements. Sandbag barriers were thrown up at strategic corners.

Japanese troops in motor cars and on horseback again moved through the streets of the city proper. The authorities explained that they were giving the new arrivals an opportunity to see the city.

Testifying to the American belief that the demilitarized zone is peaceful, the United States 15th Infantry here completed arrangements for opening the Summer camp at Chin Wang Tao. Within a week 350 men, comprising half the local detachment, will proceed to the camp. The remainder will go later.

A Japanese army plane flew over Peiping again, presumably to oversee the continued outward movement of Chinese.

The Nipponese military men, who said the detention of four Japanese at Changpei, Chahar Province, Wednesday was "engaging our most serious attention," awaited Gov. Sung Chei-Yuan's reply to demands for cessation of anti-Japanese activities there, punishment of those responsible, apologies and assurances against repetition.

Must Accept in Writing.

As to Hopei Province, Lieutenant-Colonel Gennosuke Matsui of Japan's Kwantung army, said military preparedness would not be relaxed until China accepted in writing the May 29 demands for removal of all anti-Japanese elements and influences.

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, Chinese War Minister usually stationed in Peiping, was in Nanking conferring with National Government officials who Thursday decided to refuse written acceptance.

Backing up Japan's Hopei ultimatum, which neutral observers asserted implied virtual Japanese domination of this rich area, were the strengthened Tientsin and Peiping garrisons and nearly 5000 troops concentrated near the eastern end of China's great wall.

While China apparently prepared to protest to the nations signing the Nine Power treaty, Japan's vice-minister of war, Toranosuke Hashimoto, denied at Tokio that Japan desired to set up an independent buffer state in Northern China.

He Denies Demand.

"We have never demanded that Hopei be administered by a special regime, free from the military influence of the Nanking Government," he said. "That would be interference with the Chinese domestic administration which we have no intention of doing."

He added: "If the Chinese want to create such a buffer state, we have no objection."

Hashimoto also denied emphatically that the army would support any plan to restore Emperor Kang Teh of Manchoukuo to the dragon throne at Peiping, saying, "Hsinking is a good enough capital for Manchoukuo."

The Chahar incident, while not connected with the North China situation, indicated persistence of anti-Japanese sentiment, he added, but probably will be susceptible to local settlement."

No Detrimental Effect on U. S. Trade, Japanese Envoy Says.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Hirosi Saito, the Japanese Ambassador, told newspaper men during a visit at the State Department today that Japanese activities in North China would have no detrimental effect on American commercial interests there.

The envoy said he did not discuss the situation with Secretary Hull, and declined to comment otherwise on the Far Eastern situation except to say he considered press dispatches reporting numerous alleged incidents to be somewhat exaggerated.

Saito presented T. Okada, member of the Japanese Parliament, to Secretary Hull. Okada is en route to Brussels to attend the inter-parliamentary congress there.

FRENCH CHASE GERMAN PLANES AWAY FROM BORDER FORTS

Nazi Pilots Escape From Squadron of Fast Pursuit Ships Near Metz.

By the Associated Press.

METZ, France, June 15.—Two German army planes fled back to the Rhineland pursued by a squadron of fast French pursuit planes that took to the air when the German craft were sighted hovering over defense works northwest of Metz.

The intruders, turning tail as soon as they sighted the pursuers, got back over the border before the French ships could force them down.

Their escape was regarded as significant, inasmuch as it indicated the French works were so near the border that peering Nazi pilots could fly over and get away, if chased, with impunity.

Four single German planes flying over the fortified zone in one week last May led the Air Ministry to send fast planes to patrol the area. At that time, it was announced the French pilots would content themselves with trying to force down the invaders or, failing that, getting photographs of them.

BANKER REPORTED SLATED TO HEAD NEW NRA SETUP

James L. O'Neil Expected to Be Named; Executive Orders Looked for Today.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Executive orders to preserve the NRA organization, or such part of it as comes under the new legislation for restricted operation, are expected tomorrow. James L. O'Neil, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, is reported to have been selected to head the new organization.

The new NRA organization is to have a three-fold purpose:

(1) To handle voluntary agreements by industry to keep up wages and employment and to bar child labor.

(2) To supervise wage and hour requirements in Government contracts.

(3) To consolidate and classify all the information the old NRA gathered in the two years of its existence, which ends tomorrow, and to check changes occasioned by the end of code rule.

Donald R. Richberg, whose resignation as chairman of NRA's governing board takes effect tomorrow, has expressed doubt as to the effectiveness of the proposed voluntary agreements.

"Too many chiselers," he said curtly.

Criticism by C. of C.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, in its Washington review, issued after a directors' meeting, assailed practically the whole administration recovery policy. It stressed particularly its opposition to the Wagner labor disputes bill and the economic security program.

The chamber's latest criticism followed a radio speech by its president, Harper Sibley, saying the new NRA organization threatened new "uncertainty" for business. He urged business to turn to the Federal Trade Commission's fair trade practice codes for relief from cutthroat competitive methods.

"The chamber will continue to advocate that enactment of the major features of the pending social security legislation be postponed until there can be further examination by a congressional committee," the chamber said in its review, in summarizing the position of its board of directors.

It renewed its contention that the Wagner labor disputes bill was designed to drive American workingmen into American Federation of Labor unions, not to guarantee their right to bargaining collectively.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt issued an executive order continuing Labor Relations Board machinery until Congress acts on the Wagner bill.

As to the whole administration program, the chamber found Congress ready to enact it "and leave the task of 'mopping up' to the courts."

Career of Man Expected to Head New NRA Organization.

NEW YORK, June 15.—James L. O'Neil, reported in Washington to be the choice as the head of the new NRA organization, is a banker and steel man.

Tall, gray-haired and energetic, he is regarded by banking associates as a man who quietly radiates efficiency. Though never in the limelight, he for years occupied one of the major posts with the Guaranty Trust Co.

When he obtained a leave of absense from the bank to go to Washington, he was its operation vice-president, in charge of several thousand persons. His task was chiefly the co-ordination of individual efforts to achieve an efficient and smooth-running organization.

Before coming to New York, he was for several years with the Carnegie Steel Co. in Pittsburgh. He went to work at the age of 13, when he finished grammar school in Pittsburgh. Night school work, travel and keen observation provided his later education.

He went to the Guaranty in 1918 as a credit man and was soon singled out by Charles S. Sabin, then president of the trust company, because of his ability to gain the co-operation and confidence of his fellow workers. O'Neil has never taken an active part in politics.

SALESMAN REPORTS HOLDUP

Albert Cohen Says He Was Robbed of $30 Near Dupo, Ill.

Albert Cohen, 4447 Evans avenue, an insurance salesman, reported he was held up last night on a county road near Dupo, Ill., and robbed of $30 by two white men and a Negro.

He told police the men followed him in an automobile from a tavern and fired three shots at his car forcing him to stop. The white men took the money while the Negro stayed in the car, he said.

The paintings and drawings were selected from a group of CCC art exhibits at the National Museum. Another group of selected works by CCC artists will be sent to the San Diego (Cal.) Exposition.

AUTO CONVOY FIRMS SETTLE STRIKE HOUR AFTER IT BEGINS

Grant Union Demand on Wages; 75 Members of Organization Involved.

A strike of 75 members of Local 604, Automobile Transport Chauffeurs' and Helpers' Union, employed by two automobile convoy companies, ended an hour after it was called yesterday afternoon, when the companies agreed to meet the union wage demand.

The companies affected were the Drivaway Co. of Missouri, which hauls Chevrolet cars from the local plant to dealers, and the Automobile Convoy Co., transporting machines from Detroit factories to the St. Louis territory. Both companies have offices at 3450 Arlington avenue.

Harry Elder, secretary-treasurer and business agent of the union, affiliated with the Teamsters' District Council, said the companies agreed to pay chauffeurs a minimum of $2.50 for out-of-town trips. The union contended rates ranging from 64 cents to $1.50 for trips to East St. Louis were in violation of the company's contract with the union.

ADOPTION SUIT TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Miss Eva Engelhorn Seeks to Be Declared Heir of Stepfather.

The suit of Miss Eva Engelhorn, 22 years old, to be declared an adopted daughter of the late Fred Engelhorn and his widow, Mrs. Lottie Engelhorn, 7111 South Broadway, was taken under advisement yesterday by Circuit Judge O'Malley.

The claimant was the child of Mrs. Edward Sass, daughter of Mrs. Engelhorn by a previous marriage, who died in 1915. She testified that, as a child, she was taken into the home of her grandmother, who, with Engelhorn, agreed to adopt her as their daughter. No formal adoption papers, however, were filed, but there was testimony she was treated as their daughter and that she accorded them the respect a child would give a parent.

Engelhorn, paper hanger and professional bondsman, died last July 20, leaving an estate valued at $38,000. In his will he provided that his widow was to receive $40 a month and the remainder was left to Philip Engelhorn, a nephew, and Miss Carrie Engelhorn, a niece.

Mrs. Engelhorn testified in favor of her granddaughter and admitted in an answer that there had been an agreement to adopt. The claim was resisted by other heirs, who offered testimony purporting to show that Engelhorn and his wife had various disagreements and consequently he would not be in a mood to adopt any of her relatives.

Henry L. Engelhorn, son of Engelhorn by a previous marriage, was a co-defendant in the adoption suit. He was left $1 by his father and has a suit pending contesting the will. In the event Miss Engelhorn's claim is sustained she would be entitled to a one-third interest in the estate, as she was not named in the will.

SECURITIES MARKETS AT NEW PEAKS IN WEEK'S TRADE

Undismayed by Skidding Wheat Prices, Slackening Industrial Activity and Senate's Holding Company Vote, Prices Surge Forward.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Undismayed by skidding wheat prices, slackening industrial activity, or Senate acceptance of the holding company abolition measure, the securities markets have surged forward to new peaks this week.

The rise in prices was attributed chiefly to favorable appraisals of the autumn business prospects, and to the quest of funds for profitable investment in a period of credit redundancy.

With the collapse of the NRA codes having failed to disturb business as seriously as anticipated, that market factor began to fade into the background, although the full effects remained to be determined.

Averages Are Higher.

The Associated Press average of 60 representative shares rose to a new high since June of last year. The 30 industrials, taken separately, reached a new peak since 1931. Rail shares rallied smartly but failed to get back to the levels of January. Utilities reached the best level since July early in the week, dipped on the Senate acceptance of the holding company measure, then came back close to the top.

In the bond market, the low-yield issues held about steady, and utilities faltered for a time, but the lower priced rails, one of the largest groups in the listed bond market, experienced the sharpest recovery in months.

The investment banking business experienced a fresh revival, as several large refunding issues were registered with the SEC. The raising of new capital still remained virtually at a standstill, but corporations mainfested a renewed urge to take advantage of the cheaper long-term credit now available.

While most of the week's business statistics indicated further seasonal contraction of industrial production, possibly accentuated by the uncertainties incident to removal of the codes, the week's statistical exhibits were by no means discouraging.

Electric power production showed a substantially larger than seasonal gain, and car loadings did likewise, although a rush of coal shipments in expectation of a strike provided an artificial factor. Retail trade responded in most sections of the country to more favorable weather.

Slump in Wheat.

The further slump in wheat, which has carried it off more than 20 per cent in the past few weeks, was attributed to the vastly improved crop outlook. Cotton strengthened, however, and for the week showed gains of 72 to 94 cents a bale. Livestock was mostly lower, reflecting in part consumers resistence to high meat prices. The Associated Press price index of 20 basic commodities for the week declined .73 to 70.02.

The foreign situation attracted less attention, as foreign exchanges steadied, with the French crisis abated. The new Laval Government was given extraordinary powers to cope with the emergency and the gold outflow slackened.

The rush of gold from France and Holland to New York was a factor in the extreme redundancy of credit in the United States, however, insofar as it boosted the nation's gold stocks to an unprecedented level above $9,000,000,000.

New Highs at Week End.

Many new highs for the year were made in active trading at week end session on the Exchange.

The buying, however, was selective and much of the list was barely changed.

It was pointed out in some quarters that owners of funds and brokers have been favorably impressed with the indications of relative stability which marked the third week following the Supreme Court's NRA decision. This factor has tempted a fair amount of previously timid money into equities, they maintained.

Cram's report showed automobile production somewhat higher on the tions that the rate would slacken tions that the rate wold slacken seasonally. The total was estimated 90,788 against estimates of 89,855 last week and of 71,293 in the like week of 1934.

Analysts explained that Wall Street's pockets are bulging with more and more idle money as a result of the expanding total of refunding operations. It was of this capital, they insisted, which flowed into equities today.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market rose .1 to 44.2, a new top for the year. The hourly pace of trading was somewhat faster than on Friday. Transactions totaled 579,620 shares.

Rails as Leaders.

The rails put on a relatively lively performance, reflecting Wall Street hopes of movement of larger crops in the fall, lower operating costs and capital reorganizations. Santa Fe was up 1⅛ at 47⅛. Union Pacific had a gain of ⅜ at 105½ and New York Central was up ⅜ at 18¼.

Cerro de Pasco was down 1 point at 57 while U. S. Smelting gave up 2½ at 108¾, both under pressure which was said in some quarters to come from speculators who were uncertain over which way the Treasury silver buying cat will jump next.

Although the average run of industrials advanced fractionally, American Can was up 1¾ at 140¼ and Philip Morris puffed ahead for a gain of 2⅝.

The bond market was higher and moderately active with medium-priced railroad obligations strong.

Cotton chalked up gains of 35 to 45 cents a bale. Wheat was more than a cent a bushel lower, while corn was unchanged to a trifle higher.

The pound sterling was unchanged at $4.94¼. French francs were unchanged at 6.59½ cents.

Closing prices and net change of the 15 most active stocks: Chrysler, 49½, up ⅜; Ill. Cent., 14¾, up 2; Gen. Elec., 26⅛, down ⅛; Anaconda, 15½, down ½; Gt. Nor. Ry. pf., 19¾, down ⅛; Montg. Week's Auto Production.

DETROIT, June 15.—Cram's Reports, Inc., today estimated output of the automobile factories for the current week at 90,788 units, compared with 89,855, a revised estimate for last week. A year ago the week's output was estimated at 71,293 units.

The General Motors group produced 37,075 cars and trucks this week, compared with 36,630 last week and 25,936 for the same week a year ago, the three estimates by Cram indicated.

Ford production was placed at 26,275 cars and trucks, unchanged from last week. A year ago the Ford weekly total was estimated at 21,525.

Chrysler plants produced 16,850 cars and trucks, unchanged from last week, it was estimated. A year ago the weekly output was estimated at 14,350 units.

BUOYANT TIN MARKET FEATURES METAL GROUP

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The week in metals was featured by the independent action of tin, which gained ¾ cent a pound. This brought it back to the levels existing earlier in the month.

Other markets barely held their positions or yielded in the matter of prices.

Buoyancy in tin was a reflection of an advance at London following the international committee's decision to step up production and shipments from 45 to 50 per cent in the nine member countries, the later increase proving somewhat smaller than expected.

Lead prices continued without change. Business was quiet, although there was evidence of a better inquiry and the expectations were for a revival of consumer interest on a broader scale as covering for July requirements gets under way.

Demand for zinc continued light, but the undertone was steady and prices were without change. Momentary unsettlement was caused by sales at concessions, but first hands maintained existing schedules due partly to a scarcity of supplies as a result of the recent miners' strike and an advance of $2 to $28 a ton in zinc concentrates in the tri-state district.

Domestic copper held unchanged at 9 cents a pound with the demand picking up somewhat in response to the action of fabricators in agreeing to co-operate with producers in the matter of adhering to code schedules until July 15. Foreign demand slackened further with electrolytic for export yielding to 7.65 a pound c. i. f. European ports.

A further seasonal decline occurred in steel production, the national average slipping to 39½ of capacity. Scrap was easier in tone, but finished steel and pig iron held steady. Consumers meanwhile are following a policy of caution pending a real test of the market.

Antimony remained inactive and largely nominal due to the absence of business generally.

FAVORABLE CROP, WEATHER NEWS WEAKENS WHEAT

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, June 15.—The wheat market suffered a setback at the final session of the week, largely under influence of beneficial rains reported in the Northwest. Favorable weather and crop conditions generally formed basis of the decline. The market was off over a cent at the close. Corn futures were mixed at finish, July being a shade better.

Winnipeg closed ⅛@⅜c higher after opening unchanged.

Liverpool wheat closed ⅛d up following ⅛d higher to ⅛d lower opening.

WHEAT SELLS AT LOWEST LEVEL SINCE MAY, 1934

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Wheat sold at the lowest price level today since May, 1934.

Nearly ideal crop conditions that prevailed throughout the entire North American wheat belt, including beneficial rains in spring wheat areas, led to augmented selling of wheat and to simultaneous dearth of aggressive buying. On the other hand, need of dry weather in the corn belt had a steadying effect on the corn market, and for the first time in several years some July corn today changed ownership at a price above July wheat.

The close for wheat was nervous, 1⅛ @ 1⅜ under yesterday's finish, July 78⅞-77, Corn unchanged to ⅞ lower, July 78⅞-79; the same as July wheat. Oats ¼ @ ⅜ off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

Almost from the outset, wheat values displayed a pronounced tendency to fall, and at one stage were off about 2 cents a bushel. Bears asserted that so long as weather and crop conditions kept favorable there was not much likelihood of the wheat market making any important headway. Meanwhile, unsettling factors included reports that Argentine wheat which had been shipped to the United States was being resold at Liverpool, and that Canada would continue her wheat holding policy for at least the time being.

An interesting development was word from Wichita, Kansas that considerable wheat is being cut green to avoid possibility of a wet harvest. It is expected such wheat will ripen in the shock, and not be threshed for 10 days yet. Much of today's selling pressure in Chicago appeared to come from sources southwest, and was believed to be hedging.

There was some selling of corn against purchases of wheat early, but later on the spreading was reversed. Oats were responsive to generally good crop advices.

Provisions were firm, influenced by expected shrinkage of lard supplies.

COTTON CONTINUES RALLY IN TRADE AT WEEK-END

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Cotton continued its rally at week-end session in moderately active commission house and foreign buying promoted by reports of unfavorable weather in the cotton belt. Final prices showed net gains of 7 to 9 points.

Early buying from both domestic and foreign sources was credited partly to overnight consideration of statements by Senator Bankhead pointing to the relatively small stocks of cotton in free channels and the suggestion that little of the approximately 5,250,000 bales controlled or financed by the Government would come out much below 13 cents. Heavy rains in central and south Texas and reports of floods in the southwestern part of that state also brought in demand.

Mid-morning advances to net gains of 10 to 12 points attracted local realizing, but the market became steadier in the late session on trade buying and covering.

The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 59,000 bales compared with 107,000 last year and 113,000 two years ago.

RAILS AND UTILITIES UP IN BOND MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Railroad and utility issues registered still further gains during today's brief session of the bond market. U. S. Government loans displayed steadiness but trading was restricted.

While there were a few defections from the upward movement among junior railroad loans, largely as a result of week-end adjustments and profit-taking following the sustained rise over the past several days, the main body of these securities exchanged hands at advances of ¼ to more than a point with numerous western and southern roads in the higher brackets.

These included Southern Railway Consolidated 5s at 87½, Pere Marquette 5s at 89¾, Nickle Plate 5½s at 70 and "Katy" 4½s at 41½. Others improving included obligations of Baltimore & Ohio, Great Northern, New Haven and Southern Pacific.

Among industrials and utilities, outstanding performances were turned in by bonds of the International Telephone which were picked up in substantial volume by traders and investors who believed the company had materially improved its financial position by relinquishing its paternal hold upon Postal Telegraph & Cable Corp., one of its principal subsidiaries, which filed a petition for reorganization in the Federal Court yesterday. Postal 5s, already down to nearly ¼ of ther par value, were still further depressed, losing 1¼ points on balance at 27¼.

Trading in Government bonds was light due to the absence of many leading dealers who stay away from their offices during the short Saturday session in the summer months. Quoted values, however, were well sustained and the majority of treasury obligations showed little change.

Foreign loans were generally higher. Among those advancing were a number of South and Central American Government bonds and City of Tokio 5s.

Transfers aggregated $6,084,000, par value, compared with $4,516,000 last Saturday. The Associated Press averages were unchanged to .5 of a point higher.

AUTO ACCIDENT RECORD WORSE THAN LAST YEAR

St. Louis Rate Is 19.5 Per 100,000 Persons as Against 16.9 in 13 Large Cities.

The St. Louis record for traffic accidents is worse this year than last, both locally and in comparison with other large cities of the United States, according to Safety Council figures.

The average accident rate for 13 cities in the 500,000 and more population group so far this year is 16.9 per 100,000 population. The St. Louis figure is 19.5, tenth position as compared with ninth place in the corresponding period last year. In 1932 St. Louis was seventh in the average, jumping to eleventh in 1933.

New York has the lowest accident rate, 10.9 per 100,000 population, while Los Angeles, with 36.3, has the highest. Since Jan. 1 there have been 74 motor vehicle fatalities in the city, as compared with 67 in the corresponding period last year. The numer of pedestrians killed so far this year was 46, against 41 for the period in 1934 and 39 during corresponding months in 1933. The rate of pedestrain deaths in cities of 10,000 population and over is 67 per cent of total motor vehicle fatalities.

SWISS FIRM SUES FOR GOLD U. S. THREATENS TO SEIZE

Temporarily Enjoins Transfer of $1,250,000 to Government by New York Bank.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Charging "unlawful confiscation" of its property, a Swiss firm filed suit today to recover $1,250,000 in gold double eagles scheduled to be turned over to the United States Government under President Roosevelt's gold policy.

Challenging the Administration's jurisdiction over foreign corporations, the firm, Uebersee-Finanz-Korporation Aktein Gesellschaft sought to restrain transfer to the Government of the gold held in its account by Ladenburg Thalmann & Co. The Federal Reserve Bank was named co-defendant.

Judge Alfred C. Coxe stayed the surrender of the gold pending a hearing on July 18.

Citing that the value of the gold is now $2,100,000, the Swiss firm asserts it is entitled to the return of the gold and to benefit from its enhanced value. It contends it has no agent or office in this country and is not subject to the gold proclamation.

LOVELOCK WINS 'MILE OF CENTURY,' RACE FAILS TO BRING NEW RECORD

BONTHRON IS SECOND AND CUNNINGHAM RUNS THIRD

By the Associated Press.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 15—The slim, curly-haired boy from far-off New Zealand, Jack Lovelock, handed everyone but old Pop Time a handsome beating today as the shadows crept over the sunbaked home stretch of the Tiger track and upward of 35,000 shirt-sleeved spectators roared acclaim.

Re-asserting his supremacy over the world's greatest milers after a two-year interval, Lovelock captured the widely-heralded "mile of the century" under wraps. He failed to come even close to record time, but he sprinted down the stretch to break the tape 10 yards in front of Princeton's Bill Bonthron, whose fast finish carried him to second place, two yards ahead of the great Glenn Cunningham, holder of all world records for the distance.

Time Proves a Disappointment.

Lovelock's time was 4 minutes 11.2 seconds, far short of the mark which it had expected would be produced by a gathering of the world's fastest milers. It was a big disappointment to the crowd. On the same track two years ago the New Zealander had scored an epic triumph over Bonthron in the record time of 4:07.6. Last year and in the same place Cunningham raced to a new mark of 4:06. This still stands.

Lovelock, after dogging Cunningham's footsteps with an easy trot for nearly three-quarters of a mile, was going away, with a broad grin on his face as he looked back over his shoulder. He stepped away from the great Kansan as they came out of the last turn, 100 yards from home. There was never any doubt about the outcome from there on. Whether he was affected by the heat or merely not up to his best, Cunningham faded as he has rarely done in the stretch.

Princeton rooters got their biggest thrill when Bonthron, making what he said was his farewell to foot-racing competition, came on with a characteristic burst of speed. "Bonny" had appeared to falter on the back stretch. He lost a dozen yards after sticking to the heels of Cunningham and Lovelock most of the way. Then he came on again. Down the stretch he came, galloping, to overhaul the tiring Cunningham.

World Record Never in Danger.

The rest of the six-man field was nowhere in the mile. Gene Venzke of Pennsylvania, fourth, was 20 yards behind Cunningham, and Glen Dawson of Tulsa, Ok., who set the first lap pace, finished

Tom Draper Wins District Golf Championship

Wray's COLUMN

Woodman Likes Joe Louis.

NEW YORK, June 15.

JOE WOODMAN, who campaigned the great Negro fighter, Sam Langford, for many years, and who predicted that Jimmy Braddock would beat Art Lasky and get a chance at the title, is making another prediction that will interest fans.

He thinks that the Negro youth, Joe Louis, will stop Carnera in five or six rounds, disagreeing completely with former champion Jack Johnson, who can't see Louis beating a near champion, at this time.

Joe Louis

Woodman is one of the few managers of the old school who is still active in boxing affairs. He still has a few fighters, in partnership with George Lawrence; but his principal occupation now is acting as Eastern representative for Nate Lewis and the Chicago Stadium. Joe knows his fighters and furthermore he is one of the few remaining handlers of boxers who is counted "regular" and "on-the-up-and-up."

His opinions on all sport subjects, except horses, are highly regarded; but when he begins to pick winners on the race track, his friends all flee as if from the cholera.

But his word on fights is always given a hearing.

As Woodman Sees It.

"MANY experts believe Carnera is too big to be hurt and too experienced for a yearling like Louis," observed Woodman. "But I expect to see his seconds wiping the resin off Primo's face after about five rounds. This Louis has done things that convince you. I saw him fight Lazer in Chicago. That fight didn't mean much except to show me that Louis is splendidly coached, well-trained, can hit hard and straight and has been trained to feint by a master of craft—Jack Blackburn. You know Blackburn and Langford came up about the same time and there wasn't a better man than Blackburn then. Louis knows plenty.

"That isn't all. When he stopped Ramage in Chicago they thought it was an accident, so they matched them again and Joe walked right through Ramage's

NOW HOLDS BOTH THE JUNIOR AND SENIOR TITLES; BEATS AMBO 5-3

By W. J. McGoogan.

Tom Draper Jr., district junior golf champion, added the senior title to his string with a 5-and-3 victory over Walter Ambo, University City, in the 36-hole final of the twentieth annual St. Louis District Association tournament at Norwood Hills Country Club yesterday and thus became the first player in the history of the association to hold the two crowns simultaneously.

Draper came from behind to gain his victory, for he got off on the wrong foot when he was a little wild with his tee shots on the first nine of the morning round, while Ambo poured nine straight pars into him. But Tom soon recovered and went to lunch only one down.

In the afternoon Ambo's game fell apart on the first nine when he required 43 strokes for the first nine, and when they turned the twenty-seventh hole, Draper was four up, having won six of the nine holes.

After that it was merely a question of playing out the string, although Ambo battled desperately to regain the marvelous putting touch which had carried him through the early rounds of the tournament and saw him leading at the halfway mark in the final.

Each Finalist 20 Years Old.

The boys, each of whom is 20 years old, played great golf in the morning, when Ambo had an approximate 71 and Tom a 72, but in the afternoon Walter's first nine spoiled his medal, while Tom had a 36. For the last five holes Tom was even par, with Ambo one over.

Ambo gained a lead of one up on the morning round, shooting a par 71 to a 72 for Draper, who started rather shakily. Tom was wild off the tees at the beginning, but soon settled into his normal game, and before the round had been completed, three birdies had rattled off his clubs. But he couldn't quite catch the putting marvel of the University City club.

Walter sank three putts of 15 or more feet during the round and only missed one holable putt, that a seven-footer for a birdie at the fifteenth, which he missed by an inch.

He used 33 putts for the 18 holes and that's counting all shots made from within a radius of 60 feet of the pin, regardless of which club was used, except when he came out

DEAD HEAT! One of Two Run Yesterday

Two dead heats were run yesterday—one at Detroit and the other at Charleston, W. Va. The picture shows Valedictorian (left) and Beauflower finishing together at Detroit.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15. — The American turf turned up with two dead heats today.

W. S. Kilmer's Beauflower and Mrs. Silas B. Mason's Valedictorian, a pair of highly-regarded two-year-olds, finished all square in the first race at Detroit, while at Charles Town, Va., in the sixth event, Hurdy Gurdy and Repeal crossed the finish line in perfect alignment.

Backers of Beauflower and Valedictorian received very little in the way of a financial return, the former paying $2.20 and the latter only slightly more, $2.40. In the Charles Town race, a $2 win ticket on Repeal paid off at $4.60 while a similar priced mutuel on Hurdy Gurdy was worth $8.80.

Mutuels: Roman Soldier, win $5.60, place $2.80, show $2.60; Sun Portland, place $3, show $2.80; Blackbirder, show $5.20.

Roman Soldier, well up from start, was shuffled back when Cold Shoulder drove through on inside nearing far turn, responded fast on outside when clear, took command nearing final furlong and won with something left. Sun Portland, saved while forcing the pace, disposed of Polar Flight when ready, gave way to winner and weakened in last stages. Blackbirder, away slowly and forced to lose ground while racing forward, closed boldly. Cold Shoulder, used up in improving his position, tired after offering strong bid nearing final quarter. Polar Flight quit. St. Moritz showed little.

DETROIT, June 15.—Flashing a great burst of speed at the head of the stretch, Roman Soldier, stout-hearted black colt from the Sachsenmaier and Reuter Stable, beat a crack field of six other three-year-olds today to capture the second running of the $25,000 added Detroit Derby.

Under a brilliant ride by the veteran George Woolf, who piloted Azucar to victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, Roman Soldier stayed in a contending position through the mile and then, in rapid order, smothered Cold Shouldere and Sun Portland and won by wo lengths. The victory was worth $17.775 to Phil Reuter, the victors' trainer, and Roman Soldier's co-owner, Elwood Sachsenmaier. Second money of $5000 went to Sun Portland, owned by Mrs. Silas B. Mason, and third money of $3000 to Blackbirder, owned by Mrs. Charles Hainesworth.

Woolf timed his bid for victory perfectly. Polar Flight set the early pace, but as the thoroughbreds hit the mile post the race had narrowed down to Cold Shouder, owned by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt; Sun Portland, Roman Soldier and Blackbirder.

Going to the outside, Roman Soldier swept by Cold Shoulder, caught Sun Portland and then went on toward the finish line with enough run left to shake off the courageous bid by Sun Portland. Blackbirder, away slowly and forced to lose ground while racing forward, closed with a bold rush that beat Cold Shoulder by three-quarters of a length for the show position. Sun Portland's margin over Blackbrder was a length and a quarter.

Roman Soldier paid $5.60 to win, $2.80 to place, and $2.60 to show. The place price on Sun Portland was $3.00 and show $2.60. Blackbirder paid $5.20 to show.

Roman Soldier's time was 1:58 2-5, only one-fifth of a second slower than the track record set when Cavalcade won the first running of the derby last year.

A crowd of 20,000 persons saw the race.

OWENS TIMED AT 9.7 IN ATTEMPT AT RECORD AS 40,000 WATCH

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 15.—Six University of Southern California stars furnished the fireworks here today as the great Trojan track and field team defeated Ohio State's crew, led by Jesse Owens, 9 to 6, before 40,000 persons.

Two slender high hurdlers, Phil Cope and Roy Staley, running a dead heat, flashed over the tall timbers in 14.2 seconds to tie a four-year-old mark, while the Trojan mile relay combination shaved two-tenths of a second off the accepted world's record in the baton passing event, being clocked in 3 minutes 12.4 seconds.

It was highly improbable, however, that this mark would receive sanction, since the Buckeye team failed to pass the baton and instead, paced Troy home in remarkable fast time.

Owens Wins Four Firsts.

These performances took the play away from Owens, the Buckeye Bullet, who failed to shatter any international figures, even though he won four of Ohio State's six first places.

Owens was able to approach only two international marks. These were the 220-yard dash, which he won in 20.7 seconds, one-tenth of a second back of Roland Locke's time, and four-tenths of a second slower than his own top performance of the year; and the low barriers event where he also was a tenth of a second back of the accepted time.

He won the 100-yard dash by a yard in 9.7 seconds, took the broad jump after making only two leaps, the better 25 feet 5¾ inches; and then annexed the furlong sprint and hurdles events.

A Winner by Three Strides.

In both of the longer races Owens went into the tape pulled up. He beat Foy Draper of Troy by three strides and held the same edge over Capt. Norman Paul in the low barriers.

Cope, I. C. A. A. A. A. high hurdles champion, led the way a half stride in front of Staley through the early part of the high barrier event, but his teammate finished with a urst of speed to breas the tape on even terms in the time which Percy Beard established at Lincoln, Neb., in 1931.

The Trojan relay combination composed of Estel Johnson, James Cassin, Al Fitch and John Mc-

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Wild Bill Hallahan's luck is generally bad and frequently worse. He battled courageously against Giant batters and the vicissitudes of a wobbly defense this afternoon and was leading 5 to 4, after seven innings, but in the eighth base hits and bad fortune overtook him and all William Anthony had to show for an afternoon of tedious toil was a defeat at the hands of Bill Terry's league leaders, 7 to 5.

There were three costly Cardinal errors and other unfortunate plays which were not registered as blunders in the official tabulation of the proceedings, but which certainly belonged under the head of non-support.

Two Fluke Hits Net Two Runs.

Frankie Frisch waved Pepper Martin away from a pop fly in the first inning and then decided that the thundering Wild Horse had not heard him. At any rate the Fordham Flash quit on the ball and it fell for a fluke double and was converted into the first New York run when a wild pitch and Terry's fly to Medwick followed.

In the fourth inning, with two out, Leiber singled and Hallahan seemed to be out of the inning when Jackson hit a pop fly to left center. But again there was confusion among the Redbird defenders. Martin again charged in and Durocher, Frisch and Medwick also converged toward the spot where the ball was to fall. Martin tried to solve the problem by leaping into the air, but he missed his desperate stab at the ball and it was another fluke double and another run, Leiber, scoring from first base.

With one out in the fifth inning Al Cuccinello batted for Clydell Castleman and grounded to Whitehead. Burgess had plenty of time for the play at first, but he was throwing poorly all day and when his toss pulled Rip Collins off first, Cuccinello was safe and was credited with a single.

Hallahan walked Joe Moore and Bartell rapped sharply to Whitehead. It was a hard chance, and hard chances are base hits when bad luck Bill is on the mound. This was no exception, the drive caroming off Whitehead's arm for a double, scoring Cuccinello and sending Joe Moore to third. Moore then scored the second run of the inning while Durocher was throwing out Terry.

RED BIRD NOTES

NEW YORK, June 15.

FIDGETY PHIL COLLINS, who has scored four victories since he was purchased from the Phillies, will pitch against the Giants tomorrow in the second game of the series. Hal Schumacher will be Bill Terry's hurler.

The series opener attracted 12,986 cash customers.

Manager Frisch returned to duty at second base, Whitehead shifted to third and Martin went to center field.

Rothrock opened the seventh with a single to center and when Frisch bunted for a sacrifice both runners were safe on Gabler's tardy throw to second. Medwick flied to Leiber and when Rothrock moved to third after Rip Collins' fly to Ott, Ott threw to Bartell and Umpire Pinelli upheld Bartell's contention that Rothrock had left second too soon.

Lovelock—Then Bonthron—THEN Cunningham

The "Mile of The Century," run at Princeton, N. J., yesterday and heralded as likely to bring an upset of Glenn Cunningham's world record for the distance, resulted disastrously for the Kansan. Jack Lovelock of New Zealand came up from behind to win the race and then Bill Bonthron, Princeton Flash, made his famous finish to take second. Photo shows Lovelock at the finish.

By James M. Gould.

Jim Holbroook, a young and husky catcher recently brought up from the Chattanooga farm by Washington, did some fine and fancy hitting yesterday afternoon in the opener of the five-game series between the Browns and the Senators and, mainly because of said hitting, the Senators won the ball game by a score of 11 to 3.

Holbrook was at bat four times officially and he hit two homers and a triple, his hits driving in five runs, or two more than all the Browns together could drive in. Both homers were "legit." One sailed far into left center and the other was a line drive to left. The triple was a bit flukey inasmuch as Solters misjudged the drive.

Hansen Looks Promising.

Manager Hornsby used his two left-handers, Van Atta and "Snipe" Hansen, just arrived from Albany. Van Atta was heavily bombarded, the Senators getting 11 hits of assorted sizes off him in five innings. Hansen did much better and looked like a real prospect. He gave up four hits in his four innings of toil, one of them being Holbrook's second homer.

To complete the southpaw picture, Leon Pettit pitched for Washington and despite a tendency to wildness, had little trouble subduing the Browns. He allowed seven hits but was scored on only in the fifth and sixth when he had a long lead.

Coleman Bats in Two Runs.

Solters was held hitless for the third successive game but Coleman collected for a pair of singles, one of them driving in two runs in the fifth.

For Washington, Stone had four hits while Myer, Schulte and Holbrook each had three.

It was the fifth straight for Washington over the Browns without a defeat this season.

The Senators were quick to get the range and Van Atta felt the power of their big guns in the very first inning. Bluege singled as a starter and Stone followed the good example. Myer was better than that for he tripled to score Bluege and Stone. After Travis grounded out, Myer scored on Powell's fly to Pepper. Resting in the second, Washington resumed the attack in the third with two more runs. Myer doubled and Van Atta got the next two men but Schulte singled Myer over and scored himself when Solters badly misjudged Holbrook's fly and turned an out into a triple. A fourth Washington tally came in the fourth when Stone tripled and counted when Strange muffed a relay throw.

Van Atta Retires in Fifth.

What of the Browns, say you? Well, what of them? They managed to show a menacing attitude in the first two frames but it was all "attitude." It meant nothing in the run line. It meant only a flock of men left on bases. As may be assumed, Van Atta retired after the fifth in the last half of which the Browns came out of their coma long enough to score two runs on a timely single by Coleman.

Van Atta's retirement brought Hansen into the picture to pitch a runless sixth. In the last half of this sixth, Bell's triple and Strange's long fly produced a third St. Louis run.

Hansen looked good throughout the seventh but he yielded a run in the eighth when he walked Pettit and Stone doubled.

In the ninth, Holbrook decided .o it a second homer and he did with hulte on as he was when the kid cher hit his first one.

Brownie Notes.

"SNIPE" HANSEN, the left-hander obtained on trial by the Browns from the Albany club of the International League, reported yesterday. Hornsby wanted an early look at the lanky southpaw's "stuff" and used him to relieve Van Atta.

Midnight last night was the "zero hour" for the major league trades. Any players added to the club rosters for the next two months, will have to come by the waiver route or up from the minors.

Pitchers for today's double-bill will be Knott and Walkup for the Browns and Cappola and Whitehill or Burke for the Senators.

The Browns were well-shaken up with Bell on first base in Burns' place and Hemsly moved up to second place in the batting order. Coleman was the only left-handed hitter of the regulars.

Bobby Jones Will Undergo Operation For Appendicitis

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 15.

BOBBY JONES, the retired grand slam king of golf, will go on the operating table next Wednesday for removal of a troublesome appendix, but not before tatking on old man par for another round.

Beset my recurrent mild attacks of appendicitis recently, Jones today decided on the operation. He was confined to bed several days ago in New York after attending the National Open tournament at Pittsburgh.

The day before the operation, however, Bobby will play an exhibition round for charity with Joyce Wethered, the British woman golfer.

fifth. Joe Mangan, former Cornell captain, dropped out on the last lap.

After the slow first quarter Cunningham stepped up the pace briskly, but the world record was never in much danger. Lovelock, much the best, looked capable of doing the distance several seconds faster, but he did not chose to do any pace-setting. The times for the quarters were 64.9, 60.8, 63.2 and 62.3 seconds.

Oklahoman Approaches World Mark

The nearest to a world record performance in the meet, conducted before one of the biggest crowds ever to witness an Eastern meet, came in the 120-yard high hurdles. Sam Allen, a youth from Oklahoma Baptist University, skipped over the barriers in 14.3 seconds. This was within one-tenth second of the world record. The Western Union time clock registered 14 flat and several watches caught Allen in sub-record figures, but the officials came with 14.3 as their consensus after a prolonged "huddle."

The biggest surprise and the most thrilling conquest of the six events came in the 440-yard run. It was won in the last half dozen strides by Eddie O'Brien, Syracuse sophomore, with a dazzling spurt that carried him out of a fourth place pocket, around all rivals and to the tape in 47.3 seconds, with a two-yard margin over the favorite, Glen "Slats" Hardin of Louisiana State.

Bill Graber came all the way from Southern California to administer a beating to his rival, Keith Brown of Yale, who broke his world pole vault record two weeks ago in the intercollegiate AAAA championships. They were deadlocked all the way up to 14 feet but Graber, in a jumpoff, then hoisted himself over the bar at 14 feet 3 inches to win.

Middle Westerners captured the remaining two events. Charley Hornbostel, the former Indiana University star who bowed to Ben Eastman's world record performance here last year, came back to capture the 880-yard race in 1:52.7. He finished six yards in front of John Wolff of Manhattan, who came strong to pass Harry Williamson of North Carolina in a tussle for second place.

Another Hoosier, Raymond Sears of Butler University shook off the persistent Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. to capture the two-mile run by a decisive margin. Sears, sprinting the last half lap, won by 30 yards in 9:16.3, nearly a second short of the American record.

The Mudds did not entirely run away with the first day's honors in the Missouri State Archery championships, for Mrs. Mudd was second in the women's class, but her husband, G. D. Mudd, of Maplewood, finished first in the men's competition.

Mrs. H. Spooner of Maplewood led the women with a total of 358 points. Mrs. Mudd had 333 to be 22 points ahead of Mrs. Mariana McNalley of St. Louis. Mr. Mudd's closest rival in the York round was Lee Gamber of St. Louis.

The tournament will be concluded today on the aviation field in Forest Park with an American round for men and intermediate boys and a Columbia round for women. The junior boys and girls will shoot a junior American round. The champions will be decided on the total number of points for the two days.

Carthy, set a determined pace from the start. Johnson reeled off the first quarter in 48.5, followed by 48.6 for Cassin. Fitch was clocked in 47.9 and McCarthy sped home in 47.4 seconds.

Had the meet been scored on the normal basis instead of by the international system, Southern California would have won by a count of 76 to 45. The Trojans, I. C. A. A. A. champions, kept their records clean of defeats by today's victory and further established themselves as the favorites to win the national title at Berkeley.

YANKS INCREASE LEAD, BEATING WHITEHEAD AND WHITE SOX, 5-3

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 15.—A two-run rally in the ninth, in which an error by Luke Appling played an important part, gave the New York Yankees a 5 to 3 decision over the Chicago White Sox today as the two leading teams in the American League met in the first of their five-game series.

In handing Silent John Whitehead his third defeat of the season as compared to eight victories, the Yanks increased their lead over the Chicagoans to four and one-half games. Whitehead kept the Yanks' 14 hits fairly well spaced, but Johnny Murphy, making his first start of the year, was more effective, holding Jimmy Dykes' men to nine hits.

With the score tied at three-all and one out in the ninth, Earl Combs crashed through with a single. Red Rolfe's drive to center went for a double, when Al Simmons, trying for a shoestring catch, let the ball bounce off his shins. He retrieved the ball in time for a perfect relay to the plate, but Appling, taking the throw from Simmons, threw high over Catcher Mervyn Shea's head and not only Combs but Rolfs also scored.

DETROIT, June 15.

ORGANIZED baseball, as represented by a doubleheader between the Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics, and big-time racing, as represented by the $25,000 added Detroit Derby, had an unofficial test here today, and baseball came out on top.

The doubleheader drew 30,000 spectators, almost the capacity of Navin Field, while the Derby, with a fast field entered, drew a crowd estimated at 20,000.

Baseball games have been postponed on more than one occasion this season because the owners thought near-by racing programs would interfere. In the light of what happened at Detroit today, their fears may have been groundless.

Cards Play Poorly Behind Hallahan and Giants Win, 7-5

doing some effective swinging with their war clubs and despite all the bad luck, the score after that unfortunate fifth frame was 5 to 4 in Wild Bill's favor.

Rothrock tied the count at 1-1 in the third with a homer and in the fifth passes to Martin and Frisch, Martin's stolen base and Medwick's single had produced one run and Ripper Collins' tenth homer of the season drove Frisch and Medwick home ahead of him.

Leiber, first up in the sixth, was safe on Durocher's fumble, but Hallahan pitched out of that inning. George Davis, a pinch-hitter, drew a pass to open the New York seventh, and again Hallahan was able to protect the lead. But his house fell apart in the eighth.

And the Unlucky Eighth.

One was out when Leiber singled to center to start the league leaders' drive. Jackson followed with a line drive to short, but Durocher dropped the ball after getting his glove on it with no undue effort, both runners were safe and it was ruled a base hit. Danning batted for Critz and, after his infield out advanced the runners to second and third, Mancuso was passed intentionally, filling the bases.

In this emergency Mark Koenig slammed a single to center and when Medwick's throw to the plate, trying to catch Jackson, bounced over De Lancey's head, Jackson was able to follow Leiber over the plate. De Lancey thought there was a ground rule about overthrows and took his time returning the ball and the slow moving Mancuso also crossed the plate and during the argument at the plate over ground rules, Koenig continued running until he reached third.

HITS TENTH HOMER

JIMMY COLLINS.

There was the ball game, and substantial proof that a team can kick more runs over the plate with errors and blunders than it can knock over the plate in the same given time with the wooden weapons called bats.

New York, in victory, increased its lead over the Cardinals to five full games, and the Redbirds missed a chance to climb ahead of the Pirates, who dropped a game at Philadelphia.

Schlude Defends High School Golf Title Tomorrow

MARK SCHLUDE, Central High School student, will defend his high school golf championship in the annual tournament sponsored by the district association at Westborough Country Club tomorrow.

Each of the 16 schools in the district is allowed to enter six players in the 36-hole medal play event and there will be a prize for the winning individual and for the winning team.

Ernie L. Lyons, Kirkwood High School coach, will start the boys at the first tee starting tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock when contestants will present themselves with cards attesting their right to represent their schools.

of trap (attention, Johnny Manion.)

Walter started with nine successive pars to make the turn one up when he won the second and third holes and lost the sixth to Draper's birdie three when Tom dropped a 15-footer.

Ambo hit a grand second shot over a tree in front of the tenth green and canned a 20-footer for a birdie three to be two up, and after they halved the eleventh with par threes he went three up with a par four when Tom took a five due to a bad tee shot and a short second.

Draper came back strongly to pitch his second eight feet from the pin at the thirteenth, and win with a birdie three while they halved the fourteenth with par fives when Ambo laid Draper a stymie and prevented him from putting for his birdie.

Perfect Golf Needed to Win.

Tom pitched his third four feet from the pin at the fifteenth for another birdie and a win when Ambo made his first miss of a putt on the round.

At the sixteenth Tom was to the right of the green in some trees with his second pitched on, but Walter to the left with his second pitched on, and holed a 20-footer down hill for his par to be two up again.

Draper was short at the seventeenth, while Ambo was to the left in a trap. He blasted out 12 feet short of the hole, while Draper chipped to within four feet and got his par three to be only one down.

Walter was short with his second at the home hole, pitched over the trap 12 feet from the pin and got his par for a half when Draper on in two took two putts to go to lunch one down.

Ambo's Game Wobbles.

Starting out in the afternoon, one up, Ambo's game wobbled on the first nine and he lost six holes to Draper while winning but one and at the end of the twenty-seventh hole, Draper was four up.

Walter began with a wild tee shot at the nineteenth hole and lost it to Draper's par four while Tom put his tee shot in the lake at the twentieth and Ambo won with a three and it was the last hole on the outgoing nine that Ambo won.

Tom sank a 12-foot putt for a birdie three at the twenty-first to square the match for the first time since it began and went ahead on the next hole for the first time when he got a par four and Ambo took a five.

The boys did an excellent job of putting on the twenty-third for their par fours. Draper dropped one of 15 feet first, then Ambo stepped up and canned one 12 feet long for his.

At the twenty-fourth Ambo's putter failed him for the second time during the day. He had a nine-foot putt for a win but missed and just got a half while at the twenty-fifth Draper went two up when Ambo took a six.

A Bit of Bad Luck.

Both were on in three and Ambo barely missed a 15-footer for a four but his ball slid past and Tom's approach putt stymied him. The balls were so close together they had to be measured to determine if it was a stymie and the card, six inches long, barely slid between them and cost Walter the hole. It was a bad break and was reflected in his bad tee shot at the next and Tom was three up when he got his par three at the twenty-sixth.

Ambo kicked his ball all over the lot at the twenty-seventh which Draper won with a par five to Ambo's seven.

Tom went out in 36 to 43 for Ambo who had equaled par on the same nine in the morning.

Both missed rather short putts for birdies on the 28th. Tom was eight feet away and Walter three in two but neither could sink. Then they halved the 29th with par threes and Ambo won the 30th with a four when Draper put his tee shot out of bounds.

Walter returned the compliment at the 31st, but stymied Tom on the green and they both got fives. Tom went four up again at the 32nd, when he hit two fine shots to reach the 500-yard green and got his birdie and ended the match on the next green, a 495-yard par five, where he got a birdie four.

Draper's caddy throughout the tournament was Jimmy Campbell, southpaw golfer of the Washington U. team which belongs to the Normandie Golf Club, the same club which Draper represents. Jimmy was a volunteer bag toter for Tom, who is captain of the Washington U. team.

Ambo's two younger brothers, with strict orders to remain away from the course, walked from University City to watch their big brother play.

Both finalists are expected to play in the Missouri amateur which opens at Bellerive Tuesday.

Only a few hundred persons followed the final rounds.

Draper, one of the slowest players in the district, found himself against an opponent who made him wait on every shot. Ambo evidently had made up his mind to out-slow Draper and succeeded fairly well.

Holds Both Senior and Junior Titles

TOM DRAPER Jr., who holds the unusual distinction of being both junior and senior champion of the St. Louis District Golf Association. He won his senior championship by defeating Walter Ambo of University City, in the 36-hole tournament final, yesterday. Draper will go after the state amateur title this week.

WRAY'S COLUMN

splendid defense. Ramage is a fine boxer, one who has made a lot of heavies look cheap.

"Then there was Charley Massera. What a lamming he took from Louis—and Charley is no softie, you know. Hans Birkie, a tough egg, was pounded to jelly and the fight had to be stopped. There were lots of others beaten or stopped by Louis.

"None of Joe's opponents were great, but some of them were plenty tough.

"The Negro has the goods. He can't miss that big target Carnera. Of course, many believe that the 262-pound Italian will wallow all over Louis until he wears him down. That happens in some of Carnera's fights. But I'm gambling that Louis will reach him hard and often, before his strength has been sapped by Carnera's rough stuff. Louis is the best-taught fighter that Carnera has faced and besides Joe has a punch.

No Hope for Boxing?

WOODMAN is one of those who can't see much hope of a return to the halcyon days of boxing, when Dempsey was Dempsey and fight gates ran into the millions.

"There are very few good fighters in sight," Woodman commented. "A conscientious manager with a crop of modern boxers finds it hard to honestly boost them.

"Mostly fighters are brought up wrong by managers and trainers, some of whom know little about their tasks. Usually the men who are supposed to be teaching fighters send them in to practice with practically no instruction. Boys do little else but throw rights at the head.

"It's a lucky boxer who falls into the hands of a really capable man like Jack Blackburn. But for him Louis might be just another heavyweight.

"The trouble is all the boys want to be Jack Dempseys, but lack Jack's equipment. Until we get back to educating boxers scientifically, there will be little to expect in the way of improving boxing interest."

"Farm" for Boxers.

"WHAT plan do you suggest for getting boxing out of its present impasse?" we asked Woodman.

"Some of the big clubs of the country like the Garden ought to get an idea from the major league baseball clubs," was the reply. "The big clubs could afford to establish farms for prospects, starting them in under good coaches and gradually bringing them along as they improved.

"The Garden might have branch clubs in lesser cities where fighters could get their preliminary opportunities and gradually qualify for bigger and better events.

"The chance of advancement would interest the fighters as well as supply a novelty for the public. We would at least produce boxers who could do something more than throw wild rights, grab gloves and take beatings until they were all glassy-eyed."

The Newest Hope.

"YOU know," went on Woodman, "you'll probably be surprised when I say that I expect to see the name of Baer again preceded by the word champion. But I mean it.

"However, the champion's name will not be Max Baer—it will be Buddy Baer. This young fellow looks like the real goods. He weighs 230 pounds and he is getting better at boxing all the time.

"He has what Max has never had—the fighting instinct. He wants to mop up—he's a young tiger. He will take a little shaping up before he is ready; but I'm about convinced that he will win the title back for the Baer family.

"If you come to New York for the Carnera fight you will see him in one of the preliminaries and can get an idea of how much better he is getting. And it will furnish a real thrill if he and Louis meet, some day."

REVOLTA, 144, TAKES LEAD IN WESTERN OPEN; SCHWARTZ, 151

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 15.—As hot with his putter as the broiling sun that wilted the field with its relentless rays, Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee golfer, shot into the halfway lead in the Western Open championship struggle today with a 36-hole tally of 144 strokes, one under the score of his closest pursuer, Dick Metz of Chicago.

Five blows behind the leader yesterday with a 74, Johnny came in today, his putter afire, with a 70, the second par-smashing score of the tournament, to replace Metz as the leader. One shot behind Metz came Ted Longworth, of Portland, Ore., who took a 74 today for a collection of 146 shots.

Schwartz Falters on Second Round.

Only three shots away from Revolta, with 147s, were Harry Cooper of Chicago, defending titleholder, who couldn't putt worth a lick, and young Byron Nelson, former Texarkana, Ark., boy wonder, and now a professional at Ridgewood, N. J. Francis Schwartz, the St. Louis dark horse, who led the par-searching pack yesterday with a 69, took an 82 today to fall down the list alongside of Tommy Armour of Chicago with a 151.

Revolta, one of the heavy championship threats from the start, because of his winter scoring average of 72.1 strokes for 46 competitive rounds, turned the trick today by shooting a 33 on the front nine and then winding up on the final green with a 12-foot putt for a birdie that enabled him to beat Metz out. On that front nine, his green work was so superb that he putted only 11 times.

Johnny had his troubles coming back, taking a 37, two over par, but his final putt on perhaps the trickiest green of the layout, made up for it. He rolled the putt uphill and it hesitated on the lip, then dropped as a gallery of 2000 gave him a big hand.

Hagen Still Has Chance.

Jimmy Thomson, of Long Beach, Cal., probably the outstanding favorite for the title, duplicated his first round 76 to fall eight shots behind the leader. Walter Hagen of Detroit, five times winner of the title, posted totals of 79-74 and still had a chance in the final 36-hole drive tomorrow.

Several members of the touring Japanese professional team scored well today, Kanekichi Nakamura leading the invading sextet with 78-75—153. The other Japanese totals were: Torchro Toda, 77-77—154; Tommy Miyamoto, 80-78—158; Jack Yasuda, 80-79—159; Bob Asami, 86-84—170, and Seishu Chinn, 82-79—161.

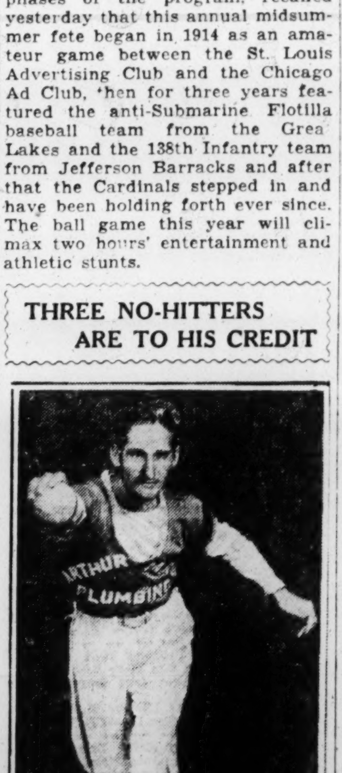
Sixty-four qualified for tomorrow's final with 36-hole totals of 161 or better.

CARDINALS AND BRAVES TO MEET IN ANNUAL TUBERCULOSIS CONTEST

When the world champion Cardinals play the Boston Braves at Sportsman's Park, Tuberculosis day, July 16, they will be figuring in their seventeenth consecutive Tuberculosis day game, although this year Tuberculosis day will be only 21 years old, and the Boston club will be playing their ninth Tuberculosis day contest.

Joe Forshaw former Olympic runner, who is in charge of the athletic phases of the program, recalled yesterday that this annual midsummer fete began in 1914 as an amateur game between the St. Louis Advertising Club and the Chicago Ad Club, then for three years featured the anti-Submarine Flotilla baseball team from the Great Lakes and the 138th Infantry team from Jefferson Barracks and after that the Cardinals stepped in and have been holding forth ever since. The ball game this year will climax two hours' entertainment and athletic stunts.

THREE NO-HITTERS ARE TO HIS CREDIT



This softball pitcher, FREDDIE GELDMACHER, of the Maier team in Sisler's South Side League, has pitched three no-hit, no-run games, two two-hit games and one three-hit contest during the present season.

New Midget Car For Frank Brisko

Frank Brisko, veteran of the Indianapolis Speedway and more recently one of the leading drivers in midget racing, will return to Edward Walsh Memorial Stadium Tuesday night driving a new car. Earl Reflow, who is promoting the races for Welcome Inn, telegraphed this report to his office here late yesterday.

For the past eight years Brisko has been a familiar figure in the Memorial Day Classics. Last year he led the race for more than 250 miles and finished in ninth place. This year he was forced out with mechanical trouble after 250 miles. Since Memorial day the Milwaukee pilot has been devoting his attention to the construction of a new midget car.

Brisko will be joined here Tuesday by three other Indianapolis Speedway drivers of this year — Jimmy Snyder, who drove to the 288-mile mark, Johnny Sawyer, who finished the last 400 miles for a brother pilot, and Harry McQuinn, who was forced out after several laps.

Reflow's wire further revealed, according to his office here, that Wally Mitchell, Jimmy Rogers, Pat Warren, Ralph McDaniels, Gale Lower, Roscoe Hough, and Marshall Lewis have also put in their bids to race here Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the St. Louis end of the organization was lining up motorcycle races which Reflow plans to make a feature portion of the program.

SPORT SALAD

by L. C. Davis

Nice Work, Max.

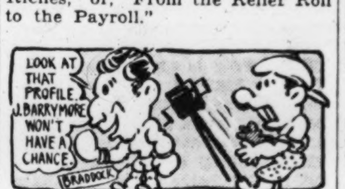
J. BRADDOCK has avenged Duquesne,
Laugh, clown, laugh!
We'll never hear the like again,
Laugh, clown, laugh!
Although he didn't knock him out,
From Maxie Baer he won the bout
If you can laugh that off, old scout,
Laugh, clown, laugh!

Beneath the strain you must have cracked,
Laugh, clown, laugh!
Though Jimmy Braddock crabbed your act,
Laugh, clown, laugh!
Although you had a damaged fin
You thought he had no chance to win
And though you took it on the chin,
Laugh, clown, laugh!

Too True.

Max Baer has changed his mind about going into the cattle business. He has decided that there is more money in the battle businses.

It is reported that Jimmy Braddock is negotiating with a Hollywood producer to star in a picture to be entitled "From Rags to Riches," or, "From the Relief Roll to the Payroll."



LOOK AT THAT PROFILE. J. BARRYMORE WON'T HAVE A CHANCE.
BRADDOCK

Anyway Jimmy will be sitting pretty for a year or so and by the time he gets around to Joe Louis, he ought to have his nest pretty comfortably feathered.

Inasmuch as Jimmy says he is going to string along with Madison Square Garden and as the defending champion usually loses his title in the Long Island Bowl, he can't have too many feathers in his nest.

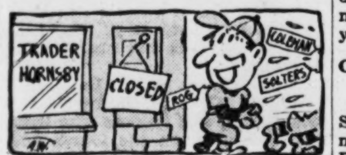
As six champions have already lost their titles in the Long Island Arena it might be a good idea for Jimmy to give the Bowl the run-around.

We gather from reports of the fight that not a really telling blow was landed by either man. They both got in a few daisies but daisies don't tell.

Another Impasse.

Despite early predictions, the Browns refuse to go up and the White Sox refuse to come down. So what?

The trading season which ended Saturday was one of the most prosperous in Trader Hornsby's career. He got rid of all his shelf goods and picked up some nice hitters. Looks like first division.



Although Gene Sarazen was beaten by Sam Parks he is not the only champion to be defeated by a former pupil. Jake Schaefer Sr. taught Willie Hoppe how to play billiards, only to bow to the boy wizard later.

The Browns carried the Yankees along for 13 innings Friday and they might have won if Cain had been able.

Although Leon Chagnon held the Reds to two hits, a single and a home run, the other day, Paul Derringer chalked up his eighth victory of the season when he shut out the Giants with four hits. There is no defense against a home run in anybody's league.

It is said that Freddy Lindstrom used to carry a clipping of an old box score of a game in which McGraw made eight errors. Whenever the going grew acrimonious between the two, as it frequently did, Freddie would play his ace in the hole and take John for a grand slam.

HIGH SCHOOL FRAT ATHLETES IN TRACK TOURNAMENT TODAY

In the first annual Pan-Hellenic track meet, which gets under way at 10 o'clock this morning and winds up at Roosevelt High School field this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, local members of the Greek letter organizations (high school fraternities) will compete in a varied program of track and field events.

Brother Albert Miller of McBride High School and Jack O'Reilly of Sherman Park Athletic Center will act as officials. If the meet this year is successful, plans will be made for continuing it as an annual affair.

Prominent among the participants in the speed events is Harry Zeman, last year's captain of McBride High School track team. Zeman holds the Prep League record of 10 seconds flat for the century run, is titleholder of the 220-yard distance with 22.3 seconds, and is also a formidable factor in the 440-yard dash.

Another well-known track star is J. Harreld, formerly on the Maplewood High School team, who will enter the 100-yard, 220-yard and 440-yard dashes.

AUSTRALIA CUTS GERMANY'S LEAD IN ZONE TENNIS; CZECHS VICTORS

BERLIN, June 15.—The Australian Davis Cup doubles team scored a true-to-form victory over Germany today, cutting the Germans' lead in their European zone semifinal matches to 2-1.

Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist beat K. Lund and H. Denker in straight sets, 6—1, 11—9, 6—3.

Germany, however, still was favored to eliminate Australia from this year's Davis Cup competition since she needed only one victory in two singles matches tomorrow.

Baron Gottfried von Cramm, who upset Crawford, ace of the visiting team, with little difficulty yesterday, was rated an easy winner tomorrow in his match with the youthful Vivian McGrath.

Czecho-Slovakians Lead South Africans, 2-0.

PRAGUE, June 15. — Czecho-Slovakia today won two singles matches from South Africa in their European zone Davis Cup elimination round, taking a 2—0 lead.

Roderick Menzel, Giant Czech, defeated N. G. Farquarson 6—2, 5—7, 6—3, 6—2, and J. Caska routed M. Bertram 6—1, 6—4, 6—2.

YALE'S POLO TEAM BEATS PRINCETON, 10-2, TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Yale today overwhelmed its traditional rival, Harvard, to take the 1935 intercollegiate polo championship by a score of 10-2 and also gain permanent possession of the Gouverneur M. Carnochan polo trophy.

Yale previously had won legs on the trophy in 1930 and 1932 while Harvard won possession in 1929 and 1934.

LOCAL SABER STARS MEET THIS AFTERNOON

Local amateur saber stars will clash in Tower Grove Park on picnic grounds No. 1, at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the third of four Mississippi Valley Fencers Association tournaments.

Robert Witte of the Imperial Club, foil champion, is favored to win today. His closest competition will come from Norman Rotehnheber, the defending titleholder, and a candidate for the 1936 Olympic team. Another strong entrant is Robert O. Miller of Capt. Vical's studio.

Duelists will be divided into two strips, with three finalists to be chosen from each group. Five of nine thrusts or slashes on the arms, head and torso will determine the winners.

Others entered are John C. Voorhees of the Alton (Ill.) Y. M. C. A. Fencing Club; Charles Morgan, St. Louis University; Lee Woodruff, Edwin Euler, Charles Symons and John Kunderman, Imperials; Hardin Walsh, Vicals; Woodrow Reyburn, Ed Maher and Leonard Bellman, Bergerac Fencers' Club; Leonard Bindner, St. Louis Fencing Team, and Robert Stahlhuth and Paul Donovan, Sherman Park Fencing Club.

KING SAXON SCORES SEVENTH VICTORY IN EIGHT RACES

RUNS FIRST BY FOUR LENGTHS AFTER BEATING GATE AT START

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Aided by beating the gate several lengths in a bad start, C. H. "Pat" Knebelkamp's King Saxon, a four-year-old, streaked to another victory in the Carter Handicap of seven furlongs before close to 18,000 spectators at Aqueduct here today.

Favorite at even money in the field of seven, the bay son of Saxon-Poltova sped to his seventh triumph in eight starts this year and his fourteenth success in the last 16 efforts, by a margin of four lengths.

Mrs. J. H. Whitney's Singing Wood, with Eddie Litzenberger replacing the slightly injured Bobby Jones in the saddle, came next in line, with five lengths to spare over John Simonetti's Sgt. Byrne. Only One was a well-beaten fourth. King Saxon made the splendid time of 1:23 4-5 and earned $6850 for his Kentucky owner.

Bettors Give Cry of Anguish.

A loud cry went up from the big crowd when King Saxon, which arose from the ranks of a lowly plater to become one of the leading thoroughbreds of the country, moved up to the barrier from behind the stalls, getting away in motion by plenty of daylight. Being on the inside, the angle made it appear even worse to those in the stands. But this Jimmy Braddock of the equine world, carrying 127 pounds, raced in a manner to indicate that he would have won without the advantage gained at the break.

Sgt. Bryne broke third and was closest in pursuit of the favorite. He seemed to creep up ominously around the bend leading to the stretch turn but little Cal Rainey was merely giving the King a breather. Once in the home lane, Rainey let out another wrap and his mount bounded away again, reaching the judges under tight rein.

Singing Wood Makes Up Ground.

Singing Wood made up a world of ground. He was last away and ran a remarkably good race, overtaking the faltering Sgt. Byrne in the last furlong with little trouble.

Dnieper Takes Juvenile Stakes

By the Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 15. — Dnieper, two-year-old son of Kiev-Nerva, owned by Mrs. P. A. B. Widener of New York, won the Washington Park Juvenile Stakes, defeating Black Highbrow by one and a quarter lengths with Erin Torch third, and C. V. Whitney's Microbe fourth.

The field was made up of 20 of the fleetest juveniles in America. The race had a gross value of $8740, with $6880 going to the owner of the winning thoroughbred.

Few Good Fishing Sites.

POOR water conditions generally over Missouri continue to prevail much to the disappointment of anglers, although a check-up over the State reveals a few good fishing sites.

The best bet for good fishing appears to be in the south part of the Ozarks, especially along the Eleven Points and Bryant rivers. The Lake of the Ozarks, which furnished good fishing early this month despite poor conditions elsewhere, has failed during the last week to be of much interest to anglers because of high or murky waters.

Down in the Ozarks where the smaller streams clear rapidly after rains and make fishing its best, anglers have been reporting good strings of bass, goggle-eye and black perch. Live bait and flies fitted with weights have been the best lures. Little success has been reported anywhere as yet this season with dry flies and surface running baits.

Black River, near Lesterville (Reynolds County), is furnishing good fishing and anglers also have been successful on the Huzza and Courtoise.

Spring branches have been furnishing good fishing with best luck to be had near points where the spring water flows into larger streams. Many of the large springs of the Ozarks which were reduced to mere trickles of water in some instances during the drouth of last summer are now running like mill races, establishing new records for maximum flow. One of these springs now on a rampage is Big Spring at Big Spring State Park in Carter County, where the previously maximum flow had been recorded as 646,000,000 gallons daily.

About the Bull Frog.

Dr. G. B. Herndon, chief of hatcheries for the Missouri Game and Fish Department, is the author of a bulletin, "The Bullfrog," just issued by the State Department at Jefferson City. The bulletin is a brief summary of the habits, habitat and commercial value of the frog with a list of authorities on the subject. It was compiled in answer to the many inquiries received annually from persons interested in commercial frog culture.

This is one of the principal seasons for taking bullfrogs in Missouri and fishermen who have been unsuccessful on their trips recently as regards to fish because of high waters, have often turned their fishing party into a "frogging" expedition with excellent results. Best frogging has been along the semi-muddy and muddy streams.

Field Work Is Completed.

Field work of the Missouri Game Survey by Rudolf Bennitt and W. O. Nagel for the Missouri Game and Fish Department and the United States Department of the Interior has been completed and the game experts are now compiling their data for early publication. At least four months' work will be required to complete the preparation of the manuscript.

The survey has three main objectives;

To determine the present distribution, abundance and living conditions of the resident game and fur-bearing species of Missouri; to determine the past distribution of these species in the State and the conditions that have been responsible for the decline of most of them to formulate, on the basis of the information gathered by the first two steps, recommendations for future management of the wild life resources of Missouri so that these species may be restored to their maximum numbers as far as is consistent with other forms of land use.

The survey is an innovation for Missouri because of its broad scope although previous smaller check-up have been made. The game department included a very general survey in its annual report a few years ago, Wallace Grange, then of the U. S. Biological Survey, made a special pheasant check-up in 1931 and Aldo Leopold had previously made a survey for the north central states including Missouri, for a small arms manufacturing association.

With small grain and hay harvesting season rapidly approaching, conservationists in Missouri are asking farmers to use every precaution to save birds and their nests from being destroyed by mowing machines. The game department will furnish information about an easily constructed flushing bar that has the approval of persons interested in this phase of conservation. Some farmers stake out nests when they are observed and refuse to mow over them.

WESTON SCORES UPSET VICTORY ON MUDDY TRACK

By the Associated Press.

LATONIA, Ky., June 15. — Changed track conditions not long before the twenty-second running of the Quickstep Handicap here this afternoon resulted in a considerable upset, with the Braedalbane Stable's Weston finishing on the head end and the favorite running unplaced. Mucho Gusto, another outsider, was second, a length behind the Sun Flag colt, while the show end went to My Blaze.

Isaiah, the choice at slightly better than even money, could get no better than third position at any part of it and finished fourth, a half length behind My Blaze. The winner paid $38.60 for a $2 ticket.

Weston displayed fine speed in the sloppy going, negotiating the six furlongs in 1:14 and enjoying a length advance over the runner-up at the wire. F. Fernandez piloted the Braedalbane Stable colt in the race, which netted $2075 to the winner.

Miss Stammers, holder of the British hard court title, obviously had shot her bolt in her sensational 6—0, 6—4 triumph over Mrs. Moody yesterday.

"ALABAMA" PITTS SEES CARDS AND GIANTS PLAY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Edwin C. "Alabama" Pitts, who has been barred from playing on the Albany team in the International League because he served a term at Sing Sing, saw his first big league baseball game today—and had his first experience in radio broadcasting.

Pitts, sitting in a private box with Warden Lewis E. Lawes, the warden's daughter, Cherie, and Johnny Evers, general manager of the Albany club, saw the Giants and Cardinals play.

He didn't have much to say at the game, confining his comment to a series of "ahs!" and "ughs!" and "that was okay!" He reached his gabbiest when Pepper Martin slid into second base on his face and forced time out while he toweled the dirt off himself.

"Fosh!" said Alabama. "He got pretty dirty, didn't he?"

NEW CHAMPION PLANS AN EARLY TOUR TO IRELAND AND ENGLAND

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Still a bit delirious over their good fortune, Jimmy Braddock, new world's heavyweight champion, and Joe Gould his peppery manager, bustled about today and tried to discover what the future holds in the way of good hard dollars.

Just to prove he is a big-time fight manager at last, Gould, who swears he hasn't closed his eyes since Braddock won Max Baer's title turned down a $200,000 offer to meet Max Schmeling in Germany as coolly as if he were picking up a 50-cent luncheon check.

Later he announced he was arranging to take Jimmy to England and Ireland in August for a series of exhibitions.

All day long the offers poured in. They want Braddock's endorsement for this and that. They want him on the stage, on the radio, for fights, exhibitions, for personal appearances and for a thousand and one other things.

"I'm still in a daze," said Gould, "and Jimmy can't believe it yet. It looks like a $150,000 year for him, even if he doesn't fight."

10 Trans-Atlantic Phone Calls.

The Schmeling offer came from Fred Kirsch, who authorized Jimmy Bronson, his American representative, to offer Braddock a fight with the German champion in the Olympic Stadium in Berlin in September.

"Nothing doing," Gould told Bronson. "We're not defending this title until next summer, and then it will be in New York for Madison Square Garden. We're under contract to the Garden and couldn't fight for any other promoters first if we wanted to, which we don't."

England and Ireland are all worked up over the Irishman's capturing the heavyweight crown and 10 trans-Atlantic telephone calls have been received from promoters in Dublin, London and Manchester, Eng., for personal appearances. Manchester is the home town of Jimmy's father.

"I told them to put their offers in writing," Gould said. "If they are acceptable we'll go across in the late summer or fall."

"We're in the Money Now!"

The heavyweight champ sprawled on a divan in his hotel suite, his collar open at the neck and his nose in a beaker of beer, was reading some of the hundreds of letters and telegrams he has received.

"Here's the one I like the best," he said and read a wire from the mother of the Boston heavyweight who died after a fight with Primo Carnera in 1933. Mrs. Schaaf now lives in Wrentham, Mass.

"You know, Joe," he went on, "I think we ought to slip up there and see her when we've caught up here."

"Cripes," stammered the good Doc. "Cripes. The first time you paid me off it was with a $10 bill."

Meantime, the Baer entourage prepared to abandon New York headquarters and return to Asbury Park, N. J., where the dethroned champ will try to nurse his ailing hands back in shape and train his brother Buddy for the latter's first big time appearance in the semifinal to the Carnera-Joe Louis fight June 25.

First Place at Stake in Trolley League Feature

Officials of the Belleville club of the Missouri-Illinois Trolley League will celebrate "Old-Timers' Day" this afternoon at White Rose Park in Belleville with a reunion of players who were members of clubs of the semipro circuit years ago. The Budweisers face the Blue Jays of Edgemont in the feature game of the afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock.

The Blue Jays will go into a tie with the Budweisers in the title race with a victory. A defeat will put out Edgemont out of the running for the first half title.

Johnny Harshany, the Blue Jays' star hurler, who pitched a masterful game against the Alpen Braus last week, will be Manager Besse's starting flinger. He will be opposed by either Jess Doyle, the former Brownie, or Harry Langfelder.

Only a half game out of first place, the Red Birds of Collinsville will go to Mount Vernon to meet Jimmy McLaughlin's Car Builders. Ollie Eckert and Joe Langa or Paul Highsmith will be the rival pitchers.

The scheduled game between the Centralia Boosters and Alpen Braus of St. Louis has been called since Centralia will be unable to put a full team on the field.

National Codeball Tourney To Be Played Here This Week-End

That cross between soccer and golf, codeball on the green, will be played here next Saturday and Sunday in the second annual National A. A. U. Codeball tournament in Forest Park. The game was started in 1929 by Dr. William E. Code, Chicago, from whom the game takes its name.

The game is played with a rubber ball, six inches in diameter, inflated, weighing 10 ounces. The object of the game is to direct the ball into holes, 42 inches in diameter at the base with an opening 18 inches in diameter and 7 inches deep. The ball is propelled by foot and the "kicks" are counted as are the strokes in golf. There are 14 holes in codeball instead of 18 as in golf. The holes vary in distance from 50 to 350 yards.

The codeball tourney is open to all adults, and will be divided into four divisions, two each for men and women.

The men's and women's divisions are divided into "pro" and amateur classes, the professional classes consisting of the coaches, physical directors, and other professional athletes.

No Equipment Is Required.

No equipment is required by contestants, as all will be furnished by the committee in charge. There is no entry fee, but entrants must be members of the A. A. U.

A practice field has been laid out opposite Deer Lake in Forest Park, near Lindell boulevard. It is bounded by three drives, Government, Grand and Cricket. This field is open to the public from 2 to 6 p. m. daily.

The tournament will be played over a course located on the old archery range which is near the administration building in Forest Park, just off Oakland avenue. The site is bounded by four drives, Wells, Macklind, Union and McKinley.

Par for a hole is regulated by the distance from tee to cup. Up to 100 yards, par is 3; from 100 to 200 yards, 4; and from 200 to 350 yards, 5.

The national tourney will be a two-day medal play contest.

Codeball Adopted Here in 1929.

Codeball was adopted as an A. A. U. sport at the forty-first annual national convention held in St. Louis in 1929.

EXTRA STUNT ON AUTO-WRECKING PROGRAM TODAY

"Lucky" Teter, America's premier automobile stuntman, and his troupe of 13 "Hell Drivers" will present their second and final carsmashing performance at Edward Walsh Memorial Stadium this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The program is being sponsored by the Commanders' Conference of St. Louis Amerimam Legion posts.

As last Sunday, Teter will be the main attraction of the show with his three daring stunts of last week and a new trick, which he will try for the first time, thrown in.

This new stunt, which he has saved for the last on the program, "in case it should prove unsuccessful the first time," consists of jumping a standard make sedan off a high, inclined runway, over a parked truck. To perform the stunt successfully, Teter must attain a speed of 60 miles an hour, race up the runway without a hitch, and have the truck parked at just such a distance that he can clear it successfully.

"Lucky" will inaugurate the program with an exhibition of daredevil driving which he will culminate by putting his sedan into a skid and sending it crashing over. The trick consists in staying at the wheel, keeping the motor running and being able to drive off after attendants right the car again. So far "Lucky" has performed the trick 29 times in the same automobile. He will be striving for some kind of a record if he makes it the thirtieth time today.

WEBSTER BIRDS AND KELLERS PLAY FOR LEAGUE LEAD TODAY

The Kellers and the Webster Birds will be battling for first place in Missouri-Tri-City League this afternoon in their game at Cherokee and Oaks streets, Webster Groves. The Altheims play the Manors in another league game, while the other two clubs, the K. & A.'s and the Smiths have an open date. The games will start at 2:45 o'clock.

Merrill Baumgartner, who pitched the Webster Birds to a league pennant last season, will be on the mound against his old teammates.

Stanton, midget shortstop, who hit a home run, triple, two doubles and a single for the Kellers last Sunday, will be in today's lineup. He is a former Roosevelt High School star. Naumann, another former Roosevelt star, whose brilliant fielding has been a feature in early games, also will play with the Kellers.

DOUBLEHEADER TODAY IN U. CITY LEAGUE

The Hellrungs, University City Muny League leaders, will be defending their clean slate today, when they meet the Golubs at 2:30 o'clock in Heman Park. The Fienups, with a record of six victories and two defeats, will meet St. Lukes in the other half of the twin bill.

The Golubs scored their first victory of the season last Sunday in a 14-inning game with St. Lukes, and with their new pitcher, Walter "Lefty" Wolff, on the rubber today, they hope to break the Hellrung winning streak. Fletcher is expected to pitch for the Hellrungs.

The Fienups, still in the running for first-half honors, will probably send Harry Mayers to the hill.

MINNESOTA'S SOFTBALL CHAMPIONS FOR TEN YEARS TO PLAY HERE

A team that has won the softball championship of Minnesota for 10 straight years, the Rogers of St. Paul, will play in St. Louis on June 29 and 30, meeting the leaders at Sisler North Side Park on the first-named date and the first-placers of Sisler South Side Park the last night of the month.

Softball has been played in St. Paul much longer than in St. Louis and this team is said to play a very fast game. The Rogers won over the Western Canada champions in tournaments played at Winnipeg the last two seasons.

ndependent Clubs Play.

The West Florissant A. C. is scheduled to play the Missouri Pacific all-star Negro team in a baseball game this afternoon starting at 1:30 o'clock at the Metropolitan Park, 5900 North Broadway.

EXTRA-RANGE SPARK PLUGS

USE THE SPARK PLUGS CHAMPIONS USE

If You Want Maximum Engine Performance, Spark Plugs are Vitally Important and your engine will deliver maximum performance if you replace worn out spark plugs with new Champions every 10,000 miles. Two simple but highly significant facts point to Champions as your logical choice in spark plugs. Practically every major event the world around for eleven straight years has been won with Champions. The world's motoring millions, through experience, choose Champions. Now in their 25th year they continue to outsell all others.

ONLY 20C DOLLAR CAN RESTORE BALANCE, GERMAN DECLARES

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 15.—Dr. Ludwig Roselius, wealthy coffee dealer from Bremen, says the United States dollar must drop to 20 cents before the proper relationship between debits and credits can be established. Addressing the friends of the German Academy on "National Socialism and the Domination of Gold," Roselius pleaded for the creation of non-discountable and non-salable values to replace gold, and cited America as an example of how gold, as a sole measure of value, "brings ruin."

"Through wild speculation," he said, America created so great a surplus of claims upon money and goods that even the greatest reserves of gold that the world has ever seen did not suffice to keep the dollar at a stable value. The restoration of a balance between credits and debits has not occurred in America even today. The dollar would have to drop to 20 cents to establish such a balance. There is no thought of restoring America's finances to a healthy basis without further radical interference by the Federal Government."

SCOUTS GATHER FUNDS FOR JAMBOREE TRIP

Troops Give Carnivals, Sell Magazines and Collect Paper and Junk.

Last week Boy Scout troops of the St. Louis Council were giving carnivals, selling magazines, collecting paper and junk, sponsoring Scout nights at neighborhood movie houses, and using other means of raising money to send their "best all-around" member to the National Jamboree at Washington, D. C., Aug. 21-30.

On July 1 local Scout leaders must inform national headquarters whether or not St. Louis will send 300 Scouts to the Jamboree, the number alloted to the council of the total of 30,000 who will attend. Places not reserved by that time will be given to other councils, notably Eastern ones which have indicated they could send twice the number permitted them.

Col. H. D. McBride, Scout Commissioner, yesterday urged all Scouts who might be able to attend the Jamboree to make application at Council headquarters. To be a member of the delegation a scout must hold First Class rank, have been in Scouting at least one year, have had two weeks' camping experience, and have passed a physical examination. He must also have the recommendation of his scoutmaster.

Methods of Selection.

Individual troops have been using various methods of selecting the scout who will represent them. Some began contests six months ago, in which attendance, advancement, personal inspection, and participation in troop activities were scored. Others are using a general troop election. In a few troops a committee of troop sponsors makes the selection, using contests and elections as a guide in its choice.

The St. Louis Jamboree group, under the direction of Col. McBride and 20 other Scout leaders, will camp in Potomac Park, along with delegations from other Missouri councils, and councils of Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado, the states comprising Region Eight.

In the Jubilee program, there will be four events in which the entire 30,000 Scouts will take part, the grand opening and closing, the national jamboree fire and the national convocation. In other events participation will be by regions, in others by councils. The latter includes plays and stunts, camp fires, tours of Washington, and displays or pageants.

400-Acre Camp Ground.

The camping grounds will cover more than 400 acres, and will be provided with central kitchens, electricity, running water, hospitals, fire departments and telephone exchanges.

St. Louis Scouts will spend a preliminary training period of four days at Camp Irondale, beginning Aug. 13, for organization as troops and instruction in Jamboree activities. The expense of the Jamboree for each Scout, including the Irondale trip, is $69.75. Fifteen scholarships have been established for boys who could not otherwise attend, according to McBride.

Thirty-five Sea Scouts of the St. Louis Council, headed by Commodore H. A. Brereton and 12 skippers and mates, will attend the annual Eighth District regatta at Keokuk, Ia., June 24-28. The Scouts will take 12 boats of various types. This will be the second appearance of local Scouts in the district regatta.

Sea Scouts, who helped families in the Creve Coeur region evacuate their homes a week ago, have been asked by the Red Cross and the County Relief Administration to assist in returning them to their homes when the flood waters recede.

Cub Pack 64, Webster Hills Methodist Church, received its charter Friday. The Rev. B. M. Redpath is cubmaster of the pack, which has a membership of 10 boys.

Troop 53, Independent Evangelical Church, and the Goodfellowship Club of the church jointly sponsored a Carnival Thursday night.

Troop 74, Sherman School, celebrated the prize-winning performance of its three patrols in the Camparall, with a party for parents of the scouts last week.

Troop 97, formerly sponsored by St. Agnes Catholic Church, has been transferred to the Church of St. John of Nepomuk, becoming the first Bohemian troop in the city.

A joint court of honor will be held Friday at the Second United Presbyterian Church by Troop 106 of that church, Troop 118, Chouteau School, and Troop 176, St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Troop 242, St. Francis de Sales Church, celebrated its fifth anniversary Monday night with a dinner for parents and friends of the members. The troop received the Standard Troop award from Scout Commissioner McBride and a Camparall gold streamer from George L. Gamp, chairman of Central District.

South District will hold a special board of review Tuesday evening at St. Paul's Evangelical Church, since the district will be unable to participate in the General Board of Review Wednesday because of its excursion that day to Camp Irondale.

Field Commissioners of South District appointed a committee last week to supervise preparations for a district rally Sept. 28. On the committee are Phil Ziegenfuss, H. F. Walz, A. F. Baum and C. C. Schaeffer.

Dr. H. J. Forrestner has been appointed scoutmaster of Troop 157, Scruggs Memorial Church.

Scouts of Troops 76, 107, 95 and 234 served as ushers for a Flag day celebration at Roosevelt High School Friday night.

Troop 41, Delmar - Harvard School, University City, held a court of honor Thursday at which Eagle Badges were awarded to David Hughes, Charles Bland and Tom Kletzker.

The Order of the Blue Ox, a West District organization of young men or more than 18 years of age, will meet Saturday, June 29, at Castlewood, according to Bruce L. Evans, chairman.

CONSTRUCTION REAWAKENED IN BLUE RIDGE TR.

Six Duplex and a Four-Family Structure to Be Built in Apartment Sections of Moorlands.

LAKE FOREST ALSO SCENE OF ACTIVITY

By Berry Moore

Sponsored by the Anderson-Stocke-Buermann Real Estate Company, plans have been made for the erection of six duplex houses and one four-family apartment building in Blue Ridge Terrace, the apartment house section of the Moorlands, south of Wydown, in Clayton.

The seven projects have been underwritten by the realty firm, which is to be reimbursed with FHA loans. Setting a high standard, the duplex houses will range in cost from $21,500 to $30,000. They will be replete with the newest features in buildings of this type. Construction is to be carried forward with a view to completion by fall.

The reawakening witnessed is pointed to by real estate men as a belated development.

Duplexes to Predominate.

Ground has been acquired at the northeast corner of Cromwell avenue and Westwood drive for two duplex buildings. A four-family apartment building is planned for a site on the south side of Buckingham drive, west of Glenridge. These buildings will be built by Walter Beck.

Henry Barnett, spasmodic builder, has purchased 260 by 125 feet of ground, or approximately four lots, on the north side of Byron place between Glenridge and Westwood, for four duplex buildings. Each will have two apartments of seven rooms, with two baths, etc. Barnett recently built a house of colonial design in Davis place on the Clayton road. It was sold immediately following its completion.

Sites on the south side of Byron place and on the north side of Parkdale avenue, west of Glenridge, have been bought for four duplex buildings, to be built by Ben Goldberg.

Launched early in the spring, construction is nearing completion, or well under way on not fewer than 10 buildings in Blue Ridge terrace. Several of these have been sold from the blueprints, with alterations embodying ideas of the buyers. Negotiations are pending for others. The buildings are attracting investors as well as speculators, in anticipation of a reawakened demand for income properties in the early future. The apartments are being leased as fast as they become available, real estate men declare.

For the last five years, Blue Ridge terrace has been virtually dormant, with no capital available from private sources for new construction. The addition is a short distance east of Hanley road, with Clayton road as its south boundary.

Lake Forest Active Center.

Lake Forest, a 60-acre residential development at the southwest corner of Clayton and Hanley roads, is another active center of building operations, with professional builders in the vanguard.

Sixteen residences, varying in cost from $35,000 to $50,000, are now in course of construction in Lake Forest. They are being financed by the Anderson-Stocke-Buermann Co. with its own resources. These include three being built by Preston J. Bradshaw, architect, four by Ben Goldberg, three by Louis J. Weneker, one by Edward Wagner, two by Fred Ahlmeyer and one by Fred Schulter.

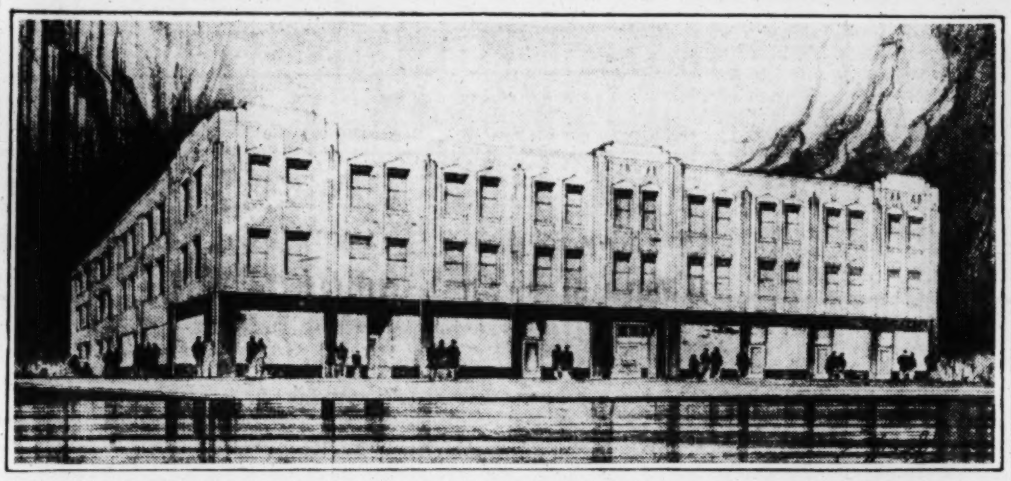
Residence at 7828 Greensfelder Lane, Clayton, bought by Elliot S. Miller from Dr. Howard Rusk. The sale was handled by Mary Potter Love, Inc.



Design of Chase Shop and office building under construction at the southwest corner of Maryland and York avenues. It is being built by Chase Ulman from plans by Preston J. Bradshaw, architect. Lockhart, Inc., has leased the corner, together with 5000 square feet on the second floor.

CHASE-SHOP OFFICE BUILDING IS STARTED

Lockhart Inc. Takes Space in Maryland-York Corner Structure.

Excavation work for the new three-story Chase Shop and Office Building, to be erected at the southwest corner of York and Maryland avenues, was started last week. It is a site 160 by 86 feet on York.

Chase Ulman, who is erecting the building, is a pioneer in this district—first erecting the Netherby Hall, then the Chester and Chase apartments, the Chase garage, and finally the Chase hotel. He built the recently completed Sperber Builidng on Maryland just west of the building now under construction.

The present plans call for an elaborately finished building, with every modern convenience and the finest of equipment. The first floor is to be made up of specially designed shops with a center hall of marble leading to the elevators and stairs.

The corner store, with a frontage of 54 feet on Maryland and 86 feet on York, togther with second floor space immediately above, containing approximately 5000 square feet, and which will be connected by modern elevator and stairway, has been leased to Lockhart, Inc. It will be used for the display and sale of dresses, coats, suits, furs, accessories and novelties. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart were for many years associated with the Famous-Barr Company. Lockhart was in charge of the ladies' ready-to-wear department, and Mrs. Lockhart had the management of the costume department. The Lockharts intend to install the most modern fixtures and equipment. Arthur S. Martin & Son negotiated the lease.

The shops adjoining the entrance hall to the west have been leased to the Open Door Book & Toy Co.

The west part of the second floor has been leased to the Junior League, which will install a tea shop, with small auditorium, kitchen and lounge room, which will complete this area.

The remainder of the second and third floors have been designed for doctors and dentists offices, which are to be specially fitted for their use.

Several leases have been made by the Kempland Realty Co. for space i nthe building.

TAKES LEASE ON SOUTH SIDE BLDG.

The William Newman Motor Co. has leased the one-story building at 5226 Gravois avenue, occupying a lot 80 by 150 feet. The building, comprising 12,000 square feet, includes tile show room with large window frontage on Gravois.

Contracts have been let for reconditioning the premises, together with alterations conforming to the requirements of the company, which specializes in the sale of Plymouth and Chrysler cars. The company now has quarters at 1163 South Kingshighway, inadequate to its demands, which will be met in the new building with double floor space.

NORTH ST. LOUIS SALESMEN TO GIVE PICNIC, JUNE 20

The North St. Louis real estate salesmen have a stag picnic scheduled for Thursday, June 20, to be held at Maple Grove, Bellefontaine road and Spanish Park. A large attendance is forecast.

BOEHMER CONCERN ENLARGES QUARTERS AND ADDS TO FORCE

The Boehmer Real Estate Co. has enlarged its quarters in the State National Life Building at the northeast corner of Eighth and Market streets, by acquiring adjoining office rooms. The firm has also increased its sales force, made necessary by expanding business. Dan Foristell, an aggressive figure in real estate circles, has been engaged, with several other well-known in this field.

3664 MODEL HOMES IN NATION-WIDE DRIVE

National Better Housing Day to Be Observed Today—Local Celebration May 25.

The St. Louis office of the Federal Housing Administration has received word from Washington that latest reports bring the total number of model homes to be started by today—National Better Housing day—to 3664. The original quota set by Washington for the entire United States and Hawaii was 1000.

The nation-wide mass construction program, sponsored by the Federal Housing Administration, is being projected to stimulate public interest in the opportunities offered under the mutual mortgage insurance plan of Title 2, of the National Housing Act. Meredith C. Jones, regional director, who has just returned from a tour of the region, stated that Tennessee is leading in Region 8, with ground having been broken for 176 houses costing $798,000; Missouri is building 90 houses of a more expensive type, costing $750,000; Kentucky is starting construction on 31 houses, costing $285,000 while Arkansas reports 21 houses, costing $73,500—315 houses in the four states, totaling approximately $1,885,550, have been started.

Last May 25 was observed in St. Louis and county with special permission from Washington, when construction on 30 model houses was begun. This program was in co-operation with the nation-wide enterprise, originally set for May 25. The Missouri district was alone in the decision to go ahead and the program, therefore, became the center of national interest.

Reports from builders who participated in this program for Missouri, are that sales are already in the process of closing on seven of the model houses.

HI POINTE RESIDENCE BOUGHT BY B. E. NIEMAN

The residence at 6345 San Bonita avenue, in Hi-Pointe, has been bought by Bernadine E. Nieman.

The two and one-half story house has three bedrooms and bath on the second floor, with one bedroom on the third floor. The lot is 56 by 122 feet to an alley. The former owner was Edw. E. Murphy.

The Slonim Realty Co. handled the transaction.

EXCHANGE STORE FOR LOCUST STREET

Trorlicht-Dunker Leases Five-Story Building at 1113-15, East of Main Store.

The Trorlicht-Duncker Carpet Co. has acquired a long lease on the five story building, comprising 24,000 square feet of floor space at 1113-15 Locust street. The lot is 38 by 105 feet. Arthur S. Martin & Son negotiated the lease.

The building will be used exclusively for an exchange store for furniture, replacing the company's present exchange store at 3688 Chouteau avenue. The Locust street building was acquired because of its proximity to the firm's main store at the southeast corner of Twelfth boulevard and Locust street, housed in a nine-story building.

The building will be thoroughly renovated.

NURRO SHEEN CO. LEASES FRANKLIN AVENUE BUILDING

The Nurro Sheen Co. has acquired a long lease on the one-story and basement fireproof building at 523 Franklin avenue. The company, of which R. C. Collins is president, specialize in beauty shop supplies. Possession is to be taken as soon as alterations are completed. Oliver B. Henry was the lessee. The Breitt & Naumer Realty Co. representing both interests.

MAY BUILDING PERMIT VALUES OVER YEAR AGO

Total Including New Work, Alterations and Repairs Reaches Highest, With One Exception, Since Nov. 31.

The building industry in the United States, as measured by the value of permits issued in May, was only slightly less active than in April. In fact, the estimated cost of contemplated building operations in May, which includes new work, alterations, additions and repairs, was the highest, with the exception of April, since November, 1931.

The total value of permits taken out in May for the 215 cities regularly reporting to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., was $49,322,110, compared with $51,717,570 in April. This was a decrease of 4.6 per cent, whereas the usual change for the period is a decline of about 6.5 per cent. Comparison with May, 1934, however, when permits totaled $43,825,268, shows a rise of 12.5 per cent. Although not as high as the gains reported in recently preceding months, this marks the fifth consecutive monthly increase over the corresponding period of last year.

New York City (five boroughs) contributed a total of $11,366,418 in May, compared with $12,643,378 in the previous month and $16,270,839 in the same month a year ago. This represented declines of 10.1 and 30.1 per cent, respectively.

Comparative Totals.

Outside of the metropolis, the value of permits issued for the 214 cities last month was equal to $37,955,592, a loss of 2.9 per cent from April, but a gain of 37.7 per cent over the like month of last year.

The group totals of building permit values for the 215 cities for May, this year and last, together with percentage changes, are shown in the following table:

Groups:	May, 1935	May, 1934
New England —	$ 3,409,874	$ 3,642,035
Middle Atlantic —	15,511,312	21,128,854
South Atlantic —	6,882,479	3,491,150
East Central — —	7,667,385	5,184,108
South Central —	3,856,017	2,963,715
West Central — —	3,525,159	3,028,544
Mountain — — —	1,200,789	484,792
Pacific — — —	7,269,095	3,902,070
Total U. S. —	$49,322,110	$43,825,268
New York City —	$11,366,418	$16,270,839
Outside N. Y. C.	$37,955,692	$27,554,429

Divisional Changes.

The April to May comparison by geographical divisions revealed three groups higher and four lower. The South Atlantic States made the most favorable record, the group as a whole showing an increase of 47.1 per cent., with Washington, D. C., Miami Beach and Baltimore contributing the major portion of the gain. The West Central and Mountain sections also turned in fairly good increases. Declines in the other groups ranged form 23.2 per cent in the Pacific group to 8.1 per cent in the Middle Atlantic.

Contrast between May this year and last showed only two groups, the New England and Middle Atlantic, with lower totals than a year ago. Heavy increases were noted for the Mountain, South Atlantic and Pacific sections, while smaller gains were recorded in the East, South and West Central States.

HOME FOR AGED COMPLETED TO BE DEDICATED TODAY

The St. Agnes Home for the Aged, just completed, will be dedicated this afternoon by Bishop Winkelman. It is situated at Woodlawn avenue and Manchester road, in a natural park of huge oak trees.

Every effort has been made to design the building to provide the maximum amount of comfort and convenience. The first floor contains a spacious lobby, sitting rooms, a dining room, a most modern equipped kitchen, and on the opposite side of the lobby there are suites for the inmates, in addition to the chaplain's suite.

All the rooms on the first and second floors have connecting baths, and there are a certain number of private rooms with private baths. The third floor is similar in appointment to the second, except there are additional rooms.

The basement contains a large chapel of unusual design with a heavy Coffert and knotty pine paneled decoration.

Construction is of local limestone trimmed with Bedford stone, and has a slate roof. It is absolutely fireproof throughout.

The building was designed by Maritz, Young & Dusard, Inc., architects, and constructed by Seldon-Breck Construction Co.

ENLARGING CITY HALL IN RICHMOND HEIGHTS STARTED

Construction of an addition to the city hall in Richmond Heights has been started. The floor space will be doubled.

J. V. Gastaldi, architect and engineer, expects the work to be finished in four months. Built eight years ago, the present city hall is comparatively new, the addition will front 88 feet on Dale avenue and 66 feet on Big Bend boulevard. Nolte & Struebig are the associate architects. Arthur A. Arnold, superintendent of construction for Richmond Heights, awarded all the contracts.

A public library will be quartered in the new building along with enlarged offices for the police and fire departments and for the Mayor himself.

DEALS INVOLVING APARTMENTS CLOSED

One on North Kingshighway and Another on Rosebury Drive Change Hands.

Acquisition of apartment buildings by investors as well as speculative interests, were a distinct feature of the week, with negotiations pending for other holdings of this type.

Noteworthy was the purchase of a large apartment building at the northwest corner of Kingshighway and Maple avenue by Walter Rumer. It has lot frontage of 80 feet on Kingshighway and 130 feet 9 inches on Maple. Three stories in height the building contains 15 apartments and two stores.

Standing at one of the most prominent corners in this part of the city, the building was purchased as combining both a speculation and investment. Alfred Goedde was the seller. The price paid was not divulged. Negotiations were handled by Barngrove Realty Company, of which James L. Barngrove is president. This agency also effected the sale of a flat at 1476 Shaumut place to an undisclosed client of the Hafner Realty Company. Mrs. Hester E. Masterson, was the grantor to the title.

Another transaction involved an ornate three-story apartment building at 6252 Rosebury drive, just inside the city limits, in DeMun Park addition. The purchaser was a client of the St. Louis Realty Development Co. The apartments have seven rooms and two baths, electric refrigeration, etc. The site is 55 by 121 feet. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Silverton were the sellers. C. S. Gross, president of the realty concern, negotiated the sale.

DeMun Park extends from Skinker road on the east to DeMun avenue, and from Northwood on the north to Southwood on the south. It is built up with apartment buildings of attractive design. The largest structures are on the Skinker frontage, the loftiest being 625 Skinker, at the southwest corner of Skinker and Northwood, overlooking Forest Park.

A seven-family tenant building at 1845-47 Menard street owned by Curt Helbig, has been purchased by Thomas J. Johnson & Co., Inc. for an investor, whose name is withheld.

Deals are pending for other apartment buildings which with the decrease in vacancies are exciting both speculators and investors.

Webster Groves Home Sold.

The colonial residence at 412 Hawbrook court, Lockwood Gardens, has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Loftin E. White of Webster Groves.

The house contains seven rooms, including pine paneled living room, dining room and hall, with the plank hardwood floors throughout the house. There are two baths, with lavatory.

SITES ON MISSOURI RIVER BLUFFS SOLD

Acreages Are Located in Vicinity of Lewis & Clark Bridges.

Negotiations concluded for sites on the Missouri River bluffs in the vicinity of the Lewis and Clark Bridges were features of the week.

Charles J. Muller & Son announce the sale of two tracts on the old Jamestown road, north of Lindbergh boulevard, about a mile west of the Lewis and Clark Bridges. One, comprising three and one-quarter acres, was acquired by M. A. Riek, and the other, nine and two-thirds acres, by H. W. Jennings, a client of the F. E. Mayer Realty Co. Plans for homes are being evolved.

Muller & Sons report negotiations pending for other tracts in this region, recently placed on the market.

Four and one-half acres on the north side of Accommodation road, off Lindbergh boulevard, was purchased by William P. Humphrey of the brokerage firm of Humphrey, Jaques & Co. The site, one of the most attractive on the Missouri River bluffs, was acquired for a residence. Negotiations were handled by Daniel R. Bissell.

Negotiations have been concluded for the Sears Lehmann estate, of a tract of 160 acres, on the Accommodation road, adjacent to Jamestown road. The purchaser is a client of LeGrand Jones, Inc., who has estate plans. The late Mr. Lehmann had purchased the tract for a country estate. The identity of the purchaser has not been disclosed.

A number of homes are in course of construction in this section, including notably those of Francis Mesker, Mrs. Elias Michael and Dr. Sidney Schwab. Several years ago Mrs. Mary T. Blossom purchased a tract in this locality with plans for eventually improving it with a country home.

The homes of Dr. Ellis Fischel, Dr. Vicreyl P. Blair and Burt E. Lang, the latter recently completed, are among the most attractive of this section.

CONSTRUCTION REAWAKENED IN BLUE RIDGE TR.

tect's drawings, one designed in the English and the other in the colonial style. Each has a lot 100 by 175 feet. The three Bradshaw buildings will cost $90,000, without the sites. This is Bradshaw's first venture in the residential field, as a builder.

Sixty houses have been built in the addition, exclusive of those now under construction, with prices ranging from $35,000 to $125,000, plus the cost of the site, ranging from $6000 to $15,000. The homes of Charles H. Huttig ad Edward Muckerman are the show places of the addition. The addition was placed on the market in the spring of 1929 by the Lake Forest Development Co., which has expended a large outlay for surface and underground improvements. It was the only remaining unexploited tract on the Clayton road, immediately adjacent to the city.

Association Sells Holdings.

Deeds have been filed in St. Louis and in Clayton conveying 18 pieces of property from the Real Estate Building & Loan Association to the Ursula Realty & Investment Co., a holding company recently organized, with Arthur A. Leschen as president. The Ursula company made the purchase predicated on a valuation of $125,000, it was stated. Charles H. Stewart of the Hugh H. Stewart Realty Co. conducted the negotiations. Several of the stockholders in the building and loan association are said to be interested in the Ursula company.

The deal embraced all the property taken under foreclosure during the depression by the association. The list includes a small apartment building in University City and a six-family flat on Nebraska avenue in St. Louis. The other 16 parcels consist of cottages, bungalows and medium priced residences in St. Louis and in St. Louis County.

The Real Estate Building & Loan Association, established in 1889, is a member of the Federal Home Loan Bank, the United States League of Incorporated Building & Loan Associations. Charles H. Stewart is secretary, having succeeded his father, the late Hugh H. Stewart, in this capacity.

Joseph T. Ayers, recently resigned as president of the association, to enter the general insurance business as a broker for the Robert J. O'Brien agency. He has retained his financial interest in the Buidling & Loan Association. He is also interested in the Ursula Corporation.

IMPROVED PROPERTY FOR SALE

STRONG RISING MARKET

The public is sensing the wonderful prospects of Real Estate Investments and Homes. Our May and June sales and inquiries equal to 1925. Last Sunday there were 100 inquiries at our new building operations—4143 Tyrolean, 7140 Cambridge, 7306 Princeton, 4665 Margaretta, 4177 Itaska. We have 14 new buildings, prices ranging from $5600 to $40,000. Our opinion that this market is rising backed with cash. We are always in the market to buy. Our confidence in real estate was never shaken. We blazed the trail and bought during the very depths of the depression. Everything now points to higher prices. Real Estate loan money is very plentiful. Rent collections are good and rents are going higher. Delay means paying more money. Buy now without risk. Preserve this prophecy "IT'S WORTH A FORTUNE."

California offers this opportunity, where many varieties of fruits and vegetables are grown the year round. The Small Farm Home is a proven success in many localities in California. The Santa Fe Railroad has no land to sell, but offers free information service to help you get right location. Low fares to California. Possibilities—This company will assist and coach you in starting your own business in opening a paint shop. There are now over 15 million cars in this country needing paint jobs at a price. You can give it to them and make good money. Most large auto dealers have their own paint shops and offer good channels for employment. Industrial plants, automobile and furniture manufacturers require this trade.

Opportunity for travel. If you have a car, we can show you how to make big money in the small towns bringing the paint shop to the dealer.

SALESMEN WANTED

MEN

THE MAJORITY OF MEN WHO READ THIS ADVERTISEMENT HAVE NO DOUBT SCANNED NUMEROUS ADVERTISEMENTS HUNDREDS OF TIMES, SEEKING SOMETHING IN THEIR PARTICULAR LINE OR PERHAPS HOPING THAT THEY WILL GET "SOMETHING FOR NOTHING."

Men, there is no such thing as "something for nothing" these days, and if we continue to center our thoughts on doing nothing but the things we are accustomed to, isn't it the truth that we get very little out of life? This is no time for a man to want to do the same old thing when there is no chance for him to progress. If you are not making $40.00, $50.00, $75.00 or more per week, and you have been in that business any length of time, and have diligently and honestly applied yourself, ask yourself whether that job affords you any opportunity. Then I suggest that you come in and talk with me. It costs you nothing to do this.

I have had the pleasure in the last few months of employing dozens of men all through the Middle West who today are making real money every week.

We are in the finest business in the world, doing business with the finest people. Our company is the largest of its kind in the world. This company has been established here a number of years, and when this unique product of ours was introduced, these men welcomed it with overwhelming joy and enthusiasm, and they are today making more money than ever before in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

These men are happy and contented, not because they have to work hard, but because, while they have to work and do work hard, they get well paid—also a number of men in our organizations in nearby cities, in Springfield, Ill.; Des Moines, Davenport, Kansas City, Omaha, etc.

We have something that is unique in construction, marvelous in performance and was never heard of until recently manufactured and introduced by our company. Our men are making $40.00 to as high as $125.00 per week and up, and I want 12 good men, who can furnish good references, to come and talk with me, also talk with our men. Let them tell you about our business—if you have the qualifications they have, meet them; watch them do their work. See them make money every day, and the kind of money you would be happy to make. Go to their homes and meet their families, if you care to, and find out for yourself the real truth and opportunity of our business. It costs you nothing.

If you are sincere of purpose, interested in permanent success, willing to work hard, can furnish good references, I welcome you to call between the hours of 9:15 and 1:15 Monday morning, at Paul Brown Bldg., 9th and Olive Sts., Suite 512.

LAWYER SEEKS WRIT AGAINST BAR HEARING

J. S. Tall, Kahoka, Files Test in Supreme Court When Cited for Inquiry.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 15. — An application for a writ of prohibition to restrain Boyle G. Clark of Columbia, general chairman of the Bar Disciplinary Committees of the State Bar of Missouri, and members of his advisory committee, from holding a hearing in Kahoka, Mo., on Monday, to investigate charges of professional misconduct against Joseph S. Tall, attorney, of Kahoka, was filed in the Missouri Supreme Court this afternoon by attorneys for Tall.

This is the first test instituted in the Supreme Court of the powers of disciplinary committees appointed by the Supreme Court last November, in connection with new rules adopted by the court for regulation of the practice of law in the State and disciplining of attorneys found guilty of unethical or unprofessional conduct.

Advisory Committee.

Clark, as general chairman, has direct supervision of the disciplinary committees appointed by the court in each of the 38 judicial circuits of Missouri, and is aided in that work by an advisory committee of five members. This advisory committee may replace the disciplinary committee in any circuit in investigation of charges of unprofessional or unethical conduct.

Tall's application for a writ disclosed that he had been cited to appear before the bar advisory committee in Kahoka on Monday, in an inquiry into charges of "certain acts of professional misconduct." Under the court rules, the nature of such charges is not disclosed pending inquiry by a disciplinary committee and a decision to file formal charges in court.

Tall's petition alleged the proceeding "was for the purpose of laying a foundation for institution of proceedings of disbarment against the petitioner."

Question of Jurisdiction.

Attorneys for Tall contended that exclusive jurisdiction of such proceedings was vested in the bar disciplinary committee of the Thirty-seventh Judicial Circuit, in which Tall resides, and that any such proceedings must be instituted before that committee. It was asserted that the latter committee had not been consulted, had never ordered any investigation, that Tall never had received a legal notice of the proceedings, and that the advisory committee was without authority to act.

Action of the advisory committee in conducting the inquiry was alleged to be oppressive and contrary to law and the rules of the court.

The petition charged that Clark, the general chairman, was biased and prejudiced against Tall, and that the latter, for that reason, could not have a fair and impartial hearing before the advisory committee.

Mrs. Euneva Goodall, 7315 Kingsbury boulevard, University City, obtained a divorce from Arthur S. Goodall, secretary of L. E. Mahan & Co., investment brokers, in the court of Circuit Judge McElhinney at Clayton yesterday.

She alleged general indignities, and testified her husband had been cross, that he embarrassed her before friends and he refused to take her out with him. On May 6, she told the court, her husband told her he was leaving her. They were married in July, 1928, at Sparta, Ill.

The court awarded her $10,000 gross alimony and the custody of their 4-year-old son, Arthur Lynn Goodall. She also gets $1500 for attorney fees and $40 a month for the child's support. Goodall did not appear but filed an entry of appearance and a general denial.

WALEY PROSECUTION UNDER COCHRAN LAW

No Death Sentence Possible for Pair Accused in Weyerhaeuser Kidnaping.

By the Associated Press.

TACOMA, Wash., June 15.—Authorities decided today to prosecute Mr. and Mrs. Harmon M. Waley, accused of kidnaping George Weyerhaeuser, under Federal instead of State law, thus eliminating the possibility of a death sentence.

The maximum penalty possible in event of conviction under the Cochran law is life imprisonment, in view of the fact the 9-year-old lumber heir was returned unharmed. The death penalty is provided under Washington State law.

"Washington State officials said they do not have the funds to bring charges under their State law," announced J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in Washington.

Hoover said the evidence collected by his men will be presented to a Federal grand jury here, beginning June 19.

The Cochran law also will be invoked against William Mahan, ex-convict, who is sought in the $200,000 ransom case. Mahan, thought to possess a large amount of the ransom money, was hunted in areas as widely separated as Olympia, Wash., and Kirbyville, Tex.

Attempts to identify a woman as a fourth participant in the kidnaping plot were being made by the Washington State patrol.

BOY, 8, TESTIFIES AGAINST FATHER AT MURDER TRIAL

Case of Chicagoan Who Admitted Killing Man Wife Preferred, Goes to Jury.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Eight-year-old Tommy Cronin spent his first day of vacation from school today testifying as a state's rebuttal witness in the murder trial of his father, who admitted killing William Bahnfleth, 40 years old. After eight hours of deliberation the jury was locked up for the night.

Thomas Cronin, 27 years old, labor union officer, in testimony, admitted shooting Bahnfleth, oil company salesman, in the Cronin home on the night of April 5, but said he did so because his wife preferred Bahnfleth to him.

The defendant's son told of the killing of Bahnfleth, whom he called "Uncle Billy" and "Bill."

"Father and mother were arguing," he said, "and then father went out. Pretty soon he came back and he had a gun in his hand. He raised it and was going to hit Bill. I turned and started to run and then I heard three shots. When I looked around Bill was falling and my father fired two more shots at him. My mother came running from behind a chair and told my father to kneel down and pray for Bill. My father told her she'd get the same thing. He hit her and she started crying."

Mrs. Cronin did not testify. At the inquest said her friendship with Bahnfleth had been platonic.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The National Knitted Outwear Association, representing 1100 mills in 28 states, announced today the adoption of a voluntary code of fair practice embodying all the major provisions governing competition within the industry contained in the NRA code.

The mills adopting the code have 35,000 employes and an annual sales volume of more than $100,000,000, the association said. The code will become effective when 70 per cent of the members of the industry have signed a voluntary agreement.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, June 15.—The Southern Garment Manufacturers' Association today voted to maintain wage and hour provisions which were in effect under the former NRA code for the industry. It was agreed that the maximum of 40 hours for the work week should be retained and that $12 should be the minimum wage. The decision affects 35,000 garment workers in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Louisiana and Texas.

EXTORTION WARRANT REFUSED AGAINST CONVICTED ROBBER

An extortion warrant was refused yesterday against John Fitzsimmons, convicted robber, arrested Friday on complaint of John Miller, proprietor of an ice cream business at 2702 Clara avenue, who reported that Fitzsimmons had tried to sell "protection."

Miller told police the convict spoke of trouble in the ice cream business during a call June 7, and offered protection for $10 a week. There were no threats and Miller paid nothing, with the result that the Circuit Attorney's office found no grounds for a warrant.

Fitzsimmons, 25 years old, is under $20,000 appeal bond following his conviction two years ago of participation in a drug store holdup.

OIL STATION EMPLOYE ROBBED

Two Men Take $60 in Holdup in University City.

Joseph Menderfeld, attendant at a filling station at Midland boulevard and Balson avenue, University City, was robbed of $60 by two men who entered the station at 9 p. m. last night.

EX-GOV. E. P. MORROW OF KENTUCKY DIES

Was Member of Federal Railway Labor and Mediation Boards; Succumbs at 58.

By the Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 15.—Former Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky died while sleeping of a heart attack here today at the home of Mrs. John G. South, a cousin. He had attended a Republican mass meeting and complained of being tired. He was 58 years old.

Morrow and his wife, Mrs. Catherine W. Morrow, whose home was at Somerset, Ky., had been residing at the South home since last winter and were preparing to move to Lexington, where he planned to open a law office.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a son, Charles Robert Morrow of Chicago; a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Morgan of Washington, D. C.; a twin brother, Col. Charles H. Morrow of the United States Army, Fort Niagara, N. Y.; three other brothers, Tom, Sam and Boyd Morrow of Somerset, and a sister, Mrs. Cale Polwood of Texas.

Funeral services will be held at the South home Monday afternoon, followed by burial in Frankfort Cemetery.

Prominent in Kentucky and national politics for many years, he served as Governor of Kentucky from 1919 to 1923. His father, the late Col. T. Z. Morrow, was one of 18 men who organized the Republican party in Kentucky. His father was defeated for the governorship by Proctor Knott in 1883. His mother was Jennie Bradley Morrow, sister of former United States Senator W. O. Bradley.

Morrow was appointed Federal District Attorney for Eastern Kentucky in 1909. In 1912 he was beaten for the United States Senate by the late Ollie M. James. In 1915 he was defeated for the governorship by A. O. Stanley. Four years later he was elected governor. He sent State troops to Lexington to guard a Negro accused of attacking and murdering a white woman. A mob tried to break the guard lines and the troops fired, killing four and wounding a score.

Morrow's term ended in 1923 and the next year he was named a member of the Federal Railway Labor Board, serving until 1926 when he was appointed to the Railroad Mediation Board.

In 1934 he unsuccessfully sought the Republican nomination for Congressman in the Ninth District.

His Moonshine Story.

Morrow had a following among the mountain folk. "Something of value is dying in the hills," he once said. "The rugged individualism is passing. Soon we'll all be turned on the same pattern."

He told with amusement of a mountaineer friend who came down to the Governor's mansion carrying a huge carpetbag in which was a two-gallon jug of moonshine. The call was made after the passing of the prohibition laws.

"Guv'ner, I just fixed to bring you a little gift," said the mountaineer, "and I had the boys double-still this fer ya."

"But don't you know we can't drink any more?" protested the Governor.

"Wal, I did hear 'bout hit when I got down to Winchester," said the visitor. "But I jist told the folks them as make the laws kin change 'em, and came along. Told 'em, guess my friend Ed Morrow can pardon me if I git into any trouble."

As Governor, he turned his attention to the State's charitable institutions, which, he said, had been used as political footballs for years. He drafted men and women of high character to direct the institutions, persuading them to serve without pay.

On the Bluegrass State.

He was among the first to pronounce the dictum, "Let those who use the roads pay for them." He helped to institute a gasoline tax to that end.

Some of his speeches were preserved in printed pamphlets, one being an address made on June 18, 1924, Kentucky's "home-coming" day. He said, in part:

"The sailor yearns always for the sea; the mountaineer dreams forever of his hills; the heart of the Arab breaks with longing for the desert sands, but in all the world, this side of heaven, there is no love like the love of a Kentuckian for Kentucky. God bless Kentucky—it bears Your smile. Make fruitful its soil and abounding its harvests, lead it forward in stalwart strides of gigantic progress, give it better roads, better schools and happier homes; watch over its people, but, Oh, God, don't change it too much. Don't let greed possess its vales and meadows, don't let power destroy the solemn grandeur of its rugged hills, don't let wealth increase, if its virtue must decay."

BIG weddings, in the old-fashioned manner of magnificence, like the gilt-edge debutante parties of the solvent years, have been out of style since about 1930, if for no other reason than that few brides' parents have had the resources to marry off their daughters in the modern version of a carriage wedding. But the marriage a short time since of Virginia Kent to Cummins Catherwood at Philadelphia put an end to these reticences, and now the lid is off. One may spend $100,000 or more on such an occasion and be in the best of taste again. The Quaker City blowout revived all the opulence of fleets of matched automobiles to transport the guests, grass mats of orchids for decorations, and pails of pearls and platinum gifts for ushers and bridesmaids, and now it is once more worth the trouble to go to big weddings for the spectacle alone.

One recent bridegroom revived the custom of entirely outfitting his ushers for the three days of parties attending his wedding, sending them to a London tailor's representative for matching dinner suits, evening tailcoats, yachting sports outfits and morning coats, each with all the furnishings, so that the party might present a uniform appearance throughout the entire flag-raising. Hundred-case champagne orders for receptions now are as frequent as they were during prohibition, and the calling of being a bridesmaid or an usher is looking up, what with gifts of paper-thin evening watches and diamond and sapphire bracelets on every hand, as it were. Ring out, solid platinum wedding bells!

A. K. M. recently was privileged to attend a wine-tasting symposium arranged by the Wine and Food Society at the Waldorf, and a high-toned occasion he reports it was, too. One distinguished old gentleman, who shall be nameless, had taken all honors, delicately sniffing each claret and washing his mouth with vermouth to freshen his palate, never so much as swallowing a drop, of course. The fastidious sniffer had with certain knowledge identified each chateau bottling and discarded the less notable vintages, and after an afternoon well passed was heading for his club and a chop. The checkroom girl handed him his square derby hat and passed an aside to the Mamie assisting her: "You can always tell these old souses," she said in a stage whisper. "They turn up for all the free booze parties."

During the torrid months of last season we never could mention Creme Vichyssoise as having been on a menu without receiving at least one request for the formula for this superlative summer soup. We, therefore, have obtained his own private recipe from Paul Moreau, chef de cuisine at the Madison, and your own cook may paste it up between the butcher's calendar and the foi-gras firkin once and for all. It is:

"Peel and wash thoroughly a pound and a half of young red carrots. Slice very fine and simmer in a little fresh butter for about 10 minutes. Add two tablespoons of flour and mix well. Add a quart of chicken broth and cook slowly for 45 minutes after seasoning with salt and a dash of paprika. Strain twice through a fine sieve to get a smooth-textured cream.

"Prepare in a flat pan a half pint of cream and three egg yolks; stir well together and mix slowly with the cream of carrots. Put on the stove again and keep stirring to the boiling point. Remove immediately from the fire and strain again through cheese cloth. Place in a cool place and serve very cold, preferably in bowls surrounded with ice."

About a year ago the annual Sin Den Survey of this department (a census conducted with a wealth of detail and expense which would amaze you) reported the gloomy circumstance that gambling salons along the wealthy turnpikes of Long Island were not what they used to be. Repeal had opened new vistas of commerce to their entrepreneurs without the old-fashioned attack of heart failure that used to be in order every time a car backfired in the driveway, and from the desert reaches of Queens to Montauk hardly a half dozen wheels were spinning.

This summer, however, things are looking up in the island's chalets de chance, and it won't be necessary to cross to New Jersey to hear the clatter of a spun birdcage. Whether it is the impression that times are good again, or disappointment over the revenue from liquor alone, there is a considerable battle among the roadhouse proprietors, each of whom is seeking to undersell his nearest rival on the house dinner and Martinis in order later to nick the patrons for more in the gaming rooms upstairs. Our spies report that you can get a knockout dinner from fresh fish eggs to a dated Cognac for $1.75 if you look as though you may edge toward the hazard or roulette tables when stupefaction has set in, and Southampton alone boasts six joy joints of de luxe order. And the beach wagon trade is said to be rolling in.

Pearl Cohen to Wed Leo Frank Tonight

THE wedding of Miss Pearl Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Cohen, 7155 Princeton avenue, University City, and Leo Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Morris Frank, 6402 Enright avenue, will take place tonight at 7:30 o'clock, at United Hebrew Temple with Rabbi Samuel Thurman officiating. More than 500 guests have been invited. The reception will be in the crystal ballroom of Hotel Chase.

The bridal party will stand beneath a canopy of huckleberry foliage interwoven with spring flowers. More of the blossoms will be used against greenery as a background and the pillars of the temple will go garlanded with foliage and flowers.

Miss Marian Schneider will be maid of honor; Miss Adele Elman, Miss Sylvia Cohen, Miss Josephine Jacobs and Miss Edith Morgan, bridesmaids; Marilyn Sakowsky and Beverly Schneider, flower girls, and Byron David Sachar, ring bearer. Meyer Frank will be best man for his brother. The groomsmen will be Adolph Frank, Harold William Cohen, brother of the bride; Ivan Cohn and James Goodman.

Mr. Cohen will give his daughter in marriage. She will wear a period gown of ivory satin fashioned with a close-fitting bodice and leg o' mutton sleeves. A pleated frill of satin trims the high neckline and edges the long sleeves. The full skirt shirred at the normal waistline falls in a train. She will wear a veil of ivory tinted tulle arranged with a small cap of the tulle adorned with orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet will be of orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor will be in pale yellow point d'esprit over matching taffeta made with short puffed sleeves and a full flared skirt. The only trimming is a sash of yellow and apple green taffeta. She will wear a large hat of yellow hairbraid and point d'esprit and will carry yellow roses. The bridesmaids' frocks are also of point d'esprit over taffeta. Miss Elman and Miss Morgan will be in blue and Miss Cohen and Miss Jacobs will wear a delicate shade of pink. Their gowns are designed with deep square necklines, long tight sleeves and skirts that flare from the knees. They will wear large hats made of the same material as their gowns and will carry bouquets of tea roses. The two flower girls will be in costumes of pale blue taffeta designed as the gown worn by the bride. They will carry colonial bouquets of pink and blue flowers. Mrs. Cohen will be gowned in orchid chiffon and Mrs. Frank will wear orchid lace. They will wear corsages of gardenias.

The reception table will be centered by a large wedding cake with spring flowers and white tapers in crystal candelabra at each side. Palms and ferns will bank the ballroom.

Mr. Frank and his bride will spend their honeymoon in the North and on their return will be with her parents for the summer.

Many of Newport's Mansions for Sale

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 15.

THE multitude of Newport summer homes for sale is a sad commentary on the social and financial decline of a resort once known as the most exclusive in the country.

John Jacob Astor is trying to get rid of "Chetwode," which he bought from Mrs. W. Storrs Wells for Eileen Gillespie, but in which was ensconced, instead, the former "Tucky" French.

Henry Coleman Drayton put "Fair Oak," his Beach Hill road villa, on the market, and other magnificent estates with "for sale" or "for rent" signs are "Villa Rosa," the home of Mrs. James B. Haggin; "Bushy Park," owned by Mrs. Richard V. Mattison; "By the Sea," owned by J. Beale McLean, and "Dudley Place," of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Phelps; and "Little Clifton Berley," owned by Mrs. Duncan Cameron.

Bailey's Beach, the most exclusive in the United States, opened for its fortieth season this week. Officially, Bailey's is Spouting Rock Beach and is controlled by the Spouting Rock Association — a group that has managed for four decades to successfully withstand the onslaughts of ambitious climbers backed by wealth. In a way, Bailey's Beach is the keystone of Newport's summer colony. For, to spend the summer in Newport and not be eligible to wander on Bailey's socially sacrosanct sands, marks one's social standing there. And, in the past, men and women have made the mistake of leasing villas in Newport, without first ascertaining whether or not they are acceptable to the Spouting Rock Association.

Marywood College Honors.

Miss Lorraine Arata, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Arata, 4346 Lindell boulevard, was graduated with the highest honors of the class last week from Marywood College, Grand Rapids, Mich. Miss Arata has been a student at Marywood for the past three years, having won junior and senior scholarships.

College Sororities And Fraternities

Panhellenic

FOR the first time in the history of the fraternity, Alpha Tau Omega has included in the program of a national convention a special luncheon in honor of a distinguished alumnus. The man to be so honored this year at the convention convening Wednesday at the Peabody Hotel in Memphis, Tenn., is Dr. Harvey J. Howard of St. Louis, surgeon and author. Dr. Howard spent many years in China as physician to the Emperor and has described his experiences at court and his capture by Chinese bandits in lectures and in his book, "Ten Weeks With Chinese Bandits." In the early days of fraternities it was common for initiates to have insignia cut on their shoulders and the apparently mystic initials which Dr. Howard wore had much to do with winning his freedom.

Among the prominent members of Alpha Tau Omega who will take part in the convention program are: Norman C. Davis, United States Ambassador-at-Large; Scott M. Loftin, president of the American Bar Association; Dr. Albert K. ENGLISH STAR PREFERS LIFE IN HOLLYWOOD TO LONDON

Frank Lawton and His Wife, Evelyn Laye Considering Taking Out Papers as U. S. Citizens.

LONDON, June 16.—Frank Lawton and his wife, Evelyn Laye, stage and screen actors, are returning to the United States under the immigration quota—usually a preparatory step to becoming American citizens.

"We haven't really considered the matter yet, but it is true we are going under the quota this time and can stay as long as we like," said Young Lawton.

"The old 'town life' in London doesn't compare with Hollywood and Southern California," said Frank. "For one thing, I can get some writing done there and I never can here."

Not many people know that Lawton is already half-American. His father, Frank Lawton Sr., came to this country with the "Belle of New York" company in 1898. Lawton stayed here and married Daisy Collier, the British actress. He died when young Frank was nine years old.

Lawton is under contract to make four pictures on his return to Hollywood. Miss Laye expects to play in New York.

Lawton will play opposite Margaret Sullavan in his first new film, adapted from the novel "Time Out of Mind." In stage and film work in England since the age of 19, Lawton went to America for the first time to appear in "Cavalcade." Last year he returned to make "David Copperfield" and "Over the River."

VARIED CLIMATE AND SCENE IN CALIFORNIA

Snow-Capped Peaks and Deserts Have Appropriate Historical Background.

The traveler in America who seeks diversity of scene and climate with a limited space can find whatever he wishes in California. Whether it be Swiss Alps with snow-capped peaks or the Sahara Desert with wavering sand dunes every variant of climate with proper scenic effect can be found.

For sheer flower-decked scenic beauty, blue sky and water, California has few equals. For historic background the State is the most colorful in the West. The influence of early Spanish settlers has remained only in the form of Spanish place names and architecture. The Spanish spoken in the southern portion is a tribute to its near neighbor, Mexico.

California Cosmopolitan.

From the earliest days to the present time California has been cosmopolitan. The Oriental, the Spanish, the native Indian, the overlay of easterner and middle westerner who sought wealth in the days of '49 have become definitely part of California.

Perhaps the most interesting historical remains are the Missions, 21 in all, extending along the Camino Real from San Diego to San Francisco. The Mission period from 1769 to 1823 is the pastoral period when the natives were taught the humbler crafts of farming and weaving by the Franciscans. Some of the missions are well preserved. Others have been ruined by time and the elements. The "King's Highway" connecting the mission churches was built by the padres and neophytes and was 1000 miles long. Today this same road has been paved and the ox cart has been replaced by the automobile.

Gold Rush of '49.

The gold rush of '48 and '49 splashed still another brilliant color on the historical canvas of the State. The wild confines of the West moved overnight to include these hitherto far reaches where gold was available merely by panning gravel in stream beds. The riches were as fabulous as the flimsy structures that mushroomed over night around these mining centers which grew into flourishing cities once the gold craze subsided.

Irrigation which changed the desert into a garden was further responsible for the establishment of cities. Today Los Angeles and San Francisco rank among the largest in the country. The citrus and grape industries have grown from very small beginnings to worldwide enterprises.

City of Contrasts.

San Francisco is a city of contrasts. The curving roof tops of its extensive Chinatown with feasts and processions are the very spirit of the Orient. Very dimly, though still faintly recognizable is the San Francisco Bret Harte which has grown into something very smooth and elegant with its skyscrapers, its parks, harbor, and its numerous musical and artistic attractions.

Yosemite Valley, said to be the most beautiful valley in the world is known to many travelers for its National Park and its giant redwood trees. This valley which is eight miles long and one-half to one mile wide with castellated rock formations and tumbling waterfalls was unknown until 1851 when Captain Boling pursued a band of Yosemite Indians into their stronghold through the entrance to the valley. Walls rise sheerly to a height of 6000 feet in some parts of the valley. The famous Bridal-Veil Falls are 900 feet high. By 1865 the valley had become so well known that it was turned over to the State by the Government as a kind of protectorate. The Mariposa giant trees, discovered in 1857 by Galen Clark were also turned over to the State and later became portion of the National Park.

Los Angeles Well Known.

Los Angeles and the movie industry are known to everyone the world over. Catalina Island, the beaches where movie stars play, the desert resorts are well known. The La Brea pitt where more than 4000 prehistoric animals have come to light after having been trapped in pitch ages ago, the Rose Bowl which is the scene of concerts and football games alike are known everywhere. The Mount Wilson Observatory with its famous telescope which brings the observer within 23 miles of the moon.

From California all roads seem to lead to features of interest in neighboring states. Bryce and Zion Canyon in Utah, the Salt Lake and the great Mormon Temple are within easy reach. Boulder Dam which will add more water acreage to California and Arizona is nearing completion. The most famous of all canyons, Grand Canyon with its unbelievable colors and formations is not far from any point in California as are the Hopi and Navaho Indian reservations where life goes on as it did long before the white man came.

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK IS AMERICAN SWITZERLAND

Glacier National Park which opened on June 15 might well be considered America's Switzerland in Montana. Perhaps the 60 odd glaciers which give the park its name do not approach those of the Swiss Alps in size and scale, nevertheless the beauty of numerous Alpine lakes and the rugged and precipitous grandeur of snowy peaks leave little to be desired.

The "Going-to-the-Sun" highway, which was built by the Government is one of the outstanding features of the park. This highway which took five years to build is hewn out of solid rock in many places and affords a scenic panorama across the Continental Divide that was once available only to hardier climbers on foot or on the backs of trail horses.

Animal life is abundant in the park. There are deer, elk, sheep and grizzly and black bear. More than 100 varieties of wild flowers grow along the highway and trails. Chalets, hotels and camps accommodate the tourist. Every summer a band of Indians from the Blackfeet Reservation near by is invited to camp inside the park. Their tepee village is in Two Medicine Valley. Their pow-wows and tribal dances and native costumes are a portion of authentic Americana.

MICHIGAN OFFERS NUMEROUS DIVERSIONS TO SPORTSMEN

Michigan, to most people, means either automobiles or extensive forests of pine and cedar. While most of the motor vehicles manufactured in the United States are made in Michigan and most of the wood pulp for paper is a product of the State, sportsmen know it for an entirely different reason.

The many streams which are directly connected with the Great Lakes harbor rainbow trout, supposedly one of the finest fighting fish known to anglers. Sailing, swimming and golf are to be had in the resort sections.

The only cattle ranch of any size east of the Mississippi is located near Crystal Falls where great herds roam miles of ranges under the guardianship of typical Western cowboys on cow ponies. The burial ground of the Chicaugon Indians is very near here.

Little Traverse Bay which has been compared to the Bay of Naples has one of the most scenic highways, Lake Shore Drive, in the north country. An artesian mineral well yields some 10,000 barrels of mineral water a day and is shown by analysis to be one of the purest waters in the Middle West.

Illness Keeps King From Ascot Week

Universal Service Special Cable.

LONDON, June 15.

KING GEORGE'S illness prevents him from taking part in seasonal festivities. Queen Mary will attend Ascot week, but the royal procession in state landaus is likely to be eliminated.

Percy Crosby's art exhibition drew many Americans, among them Mrs. Robert W. Bingham, wife of the American Ambassador. British art was represented by Sir John Lavery, Royal Academician.

Arrivals in London include Mrs. Philip Alston and Miss Anne Alston, who will be presented at the third Royal Court, June 25, by Mrs. Bingham. Louise Richardson, who also will be presented at the same court, arrived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson of Atlanta, Ga.

47-YEAR-OLD MAGOFFIN TRUSTEESHIP IS TERMINATED

A 47-year-old trusteeship of the $50,000 estate of Samuel Magoffin, a pioneer St. Louisan, was terminated yesterday by Circuit Judge Joynt. The court directed the assets be turned over to Irvine L. Mitchell, as guardian for Miss Susan Taylor, a granddaughter and surviving heir of Magoffin, who died in 1888.

In his will Magoffin created a trust for the benefit of his two daughters, Mrs. Jane M. Taylor, 5571A Enright avenue, who was the mother of Miss Taylor, and Mrs. Susan Jalicon of Geneva, Switzerland. He provided that they were to receive the income from the property, the trust to continue during their life time. Mrs. Jalicon died in 1930 and her sister died last year.

Isaac S. Warren, Thomas T. Turner and Charles H. Turner were the original trustees, but the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. has had charge of the property as successor trustee since 1903. Fred A. Gissler, trust officer, told the court this trust was one of the oldest held by the trust company. The law firm of Donnell & McDonald, counsel for the trustee, presented the trustee's accounts for final settlement and the report was approved by Judge Joynt.

Magoffin was an Indian trader. Counsel said he was instrumental in opening and developing the Santa Fe Trail.

CHINA'S LEPER VILLAGES NEAR FOOCHOW TO BE RAZED

Public-Spirited Organizations Aid Government in Campaign; 1,000,000 With Disease in Country.

By the Associated Press.

FOOCHOW, Fukien, China, June 15.—The leper villages near here—where one of the largest colonies of lepers in China lives under conditions infinitely worse than those of American slums—are to be razed.

Public-spirited organizations, cooperating with the Chinese Government in a widespread campaign against the disease, will provide a haven and proper medical facilities for Foochow's 1000 lepers.

The victims of leprosy will be forced to vacate the collection of hovels at the city's outskirts, where they have been segregated, and the shacks will be destroyed.

The campaign against the disease here is paralleled by similar movements in Canton, Shanghai and other coastal cities of China. Little effort has been made heretofore to check the spread of the malady. Government authorities estimate there are about 1,000,000 lepers in China.

Amos 'n' Andy Will Shift to KSD on July 15

Radio Forum Will Be Carried by KSD on Thursday Nights—"Eileen" in Light Opera Hour — Irvin S. Cobb Billed With Ben Bernie.

AMOS 'N' ANDY, whose five-days-a-week broadcasts will switch to KSD and the WEAF network on Monday, July 15, have been on the air almost six years. The change in network will take place a year after Freeman F. Gosden, who plays "Amos," and Charles J. Correll, "Andy," took their first vacation from radio. They began broadcasting as Amos 'n' Andy on March 19, 1928, over WMAQ, Chicago, and went on the WJZ network Aug. 19, 1929. They played all characters in their sketches until a month ago when they brought in Harriet Widmer to take the role of Julia Porterfield. When the change is made, they will broadcast at the same time as now—at 5 p. m. on Eastern stations, 9 p. m. on KSD.

Father Coughlin Discontinues Sunday Night Broadcasting — Lawrence Tibbett Concerts to Go on CBS Network—Broadcast from Poland at 10:45 A. M.—Network News.

By J. L. S.

WITH Father Coughlin going off the air, despite the announcement earlier this year that he would continue his late Sunday night broadcasts through the Summer, this period on KWK has been taken over today by a dance orchestra. A story that Father Coughlin's superior, Bishop Gallagher, had ordered him to discontinue his broadcasts because of a request by the Papal Delegate was denied officially in Detroit, where it was stated that the late night period had proved to be inconvenient and that Father Coughlin would resume his Sunday afternoon programs in the fall. An inquiry directed to Bishop Gallagher as to the reports brought the laconic reply, "Ridiculous" . . . Lawrence Tibbett's Fall and Winter radio concerts will be carried by the CBS chain and presumably by KMOX. The baritone has signed a contract for 26 weeks on that network, starting Sept. 13. . . . Music at the Haydns probably will go off the air next month. Reports are that it will be succeeded either by sketches featuring Phillips Lord of Seth Parker fame or by a serial written by Gertrude Berg, whose House of Glass has been adding materially to her reputation. . . . Guy Lombardo will begin a CBS chain weekly program on July 8. . . . Lulu McConnell and Teddy Berman, the comedian, are slated for their own programs before next Winter. . . . Annette Henshaw, who left the Thursday night Show Boat for another program, may return to it in September. . . .

Succeeds Will Rogers.

JAMES MELTON, the tenor; the Revelers Quartet; Lew Lehr, comedian; Hallie Stiles, soprano, and Frank Tours' orchestra will take over the period hitherto featuring Will Rogers at 6:30 this evening on the CBS chain. . . . Loretta Young, who played in "The House of Rothschild" and "Clive of India," will have the "lead" in "The Patsy" in the Radio Theater on KWK at 12:30 noon today. . . . Cornelia Otis Skinner will play "Anne Boleyn," one of the sketches in her solo drama, "The Wives of Henry VIII," and a skit, "Sailing-Time," at 7:30 today on KWK. . . . How the disgruntled Gen. George B. McClellan was nominated by the Democrats in Chicago in 1864 on a peace platform to oppose Abraham Lincoln will be recalled in the Roses and Drums episode at 3 p. m. today on KWK. . . . H. V. Kaltenborn will broadcast his opinions on the European situation in three broadcasts from London on the CBS chain at 4:30 p. m. Fridays, July 5, 12 and 19. . . . "Manhattan Love" will be performed on KWK at 7:30 tomorrow night. . . . The International Golden Gloves boxing bouts between amateurs of Great Britain and this country will be described in two broadcasts on the WJZ net the night of July 2. . . . "Seats on All Floors," a vaudeville show at 9:30 Thursday nights on WLW, will be carried also by WSM. . . . Georgette Cohan, daughter of George M. Cohan, will make her United States radio debut in Two Seats in the Balcony at 12 noon Wednesday on the WEAF chain. She will imitate her father, Vesta Victoria, Maurice Chevalier and Marlene Dietrich, singing her father's "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway." . . .

Any contestant whose age on July 15, 1935, falls between 17 and 21, inclusive, is eligible to enter the "Silver Streak" contest.

Rules as to Planes.

"Yellow Jacket" planes must weight not less than one ounce, while "Silver Streak" planes must weigh not less than two ounces. No restriction is placed on the weight of the models entered, except the minimum limitations. Models entered must conform to the plans, but judges will not disqualify a model for slight variations in size except where it is apparent that a deliberate attempt has been made by the entrant to increase or decrease the area of the wing, stabilizer or rudder, or the width, height and length of the fuselage.

No motive power other than rubber strands as shown on the plans will be permitted. An entrant may use more or less rubber than the plans call for if he desires. Gears will not be allowed for use with the rubber motor. The use of a free wheeling propeller is optional on the part of the builder. "Yellow Jacket" propellers must not exceed 10 inches in diamater, while "Silver Streak" propellers must not exceed 11½ inches in diameter. Shorter propellers may be used if desired, and no restriction is placed on the pitch. Propellers of proper size made of materials other than balsa wood may be used.

Other Regulations.

The races will be conducted under the rules established by the National Aeronautic Association. Each model must be hand launched and must be flown in the meet by its builder. Each contestant will be allowed two official flights. A flight is a start that lasts 10 seconds or longer. A flight of less than 10 seconds, or failure to fly promptly when called, shall be judged a delayed flight. Two delayed flights shall be considered as displacing one official flight. If a contestant fails to make one flight of sufficient duration to be an official flight in his four possible chances, his best time will be recorded as the time of his best delayed flight. In the event that the wheels, landing gear, or any part of the plane become detached and fall from the model while in flight, a delayed flight will be charged against the contestant.

Flight time starts the instant a model is launched and ends when the model first touches the ground or meets an obstruction that prevents further flight. Time also ends when a model passes from the timer's sight, but the timers shall make every effort to keep the model in sight until they land.

Four More Stores Are Opened Here by Goodrich Silvertown

Number of Company's Retail Outlets in Greater St. Louis Increased to Eight.

The opening recently of four new Goodrich Silvertown stores in Greater St. Louis is announced by L. L. Sowers, St. Louis manager of the B. F. Goodrich Co. The addition gives eight Goodrich Silvertown retail stores in the Greater St. Louis area, and makes the company's retail operation one of the largest of any tire company in this region. All the Goodrich Silvertown stores are operating on the Goodrich budget pay plan for selling tires, tubes, batteries, auto radio sets and other accessories.

"In embarking here in Greater St. Louis and enlarging the retail operations," Sowers said, "the B. F. Goodrich Co. is demonstrating its conviction that nothing but uninterrupted progress lies ahead of this community. Our experience since installing the budget pay plan in our original Goodrich retail stores on March 8, 1934, convinced us not only of the soundness of our plan of installment selling and public acceptance of Goodrich products, but of the capacity of the motoring public of St. Louis to respond to such a combination.

J. B. Elrton

"We have, therefore, opened these four new additional stores as a means of making the budget pay plan available to a larger portion of car owners throughout Greater St. Louis.

C. B. Roberds

"The Goodrich budget pay plan of selling automotive products is unique in the tire industry. Unlike any other installment method available, the Goodrich budget pay plan is flexible and free from red tape. Its terms may be exactly adapted to the needs of each motorist."

All four of the new stores which opened last week are a part of the retail division of the B. F. Goodrich Co., with the main store at 2301 Olive street. The four new stores are located at 2856 North Grand, 4660 Gravois, 4059 Easton and 7401 Manchester, Maplewood. Two other stores are at 3458 S. Jefferson avenue and 1508 Kienlen, Wellston. The East St. Louis store is at 901 St. Louis avenue.

C. E. Newman will be in charge of all retail operations in St. Louis. In the last 15 months Goodrich Silvertown's payroll has jumped from 18 employes in St. Louis alone to 65 people. Complete Lubrication Guide Being Issued By Tidewater Oil Co.

What is stated by oil experts to be the most complete lubrication guide ever issued for all kinds of motor vehicles and boats is being distributed to dealers and service stations by the Tide Water Oil Co.

It is known as the Veedol lubrication guide. In addition to the regular charts on how to oil all models of all passenger cars made in the United States in the past four years, it gives instructions on how properly to lubricate taxicabs, motorcycles, motor coaches, tractors, outboard motors, motorboat engines, aircraft engines and motor trucks.

John H. Walsh, sales engineering department manager of Tide Water Oil Co., explaining the obvious value of this new guide, said: "The guide gives a lubrication diagram of the chassis of every domestic automobile made, which will be indispensable to all who service cars.

"An additional chart prescribes the correct Veedol lubricant for each car, depending upon the season of the year.

"In the past six years the horse power of the seven most popular cars has increased from 62 to 102, while at the same time the size of the transmission and rear axle gears has either remained stationary or has become actually smaller, in accordance with the modern tendency to lighten the chassis for improved riding qualities. The guide, therefore, recommends extreme pressure gear lubricants as necessary to insure safety and efficient performance under the additional stress.

"The Guide contains a new feature consisting of detailed instructions on the lubrication of outboard motors and motorboat and aircraft engines."

Millionth Pontiac Car Leaves Plant; Given to Detroit Fund

Completion of the 1,000,000th Pontiac car 111 months after this make first reached the market is announced. Only once before in the industry has one make of car passed the first million mark in so short a time.

The public got its first glimpse of a Pontiac automoble on Jan. 7, 1926. That year production totaled 76,000 cars, exceeding by a wide margin any previous first-year output for a new make of car.

The first car bearing the name of the famous Indian chief went into production in a modest factory inherited from the horse and buggy age—a factory built by the Pontiac Buggy Co. in the '90s for carriage manufacture.

Today this General Motors product is built in a plant which represents the largest single construction project ever undertaken at one time in the automobile industry. This plant is said to be the most modern automobile manufacturing layout in the world.

Already work is under way to double present capacity, which will mean an output potential of 300,000 cars in 1936.

Pontiac Motor officials gave car No. 1,000,000 to the Detroit community chest to aid in raising funds for service work among the people in the county where the car was built.

Says Reo Pioneered Idea of Room for Three in Front Seat

The idea of building ample room for three passengers to ride in comfort and safety in the front seat of a motor car was pioneered by Reo when the patented self-shifter transmission was introduced early in 1933 after several years of development work and two years of severe testing, according to H. C. Merry of Merry Kruass Motor Co., local Reo dealer.

"With the conventional gearshift lever and usually the hand brake lever as well in the center of the driving compartment floor, there was inconvenience, and sometimes danger, in seating two additional persons beside the driver," Merry says.

Reo's patented automatic transmission frees the front compartment of all obstructions. The simplified gear control, rarely used except at the beginning and end of a trip, is conveniently located on the dash, and the hand brake lever is moved to a new location well forward to the driver's left. Thus the floor and leg space in the front compartment is entirely clear."

St. Louis-Washington Fast Afternoon Air Service Now in Effect

A new fast afternoon air service from St. Louis to Washington was inaugurated on June 1, according to A. R. Bone Jr., city traffic manager of American Airlines.

Planes leave St. Louis daily except Sunday and holidays at 3 p. m. and arrive in Washington at 9:40 p. m., Eastern standard time. The routing is via American Airlines from St. Louis to Chicago, United Airlines from Chicago to Cleveland and Pennsylvania Airlines from Cleveland to Washington. There are only two stops between St. Louis and Washington—at Chicago and Cleveland.

Improved service from Chicago to St. Louis was put into effect on the same date. There are now two late afternoon planes from Chicago to St. Louis, one leaving Chicago at 4 p. m. central standard time (5 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time) arriving in St. Louis at 5:32 p. m., the other leaving Chicago at 5:15 p. m. (6:15 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time), arriving in St. Louis at 7:26 p. m. The new 4 o'clock plane from Chicago enables St. Louis business men to spend practically a full working day in Chicago and be home for dinner.

The Vultee, an eight-passenger all-metal plane, which cruises at 215 miles per hour, is used on all American Airlines trips in and out of St. Louis. Two of the four daily schedules from St. Louis to Chicago are non-stop and are made in an hour and 29 minutes.

Growing Interest In Fine Automobiles, G. B. Gruet Reports

Returning from a Pierce-Arrow factory convention at Buffalo, N. Y., George B. Gruet, president of the local Pierce-Arrow organization, said that distributers throughout the United States reported a greatly increased public interest in fine cars with a corresponding improvement in sales.

"The Pierce-Arrow outlook itself is particularly bright," said Gruet. "The company's current assets are approximately 10 times current liabilities. The management is planning for years ahead even greater engineering developments than those of the past which won world's records for endurance and speed for Pierce-Arrow.

"In the past few months Pierce-Arrow's national sales organization has been materially strengthened with the establishment of successful distributers in San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo and New York, the latter four replacing former factory-owned branches. This gives the company 98 distributers in the larger cities and approximately 250 dealers."

The local representatives while at the factory placed orders for additional models of twelves and eights in new summer colors. These special cars will be on display in the local showrooms soon.

Checking Air Pressure in New Tires Declared to Be Wise Precaution

Whenever a new tire is put on a car, or whenever a tire has been off the rim, a motorist should not start a long drive with implicit faith that the air pressure is what it should be, says a statement by tire engineers of the B. F. Goodrich Co.

For reasons too involved to explain, the statement says, a tire, immediately after it is put on the rim and run on the car, may lose several pounds of pressure.

A good rule is to stop at a service station three or four miles along the road and have the tires checked again.

Likewise, a new tire is likely to lose air more rapidly for its first few weeks than after it has been broken into service. If you have a new tire, say these engineers, it is best to have it checked every other day for the first week, two or three times during the second week and twice the third week.

By the fourth week, if the car is driven daily, the tire should lose not more than two pounds of pressure a week and can safely go through on a schedule of weekly inspection.

Signs to Indicate Safe Speeds.

It has been recommended in Massachusetts to post along state highways signs indicating the safe allowable speed for motorists. It has been found that on certain highways extremely bad accidents have been recorded, with undue speed as the most prominent factor. It is believed that in many cases there has been a definite connection between the speed, the location and the accident, and that while speeds up to 45 miles an hour are appropriate in some stretches, it is vital that much lower speeds be enforced on other places along the roadways.

It is welcoming new members. It has no membership fee and the dues are small. Friday night's meeting will be open free to the public.

Forts for Police Radio.

FORTIFIED police radio stations have been built in five Indiana cities—Indianapolis, Jasper, Seymour, Culver and Columbia City. They broadcast with 1000 watts power on 1634 kc. They have portholes instead of windows, doors armored against projectiles, forced ventilation through a bullet and bomb proof roof, and their own water, heating, power and cooling systems. Each has a 220-foot vertical transmitting aerial and all Indiana police motorcycles and cars are being equipped to receive their messages. . . . WMAQ's new 50,000-watt transmitter is expected to be ready by July 15. This Chicago station now carries NBC network programs.

In the cast will be a ballet of 300, a chorus of 200 voices, a dramatic corps of 300 persons and a symphony orchestra. The oratorio deals with the persecution of Christians by Valens in 300 A. D.

New Atwater Kent Sets Introduced.

Nineteen new Atwater Kent radio sets were shown to distributers and dealers at a recent convention in Atlantic City which was attended by Charles H. Carpenter, vice-president of the Witte Hardware Co., and H. Schanaker of the firm's radio division. A. Atwater Kent, head of the Atwater Kent Co., told them that his company would be among the first to produce and deliver sets with the new metal tubes.

Several of the new all-wave models are designed for high fidelity reception. They have a switch by which the set can be changed in an instant from a sharply selective receiver for long distance reception to one for wide tone range for a concert.

The all-wave models have shadow tuning with variable two-speed tuning control, as well as automatic volume control, tone control and aeroplane type dial.

In the new line are four-tube, five-tube and six-tube compacts, some of which are all-wave. There are also five, six, eight, nine, 10 and 12 tube console models. The larger models, starting with the eight-tube set, have the selectivity-high fidelity switch.

A new verion of the Atwater Kent "Tune-O-Matic," which starts, tunes and stops itself at pre-determined times, is another feature of the line. This set can be operated as an ordinary receiver by turning a switch.

Hulick at one time played with Johnny Johnston's orchestra, then was a soda clerk in a Buffalo drug store, where his "cutting up" daily drew a large audience of customers. An executive of a Buffalo radio station saw him, gave him a microphone test and soon had him as a member of the station's staff. Hulick found he had a vacant 15-minute period one morning in October, 1930, and nothing with which to fill it. In the continuity department he found Taylor at work on a script. He grabbed him, rehearsed for a few minutes. They decided to announce themselves as "Col. Lemuel Stoopnagle and Budd," lugged a folding organ into the studio and were off on their way to radio fame. Guffey Bill's Use of Tax Power To Regulate Coal Industry Is Challenged as Unconstitutional

Sponsor Believes It Will Stand — If Passed, Measure Will Let Operators Fix Prices at Least for the Winter.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.
WASHINGTON, June 15.

THE Guffey bill, admittedly intended to provide for the coal industry the same type of price and labor relations control that was undertaken through the NRA, has stirred up active debate among members of Congress as to its constitutionality.

Since the Supreme Court decision holding the NRA unconstitutional, the Guffey bill has been revised in a way which its proponents say removes it from the realm of unconstitutionality as defined by the Court. On the other hand, opponents of the measure assert it clearly undertakes to exercise a power which Congress does not possess.

The bill, introduced by Senator Guffey (Dem.), Pennsylvania, would levy a tax of 25 per cent of the sale price on all bituminous coal produced in the United States, but would remit to the producer 99 per cent of the amount of tax if the producer accepted and complied with a code provided for in the act. The code would establish certain minimum prices and wages, as well as other labor regulations.

Taxation Clause Attacked.

Opponents assert the bill is an attempt to exert indirectly a power which the Supreme Court in the Schechter NRA case held Congress did not have authority to exercise. They point to the decision of the Supreme Court on the second child labor law in which a prohibitive tax was imposed on goods entering into interstate commerce if child labor had been employed in their production. Congress earlier had undertaken to directly exclude from interstate commerce all products of child labor, but the Supreme Court had said manufacturing was an intrastate, not interstate, business and therefore not subject to regulation by Congress under the commerce clause of the Constitution.

The subsequent attempt to prohibit child labor through exercise of the taxing power was held to be unconstitutional, as trying to do indirectly that which Congress did not have the power to do directly, in an opinion by Chief Justice Taft, now being quoted by opponents of the Guffey bill to support their contention that it is unconstitutional.

Taft's Opinion.

In that opinion, the Court said:

"Out of a proper respect for the acts of a co-ordinate branch of the Government, this court has gone far to sustain taxing acts as such, even though there has been ground for suspecting, from the weight of the tax, it was intended to destroy its subject. But in the act before us, the presumption of validity cannot prevail because the proof of the contrary is found on the very face of its provisions.

"Grant the validity of this law, and all that Congress would have to do hereafter, in seeking to take over to its control any one of the great number of subjects of public interest, jurisdiction of which the States have never parted with, and which are reserved to them by the tenth amendment, would be to enact a detailed measure of complete regulation of the subject and enforce it by a so-called tax on departures from it. To give such magic to the word 'tax' would be to break down all constitutional limitation of the powers of Congress and completely wipe out the sovereignty of the States. . . .

"There comes a time in the extension of the penalizing features of the so-called tax when it loses its character as such and becomes a mere penalty with the characteristics of regulation and punishment."

Sponsor Defends Validity.

Although some of those working for passage of the Guffey bill privately admit doubts as to its constitutionality, its chief sponsors in the Senate quote Supreme Court decisions to support their views of its validity.

Senator Guffey said he is not afraid to submit the bill to the constitutional test now that it has been revised. Senator Neely (Dem.), of West Virginia, co-sponsor with Guffey of the measure, and chairman of the subcommittee which held hearings on it, defended its constitutionality at length in an interview with the Post-Dispatch correspondent. He cited a number of Supreme Court decisions, but appeared to rely principally on the decision upholding a tax of 10 cents a pound on artifically colored oleomargarine.

"Undoubtedly the power to levy such taxes as that proposed on coal in the Guffey bill is full and complete," Neely said, "and cannot be thwarted because the tax also results in regulation. In numerous decisions the Supreme Court has upheld a tax where it was obviously used as the legal sanction for regulation."

He mentioned the oleomargarine tax case as the outstanding example of the decisions he relied on. The tax on oleomargarine without artificial coloring was only three-fourths of a cent a pound, and there was no tax on butter. A plaintiff contended the 10-cent tax was discriminatory and would destroy the oleomargarine business, as it could not be sold in competition with butter without the yellow coloring.

Court Ruling Cited.

The court pointed out it had previously sustained the right of a state to prohibit the manufacture of oleomargarine within its borders because of the "aptitude" of oleomargarine to deceive buyers into thinking it was butter and buying it for butter. The court held Congress had the power to select objects to tax and to tax one more than another.

In that case the court said:

"As we have said, it has been conclusively settled by this court that the tendency of that article (oleomargarine) to deceive the public into buying it for butter is such that the states may, in the exercise of their police powers, without violating the due process clause of the fourteenth amendment, absolutely prohibit the manufacture of the article.

"It hence results that even although it be true that the effect of the tax in question is to repress the manufacture of artificially colored oleomargarine it cannot be said that such repression destroys rights which no free government could destroy, and therefore no ground exists to sustain the proposition that the judiciary may invoke an implied prohibition, upon the theory that to do so is essential to save such rights from destruction."

Another Quotation.

In support of his view of the constitutionality of the Guffey bill, Senator Neely quoted the following paragraph from the oleomargarine decision:

"From this it follows, as we have declared, that the judiciary is without authority to void an act of Congress exerting the taxing power, even in a case where to the judicial mind it seems that Congress had in putting such power in motion abused its lawful authority by levying a tax which was unwise or oppressive, or the result of the enforcement of which might indirectly affect subjects not within the powers delegated to Congress."

A succeeding paragraph from the same court opinion, not quoted by Senator Neely, is pointed out by opponents as cast-

By GEORGE WHARTON PEPPER,
Former United States Senator from Pennsylvania.

(Copyright, 1935, the Washington Post.)

IMMEDIATELY after the adjournment of the convention of 1787, which framed the Constitution of the United States, as Benjamin Franklin was leaving Independence Hall a lady accosted him in her anxiety to learn the result of four months continuous and intensive deliberation. "Well, Doctor," she asked, "what have we got—a republic or a monarchy?" "A republic," replied the Doctor, "if you can keep it."

When studying the recent decision of the Supreme Court in the Schechter case it will do no harm to remember this observation of Dr. Franklin's. He had a genius for resolving complicated questions into simple elements and stating big issues clearly. He meant, of course, that he foresaw in days to come intense pressure to build up a strong executive and to subordinate home rule to a distant central authority. Perceiving how easy it would be for a forceful and popular executive to seize power in spite of constitutional restraints, the Sage of the Revolution was by no means sure that the United States would not share the fate which had overtaken many other republics.

Franklin Needed Now To Clarify NRA Issue.

If Benjamin Franklin were alive today, he would help us take the whole NRA controversy out of the fog which seems to envelop it and state the issues so clearly that everybody could understand them. In so doing he would render a public service that is badly needed; for at the moment popular discussion of the decision of the Supreme Court seems to have developed more heat than light.

While everybody is talking of NRA, and while many can specify particular features which they either like or condemn, relatively few people seem able to comprehend the subject in its entirety or to be willing to test underlying principles in the light of their own experience. One of the few is Senator Borah, whose recent speech on NRA was a fine combination of common sense and patriotic fervor.

Anybody who wants to understand the decision will first wish to know the facts of the particular case. The following is a condensed but, I think, adequate factual statement:

A wholesale poultry dealer in New York was prosecuted criminally for violations of the live poultry code. The alleged violations included disregard of minimum wages, of maximum hours of work, the giving of preferential treatment to certain customers, the sale to a butcher of an unfit chicken and certain other breaches of regulations respecting inspection and licensing. The charges were, in general, similar to the thousands made all over the country during the last two years against industrialists for charging too little for their services and goods, for paying wages below a specified minimum, for working employes or machinery overtime and for similar trade irregularities, great and small. For each such offense the defendant was alleged to be liable for a fine of $500; and each day the irregularity continued was to be deemed a separate offense.

Charge: Disobedience To the White House.

It will be understood that the charges against the defendant were not based on disobedience to local laws made by the Legislature of his State for the regulation of his industry. The thing which was alleged to constitute his crime was a failure to conform to an official proclamation from the White House.

It will likewise be understood that this proclamation set forth a code that had not been enacted by Congress, but was merely prescribed by the President or approved by him upon the application of groups within the industry deemed by him to be "representative." The act of Congress (the National Industrial Recovery Act) purporting to empower the President to do these things merely declared it to be the congressional policy to "promote fair competition," prescribed penalties for code violations and left it to the President to determine what "fair competition" is, what regulation should be made to retain it and, in general, to rehabilitate industrial industry and conserve natural resources.

What the Constitution Permits Congress to Do.

Upon this state of facts the reader will naturally ask what the Constitution of the United States has to say regarding the regulation of commerce and respecting the exercise of the power to make laws.

On the first point the answer is that the Constitution confers on Congress the power "to regulate commerce among the states." On the second, the answer is that the Constitution vests in Congress whatever legislative power the Federal Government possesses.

The reader accordingly next inquires whether the power to regulate commerce among the states (i. e., interstate) includes also a congressional power to regulate such commerce of the several states as is not interstate but internal. He further inquires whether the Constitution means that Congress must itself exercise its legislative power or whether this power may, by act of Congress, be transferred to the President or to some other executive official.

The reader, of course, perceives that the answers to these two questions, when applied to the Schechter case, will go a long way toward deciding it. If Congress has no power to regulate the internal commerce of a state, and if the business of the poultry merchant was internal to the State of New York, then the act of Congress could give no legal effect to the live poultry code even if the terms of that code had actually been written into the statute. Moreover, if Congress must itself exercise such legislative power as is granted to it, and if in this case it undertook to delegate to the President a power that was untransferable, the presidential approval of the code could under no circumstances give it any vitality.

Congress Has No Power Over Internal Commerce.

As to the first half of each of these questions there is no difference of opinion. Everybody concedes that Congress has not been granted the power to regulate the internal commerce of the states. Everybody concedes that legislative power may not be delegated.

Accordingly, the questions which the court was called upon to decide reduced themselves in the final analysis to these:

(1) Was the business of the poultry merchant "commerce among the states," and

(2) Was the part played by the President in the code-making process essentially a law-making function?

The court answered the first question in the negative: The business of the poultry merchant was not commerce among the states and, therefore, in attempting to regulate it, Congress had overstepped the limits of its power.

The answer given by the court to the second question was affirmative: The function which the President undertook to exercise in the code-making process was the function of a law-maker, not of a law-executer, and, therefore, the code was, legally speaking, nothing but a scrap of paper.

If the reader will pause long enough to review the facts in the Schechter case he will be apt to conclude that if the business of the poultryman had been held to be "commerce among the states" then there is no business activity of any sort or at any place in the country that might not be so classified. All, therefore, that the court did on this point, was to refuse to read the Constitution as if those vitally important limiting words, "among the states," had been left out. The weakness of the case for NRA was that the act of Congress could not be sustained unless Congress is to be regarded as having the power to regulate all the traffic and intercourse in the country.

Law-Making Power Can Not Be Delegated.

As to attempted delegation of law-making power by Congress to the President; nothing could be clearer than the statement in the concurring opinion of Mr Justice Cardozo, when in speaking of an NRA code he says:

" . . . A code is not to be restricted to the elimination of business practices that would be characterized by general acceptation as oppressive or unfair. It is to include whatever ordinances may be desirable or helpful for the well-being or prosperity of the industry affected. In that view, the function of its adoption is not merely negative but positive, the planning of improvements as well as the extirpation of abuses. What is fair, as thus conceived, is not something to be contrasted with what is unfair or fraudulent or tricky. The extension becomes as wide as the field of industrial regulation.

"If that conception shall prevail, anything that Congress may do within the limits of the commerce clause for the betterment of business may be done by the President upon the recommendation of a trade association by calling it a code. This is delegation running riot. No such plenitude of power is susceptible of transfer. The statute, however, aims at nothing less, as one can learn both from its terms and from the administrative practice under it. Nothing less is aimed at by the code now submitted to our scrutiny."

Soundness of Decision Beyond Reasonable Doubt.

Such then is the actual decision of the Supreme Court in this epoch-making case. Inasmuch as its soundness is generally regarded by practicing lawyers as beyond rea-

Material Revision of Federal Constitution Is Seemingly Impossible at This Time

Norris, Borah and Sumners Describe Almost Insuperable Difficulties in Way of Even Routine Changes.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 15.

COMMENTING on numerous recent suggestions that the Federal Constitution be revised, leading constitutional authorities in Congress assert that the mechanics of revision—which naturally are found only in that document itself—are so difficult, slow and uncertain as to render substantial revision a practical impossibility within the now visible future.

Senator Norris, most persistent living advocate of constitutional "reforms," says with frank discouragement that the obstacles are sufficient to prevent even the correction of recognized mechanical defects in the present Government structure. Senator Borah says he can conceive of a general revision only in the event of the Government's overthrow. Chairman Sumners of the House Judiciary Committee says the possibilities are hardly worth the breath used in discussing them.

Does this mean that the proponents of "constitutional reform" must content themselves with Omar Khayyam's formula, by resolving to "wreck this sorry scheme of things entire" before they may "remold it nearer to the heart's desire." Certainly none of the foregoing quoted authorities in Congress would agree that the present scheme of things is entirely sorry, or in need of wrecking, but they do agree on the mechanical obstacles which prevent remolding.

Ways to Change Constitution.

The Constitution authorizes two methods of initiating changes in its fabric. One of these methods has never been tried, and all manner of doubts and uncertainties exist about its real meaning. Article V provides:

> The Congress whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress.

Every amendment thus far submitted for ratification has been submitted by Congress, including those rejected by the states as well as those adopted. Not once have the legislatures of two-thirds of the states petitioned Congress to call a constitutional convention.

The Easiest Way.

The explanation, as Chairman Sumners points out, is obvious, as witness: Proponents of changes find it infinitely more convenient and effective to center their appeals upon the single legislative body at Washington than upon the legislatures of a multiplicity of scattered states. To put it another way, Congress is much more responsive to national public sentiment than are the state legislatures; moreover, as Senator Borah remarks: "If a change in the Constitution is proposed, the people naturally prefer to have it discussed and debated and expounded by Congress, whose members are known to the public, than to have it originate in a constitutional convention, whose members have not even been chosen."

But notwithstanding the uninterrupted preference which the nation has shown for the congressional method of proposing amendments, the rigid difficulties involved in it are eloquently attested by the comparative infrequence with which they have succeeded. Since the ratification of the first 10 amendments, comprising the bill of rights, the ensuing 144 years has witnessed the adoption of but 11 and one of these (the eighteenth), was repealed by another (the twenty-first).

What Norris Says.

Senator Norris is amply qualified to give expert testimony on the subject. It required more than 10 years of unremitting effort by him, plus his extraordinary prestige in Congress and the country, to obtain the submission of an amendment merely changing the meeting date of Congress and of the inauguration of the President, although it was generally admitted that the original dates were intended to accommodate modes of transportation that had been obsolete for more than half a century. This is what he says: "The mechanical obstacles and the inertia which confront any proposed amendment in Congress, to say nothing of the legislatures, are enough to intimidate any man, even though he is willing to devote his life to nothing else, and even though he aims at nothing more controversial than simplifying and modernizing the routine machinery of government.

"Take the House of Representatives, with 435 members, so unwieldly in its size that it cannot function at all, except through the medium of committees. It presents a humiliating spectacle. Every experienced observer knows its membership should be reduced by not less than half. But does anyone suppose that half the members would vote to submit an amendment that would take away their jobs? Don't make me laugh.

"Take the electoral college. It is a ridiculous anachronism, and its sole effect is to prevent independent candidates from running for President. Yet the prospects for abolishing it now are so hopeless that I'm not even bothering about them."

As to Conventions.

In view of these stated objections to the Congressional method of proposing amendments, what did Senator Norris think of the convention method?

"Out of the question, under any conditions that I can imagine now," he replied. "Suppose that in some miraculous fashion the legislatures of two-thirds of the states were inspired to petition Congress to call a convention. In the first place, Congress might refuse, and there would be no way of compelling it to do so except by electing a new Congress.

"But let us suppose Congress decided to comply. It would have to prescribe a method of electing delegates to the convention. The natural form would be to base representation in the convention on population. But what would immediately encounter the difficulty which almost wrecked the original constitutional convention—the determination of the small states to be represented as such, rather than according to the size of their populations.

"A constitutional convention might—and in some respects it should—propose to alter representation in Congress. If the delegates were elected on a proportional basis they would naturally be inclined to feel that Congressmen should be chosen on that basis, which would mean a tremendous gain in the Senate for the larger states and a corresponding loss for the smaller ones. Would Senators from the smaller states vote to call such a convention? I cannot conceive of it. No, the only difference between the two methods is that one is almost hopeless and the other entirely so."

Borah Indorses View.

Concerning the convention method, Borah agreed emphatically with Norris.

"One insuperable barrier to its

Lincoln and the Dred Scott Decision.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

YOUR editorial of June 11, entitled "Lincoln and the Grass-Rooters," refutes itself with its statement, entirely accurate, that the ruling in the Dred Scott case lay in a "series of obiter dicta."

Obiter dicta are judicial utterances, not upon the pending issue, but upon a collateral subject. So, when Abraham Lincoln branded as erroneous Taney's pro-slavery obiter dicta that Congress could not constitutionally abolish slavery in the territories, he was not objecting to a Supreme Court decision on a matter properly before it.

Of the Dred Scott decision, he said at Springfield, Ill., on June 26, 1857:

"It was made by a divided court—dividing differently on the different points. . . . We think the Dred Scott decision is erroneous. We know the court that made it has often overruled its own decisions, and we shall do what we can to have it to overrule this. We offer no resistance to it.

"Judicial decisions are of greater or less authority as precedents according to circumstances. That this should be so accords both with common sense and the customary understanding of the legal profession.

"If this important decision had been made by the unanimous concurrence of the Judges, and without any partisan bias, and in accordance with legal public expectation and with the steady practice of the departments throughout our history, and had been in no part based on assumed historical facts which are not really true; or, if wanting in some of these, it had been before the court more than once, and had there been affirmed and reaffirmed through a course of years, it then might be, perhaps would be, factious, nay, even revolutionary, not to acquiesce in it as a precedent.

"But when, as is true, we find it wanting in all these claims to the public confidence, it is not resistance, it is not factious, it is not even disrepectful, to treat it as not having yet quite established a settled doctrine for the country. . . .

"All there ever was in the way of precedent up to the Dred Scott decision, or the points therein decided, had been against that decision."

Thus tested, the Dred Scott decision is at the nadir of judicial functioning in a matter between private persons, while at the zenith is the NRA decision upon an act of Congress, which twisted Roosevelt's lips into something other than a laugh, and inspired the grass-rooters to invoke the true Lincoln, who saved the Constitution and never threatened states' rights.

At Springfield, on July 17, 1858, Mr. Lincoln again spoke of the Dred Scott decision:

"I am opposed to that decision in a certain sense, but not in the sense which he (Douglas) put on it. I say that in so far as it decided in favor of Dred Scott's master, and against Dred Scott and his family, I do not propose to disturb or resist the decision. . . . By resisting it as a political rule, I disturb no right of property, create no disorder, excite no mobs."

In his first inaugural, President Lincoln took the same stand. It is expressed in the quotation in your editorial, and especially in the words omitted by you, which are here supplied:

"If the policy of the Government upon vital questions affecting the whole people is to be irrevocably fixed by decisions of the Supreme Court, the instant they are made, in ordinary litigation between parties in personal actions, the people will have ceased to be their own rulers, having to that extent practically resigned their Government into the hands of that eminent tribunal."

These words plainly refer to the Dred Scott decision, and reassert Lincoln's resistance to it as a political rule.

The Emancipation Proclamation was not a dissent from the Dred Scott decision; the decision distorted a private matter into a political crisis, while the proclamation was a public act of the President applying only to states in rebellion, and was constitutionally sound in time of war; it needed no "legalization."

The thirteenth amendment bore no relation to the proclamation, or to its result, the freeing of the slaves in the states in rebellion, but forbade slavery everywhere under the flag.

Lincoln regarded the three balanced powers as derived from the people, and never complained of the Supreme Court voiding an act of Congress, or of the President. He understood that some agency must keep the legislature and executive where the Constitution placed them.

That is the real Lincoln, as a Whig opposed, and as a Republican execrated, by the Democratic party; the Lincoln for all, as you say, "to revere and emulate."

We Give Up.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ANENT your editorial, "Confession," you are still wrong. Not only did Arsene Lupin frequently function as detective—as in "The Teeth of the Tiger"—but he was at one time Chief of Detectives of Paris, under an assumed name.

This is specifically stated in one of the stories, though Leblanc never got around to recounting the details of this portion of Lupin's career, as far as I know.

W. F. SAUNDERS JR.

THE FRISCO SUITS.

Following the long series of hearings into the financial practices of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, now in receivership, Federal Judge Charles B. Faris has consented to civil suits against the Frisco bankers.

This order has been issued upon application by John G. Lonsdale, co-trustee, who states in his application that, after full investigation of the record, he is advised by his attorney, Frank A. Thompson, that in his judgment suits should be instituted for the recapture of some $11,000,000 lost by the Frisco through the financial operations of Speyer & Co., J. & W. Seligman & Co. and E. N. Brown. The suits will be brought in New York. The co-trustee alleges that the bankers' profits in Rock Island and Gulf, Mobile & Northern stock, around which the controversy chiefly revolves, were about $2,640,000.

There is no precedent for such a recovery in the railroad industry, nor is it certain that what is proposed can be done within the statute of limitations. The Rock Island deal was in 1925-26, the Gulf, Mobile & Northern deal in 1929-30. It is Mr. Thompson's judgment that there is still time to test the possibility of civil suits against the bankers for the benefit of the Frisco estate.

At any rate, the effort marks a new departure in railroad finance. Suits were instituted in the case of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul bankruptcy some years ago, but they were subsequently dropped. The case of the Frisco is in no sense unique. It was itself in receivership only a few years ago. What happened to it is in the main what happened to many American railroads. It is what happened to the old Erie. It is what happened to the New York, New Haven & Hartford. It is what happened to the Gould roads, and it is what happened to the Chicago & Alton. The case of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the largest bankruptcy in American history, was somewhat dissimilar. The St. Paul suffered to a very great degree from over-extension. Its Puget Sound extension and the electrification of the road over the mountains were immensely costly; they were considerable factors in the collapse of this great system.

But the case of the Frisco lies clearly in the domain of exploitation. It has been exploited time and again. Branches of the road have been built by the directors and sold out at a great profit to themselves. The Interstate Commerce Commission said in 1918 that there was no less than $100,000,000 of water in the Frisco. Yet it came out of receivership then with more water than when it went in.

The stock transactions upon which the present suits are based were fantastic. For instance, the Rock Island stock bought by the Frisco, and on which it lost $10,000,000, might have been the means of wiping out most of the road's capital debt. J. M. Kurn, who was president of the road at the time, urged the bankers to sell their Rock Island stock when the market was at its height. They did sell the part of it belonging to themselves, and they made a handsome profit, but they did not sell the Frisco's share. The road still holds it today. The obvious explanation is that to have offered all the Frisco's holdings for sale would have depressed the market.

The Gulf, Mobile & Northern transaction has been a controversial matter in the Frisco organization for years. The Frisco took a million-dollar loss on the purchase of this stock. But it was not known in the organization that the stock had been bought until a year after the transaction took place. E. N. Brown, president of the road, and representative of the bankers, has insisted that he had the oral consent of a majority of his directors when he bought the stock, but there has been no substantiation of this. Mr. Kurn, who was one of the directors mentioned by Brown as having given consent, says he did nothing of the kind. He did not even know the stock had been bought. The assumption is that the bankers bought the G., M. & N. stock on a speculation, but when the market went down, they unloaded it on the Frisco.

It is not fair to prejudge all these allegations. The courts must decide. However, it is plain enough that the troubles of the Frisco have been chiefly due to bad financial practice. There is $265,000,000 in Frisco bonds outstanding. They are held by 40,000 investors in this and 17 foreign countries. They are in the portfolios of insurance companies, estates and trusts. The moral obligations of the men who managed the finances of the road were tremendous. There has never been any indication that this responsibility influenced their acts. Upon the contrary, there has been abundant evidence that the bankers were habitually faithless to their trust.

It is too late for the moral of this case to become as salutary as it might be. The era of railroad exploitation is closing. It reached its height when the railroads enjoyed a monopoly in transportation. That is not true now. The railroads are increasingly in trouble. It is difficult enough to keep them solvent under the best possible management. What could happen is that the courts may at last characterize the sort of thing that wrecked the Frisco for what it was.

LIBERIA GETS ANOTHER CHANCE.

Renewal of American recognition of Liberia, ended in 1930, means a new opportunity for the Negro Republic on the west coast of Africa to work out its own salvation without foreign interference. Since its founding more than a century ago as a home for freed American Negroes, Liberia has been a special concern of the United States. The country's career has been watched with alternate hopes and misgivings by well-wishers in America. Affairs reached a crisis when charges of slavery were made by an international inquiry, and Washington withdrew recognition until reforms in this field and others should be carried out.

The Government of President Barclay rejected the League of Nations' proposal for supervision as infringing on his nation's sovereignty. Intervention by the United States was widely discussed, but Washington has declined to violate the "good neighbor" policy by taking this step. Convinced now that President Barclay is determined to end unsavory conditions in his country, and has made a good beginning, the United States has extended recognition. Mr. Barclay has always held that Liberians are capable of directing their own political destiny. His energetic efforts to clean up labor and sanitary conditions, to bring about political reforms and to adjust his country's financial affairs are evidence of his high motives. It is wise of Washington to give Liberia a chance to end its troubles through its own efforts.

ON THE MISSOURI.

Business Week thinks the opening of water service between St. Louis and Kansas City would be more impressive "if water service were as cheap and effective as its railroad rival."

"In plain fact," says the McGraw-Hill journal, "it isn't. On the Mississippi and the Missouri, it is subsidized by the Federal Government, and still the advocates of the St. Louis-Kansas City line had a hard time scraping up a cargo. And this is the culmination of the sweat and the hopes and the tears of waterway enthusiasts during the past half-century."

We have so many times answered the gibes of those who do not live in the Mississippi Valley that we hesitate to repeat what we have always said. It is not to our excellent contemporary that we must turn for guidance, but to the Book of Proverbs, which says that "without vision the people perish."

Had we not the vision to foresee the relation of life to the great rivers of this fertile valley, we could only believe that they have no potential value. We could believe they can only remain the great and unruly forces they are, serving not us but only their own whims. This is what the superstitious ancients believed of that ocean over which the great ship Normandie is man's latest triumph.

A majority of the people of the United States live in the watershed of the Mississippi and its tributaries. It has been called the bread basket of America. It is the most fertile region in the world. Water transport costs in the end about one-fifth of land transport. It has been a powerful factor in making the great cities on the Lakes. Contact by water with the sea is the objective of the much-discussed St. Lawrence waterway, as it is the great necessity of industry and commerce in the Mississippi Valley. Mr. Hoover said when he was Secretary of Commerce that the integration of water traffic with all human enterprise in the Mississippi Valley is not merely our own concern but the concern of civilization.

It is the short view that sees only the difficulties and tedium of such a development, its pork barrels, its puniness beside the great forces against which it is pitted, its menace to other forms of transport. It is the long view that sees its inevitability, the great service it is to render to teeming millions, its indispensability to everything, including the railroads.

We beg the reader's pardon. It was Business Week that made us repeat ourselves.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION.

Everybody, including himself, hopes Secretary of State Hull's gloomy prophecy will not come true, but everybody shares his anxiety. The armament race in which all the nations are engaged, involving expenditures none of them can afford, points menacingly to a catastrophe that will verily "shake the world." But where the Powers will obtain the money to wage another war on a continental scale is a question often asked and, as yet, not answered. In the United States, it is agreed by grass-rooters and New Dealers, by the Old Guard and the Brain Trust, that the money will not be found here. Having financed the fight of the century, Uncle Sam would not, if he could, again play Lord Bountiful. Exception is made, of course, in the case of Finland, which yesterday, as heretofore, took up the note. The rest of them are bad risks—no credit.

BRYN MAWR'S HALF-CENTURY.

In point of years, Bryn Mawr, which is now celebrating its semi-centennial, is one of the newest among the Eastern educational institutions for women. Of the seven women's colleges which have joined hands in an effort to improve their material status, Mount Holyoke (1837), Vassar (1861), Wellesley (1870), Smith (1871) and Radcliffe (1879) are older; only Barnard, founded in 1889, is younger. This recital of dates, however, must not give the impression that the college which Joseph Taylor established at Bryn Mawr, Pa., the year the first electric street railway was placed in operation, is a junior among women's colleges in any respect save age. Indeed, Bryn Mawr is distinctive for its early conviction that woman students were as capable as men of intellectual achievement and contribution to the knowledge of the world.

Modeled after the large universities of the day rather than the other women's colleges, Bryn Mawr opened its doors to women interested primarily in scholarly attainment and its application in society. Grouping of students was on the basis of work accomplished; a premium was placed on original research; resident and traveling fellowships were established. Now, after a half-century of devotion to that program, Bryn Mawr, under the leadership of President Marion Edwards Park, is embarking on an attempt to correlate the arts and social sciences in an understandable whole. So doing, it engages in the kind of enterprise which a fine educational tradition requires.

SO THIS IS FATHER'S DAY.

Today is Father's day, but to most fathers it is just Sunday. When Mother's day rolls around, the whole family has to observe it. Flowers are bandied around, verses dripping with ooze are broadcast and everybody is supposed to gaze at that Whistler picture and have a good cry. Mother certainly has built up a reputation for herself.

Of course, there is nothing commercial about Mother's day. Oh, no. It represents one of those spontaneous outbursts of sentiment and, if mother gets a lot of swag in the form of flowers, books, candy or the price of a new permanent, those things are supposed to be merely tangible expressions of love and affection.

On Father's day, however, if the old man wistfully mentions the fact, the family laughs and tells him the whole thing is a device of the haberdashers to increase their sales. And far be it from the family to lend themselves to so transparent a trap. Nothing like that can break down their sales resistance.

Not that we, speaking for the nation's fathers, are sore about this. We are just terribly, terribly hurt.

ANOTHER DISTURBANCE IN THE ECONOMIC STRATOSPHERE.

"Of Making Many Books"

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

Beware of Substitutes!

LET'S GET WHAT WE WANT. By Walter B. Pitkin. (Simon & Schuster, New York City.)

WALTER B. PITKIN, than whom, as the introducers say, there is certainly none whomer, has been frightfully busy of late telling the world various strange things, all of them intensely interesting if true.

Eight or nine years ago, he wrote a book the purpose of which was to warn the world that it was in very grave danger of having far too many "best minds." He was then deep in the matter of intelligence testing, and if subsequent events have not tended to support his thesis, he did make it clear that a "best mind" was best for the intelligence test, if for nothing else.

Since those days, he has become a veritable book factory, not to say a fount of inspiration. He has told youths how to go at the business of getting jobs, and if they haven't done as he said, how can he be blamed? He has told everyone how to improve himself without delay. He has given "marching orders" for the "lost generation." He has informed the world that life begins at 40, and for a brief season, goodly crowds of wistful thinkers were surprised and delighted. After that, he assured the poor broken-down world that capitalism is carrying on. Also, he gave us the secret of happiness ($3 50, please, and cheap at the price). There was also a fairly voluminous history of human stupidity (all for five bucks).

And here yet another important secret is divulged! How in the world does one man do it all? It's nothing short of marvelous. "Let's Get What We Want" this time! All right, let's do! Won't it be fun? And what is it that we want? We don't know, but our mentor does, and he tells us. We want a decent life for everybody. And why haven't we been getting it? Because we don't know what's the matter with the world. And what is the matter?

You'll be surprised! Probably you have supposed that maybe there was something fundamentally wrong with the present economic system—something about the private ownership of the means of production and distribution for profit in an age of machine industrialism. But that is a pitiful error, it seems. The real trouble—the only trouble—is the manufacturing and selling of inferior products by the smaller concerns that "chisel" in on the big and efficient industries!

There is a large class of "American coolies" and criminals who do this. And so we must awaken to the cause of our trouble and demand that these coolie chiselers and sharpers be eliminated. That's the way to save us. There's a bookful of expatiation on the subject, but that's the heart of the secret.

"If this country could be spared the losses incurred through the machinations of the underlings," declares Mr. Pitkin, "all the decent folks could have good homes, the best of food and ideal medical service."

So now we know. (Two dollars, please, and a real bargain; it's a thoroughly modern factory job, quantity production, with hardly any overhead, making the quality and the price possible. Always look for the Pitkin trademark on the package.)

THE FIRST CENTURY OF AMERICAN LITERATURE. By Fred L. Pattee. (D. Appleton-Century Co., New York City.)

THIS is the final volume in the author's trilogy, planned to give a comprehensive survey of American literature from 1770 to 1930. The volumes previously published are "History of American Literature Since 1870" and "New American Literature." All three works are remarkable, in the main, for their independence of judgment, and a good many conventional critical appraisals are reconsidered. For instance, the author has the following to say of Poe:

"His criticism, overloaded as it is with pedantic affectations, had little influence even upon his own generation, and, aside from the single review of Hawthorne, is unread today save in colleges where it is required. His tales, too, are old-fashioned in their style, often ludicrous in their Della-Cruscan affectation. Realism was no part of his literary equipment, and all his attempts at humor were pathetic. His dialogue is invariably melodramatic, his characterization is theatric makeup—witness the Negro in 'The Gold Bug.'

"In everything touching artistry, however—manner, technique, architectonics—the man was brilliant. He had, moreover, the devilish power to create an atmosphere that dominates, even today, his reader like a poison gas. It is impossible to read a tale of his, even the Della-Cruscan and monstrously impossible 'The Fall of the House of Usher' or 'The Black Cat,' without a sensation that is hard to explain."

As for Poe's poetry, he finds no greatness whatever in it and asks: "What poet has ever risen to Poe's fame with so tiny a portfolio?"

Unfortunately, it cannot be said with accuracy that Prof. Pattee is always careful to avoid prejudice, and it could be shown that he is not incapable of rendering an occasional judgment obviously at variance with the readily available but unexamined factual data.

THE BLUE EAGLE FROM EGG TO EARTH. By Gen. Hugh S. Johnson. (Doubleday Doran Co., Garden City, N. Y.)

GEN. JOHNSON declares that "NRA was the greatest social and economic experiment of our age," and since he acted as chief thereof, he has felt it incumbent upon him to give a public account of his stewardship, together with the story of his life. He does so here.

He has written an undoubtedly sincere and engaging book—some of it a positive pleasure to read, especially the 15 chapters of autobiography. As for the intensely earnest effort to justify NRA and discuss its "mistakes," it may be difficult for some to see just what good purpose can be served thereby, other than to give the General satisfaction. It is reasonable to believe that historians of the future will see, not incidental "mistakes," but rather a fundamental mistake, inevitable at that particular stage of the social process. But if men, caught in a whirl of the time stream, are constrained to blunder and do so valiantly, may we mortals not applaud a bit, even while the gods are heard to laugh?

AMERICAN MESSIAHS. By the Unofficial Observer. (Simon & Schuster, New York City.)

THE predicament of Truth in this somewhat less than perfect world of ours is proverbially a sad one. It is generally agreed that she is an estimable lady, and even scoundrels are accustomed to speak highly of her. Yet never in a time when men have been most pitifully in need of her has she ever been met at the front door of the world and ushered into the parlor as an honored guest, although many a giggling drab and gaudy strumpet is certain to be so welcomed at such a time.

As a matter of fact, when much-needed Truth enters the house of the world, she must do so by breaking in through the cellar windows. This fact might greatly simplify our identification of her, if to benefit those in the house were the only possible reason for burglarious entry. But, alas, ours is admittedly somewhat less than a perfect world, and vanity alone, if nothing less amiable, may be a powerful incentive.

Well, here in the volume listed we have one scene from the tremendous tragi-comedy, now playing all over the planet, in which the truth about our disaster strives to break in upon us—with ill success as yet.

"As the New Deal coalition of conservative Democrats, progressive Republicans, liberals, independents and political yes-men coasted into its third year of national power," says the Unofficial Observer, "there was a massing of messiahs and a rupture of microphones without precedent in our political history." And he continues: "Here they are, the mavericks, the wild men, the reformers, the men with Plans and Formulas." The blurbster goes farther, announcing that here we have "the most important members of the lunatic fringe."

It would be a mistake, however, to suppose that the Unofficial Observer's attitude toward the dozen or more personalities he discusses is correctly represented by his title and the above-quoted remarks. He has a strong sense of humor—and does he need it! But to display it is no part of his real purpose. He knows that he is dealing with a most serious matter in considering all these voices in the wilderness; and although he "kids" them all a bit here and there, not one of his studies should leave a fair-minded reader with a sense of injustice done. One reader deliberately went on a still hunt for indications of prejudice on the author's part, and returned with an empty bag.

People are constantly asking each other what they think of Huey Long, or Father Coughlin, or Upton Sinclair, or Townsend, or the late Gen. Johnson. Fewer must be asking about Wheeler of Montana, or Olson of Minnesota, or Talmadge of Georgia, or Johnson of South Carolina, or maybe even Norman Thomas. And what most people think about any of these is probably not thinking at all, but only prejudices and emotional shots in the dark.

Those who know that they really don't know what to think about these men should find in the Unofficial Observer's studies, not a set of dogmatic opinions, but a reasonable way of going about the business of forming intelligent opinions. It's a relatively rare sort of book that does this in a confused time like ours.

COMMITTEE URGES CUT OF $225,785 IN COUNTY BUDGET

OFFICIALS AGREED TO CO-OPERATE

Savings Proposed Through Decreasing Salaries, Rent, Travel Allowances and Other Items.

A general fund budget for St. Louis County for 1935, which would be $225,785 lower than the expenditures for 1934, was recommended to officials yesterday by the Citizens' Committee on Cost of County Government, appointed by the County Chamber of Commerce in agreement with the officials.

In addition, the committee urged a $15,726 reduction of expenditures made directly out of commisisons and fees.

Income of the general fund for 1935 was estimated in the report at $940,212. The proposed budget would be $13,625 less than this.

Expenditures from the general fund in 1934 were $1,152,373. The committee called for a budget of $926,587 this year. Expenditures in the first four months this year were $267,482, leaving $659,104 for the remaining eight months, according to the budget plan.

Expenditures out of commissions and fees last year were $200,267, while it was proposed to limit this group this year to $184,541, including $17,476 already spent in the first four months.

Lower Salaries Proposed.

A large item in the proposed reduction of the general fund would consist of cuts in the salaries of many, but not all, of the deputies, clerks and subordinates of most of the departments. Other savings would be in printing, office supplies, equipment, rent, fees, postage, light, heat, power, travel allowance and many miscellaneous items.

When the county sought RFC assistance in its financial troubles last year it was advised to get its affairs in order before more help could be given.

The committee was appointed in January at the suggestion of the County Court, or administrative body. It requested the appointment of a county auditor to set up a 1935 budget, and in April the Court appointed Edward O. Harper to this position. M. C. Bay, chairman of the committee, said that the elective county officials, meeting with his group three months ago, had volunteered co-operation in improving the county's finacial condition through installation of a proper accounting system and reduction of their departmental expenses.

Re-establishing County's Credit.

Accompanying copies of the report sent to the officials was a letter asking them to indorse on the document promptly their willingness to adopt the budget reduction. A reduction could be accomplished easily in the manner suggested, the committee asserted, adding that this was a movement to re-establish the credit of St. Louis County. It said arrangements had been made with the auditor for a monthly public statement showing how reduction had been accomplished by each office.

The report included a detailed statement of the 1934 expenditures and the recommended 1935 budget for each department, item by item, including individual salaries. The general fund included the so-called pauper and insane and hospital funds. The report did not go into the two county road funds, supported by direct taxes, as they have been kept separately and have not run deficits. The county bond sinking fund was not shown either, as it has remained intact. Spokesmen for the committee said the question of relationship of the general fund and commission and fee funds, concerning which expenses each would bear, might come up later.

Reductions in Detail.

Departmental general fund reductions, comparing last year's expenditures and the budget urged for this year, included the following outstanding items:

County Court, $38,013 to $20,114; courthouse, $34,443 to $24,798; County Hospital, $260,514 to $237,002; insane and paupers, $256,869 to $217,819; interest on protested warrants, $24,310 to $20,000; County Farm Bureau, $7500 to $4500; Assessor, $36,530 to $29,817; Circuit Clerk, $45,563 to $40,976; County Clerk, $34,644 to $29,818; Election Board, $76,367 to $11,900 (no elections being scheduled this year); Highway Department, $22,021 to $7200; Sheriff, $62,229 to $54,616; jail, $6682 to $5712; Superintendent of Schools, $16,202 to $14,022; two Justices of the Peace, no longer in office, $6251 last year and nothing this year.

On the same comparative basis, reductions in expenditures out of commissions and fees were recommended as follows: Assessor, $33,526 to $32,085; County Clerk, $8775 to $7070; Collector, $67,647 to $59,940; Recorder of Deeds, $65,319 to $62,246; Sheriff, $25,000 to $23,200.

Some Increases.

The only increases recommended in expenditures from the general fund were: County Auditor, new this year, $5650; county purchasing agent, $724 to $1063; Prosecuting Attorney, $26,576 to $27,623; Collector, $464 to $525; Justice of the Peace Stecker, $390 to $3452; also a $3.45 increase for Justice of the Peace Werremeyer.

On the basis of the proposed budget, the Highway Department spent all but $301 of its allotment in the first four months of the year, while the plumbing inspector, Collector, Public Administrator and Recorder of Deeds spent more than their allotments. Other departments which spent more than one-third of the suggested budget allowances during the first four months included: County Court, courthouse, Health Department, Assessor, Circuit Clerk, Probate Court, Juvenile Court probation office and Sheriff.

Auditor Harper prepared the committee's report and was advised by the Citizens' Committee, members of the County Court and Director Carter W. Atkins of the Bureau of Municipal Research. Members of the committee, besides Chairman Bay, are: Atkins, J. A. Caselton, L. Wade Childress, E. R. Culver Jr., J. Lionberger Davis, Kirk L. Keller, Walter R. Mayne, Boyle O. Rodes, Walter V. Scholz and ex-officio, Edward L. Bakewell and Girard C. Varnum.

Much Revision Of Constitution Seems Impossible

employment," he said, "is the enormous uncertainty and suspense with which the public would regard it. With little or no idea of its possible composition, and mortally fearful of the kind of proposals which might come out of it, they would recoil from the mere suggestion. A constitutional convention is conceivable only in the event the Government has fallen.

"As a matter of fact," Senator Borah added, "it is my opinion that there has been just one period in our history when a constitutional convention had a chance to succeed. That was the period when the original convention was held, and the fact that it succeeded can be attributed, in my judgment, to a positive act of God.

"Three factors, occurring in conjunction, made its success possible, and without either of them it would have failed. First, the character of the men; second, prevailing economic conditions; third, political conditions resulting from the Revolution. It was indispensable that the influence of Jefferson and that of Hamilton be balanced against each other. Without adequate regulation of commerce, the colonies faced immediate economic chaos and ruin. Without political unity, they faced conquest by a stronger power.

The Other Way.

"Can anyone now foresee the conjunction of factors so irresistible as these? I cannot, nor can I imagine how they could come into existence except as the aftermath of such an ordeal as the founders of the Constitution had experienced. I think we can dismiss the idea of a constitutional convention except as the issue of revolution."

Unlike Senator Norris, Borah feels no compelling impulse to amend the present Constitution, although he did conduct through the Senate the amendment providing for direct election of Senators. But that was back in 1912, when he was "the boy orator of Boise."

Sumners derived his inspiration from an earlier date. He recalled that Confucius remarked to the effect that knowledge without action is waste of time, and action without knowledge is a public danger.

"Therefore," said Sumners, "my general opinion on the subject of constitutional revision is that we need more education now and more action later."

CITY RELIEF RATES CUT MOVEMENT TO FARMS

Net Increase in Rural Population in 1934 Much Less Than in 1933.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The payment of higher relief rates in cities than in the country was disclosed today to have helped slow down the migration back to farms.

Officials of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, discussing results of the annual survey of the trend of population, said that while there had been a net increase in the farm population in 1934, it had been only a fraction of that in 1933.

They said that in the Northern and Northeastern industrial states the reduction in migration from cities, towns and villages to the farms "was probably the combined result of a farm housing shortage, somewhat better employment opportunities in non-agricultral industries and the larger cash relief payments generally available to urban residents as contrasted to rural dwellers."

The figures for the farm population showed a net gain of 270,000 in 1934 over 1933. During the year 783,000 persons moved to farms from urban communities. In the same period 994,000 moved away from farms to cities and towns. Thus, 211,000 more persons moved away from farms than moved to them. But during the same period, 481,000 more persons were born on farms than died, giving a net increase in farm population of 270,000, all of which was represented in babies a year old or less.

In only three years during the last 14 for which records were immediately accessible have more persons moved to the country than moved away from it.

AVERAGE DAILY TOP OF 77.7 DEGREES THUS FAR IN JUNE

Comparable Period Last Year Registered 90.5; Rain Below Average.

St. Louis is enjoying one of the coolest months of June in a number of years, with an average daily maximum temperature of 77.7 for the first 15 days of the month. Last year at this time St. Louisans were sweltering under one of the earliest "heat waves" known in June. The average maximum temperature then was 90.5 for the first 15 days, and 93.1 for the entire month.

There have been 1.31 inches of rain during the 15-day period, which is below normal, but slightly higher than the amount to fall last year at this time. There have been seven days with a measurable amount of rain, and a trace was noticed on three other days.

Farmers Balk at "Sparrow Tax."

By the Associated Press.

BERGEN, Norway, June 15.—The "sparrow tax" is a levy most annoying to the farmers of Jykkylven, and is one of the most unusual in Europe. For prayers offered up by the pastor of the Nykirken church at Bergen, against damage to crops by the birds, each farmer must pay annually about $7.50. The tillers of the soil say that they receive little for their money, since the sparrows continue to attack the harvests.

Guffey Coal Bill Is Challenged As Unconstitutional

ing doubt on the constitutionality of the Guffey bill. This paragraph reads:

"Let us concede that if a case was presented where the abuse of the taxing power was so extreme as to be beyond the principles which we have previously stated, and where it was plain to the judicial mind that the power had been called into play not for revenue but solely for the purpose of destroying rights which could not be rightfully destroyed consistently with the principles of freedom and justice upon which the Constitution rests, that it would be the duty of the courts to say that such an arbitrary act was not merely an abuse of a delegated power, but was the exercise of an authority not conferred."

Coal vs. Oleomargarine.

It is contended by some that the Guffey bill would fall within the purview of this paragraph; that the Guffey bill is not intended to raise revenue, but to limit indirectly rights which the Supreme Court has said Congress could not directly limit.

The difference between coal and oleomargarine, in this view, is that the production of coal, a harmless article, is a right that cannot be destroyed by Congress, whereas the production of oleomargarine, because of its "aptitude" for fraudulent uses, could be prohibited.

The Guffey bill, now placed on the "must" legislative list of President Roosevelt, comes up under extraordinary circumstances. The union mine workers throughout the country have been under strike orders with the date of going out uncertain, and the union officers in Washington are saying that nothing but passage of the Guffey bill will prevent the strike.

Although President Roosevelt had previously taken no public stand on the Guffey bill, he informed leaders of Congress yesterday that he wished it passed at once.

Coal mine operators have joined with union miners in putting pressure on Congress for the passage of the bill. The miners think the bill would further their interests in collective bargaining and in establishment of shorter hours and higher wages.

The operators expect two beneficial results: First, they would avoid, temporarily at least, a strike. Second, they could fix prices, and even though the act might later be declared unconstitutional, they probably would be able to market another winter's supply of coal before the Supreme Court got around to passing on the question.

MISSOURI 17TH IN OUTLAY FOR STATE HEALTH WORK

Missouri ranks seventeenth in the amount of annual appropriation for State health work, a survey by the St. Louis Community Council showed.

From a revenue of $51,485,000, the appropriation for the State health program during the present fiscal year was $197,125. Services directed by the Missouri Department of Health are: Child hygiene, public health nursing, dental hygiene, food and drugs division, hotel and lodging house inspection, sanitation and engineering, division of laboratories, medical licenses and vital statistics.

New York led all other states with it health appropriation of $3,624,778. On a per capita basis Massachusetts was high, with Virginia second and New York third. Missouri was nineteenth in this classification.

CITY SCHOOL COSTS IN 10 YEARS ANALYZED

Operating Appropriations Fluctuated With Income, Board Official Shows.

An analysis of the rise and decline of the cost of operating the public schools, showing how the cost went up as income reached a peak at the start of the depression and dropped as economy became necessary, has been prepared by George R. Johnson, director of tests and measurements of the Board of Education.

In the fiscal year 1926-27, there were 89,380 pupils, operating cost was $9,443,766, and the cost per pupil was $105.65.

In 1930-31, the first full fiscal year after the market crash, when board revenue reached the peak of $13,265,358, there were 92,825 students, operating cost was $11,424,836, and the cost per pupil was $123.07—a peak for individual cost.

In 1933-34, the last full fiscal year, 96,971 boys and girls were enrolled, operating cost was $9,777,832, and the cost per pupil was $100.83.

$90 Per Pupil in 1934-35.

In 1934-35, the fiscal period ending June 30, there were 107,753 pupils, operating cost was estimated at $9,797,000, and cost per pupil at only $90.92. In spite of a material increase in enrollment over the preceding year, total cost showed virtually no change.

For the year now ending, enrollment was 20.5 per cent greater than in 1926-27 and operating cost was 3.7 per cent greater. However, the cost per pupil was 13.9 per cent less than in 1926-27 and 26.1 per cent less than in the peak year.

For the last three years all school salaries have been reduced by 10 per cent and for the last two years the system of automatic increases in the Instruction Department has been suspended. If these two economies are eliminated and the budget kept otherwise on the scale of the last year, the cost per pupil will be slightly more than $100 a year.

Other notable savings, in addition to the salary cut and the cessation of automatic increases, have included increases in the size of classes, with corresponding reduction of the number of teachers; establishment of the new ninth-grade centers, to relieve high school congestion, in otherwise vacant rooms of elementary schools; discontinuance of many supervisory and non-teaching positions; reduction of educational supply stocks, and minimizing of building maintenance.

Teachers Salaries Are 77 Pct.

Salaries of the Instruction Department — principally, of course, for teachers—were estimated at $7,587,951 for the current year, or 77 per cent of all expenses. But for the 10 per cent reduction, the instruction payroll would have been $1,118,105 greater. The payroll for other departments was estimated at $1,649,535. Restoration of the automatic increases in the Instruction Department would cost about $150,000 for the first year.

Enrollment in the elementary schools was 75,029 in 1926-27, dropped slightly during the depression and was 75,200 this year. Cost per pupil in these schools was $89.80 in 1926-27, $99.82 in 1930-31 and $82.11 in 1933-34.

High school enrollment has grown steadily. It was 12,341 in 1926-27, 15,321 in 1930-31 and 19,037 this year. Cost per pupil was $175.28 in 1926-27, $191.43 in 1930-31 and $152.53 in 1933-34.

Vocational enrollment in 1926-27 before establishment of Hadley Vocational School, was 169; in 1930-31 it was 1635, in 1933-34, 1987, and this year 2362. Cost per pupil was $111.73 in 1926-27, $245.12 in 1930-31 and $176.08 in 1933-34.

The schools for crippled children had 232 pupils this year, their peak attendance. Cost per pupil in 1926-27, the first year of operation of Michael School, the principal institution of this type, was $398.12; it was $634.42 in 1930-31 and $418.49 in 1933-34.

Teachers' Colleges.

Enrollment in the teachers' colleges has fluctuated, having been 442 in 1926-27, 705 in 1930-31, when junior college courses for girls and boys not studying pedagogy were included; 533 in 1933-34, and this year, due to restricted courses and lack of employment opportunity, only 358. Cost per pupil was $371.23 in 1926-27, $415.13 in 1930-31 and $318.39 in 1933-34.

For the other types of schools, all with small enrollments, the variation in costs per pupil were:

Type.	1926-27	1930-31	1933-34
Deaf mutes	$604.52	$678.37	$570.02
Delinquents	154.59	164.96	134.33
Mental defectives	253.32	278.68	171.16
Convalescents	159.61	162.25	82.70
Open air	277.10	259.95	191.52

Graphs prepared by the office of Superintendent of Instruction Gerling showed that expenditures of the Instruction Department for the last 21 years have varied approximately according to the general trend of enrollment, while gross disbursements of the board rose disproportionately higher from 1921 to 1930. That period included the erection of a number of schools from current income.

Pepper Analyzes NRA Decision

sonable doubt, the interesting question arises how the President got himself into the position in which the decision of the court has left him.

In any fair approach to this question, a clear distinction must be made at the outset between the aim of the framers of the National Industrial Recovery Act and the soundness of the means actually adopted for attaining it.

To get everybody to co-operate with everybody else in an unselfish effort to restore industrial prosperity was surely a worthy aspiration. It was at least as worthy as the earlier aspiration to reform the social life of the United States by means of prohibition.

The attempts to transform both these aspirations from dreams into realities were deemed by many to be noble experiments. In both cases it was perceived that nothing could be accomplished by voluntary action. The compulsion of law was essential.

The promoters of prohibition found that local action by the states lacked uniformity and was at any rate too slow. They, therefore, invoked Federal authority. President Roosevelt and his advisers similarly decided that industrial recovery required immediate and unified compulsory action and that such action could be effective only if taken by the Federal Government.

The differenec between the two institutions was that the promoters of prohibition had sound legal advice and were warned at the outset that the power of Congress to regulate commerce among the states did not extend to a limitation upon the production of liquor or to a prohibition of the purchase and sale thereof within the state. Accordingly, agitation for an enlargement of the power of Congress in the case of commerce in liquor was at once begun. The ill-fated eighteenth amendment was adopted and a national prohibition law was enacted.

Any Unawed Lawyer Could Have Told Him.

Unfortunately, President Roosevelt appears to have sought legal advice respecting the NRA only from those who shared his eagerness to launch this noble experiment.

This certainly was not the part of wisdom. The popular conception of a "corporation lawyer" owes its origin to the fact that captains of industry, with eyes focused on a certain objective, have too often dominated their lawyers and by sheer power of personality have elicited the legal advice which they wanted as distinguished from that which would have been good for them.

If the President had consulted available lawyers (within the limit of his own party, if he deemed this necessary) of a caliber such that they could be neither stampeded nor over-awed, he would have been advised that he could no more get judicial approval of such a recovery act as he was contemplating than the Anti-Saloon League could have gotten away with the national prohibition act without first amending the Constitution of the United States.

Broad as is the Federal power to regulate commerce among the states, it cannot in sober common sense be stretched as far as the President appears to have hoped it might be.

Liberal as is the rule which determines what functions Congress may or may not delegate to the President, nobody but an enthusiast for executive power could possibly suppose that nine responsible and experienced American lawyers, at the bar or on the bench, would approve what Congress attempted in enacting the NRA.

If therefore, the President now finds himself embarrassed by a judicial decision, all the more unwelcome because unanimous, he has nobody but himself to blame. He is at least better off than some of the presidents of big corporations who, having in time past dominated their attorneys learned too late that personal liability sometimes results from following poor advice.

Much Deeper Question Of Constitutional Policy.

Up to this point I have discussed the Schechter case as if it involved merely a problem of constitutional interpretation. There is, however, a far deeper and more important question than that, namely: Does the Constitution as interpreted by the court prescribe a sound and wholesome Government policy, or does it merely cramp the style of great minds and prevent the launching of beneficent governmental schemes?

I wish I had Dr. Franklin's power to impress upon every reader the vital importance of this question and to convince him that the Constitution as it stands is on this point a bulwark of individual liberty.

Let the reader put to himself these two practical questions:

(1) Why in the world should the Senators and Representatives from 47 other states be permitted to prescribe for a New York merchant all the details of how he should run his business?

(2) If they do feel an urge thus to substitute in the State of New York a law made in Washington for one made in Albany, what right have they to turn their responsibility over to the President and so transform him from an official who executes laws into the legislative authority that makes them?

It is not over-statment to assert, as I do, that upon the answer given to these two questions depends, humanly speaking, the governmental future of the United States.

If the answer offered in argument before the court by enthusiastic advocates of NRA had been accepted, we might look with dismay for the gradual disappearance of all state governments and for the entrenchment in Washington of a monarchical executive competent to dictate policies to Congress and to wield law-making powers of his own.

In view, however, of the decision of the court that Congress has no constitutional authority whatever to take out of the hands of the people of New York the power and duty to regulate the business of the New York merchant, and (even were it otherwise) that Congress is wholly without authority tn delegate its law-making power to the President, Americans may once more breathe freely and may count with certainty upon the present continuance of that form of constitutional government under which America has grown to greatness.

Comment and Dissent on Prof. Corwin's View.

I have read with dissent Prof. Corwin's mildly contemptuous criticism of the court published in the Washington Post. As the author of a recent book entitled "The Twilight of the Supreme Court," he may possibly have been a trifle disconcerted by the (to him) unexpected substitution of midday splendor for twilight. I freely concede his scholarship but I do not accept either his appraisement of the authorities upon which he relies or his practical judgment of the effect of the decision. He charges the court with being "unrealistic."

I venture to oppose to academic judgment whatever I have acquired through years of experience in active practice and some first-hand familiarity with the processes of government.

If a reader of this comment of mine wishes fully to appreciate the significance of what the court has done, let him imagine himself the defendant in a criminal proceeding charged with violating a minute regulation of his local business; a regulation proclaimed in the name of the President, but actually framed by subordinate and irresponsible officials; a regulation which he deems unfair and unreasonable; against the imposition of which he had had no opportunity for effective protest; and a regulation left for enforcement to some code authority headed, perhaps, by his chief competitor.

Let him remember that the regulatory power of the President and Congress must either be limited as the court declared it to be limited, or it must extend to every transaction in the daily life of the citizen. There is no middle ground. Either Federal power must be confined to the regulation of commerce among the states or it must extend to all commerce, and this includes all the traffic and intercourse in which citizens can engage.

When thus the reader has made the case real to himself I venture to believe that he will heartily approve the decision of the court as being essentially "realistic" and as a timely vindication of his personal liberty.

I fear, however, that in the proportion in which he appreciates the decision he will deplore the ill-concealed resentment of the President as betrayed in his public comments upon it. A family quarrel is never a pleasing incident to witness. It is particularly regrettable when it takes the form of criticism by the executive of the faithful performance of duty by the judiciary.

If Prof. Corwin is justified in taking as his text a remark once made by the present Chief Justice that "the Constitution is what the judges say it is," then it must follow that it is the Constitution as officially interpreted by the Supreme Court which the President has sworn to defend.

Both May Be Right and Roosevelt Wrong.

His defense of it, however, appears to take the form of a hint at a drastic constitutional amendment designed to nullify the decision of the court. But for a fact presently to be noted, this intimation by the President would suggest the disturbing thought that it has never seriously occurred to Mr. Roosevelt that not only the Supreme Court but also the Constitution may be right. Nothing that he has recently said indicates an appreciation either of the dangers of imperial power, the importance of local self-government, or the value of an independent judiciary.

The fact referred to above which qualifies this suggestion, however, is that when he was Governor of New York he made a public address on the essential value of home rule and the dangers incident to centralized government which, if his observations have escaped his memory, it would be profitable for him to recall. That utterance was not only a powerful vindication of the Constitution as it stands, but a prophetic approval of the very decision which he now resents.

He is now reported as deploring the fact that our Government is outmoded when compared to modern governmental system. It would have been illuminating had he specified the governments to which he wishes us to assimilate ourselves.

If his reference was to England or France, he must know that in the homeland they have no problem at all comparable to ours. If he had in mind as a model to be imitated the contemporary governments in Italy, in Germany or in Russia, candor should have led him to say so.

Trial and Error But Still no Change

One of the most popular announcements by Mr. Roosevelt at the beginning of his presidential career was his disarming admission to the effect that he did not know it all, that he was merely proceeding by a method of trial and error and that if and when an experiment failed he would be quick to admit the fact and make a fresh start. The people took him at his word and liked his frankness.

As experiment after experiment has been tried, as failure has followed failure, we have waited in vain for some sportsmanlike admission as we had been led to expect.

Then came the devastatingly unanimous declaration by the most authoritative tribunal in the world of a failure of a major experiment. This gave the President such a chance to prove his bigness as comes to but few public men and to nobody no more than once in a lifetime. Instead of welcoming it as a great opportunity, he has preferred to proclaim his persistent rightness and the Court's wrongness and to charge against the judicial department of his own Government the unhappy consequences of the collapse of an unsound structure which fell by its own weight.

If Dr. Franklin were alive today he would surely welcome the decision of the court. Its significance in his eyes would not be diminished by the reception accorded it by the President.

"Madame Sherry" Modernized For Presentation at Opera

Successful Musical Play of 25 Years Ago to Be Revived in Forest Park Tomorrow Night With Elizabeth Murray, Original Star, in Famous Character Role.

A QUARTER of a century after its first production in this country, "Madame Sherry," the musical play from which came "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning of Its Own," will be presented by Municipal Opera, for a week beginning tomorrow night. "Rio Rita," second production of the season, will have its final performance this evening.

"Madame Sherry" has not been seen in St. Louis since January, 1912, when it played a week's return engagement at the old Olympic Theater. Of the same theatrical vintage as "The Pink Lady," "Sweethearts" and "The Spring Maid," it needed considerable revising for Municipal Opera, a work Producing Director Laurence Schwab entrusted to Milton Lazarus, New York playwright.

The version offered, then, will be one brought strictly up to date. "Madame Sherry" also marks a departure from the costume plays of the season, since it will be played in modern dress. The original book, from an early French farce, was by Otto Harbach, the score by Karl Hoschna. In addition to the celebrated "Every Little Movement," the song numbers include "The Birth of the Butterfly," "The Smile He Means for You," "You Can't Argue With Me" and "The Birth of the Passions."

The title role, that of an Irish landlady, will be taken by the original "Madame Sherry." She is Elizabeth Murray, who is making her first Municipal Opera appearance.

Miss Murray has had parts in dozens of musical shows, such as "Speed Limit," "High Jinks," "Watch Your Step" and George M. Cohan's "Sidewalks of New York;" in the motion pictures, "The Bachelor Father" and "Little Old New York," on the concert stage and radio and in vaudeville and the legitimate theater, where she is well-known as a character actress.

IN the important ingenue role of Yvonne is Katherine Carrington, who played Sieglinde Lessing in the New York version of "Music in the Air" and who created the role of Kit Baker in "Face the Music." Miss Carrington made her stage debut with the Winthrop Ames Gilbert and Sullivan Company in 1926, later stepped into Ed Wynn's "Laugh Parade," and was featured in "The Garrick Gaieties," "The Little Show" and "The Desert Song." She has been heard frequently over the radio.

Coaching Miss Carrington in her part is Mme. Lina Abarbanell, who played Yvonne for four years in the original "Madame Sherry." Mme. Abarbanell, herself a famous light opera star at one time, is now a member of the opera production staff.

A third newcomer to Forest Park is Gil Lamb, who takes the comedy part of Phillippe, the French janitor. Lamb, who is being compared to the late Jack Donohue as a dancer-comedian, recently completed a tour of the leading European cities, in his own vaudeville comedy act. He will be seen here later in the season in a part which Donahue created, that of Jim Deering in "Sunny."

Lorraine Manners, New York dancer and singer, is appearing for the first time in the Midwest. She has about 25 New York shows to her credit, among them an appearance in Earl Carroll's "Vanities" and in "The Last Show," with Lou Holtz.

Alice Dudley and Jack Cole, who have adapted the modernistic style of dancing to the musical stage, will make their debut. They recently appeared in the New York musical romance, "Caviar," "Page Miss Glory" and "Thumbs Up."

ABSENT for a week, Robert Halliday, leading man of "Teresina," will return to take the principal male role of Edward Sherry, about whom the action revolves.

The plot is one familiar, in one form or another, to most theater-goers. Sherry, a New York playboy, has led his eccentric but wealthy old uncle, Theophilus, to believe that he is married, the father of two children and deeply devoted to a career as a musician. Funds from the uncle have been always forthcoming.

Suddenly Theophilus arrives on the scene with his niece Yvonne, demure young convent-bred girl, and Edward is at his wit's end to keep up pretenses. His landlady is induced to appear as "Madame Sherry; a dancing teacher, and one of her pupils pose as the children. In the course of the play, Edward's affections move from the dancing teacher to Yvonne, with Theophilus all the while working toward a solution of the mystery of "Madame Sherry."

The cast includes Gladys Baxter as Lulu, the dancing teacher, Leslie Adams as Theophilus, William Hain, Audrey Christie, Oscar Ragland, Duke McHale, Una Val, Sheila Dille, Marion Huntley and Al Downing.

FOLLOWING "Madame Sherry," the opera will revive Oscar Straus' "The Chocolate Soldier," with Ruby Mercer, young operatic and concert singer, in the role of Nadina. Marguerite Sylva, who appeared on the Municipal stage in 1929 in "Golden Dawn," will return for an important part.

The month of July will see the presentation of "Good News," "The Vagabond King," "Sunny" and "Beloved Rogue," second of the "premiere" class of shows Municipal Opera will present this summer. "Teresina," which was presented for the first time in America at the season's opening, aroused the interest of movie scouts but has been passed by as too slight for film production.

An official of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, in town last week-end to see "Teresina," made an offer to Director Schwab to re-enter the movies as a director of M-G-M musicals but received no encouragement. Schwab, who made early pictures musicals, has turned down several full-time offers from Hollywood, preferring to produce for the New York stage.

Meanwhile, Municipal Opera's former director, J. J. Shubert, is introducing the St. Louis idea in Detroit. On a movable stage extending from dugout to dugout at Navin baseball field, Shubert is producing many of the operettas he had charge of here, and with former Municipal Opera players. At the opening last week, Leonard Ceeley took the lead in "The Student Prince," and Barnett Parker, Hope Emerson and Desiree Taylor were in the cast. Shubert's staff of last year, including Watson Barratt, scenic designer, is with him for the 12 weeks' season. The opening night's performance attracted an audience of 9500 persons, including the Governor of the State, the Mayor of Detroit and other notables in the political and industrial life. Reviewers commented on the spectacular beauty of the show.

Many Candidates for Picture Honors in First Half of 1935

Several of Year's Best Already Playing to Return Engagement—Growing Move Toward Revivals—Plans for 1935-36 Production Are Announced.

WITH the approach of mid-year on the layman's calendar (the movie men have one of their own), followers of the flickers may cast an eye back six months with a feeling of considerable gratification. The woods have been full of good movie product.

At least six shows of the first half of 1935 are strong contenders for the distinction of the Ten Best Pictures of 1935. "David Copperfield," "Ruggles of Red Gap," "The Informer," "Naughty Marietta," "Roberta" and "Private Worlds" will surely garner many votes from fond critics next December. The honors would not go far amiss, moreover, if "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," "The Little Minister," "The President Vanishes," "The Whole Town's Talking," "Black Fury," "G-Men" or "Broadway Bill" were selected.

Advance information on the second half of the year seems to indicate that rivalry will be keen, for more than ever, producing companies are beginning to realize that a picture of genuine worth and popular appeal will justify the care and excellence of its preparation and that when a picture wins honors, it may be played again and again, to the accompaniment of a hallelujah chorus of "How many, pleases" at the ticket-booths.

Return engagements continue to be a matter of interest chiefly to the neighborhood theaters, but occasionally the first-run houses bring out a past success, as in the case of the Shubert this week, in offering "The Virginian." The studio had so many requests for "The Virginian" that it took the picture back and re-edited it. Made in 1929, "The Virginian" was the first all-talking Western.

Other revivals are expected to follow. The success of "Smilin' Through" and the popularity of its stars, Norma Shearer and Fredric March, is inviting the studio to re-issue it.

HOLLYWOOD will never be able to forget "It Happened One Night," which still looks like the fracas around Mr. Sutter's sawmill or the Florida land boom at its height. In the St. Louis territory alone, "It Happened One Night" has played 161 return engagements.

"One Night of Love," which created no great stir in smaller centers, has had 40 revivals nevertheless, after the usual second-runs hereabouts. "The Thin Man," another prize picture of last year, has had 25 re-bookings. "The Count of Monte Cristo" is beginning to be called back for encores. The tendency spreads over into the pictures of 1935. "Ruggles of Red Gap" has chalked up 30 recalls, "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" 35. "David Copperfield" and "Roberta" are in repeat runs.

"State Fair," on the prize list in 1933, came back in a hundred theaters; "She Done Him Wrong," on the same list, met a poor reception in its first runs but was hailed back later with immense popularity. "Cimarron," made in 1931, was re-played in 80 per cent of its original stands three years later. "Disraeli," which came out in 1929, was reissued with success last year.

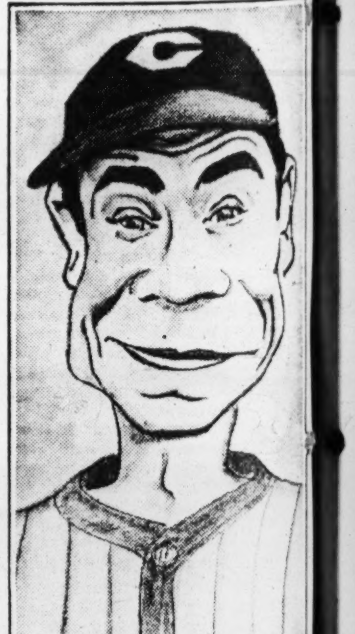
THE advent of summer, with film-goers turning away to vacation haunts and the broad highways, usually detracts from interest in film fare. In St. Louis, the result often has meant the closing of one or two first-run houses. Next month may see one of the Grand boulevard houses taking time out for some refurbishing but for a few weeks at least, the line-up will continue as at present. And the torpid situation is not exactly a local matter.

June is the beginning of the movie man's year, since it is then that the salesmen are called to the home office, or a convenient hotel, and injected with enthusiasm for the new treasures from the West. The set-up accounts for many things—the doldrums into which billings seem to fall, and those questions of "What happened to such and such a picture?" The answer is: Look on the 1935-36 schedule.

See what is offered for "next" year. Metro, for instance, announces it will bring out "China Seas," with Clark Gable, Jean Harlow and Wallace Beery; "Anna Karenina," with Greta Garbo and Frederic March (both of these pictures are completed); "A Tale of Two Cities," with Ronald Colman; "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh," "The Great Ziegfeld" (with William Powell) and a long list of other pictures for its stars, as two for Clark Gable, two more for Garbo, etc. Metro owns movie rights to "Maytime," "Ah, Wilderness," and such last season New York shows as "Merrily We Roll Along, "The Distaff Side" and "Gold Eagle Guy."

Paramount will bring out "The Crusades," "Peter Ibbetson" (Ann Harding, Gary Cooper), "The Big Broadcast of 1935," a super-production of "So Red the Rose," with Margaret Sullavan, Pauline Lord and 20,000 fellow actors and actresses; "Rose of the Rancho," introducing Gladys Swarthout, Metropolitan opera star, Harold Lloyd's "The Milky Way" and a host of others.

At a salesman's conference a few days ago, Warner Bros. announced plans for "Anthony Adverse," "The Green Light," "The Petrified Forest," with Leslie Howard taking his New York stage role, and "The Green Pastures," for which something approaching $175,000 will be paid. Columbia has Grace Moore's "Love Me Forever" on tap, with Frank Capra's production of "Lost Horizon,' a Claudette Colbert picture, "She Married Her Boss," "A Feather in Her Hat," with Ruth Chatterton, and so on.



Joe E. Brown in "Alibi Ike," Shubert Theater.

Universal's big talking point is the completed "Diamond Jim," with Edward Arnold and Binnie Barnes, along with the remaking of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "The Phantom of the Opera" and introduction of the Hungarian songbird, Marta Eggerth in "Song of Joy." RKO has "Top Hat," the new Astaire-Rogers picture; "The Last Days of Pompeii," "Jalna" and "Alice Adams" on its list, but is more interested in "Becky Sharp," the new rainbow feature.

Few of the announcements lay any emphasis on the money to be spent or attempt to describe the superlative qualities of the projected entertainment. Rather, a studio takes pride in its possession of story material, the directors it can assign to production, the stars it has under contract and the seasoned writers who can turn out original stories of any sort. The last half of 1935 may easily be as pleasureable to movie fans as the first half.

THE WEEK'S NEW FILMS :: :: By Colvin McPherson

FOR many reasons, "The Scoundrel," at the Orpheum Theater, is a motion picture of distinctly superior quality. For satisfying a curiosity—not an exactly rampant one, it will be granted—as to what Noel Coward could do on the screen. For its departure from the maudlin material of Hollywood romance. For the brittle style in which Messrs. Hecht and MacArthur always write and photograph. Yet Coward, the darling of the too, too clever sophisticates, will not be clutched to the breast of the film public and I can imagine him being most roundly hated by the worshipers of Clark Gable and Warner Baxter. Especially will that be true after his portrayal of "The Scoundrel," a nasty beast who uses, wrecks and ruins women and talks sarcastically along with it. Hardly any of his fellow creatures could find him charming. He publishes books merely to make money, he speaks in epigrams with his jaws set, he is just full of conclusions about WOMEN and himself. Then, at the moment when we quite abominate Mr. Coward and his crowd, Hecht and MacArthur show us that they, too, have no great appetite for the outfit. More than that, they go moral, spiritualistic, senimental, and reform Noel in a thrillingly dramatic moment. "The Scoundrel" has its cracks and fissures. Scenes of amour are as awkward as some in Hollywood's quickies. The pomposity and wordiness ought to make the authors blush. The efforts to detail Mr. Coward's many wickednesses—how he cuts off people during telephone conversations and sends hungry old men to suicide—are high school inventions. And the finish of the picture, with an imposed condition of a month's penance, is entirely unforeshadowed. Yet "The Scoundrel" emerges refreshingly alive, and powerfully effective. It will delight a small fragment of the population which has come to believe nothing of its kind can be done on the screen. It points a way to better motion pictures. On the Orpheum bill also is "The Girl From Tenth Avenue," with Bette Davis, a fabrication about the factory girl who marries a Park avenue booze hound and reforms him. Miss Davis, now definitely in the class with such capable actresses as Ruth Chatterton, Claudette Colbert and Myrna Loy, makes the picture exceedingly worth while on her own account, and is aided by Colin Clive, Alison Skipworth and Ian Hunter.

Brewster's Millions.

JACK BUCHANAN remains one of the few English film players who can win American audiences at sight. Looking as British as one of the Windsor boys, with a batch of a's as broad as those of a bit-player in a Broadway show, Buchanan has the kind of personality which is delightful even in those domains where the sun sets regularly, every evening. In "Brewster's Millions," at the Missouri, he has a racy musical based on the old George Barr McCutcheon story of the lad who must spend one fortune to be able to inherit another. Buchanan sings, clicks off some neat work with his shoes and carries on in the Harold Lloyd manner with great glee for an audience. The film was directed by Thornton Freeland, who did "Flying Down to Rio" and "Whoopee" and as might be expected, there is a number reminiscent of the "Carioca." A scene where Buchanan serves as the back legs of a dragon in a historical pageant offers the most fun of the week. For some mystic reason known only to theater managers, "Brewster's Millions" is billed beneath "Black Sheep," a film of distinctly less audience appeal. Featuring Edmund Lowe and Claire Trevor, "Black Sheep" recites a sentimental tale of how a gambler on an ocean liner discovers a long-lost son and saves him from an adventuress. A comparison between "Brewster's millions" and "Black Sheep" will be interesting. The first, made at Boreham Wood, England, and thereabouts, is not as well-photographed or recorded as the American picture. Yet its settings appear to be more real.

No More Ladies.

"NO MORE LADIES," we are told, ran for 162 performances on Broadway last year, which made it a "success," and it was then brought to the masses by the type of greatness of cinema soul which always considers the numbers of the masses. Here is the idea: A wife, Joan Crawford, finds that her husband, Robert Montgomery, is loitering on his way home from school, so she decides to invite all his playmates to a house party and then pretends she is running away with another man. Bob is cured. Such a stodgy plot might be saved by the clever dialogue that went into "When Ladies Meet" or "Let Us Be Gay," which somehow come to mind now. Several scenes in "No More Ladies" are amusing, with the aid of considerable hokum, but the recipe of scenes in kitchen, night club and bedroom; the unbearably modish setting, the dull devilishness of Robert Montgomery, tastes a little flat. Even Edna May Oliver, whose sly remarks manage to be heard despite sound defects, does not save "No More Ladies" from mediocrity. Loew's State, happily, builds up a fine program with a whoop-and-holler Laurel and Hardy comedy, a Chic Sale dramatic reading and a "sport oddity."

Doubting Thomas.

WHEN Will Rogers ducks his head, as he so often does in "Doubting Thomas" at the Fox, there is strong suspicion that he is playing the role with his head down, figuratively as well as literally. "Doubting Thomas" concerns Will's efforts to keep his wife, Billie Burke, from seeking a career on the stage. His plan of campaign consists of insults to his wife and her friends, some very unfunny remarks pandering to the suppressed boor in human nature, and finally a practical joke. The only saving grace of "Doubting Thomas" is in the performance of a hometown play, whereby the directors resort to sure-fire stuff. Even that achievement compares unfavorably to Mickey Mouse's performance of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a few years ago. "The Awakening of Jim Burke" passes for the second feature picture. It takes Jimmy Butler out West with his violin and a Lord Fauntleroy get-up and lashes his genius out of him in eight reels of film, finally making him a he-man like his daddy, Jack Holt.

Alibi Ike.

JOE W. BROWN comes up from Sauk Center to play baseball for the Chicago Cubs in "Alibi Ike" (Shubert Theater) and bats somewhat below his usual average. Even the gags are beset by technical flaws that rob them of their best humor. "The Virginian" is being revived for the second feature. It still holds interest for the details of direction which make its background authentic. The star, Gary Cooper, has advanced much in the art of acting since 1929, year of the original release, and now ranks high as a leading man. A moral lesson is somewhere around.

Ready to Harness the Tides in Passamaquoddy Bay

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

Major Philip B. Fleming.

WASHINGTON.

LONG before the tides of politics carried him to the White House, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, a summer vacationist in his family home at Campobello Island, had watched, with interest, the surge of the tides in and out of the Bay of Fundy, a rise and fall, at many points, of 30 or 40 feet. Here, he thought, awaiting the magician's wand, lay an inexhaustible reservoir of power. Harnessing the tides of the ocean has been a dream of scientists for many generations. By approving a $10,000,000 Federal Work Relief appropriation for the Passamaquoddy Bay tidal development project, President Roosevelt has now made possible the realization of this dream. Eventually, this project is scheduled to receive for its completion $36,000,000.

Though other attempts have been made to utilize the energy of the tides, the Passamaquoddy experiment is by far the biggest tidal control experiment yet undertaken. The English Economic Council has voted the construction of a similar project for an estuary of the Severn River, where extremely high tides also prevail. Other experiments have been made by the French in the Bay of Biscay, and by the Argentine Government. Engineers agree that the Passamaquoddy Bay project is feasible. Power will be created there and in vast quantities. That much is certain. Thanks to Federal aid and the interest of President Roosevelt, Quoddy power, discussed for so many years, should, in 30 months, become a fact.

Credit for getting the Quoddy project into the realm of the actual is generally given to one man. He is Dexter P. Cooper, brother of Colonel Hugh Cooper, chief of construction of the Muscle Shoals development, an engineer who has done important work in Russia. Born in Minnesota, widely traveled, Dexter Cooper has spent his summers at Campobello Island since 1919, where he has been a neighbor and friend of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. For upwards of a decade he devoted his time and his fortune to promoting the tidal control project, which, he believes, will lead to creating in Northern Maine one of the great industrial areas of the nation.

When Ralph O. Brewster, now a Representative in Congress, was Governor of Maine, the Legislature, in [illegible] granted a charter to Dexter P. Cooper Incorporated, to undertake the tidal development project, and to engage in manufacturing through the use of power thereby generated. Lack of proper financial backing prevented Cooper from making his Quoddy experiment through private initiative. Then followed a series of efforts to interest the Federal Government in the project. The Quoddy backers were turned down when they sought a slice of the first $3,300,000,000 PWA fund. Both the Federal Power Commission and the Engineering Division of the PWA rejected the project for economic reasons. The PWA Board of Review, for example, declared that "Quoddy power is not cheap power," and pointed out that it could not be sold in the metropolitan area of Boston "because of the prohibitive cost of transmission."

Nothing daunted, the Quoddy backers redoubled their efforts, both through the Maine delegation in Congress and outside. Heartened by a letter which President Roosevelt wrote to Governor Louis J. Brann of Maine under date of July 1, 1934, they labored assiduously all winter. In the letter, Mr. Roosevelt said: "It has been my hope that eventually the State of Maine would become not only a great industrial center of the nation, but that its agricultural population would be among the first to enjoy the manifest advantages of cheap electrical power on the farm as well." Soon afterward Governor Brann appointed a commission of five members, headed by President C. M. Sills of Bowdoin College. In its report, made public a few weeks ago, the commission indorsed the tidal control project, and outlined, in glowing terms, economic and other advantages that would accrue to Maine from its completion.

It was a gala day for the down-easters when the Advisory Committee on Allotments, on May 16, with the approval of President Roosevelt, voted $10,000,000 from work relief funds for the first year's developments of the Eastport project. Though the present proposal differs in some respects from the larger $47,000,000 private project, which PWA previously had rejected, the differences are comparatively unimportant. The major purpose is the same—the harnessing of the tides of the Bay of Fundy to develop cheap hydro-electric energy. It is planned ultimately to develop 200,000 horsepower. "The project has been found to be socially desirable and engineeringly sound," declared the Allotment Committee in its official announcement.

Present plans call for the utilization of the tidal range of a normal average tide of 18 feet in Cobscook Bay, near Eastport, on the extreme northeast corner of the United States. This bay will be made the controlled basin; or lower pool of the project, through the construction of five rock-earth dams, a navigation lock and a set of emptying gates across its outlets to the ocean. There will be a gigantic power house capable of an initial capacity of 166,670 kilo volt amperes. It will be so constructed as to permit easy expansion, as occasion may demand, to 366,674 kilo volt amperes.

A power storage plant will complete the project. This will consist of a reservoir of ample storage capacity, located at an elevation of approximately 130 feet above sea level, south of Cobscook Bay. The excess, or surplus, electrical energy will be used to pump water into this reservoir.

IN THAT way electrical energy will thus be converted into potential hydraulic energy. During periods of low tides, this stored energy will be converted back to electrical energy to provide the source of firm power for the whole installation and thus prevent any break in the flow of current through Northeastern Maine.

Let former Governor Brewster, an authority on the subject, explain how this engineering feat should operate. "The upper bay is filled at high tide, when the water level is up, perhaps, 30 feet. It then runs through the dam to the lower basin, which is at the level of the lower tide. Meanwhile, a great storage reservoir to take care of mid-tide is located some miles away, where the water is pumped 130 feet above sea level. It then flows down to take care of the period when the tides are just at mid. All of these features make it a thing of great engineering interest, and will undoubtedly attract world-wide attention, not only during the course of its construction, but in its operation."

The project will necessitate the removal of 2,500,000 cubic yards of rock, 9,000,000 cubic yards of earth, and the placement of 700,000 cubic yards of cement. It should provide work for many thousand employables now on the relief rolls.

Several engineering problems involved are of outstanding difficulty. The emptying gates, which control the water level in the Cobscook pool, must be constructed to exhaust water with great speed during short periods of time. Model tests seem to indicate that a gate, in shape similar to a venturi tube, will be satisfactory. These gates and the navigation lock will require a coffer dam 70 feet in depth, capable of withstanding a maximum of 20 feet tidal range and ocean storms. Three of the rock dams will be placed in water in excess of 100 feet in depth, and thus subject to great velocities due to tide fluctuations.

One dam, four miles in length, will divide Cobscook Bay into an upper and lower pool. Another dam, with hinged gates, will separate the lower pool from the outer bay, keeping out the tides and maintaining the lower pool at low tide level. Another dam will separate the upper pool from the outer bay. To fill the pool, its gates will be opened at the crest of each incoming tide; and thereafter will be closed to keep it at high tide level. The difference in levels between the two pools, which runs on an average about 18 feet, will provide the head of power. Through turbine generators in the middle dam, water will flow continuously from the upper to the lower pool.

Army engineers are confident that they can find solutions for the technical and engineering problems presented by the project. Major Philip B. Fleming of the United States Army has been assigned as engineer in charge of the Passamaquoddy project. A graduate of West Point in the class of 1911, Fleming is rated as one of the ablest men in the corps that built the Panama Canal, and successfully completed a score of other difficult engineering assignments. As acting Deputy PWA Administrator under Secretary Ickes, Fleming has made several inspection trips to the site of the proposed development. He knows thoroughly the engineering problems facing him.

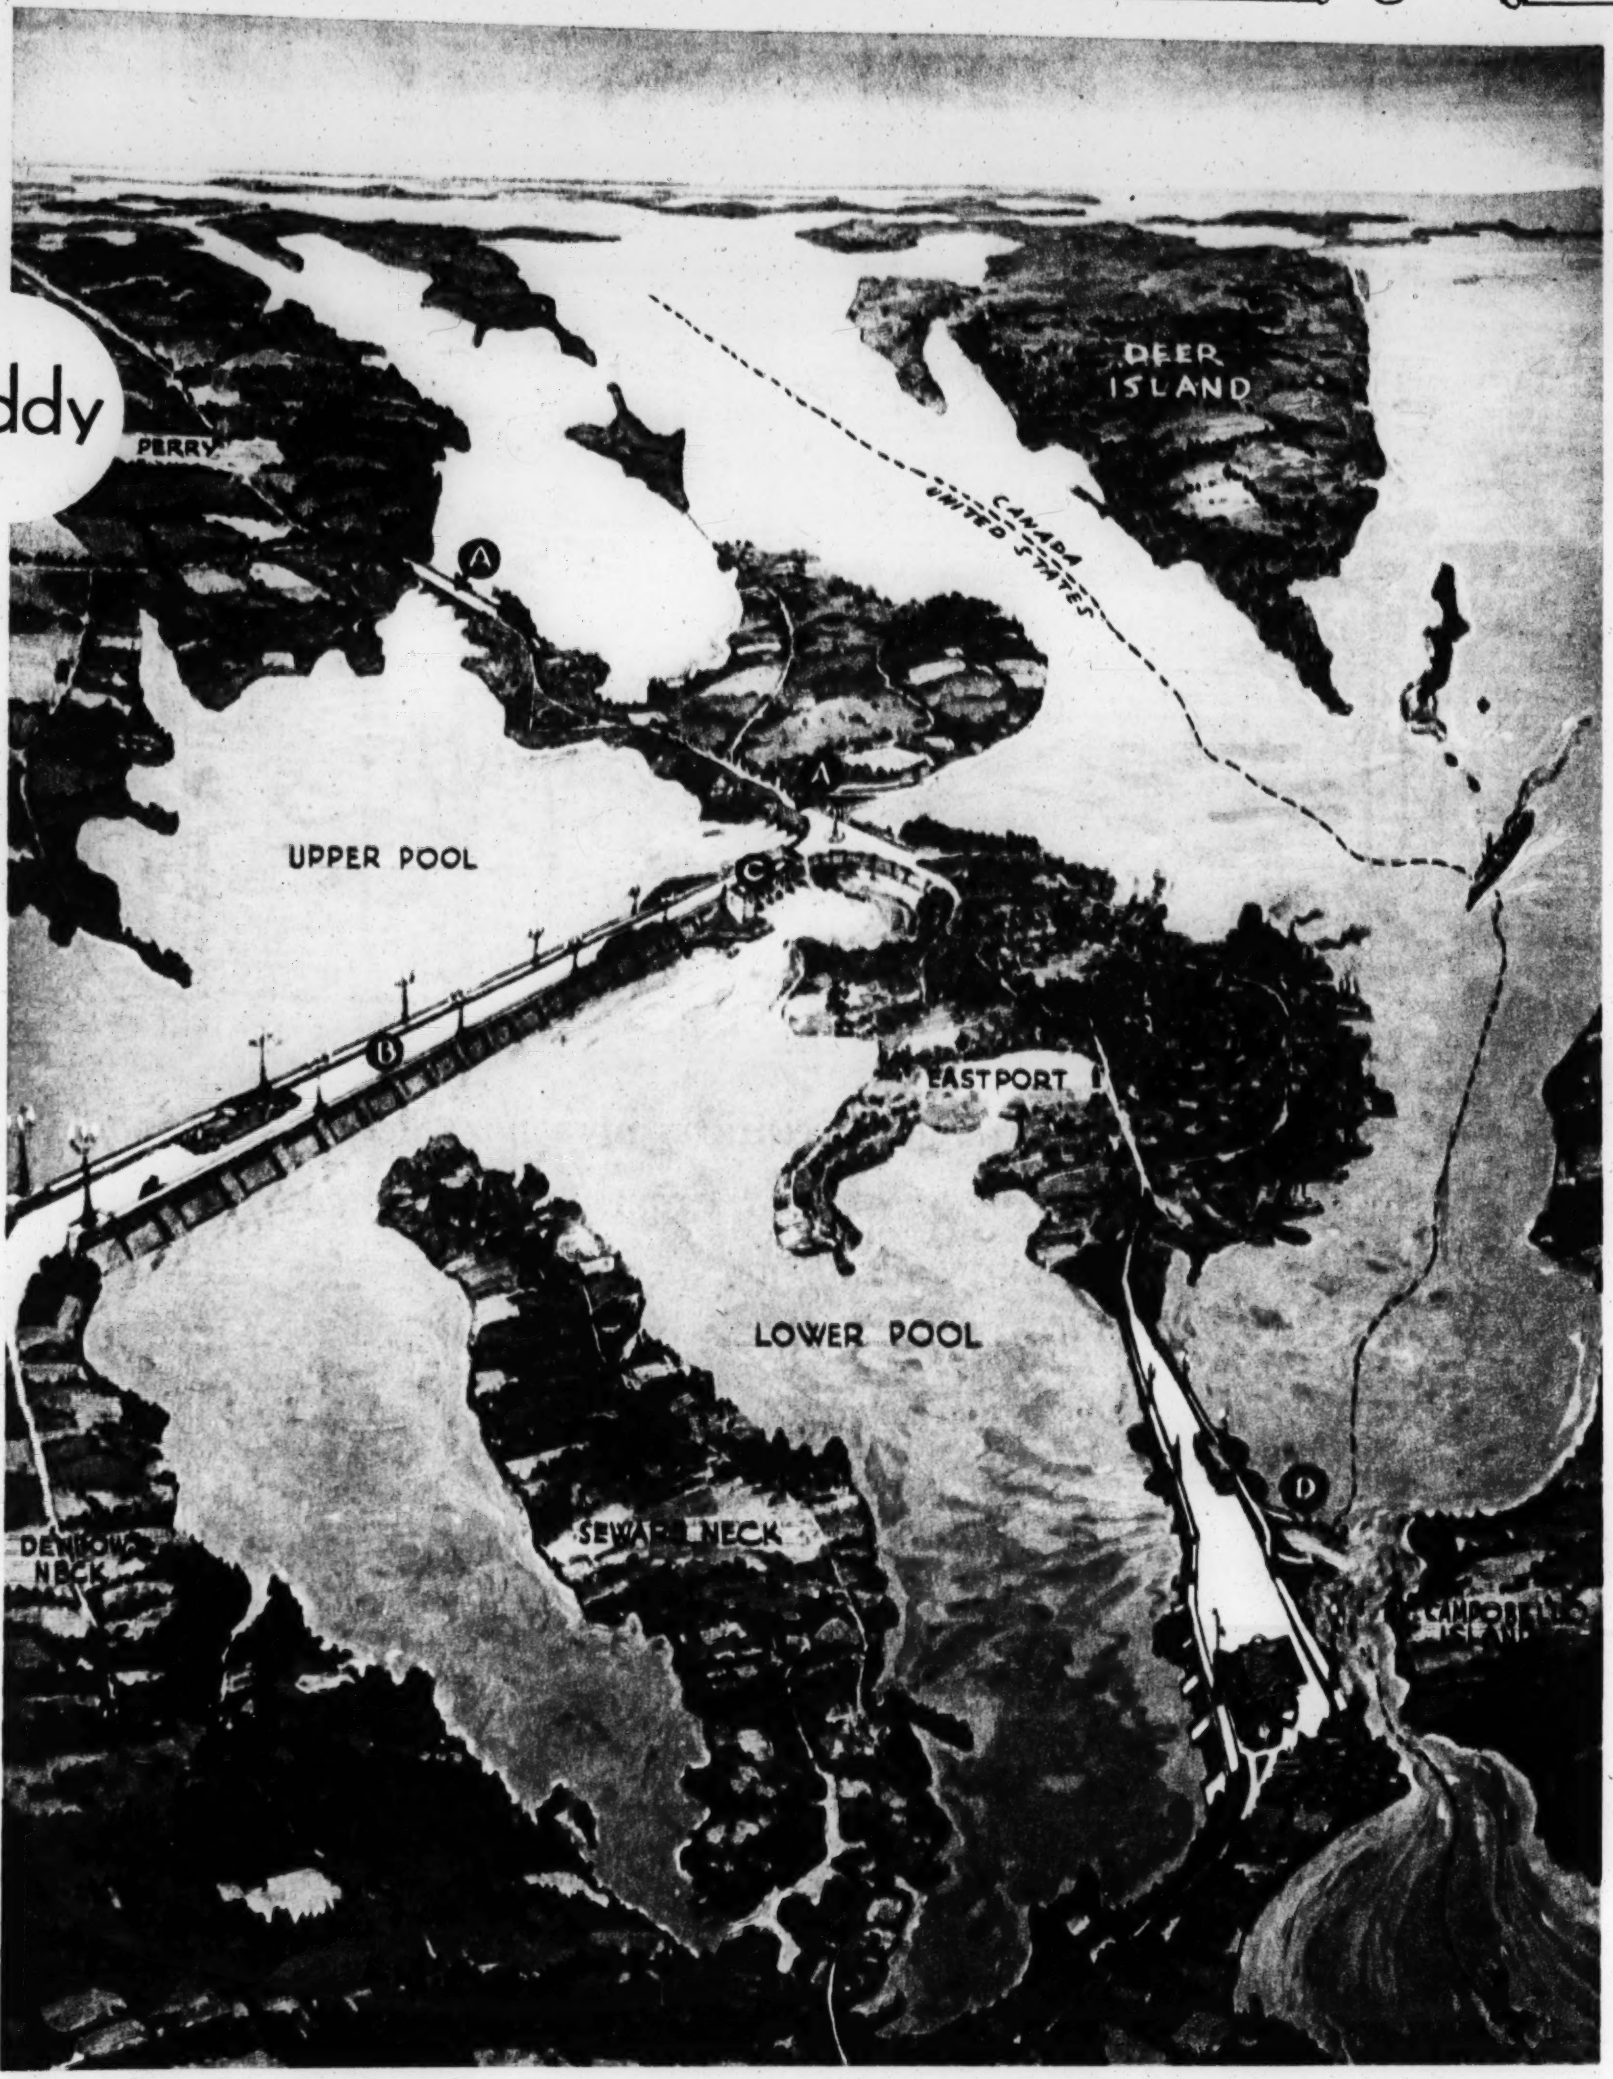
BUT is there a market nearby for the vast power hidden in the Bay of Fundy that 30 months hence army engineers expect to have ready for release? Even the most enthusiastic backers of the Quoddy project give a negative answer.

Moreover, the critics of the project declare that the Government has no moral right to tax the whole county on the bare chance that Northern Maine can be industrialized. And other critics even go so far as to contend that the Quoddy project is a political manipulation; one designed to bring Maine into the Democratic column in the next election. Even so, plans have been outlined for turning this section into an "American Ruhr."

These plans were prepared under the direction of the Quoddy Hydro Electric Commission. A copy of this report was on President Roosevelt's desk before he approved the initial allotment of $10,000,000. Raw materials, the report points out, exist in Maine in sufficient quantity and variety to supply many industries. These raw materials include limestone, arsenic, silver, lead, zinc and copper, peat, magnesia and forest resources.

Their availability, plus cheap electric power, says the commission, offers possibilities for the building up of great industries—aluminum, electro-chemical, fertilizer and the various alloys known as "stainless steel"—and it cites a mass of figures. "From past experience," it comments, "whenever water power has been developed, or electric power has been available at low prices, industries have followed."

The Quoddy project, as it now stands, will be owned and operated by the Federal Government. Legislation proposed in Maine, but not yet approved, seeks to have the project transferred to the State.



Sketch of the Quoddy power project to "harness the tide" by maintaining high tide levels in a power reservoir, shown here as the upper pool. Low tide levels are maintained in the lower pool. The difference, a drop of 18 feet, will be utilized to drive turbine electric generators at C in the four-mile-long power dam, B, separating the two pools. Inlets A, will be open at high tide to keep the upper pool up to the 18-foot head. Outlet, D, will be opened at low tide to empty the low pool.

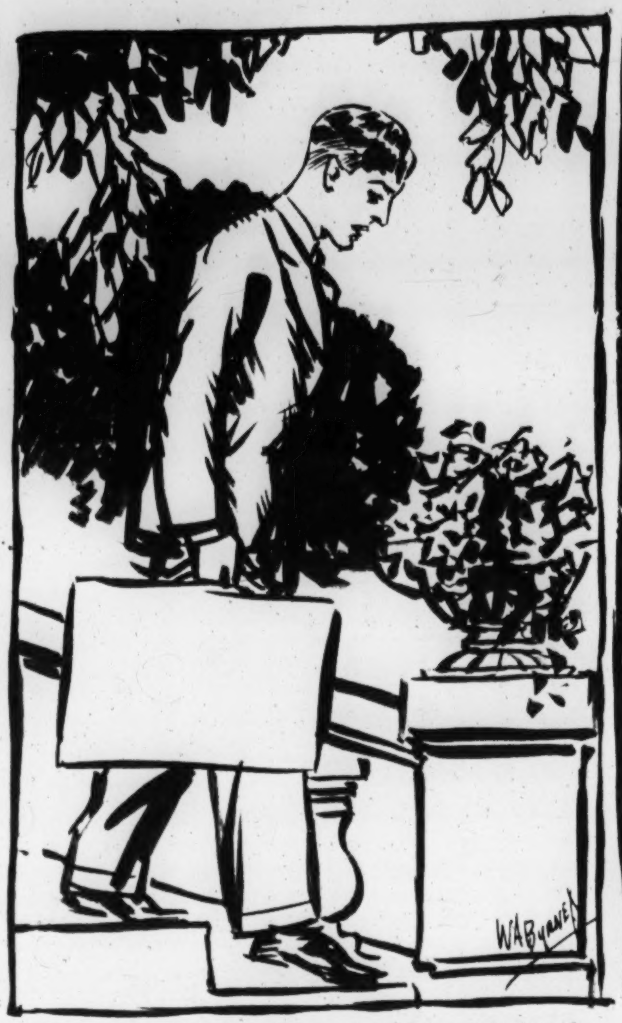
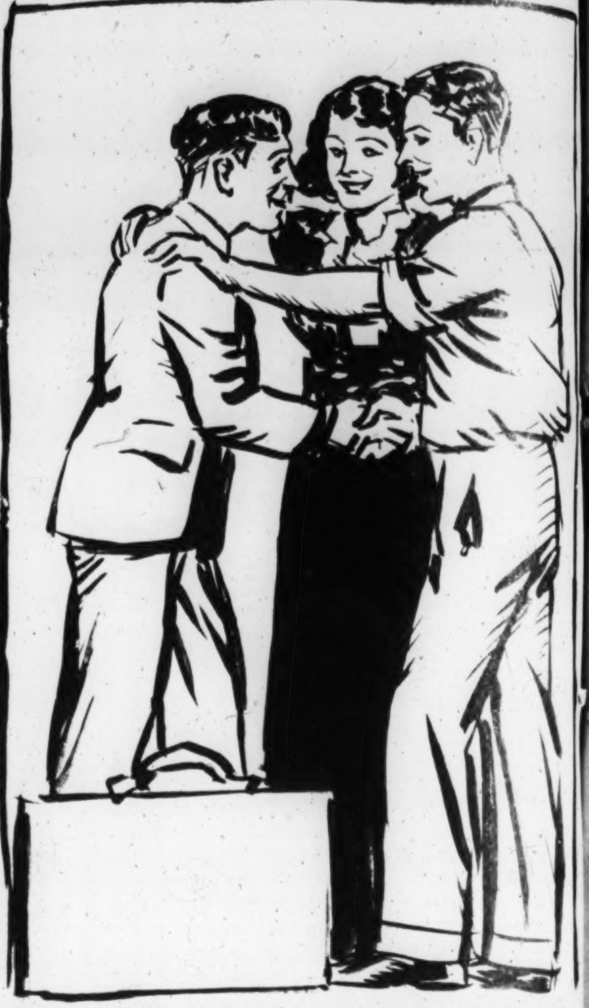
He was adopted temporarily by a rich man as a substitute for his own son and lived the life of a rich boy.



But he didn't please his rich protectors and went back to the orphanage.



Only to be put in touch with his real brothers and sisters from whom he had been separated since childhood.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

Peter Christopoulos.

YOUNG Peter Christopoulos doesn't feel bad any more about his spectacular failure as a substitute son. He realizes what he missed, of course; understands that it isn't every day an unknown orphan has a chance to become a member of a wealthy family, live in luxury and enter the business world with influential backing. It wasn't pleasant to give all that up, to be rejected, cast back into obscurity, after a taste of affluence. But there are no more regrets for Peter over what might have been. He thinks now he has found something better.

Peter's career as an orphan has been one of startling contrasts. It began in 1921. On a bleak January afternoon of that year a sad and troubled man with a band of crepe around a sleeve rang the bell of St. James' Orphanage in Omaha, Nebraska. He clutched two small children by the hand. He explained to a nun that a week before, his bride of a year had died, leaving five children by a former marriage. The name of her previous husband was Christopoulos.

Two of the children—John and Michael—he had placed, he said, in Father Flanagan's Home for Older Boys in Omaha. Some friends had agreed to care for a third child, Estelle. But no one would take the two youngest whom he had with him—Mary, 3 years old, and Peter, a year and a half. He wanted to leave them at the orphanage temporarily. They were admitted.

Years passed. Peter's stepfather never returned, and gradually all memory of his life before his mother's death faded from the boy's mind.

In due time, he graduated to Father Flanagan's Home. His two brothers, whom he had long ago forgotten, had gone to Chicago to seek their fortune, and those left at the home who could have told him about them observed the silence maintained in such matters.

When Peter was 13 there began the chain of circumstances which was to change the course of his life. His picture was published on the cover of a Catholic magazine, and the magazine came into the hands of Jean Strengs, a wealthy silk dyer of Paterson, New Jersey.

At sight of it the silk dyer started with surprise. It seemed, he explained later, that smiling up at him from the magazine cover was his own son, Henry—Henry who had gone to his death the year before when his iceboat crashed through the frozen surface of a lake.

Strengs showed Peter's picture to his wife. She, too, was startled by the resemblance. So was Jeanne, his fair-haired, 13-year-old daughter. And as they studied it, an idea took root in their minds: Why couldn't this unknown lad who so closely resembled their own beloved Henry, take the dead boy's place in their family family circle?

Peter knew that he was going East "on approval." If at the end of three months he seemed qualified to pick up life where Henry had laid it down, the Strengses were to adopt him legally, and as their son he was to attend high school in Paterson, preparatory to specializing in chemistry and entering their silk-dyeing business. If he didn't qualify, of course, he'd go back to the orphanage.

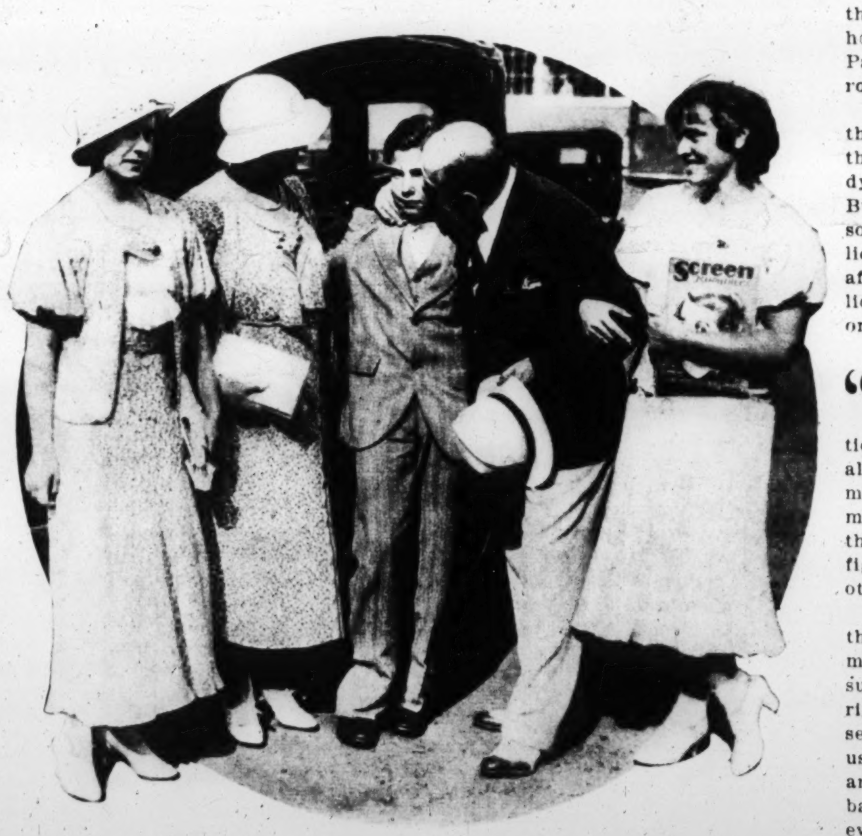
But none of the group of newspaper reporters and cameramen at the station in Newark that bright July morning in 1933 thought there would be a round trip for the handsome 13-year-old boy with the well-brushed brown hair and blue eyes who alighted from the train from the West.

CERTAINLY there was no lack of warmth in the welcome his foster parents gave him. Mrs. Strengs embraced and kissed him, crying tenderly, "Hello, Sonny!" Jeanne, only a week Peter's senior, also kissed him. So did Strengs himself. It was an impressive demonstration.

Patting the boy briskly on the head, the manufacturer boomed in a voice that all could hear: "Peter shall have everything my own boy would have had."

During the days that followed it seemed that the orphan had, indeed, fallen into a vacant niche in the life of the wealthy family. Peter inherited Henry's room. He succeeded to his chum. And when the family, a day or so later, set off for their summer camp at Lake Hopatcong, he fell heir to the dead youth's vacation routine. He seemed to fit into his new life perfectly.

In new slacks and yachting cap, the orphan whiled away hours, speed-boating around the sunny lake with his attractive foster sister. Together they swam and hiked and went on picnics. So naturally did he seem to slip into his new role that newspapers, eagerly following his movements, reported: "Peter takes to life as a rich man's son as if he'd been born to it."



Peter being greeted by the Strengs family at Newark. His lack of demonstrativeness, so plainly shown in the photograph, was the cause of his being "sent back" by the Strengses.

But discord was brewing—discord arising from that unaccountable force, temperament. There was, it soon became evident, a conflict of temperaments in the Strengs household.

The Strengses, natives of France, were inclined to impulsiveness in action and effusiveness in affection. Peter, on the other hand, was a shy, inarticulate, emotionally undeveloped adolescent who, until he arrived at Newark, could have counted on the fingers of one hand the times he had been fondled. So it was inevitable that between him and his new family there should arise difficulties due to the difference of their emotional equipment.

This psychological antagonism first flared when Peter objected to being "pawed over" by the affectionate Jeanne, and was kept burning through his failure to return the hugs and kisses of his foster mother and father. Such coldness the Strengses attributed to sullenness rather than self-consciousness, and suggested that the glowing stories Peter had been reading about himself had gone to his head. And they added ingratitude to their invoice of his shortcomings when he went to a newspaper office in Paterson and applied for a paper route.

Peter said he "wanted to get something to do while he went to school"; that he didn't realize the wealthy silk dyer's son "couldn't be a newsboy." But Strengs insisted that what he sought was not a job but more publicity. At any rate, it was shortly after that episode that the widely publicized orphan was sent back to the orphanage in Omaha.

"I WANTED the Strengses to like me," says Peter. "I tried my best, but I guess I wasn't affectionate enough. Henry, they said, always had a kiss or hug for his mother and father. And they wanted me to be just like Henry. Because they thought I looked like him, they figured I should be like him in every other way.

"The first afternoon I was there, they brought around a boy and told me, 'This is Henry's chum,' and I was supposed to get friendly with him right away. When I didn't, they seemed disappointed. At meals they usually had what Henry had liked, and if I didn't care for it, they felt bad. It was that way about most everything.

"Maybe if I'd been more used to a home or they'd given me a little more time, I'd have made out better. I realized all along what a wonderful chance they were giving me, but"—the lad who'd had so little to be grateful for in life that he'd never acquired a technique of thanking, sighed wistfully—"I guess I didn't know how to show I appreciated it."

Peter's return to the orphanage stirred people throughout the country. Some considered it the refinement of cruelty to have allowed him to sample the luxuries of life, then snatch them away from him. Others thought that if he was unfitted for his new life it was kindness to return him to his old one as soon as possible.

Among the people who followed in the newspapers the course of Peter's fortunes were two young men and a young woman in Chicago who took a keen and very special interest in what happened to the orphan. They were John, Michael and Estelle, older brothers and sister of Peter. John, 24 years old, sold newspapers. Michael, 22, worked as shipping clerk for Marshall Field & Co. Estelle, 20, kept house for them and her husband.

In their modest four-room apartment on Chicago's unfashionable West Side they had read of the orphan's being taken into the Strengs family with a prospect of adoption. "Just think," said Michael, "that's our brother."

"And we never knew before where he was," Estelle chimed in. "Seeing how pretty he's sitting now, maybe it's just as well."

WHILE Peter was "sitting pretty" they let it go at that. But when they read that the great opportunity was over and Peter was being returned to the orphanage they decided to enter the picture. When vacation time came last summer Mike boarded a bus and set out for Omaha to bring his young brother back into the family—his own family.

"I'll never forget the feeling I had," says Peter, "when they sent out to the playing field for me, and said my brother was there to see me. I figured at first that they were kidding me, but the minute I went into the room where Mike was waiting I knew better. Gee, we looked so much alike I thought I was seeing myself.

"After growing up believing you haven't anybody, you can imagine, I guess, what it's like to suddenly find you have brothers and sisters like other kids. I can't describe the sensation. I only know I was tickled to death one minute and scared stiff the next.

"Mike and I clicked from the first. And he told me I'd find it the same way with John and Stella.

"But Mike said that he couldn't speak for my sister Mary, because she was living out in Dakota with the people who had taken her in as a baby."

Any misgivings Peter had were speedily dispelled a few weeks later when a bus from Omaha set him down in Chicago.

True, no flare of photographers' flashlights or quizzing reporters accented the importance of his arrival.

But the brothers and sister waiting for him at the bus depot left him no doubt of his welcome. And in the snug little flat to which they took him he soon found himself at ease, "fitting in," happy as he never had been in the home where he failed to "qualify" as a rich man's son. "The Strengses sure had a swell place," says Peter now, "what with a speedboat and everything. But I wouldn't trade my present home for it, not for a million dollars, for here I'm with my own folks."

How Anti-Semitism Resulted in a Flourishing Jewish Theater in Germany

BERLIN.

IN NAZI Germany the Jewish theater is flourishing as never before. It has risen like a Phoenix from the ashes of blighted ambitions and dead hopes. As part of the anti-Semitic program of the Hitler Government, Jews and Jewish influences were ousted from the German stage. Virtually as a matter of self-preservation, then, the ousted ones banded together into a theatrical organization of their own. With the permission of the Government the Kulturbund, or Jewish Culture League, was formed—an enterprise in which the entertainment is furnished by and for Jews. From its beginning in Berlin this true Jewish theater has spread to other principal cities of the Reich. It is on a sound financial basis, it is enriching the cultural life of its members and its fame has so grown that many people who are excluded by Government regulation from attending its performances try vainly to buy their way in.

The Berliner Theater on Charlotten strasse, the former seat of Max Reinhardt's productions, is the home of the Kulturbund. And one of the founders and leaders of the cultural movement is Dr. Kurt Singer, a short man with a wide forehead and piercing eyes who used to be superintendent of the Berlin Municipal Opera House. Dr. Singer the other day gave an account of the origin and development of the Jewish theater here—after governmental permission had been obtained to give out the information.

Hans Hinkel, State Commissioner of Culture, the Nazi official under whose supervision the Jewish theater operates, explained that Kulturbund leaders were not allowed to give interviews without official sanction. And he arranged for Dr. Singer to tell his story in the Commissioner's presence.

"Not," Hinkel said, "that I want to censor the interview. It is merely that I want to protect Kulturbund leaders from telling things that would react badly for them later on; it is for their own protection."

"The purpose of the Kulturbund," Dr. Singer began, "is to give employment to ousted Jewish actors, singers, dancers and musicians, and to afford entertainment to thousands of Jews, giving them forgetfulness for a few hours at least of Aryan hostility and allowing them to bathe in their own learning and culture, both ancient and modern. We have still another purpose in mind, an artistic one: to wed the arts of drama, music and dance into one theater, one stage."

In the spring of 1933, Dr. Singer went on, Jewish talent was being cast out of the cultural life of Germany. Some of the luckier artists found work abroad, but the majority had to stay at home and get along the best they could, many facing destitution. Four of those who were dispossessed of their jobs put their heads together in June of 1933 and worked out a plan to remedy the situation. They were Dr. Singer, Dr. Werner Levie, a journalist on the now extinct Vossische Zeitung; Julius Bab, a playwright, and Kurt Baumann, formerly of the Berlin Municipal Opera House, who has appeared in New York. The plan they devised was the formation of the Kulturbund.

The four men presented the project to Commissioner Hinkel, and after some delay permission was granted for the organization. A condition made by the official was that no "Aryans" were to be admitted to membership in the league or to any of its performances.

Starting without a penny of capital, the pioneers quickly aroused interest in the league, and within three months had recruited a membership of 10,000 Jewish men and women.

That was in Berlin. In a short time Kulturbunds began to spring up in other German cities, such as Frankfurt, Cologne, Breslau, Koenigsberg, Rostock, Osnabruck and Hanover. There are some 60,000 persons now enrolled as Kulturbund members, and their theaters are oases of dramatic and musical art.

In Berlin 20,000 Jewish men, women and children, members of the Kulturbund, attend its performances regularly. Membership is open to any resident Jew or Jewess in Berlin and its suburbs and also to the Aryan mate of a Jew or Jewess. At first Aryan mates were not eligible for membership, but later this restriction was removed in order to maintain the unity of the family in its excursions to the theater.

Each member pays a monthly fee of 2.50 marks, which entitles him to one full-length play, one full-length opera and one evening of light entertainment during the month. He is also entitled to attend one lecture a month. Lectures are given in the fields of literature, music, art and religion by leading authorities, with special emphasis on Jewish achievement in each field. There is no political discussion, for obvious reasons.

After paying his dues, the member receives a membership card, which is much like a passport, with photograph and description, so that it may not be transferred to an Aryan by chance. At the evening of the performance the member calls at the box office, where he picks his seat by lottery from a basket. If he is lucky, he gets the best seat in the house; if not, he may have to sit in the gallery. Usually, the seats come in pairs, so that a husband and wife may sit together, but if a husband should decide to bring his wife and his mother as well, one of the three is obliged to sit apart. Before entering the theater, each member is scrutinized by a Nazi guard stationed there to keep Aryans out, and the photograph is carefully compared with the bearer, to make sure that both are one. A person who tries to enter on another's "passport" quickly finds himself in trouble.

There is some temptation for non-Jews to try to "crash the gate," for the regular German theaters are not, in the opinion of critics, what they used to be, whereas the Kulturbund performances are considered of high quality. There is a good deal of talk to be heard in Berlin of how Herr So-and-so or Frau This-and-that offered as much as 50 marks ($20) for a ticket to one of the Jewish performances, but couldn't buy it because they were Aryans, and even if tickets were sold to such persons there would still be the problem for the purchasers of getting past the Nazi guard, whose enforcement of the rule against attendance by non-Jews keeps these Germans from being exposed to Jewish influences and also prevents the Kulturbund from competing with the German stage.

The personnel of the Berlin Kulturbund totals 220 actors, singers, dancers, stage hands, musicians, etc. The orchestra alone numbers 40 musicians of high rank, under the batons of Joseph Rosenstock, former musical director of the Mannheim Opera House, and Michael Taube, whose little orchestra, giving concerts of eighteenth century music, was long a familiar figure of Berlin's musical life.

The company includes Fritz Wisten of the State Theater in Stuttgart; Lilly Kann, formerly of the Frankfurt State Theater; Fritzi Jokl, former coloratura soprano of the Municipal Opera House in Munich; Marcel Noe, leading tenor of the State Opera House in Berlin; Walter Olitzki, baritone, formerly of the opera house in Koenigsberg; Kurt Katsch of the Frankfurt State Theater, and many other stars who came from the best theaters and opera houses throughout the Reich. Each Kulturbund production is almost an all-star performance.

SO FAR Lessing's "Nathan the Wise," Stefan Zweig's "Jeremiah," Beethoven's "Fidelio," Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and Shakespeare's "Othello" have been produced.

Dr. Singer, who is the managing director of the Berlin Kulturbund, has inaugurated a children's experimental theater, and once a month children's plays are performed by children for children.

The children are sometimes given only an outline of the action and are left to improvise their own lines. In this way their imagination is given full play and an opportunity to develop itself.

Only plays and operas of artistic merit are produced. But their selection is governed by Commissioner Hinkel. Before a piece can be produced it must have been gone over and approved by the official, who tries thus to make sure that nothing is put on which would meet severe disapproval from his superiors.

It was announced recently that this summer the Government plans to raze the Berliner Theater, which it leases to the Kulturbund, and erect garages on its site.

As there are many other theaters which need razing, the fact that the Government has chosen this one for destruction is interpreted by some of its supporters as a Nazi blow at the movement, inspired by fear that the Kulturbund is eclipsing the German theater.

But the impending loss of its theater seems not to be troubling the Berlin Kulturbund. It already has received a number of offers of other theaters, whose owners want a tenant—even a Jewish tenant—who can attract full houses and pay his rent.

THE WOMAN WHO STILL CLAIMS SHE IS THE EX-CZAR'S DAUGHTER

Why a New York Judge Must Decide That Anastasia Tchaikovsky's Claims Upon a Royal Fortune Are True or Untrue.

By JACK ALEXANDER

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine

NEW YORK.

THE SURROGATE'S Court of New York County, which settles many of the world's strangest questions in family relationship (legally, at least), will be faced soon with the duty of deciding whether the whole Russian royal family was executed in a dark Siberian cellar 17 years ago, or whether one of the tragic group escaped. Upon the judgment of one of the Tammany Surrogates, who love a weighty case of this kind, will depend the disposition of a fortune estimated at from $10,000,000 to $100,000,000.

The fortune is the pin money the last Czar cached in the world's financial centers against a possible revolution and exile, for which the warning came too late. There are three sets of claimants to it—the Soviet Government, 32 relatives of the late Nicholas II and Mme. Anastasia Tchaikovsky, who claims to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia, youngest of the Czar's daughters. If Mme. Tchaikovsky can prove her assertion, the Reds and the 32 relatives are out in the cold. Much of the hoard is hidden in the vaults of New York banks. The rest is stowed away somewhere in London, Paris and Berlin.

By formally asking Public Administrator James F. Egan to sequester the portion of the fund concealed in New York, Mme. Tchaikovsky recently brought once more to public attention the sensational claim she made first in 1920. It has popped up in the foreign and domestic dispatches intermittently ever since. Most of those who knew the Czar's family intimately have rejected her claim but some have stuck by her. Society women in New York and Boston have espoused her cause but are touchy when asked to comment on the subject.

A photograph of the ex-Czar and Czarina taken at Ekaterinberg, where they were executed. It is thought to be the last ever made of them.

Her lawyer, Edward H. Fallows, declares, after spending six years of investigation in Europe, that she is undeniably the Grand Duchess and that he is prepared to present irrefutable evidence to prove it. Others say that, far from being of royal blood, she is simply Franziska Schanzkowski, daughter of an humble Polish farmer. Around the dim lit tables of New York's Russian restaurants, the mention of the controversy is enough to start a heated argument among exiled Royalists who pass their days moodily sipping borsch and dreaming of the old era.

Few care a hang around Union Square, where the royal family is just a dead symbol.

No one now doubts that the royal family of Russia faced a firing squad of 12 soldiers in a basement in Ekaterinberg on the night of July 17, 1918, and that, as the bullets of the executioners splattered into them, the pitiful figures slid to the dirty floor.

And until Mme. Tchaikovsky came along, no one doubted that the broken corpses were soaked with kerosene and burned.

The claimant's story is that she (conceding that she is the Grand Duchess Anastasia) was wounded twice; that she fainted from the shock and fell and that one of the firing squad bashed in her jaw with his rifle butt; that Alexander Tchaikovsky, another of the official killers, felt sorry for her and spirited her bleeding form from the charnel chamber by covering it with a sack and sneaking it out in the confusion; that he nursed her and transported her across the steppes in a peasant cart to the Rumanian border.

She declares that out of a mixture of gratitude and love she married her rescuer and bore him a child, whose whereabouts is surrounded with the greatest secrecy. When Tchaikovsky was killed in a Bucharest riot, her story goes, she made her way painfully to Berlin, living on crusts.

The Berlin police take up the story, as of February, 1920. At that time, they fished from the Spree river the limp figure of Mme. Tchaikovsky, who had jumped in to put an end to her overpowering troubles. An ambulance conveyed her to the Elizabeth Charity Hospital where she insisted she was the Grand Duchess Anastasia.

THIS was the first time the claim had been broached and, according to the school which holds to a theory of unconscious fraud; the shock of the cold plunge was the cause of the delusion. To the internes who fed her hot tea the weird assertion was plain evidence of insanity, so they shipped her off to an asylum. Here she spent two years and won her discharge as cured. A Baron von Kleist took her into his home but in a short while she was back in the Elizabeth Hospital suffering from tuberculosis. Then the world began to take notice of her strange claim to royal blood.

The Crown Princess Cecelie of Prussia came to see her and offered sympathy. The Czar's sister, Grand Duchess Olga, who had known the real Anastasia as a child, came, saw and went away undecided. Three years later the Grand Duchess issued a statement declaring that she "had found no resemblance in looks, voice or personality."

Mme. Tchaikovsky's first visit to the United States in 1928 was the occasion for much society excitement. Her visit was sponsored by no less a social light than Mrs. William B. Leeds, of the tin plate fortune, who was Princess Xenia of Greece, a daughter of Grand Duke Mikhailovitch, of Russia, and hence first cousin to the real Anastasia.

Mrs. Leeds always ducked questions about whether she believed the visitor to be Anastasia but once her husband said. "I have no doubt at all, and Mrs. Leeds has no doubt, that Mme. Tchaikovsky is the Grand Duchess Anastasia. But I cannot prove it. Even if we're wrong, the poor girl is entitled to a fair break.

"In the past I met and associated with many of Mrs. Leeds' Russian relatives and I must say that Mme. Tchaikovsky displays many of their characteristic traits. They are manifested to us in such a way as to lead us both to believe in her authenticity."

After summering at the Leeds estate at Cold Spring Harbor, Mme. Tchaikovsky was taken up by the Boston social set. Several years later she went back abroad.

BEHIND, she left factions which asserted that she did (or did not) strikingly resemble Anastasia and another which held that, although she did not, she might have, except for the battering she underwent in Ekaterinberg and in her subsequent trials.

Among those who most stanchly defend her claim is Gleb E. Botkin, an employe of a New York cotton firm. Botkin, the son of Dr. Eugene Botkin, the Czar's personal physician, is positive that she is right. His father was slaughtered in the basement mass assassination.

But Aaron Simanovitch, one-time secretary to the mad monk Rasputin and former jeweler to the Czar, will be present in court to declare Mme. Tchaikovsky an impostor. He bases his assertion partly upon a piece of metal, which with bone fragments and other fragmentary remains hoarded by Royalists in Paris, was picked up in Ekaterinberg. It is a gold medallion bearing a likeness of Rasputin on one side and the name Anastasia on the other.

According to Simanovitch, the Czarina ordered medallions of Rasputin made for each of her children after the strange monkish figure had been killed. Each bore the enamel likeness of Rasputin and the name of the wearer.

"Everybody knows now that the bones of the royal family were found in a charred heap in Siberia," Simanovitch said recently. "In the ashes were some trinkets. These were brought to me for identification. I recognized immediately the medallions I had made and I looked on the back of each for the name of its owner. Anastasia's was among them. She died in front of that execution squad and her body was burned."

Simanovitch declared that he had seen Mme. Tchaikovsky in the Berlin sanitarium in 1921 and again in a Paris restaurant just eight months ago.

"I didn't recognize her as Anastasia when I saw her in Berlin, although I had last seen the real Anastasia in February, 1917, only four years before," Simanovitch said. "I thought this might be understandable because of the experiences she must have undergone, so I spoke to her in Russian. She didn't understand the language. I wrote out a few words for her, but she couldn't read Russian, either. Then I showed her some pictures.

"I showed her one of Rasputin. She thought he was a rabbi. I showed her a picture of the Czar. She said he looked like a military officer. I asked her questions about intimate details of the royal family's life and she knew none of them. Anastasia is dead beyond any doubt. N. A. Sokolov, the official investigator, proved it. He is the one who brought the medallions to me."

Another scoffer at Mme. Tchaikovsky is Pierre Gilliard, who tutored the Czar's children. He once stated: "In the history of all great impostures, one always finds a very characteristic psychology. It seems to cast over the personality of the impostor the magical charm which fascinates those who allow themselves to be taken in.

"INDEED, one cannot help but admire the extraordinary force of this little peasant who, during all these years, has hardly let slip one word that could reveal her true identity and who has played with incomparable mastery the difficult role she has assumed."

The temporary grave of the Romanoff family—an abandoned mine shaft at Ekaterinberg.

Yet how fit this into the imposture theory?—in 1927 customs agents in Milwaukee seized a pair of earrings in the home of William J. Schmidt, a musician. These earrings were established as Russian royal family gems.

"I was walking along a street in Berlin in 1922," related Schmidt, "when a ragged-looking stranger approached me and started a conversation. He told me I looked like a wealthy American and asked if I would like to buy some jewelry from a lady who was desperately in need of funds.

"I told him that if the stuff were genuine and the price not too high I might buy. He then made the arrangements. My daughter, who was traveling with me, was quite taken with the earrings and I bought them. I remember the price ran into millions of marks, due to the absurd rate of exchange. It was really very little in American money."

The woman so desperately in need of funds, Schmidt said, was registered in a sanitarium as Anastasia Tchaikovsky.

SKETCHES FROM LIFE

High Lights on Unusual Personalities

CLIFFORD ODETS
GERTRUDE W. HOFFMANN
PRAJADHIPOK

A Former St. Louisan Who Began An Acting Career at 57

HOLLYWOOD.

LIFE didn't really begin at 57 for Mrs. Ralph Hoffmann, widow of a former head master of the Country Day School in St. Louis County. She had had 38 years of a wonderfully full married life before she reached that age. Her children were grown and attaining importance in one way or another. One son is the United States Vice-Consul at Wellington, New Zealand. A daughter is married to Arthur Bliss, the well known English composer who wrote the fanfares for King George's Silver Jubilee. Her husband, after giving up his post in St. Louis, was called to Santa Barbara 16 years ago to assume charge of the then small Museum of Natural History in that California city of retired millionaires. Together Mr. and Mrs. Hoffmann built it up to one of the most famous institutions of its kind in America. And they were part of the social life of Santa Barbara. With no desire ever, not even as a child, to go upon the professional stage—although her sister, Eleanor Wesselhoeft, had long been a successful actress in New York—Mrs. Hoffmann joined the group of amateur players which made Santa Barbara's Little Theatre, The Lobero Playhouse, a tremendous success. She played many parts in many plays and enjoyed the experience immensely. But she never thought of turning to acting for a living.

Two and a half years ago tragedy came to Mrs. Hoffmann. Her husband was killed in a fall from a cliff while attempting to gather some rare plants on one of the islands in the Pacific off the coast of Southern California and she was faced with the necessity of starting an always active life anew.

Her children wanted her to settle down with them; her sister suggested New York; but Mrs. Hoffmann, for some reason which she herself doesn't quite understand, choose Hollywood and a career in the movies—a career which was to begin at a time when most women are taking their greatest delight in their knitting and their grandchildren.

So armed only with some letters of introduction from her actress sister, Mrs. Ralph Hoffmann descended upon Flickerville, determined to carry on on her own account.

She became Gertrude W. Hoffmann—the W. which is for her maiden name of Wesselhoeft, was used when she discovered that Gertrude Hoffmann, the dancer, was already known to the picture producers—and sat around and waited for the cinemas to call.

An offer came to go to New York for a stage part, a fine part, but she thought it best to wait here. One day a wire came from her son in Washington that he would be in Santa Barbara several days later. The movies had not called. They had not even beckoned and so Mrs. Hoffmann, figuring that she could well take a day or so off from waiting, went back to Santa Barbara the day before her son was to arrive.

That same evening her agent in Hollywood telephoned her. He had secured an engagement for her and she must be at the studio the next morning at 8. Her son's train was due, in Santa Barbara, at 8:45.

OPPORTUNTY was knocking at one door, her son, after a manner of speaking, at another. Certain that he would understand, Mrs. Hoffman answered the first knock, turned around and came back to Hollywood.

The part for her was just a bit, little more than a "society extra," but it was a start. A wardrobe mistress helped her into an elaborate ballroom gown and then, putting on the finishing touches, spilled a box of makeup powder down the front of the dress. Attempting to brush it off, the gown was ruined.

There was no time to change. She was shoved out on the sound stage and the director spotted the disfigured dress at once.

"Get another woman who is properly dressed," he commanded.

And Mrs. Hoffmann again waited. After many disappointments, she got her real chance.

It was with the RKO studio to play the important part of an old woman in a mystery meller called "The Death Watch" in which Warner Oland was the star.

Mrs. Hoffmann was a sensation. At 57 life, movie life that is, had begun for her.

Then came parts in "Hell and High Water" with Richard Arlen, "Cat's Paw" with Harold Lloyd, "I'll Tell the World" with Lee Tracy, and others. She has just appeared in the very successful "Les Miserables" with Fredric March and Charles Laughton and when the movie producers want some one to play, skilfully, a "character old woman" or a grand dame they ask for Gertrude W. Hoffmann. At her age her field is limited to roles of that sort.

Clifford Odets.

The Propaganda Playwright Who Has Become a Broadway Sensation

NEW YORK.

CLIFFORD ODETS has a new phonograph and a lot of Beethoven records. More to the point—though nobody knows if it really means any more to Odets—even George Jean Nathan concedes that, in the annual end-of-season critics' game of naming [illegible] Playwriting Genius of 1934-[illegible] has a more than 50-50 chance [illegible]

[illegible] mentioned that only in passing [illegible] to write about something else, [illegible] he intimated, practically every [illegible] critic would be writing about [illegible] anyway. And there was something to it. One of them hailed Odets [illegible] most exciting spokesman the [illegible] workers yet has produced," [illegible] if that, "yet" and all, were [illegible] enough—"perhaps the most articulate dramatist available in the [illegible]

[illegible] Shaw and Molnar (in the [illegible] of articulateness), Odets was [illegible] unknown six months ago. He [illegible] one of the actors in the [illegible] Theater in New York. He had [illegible] out a propaganda play on the cabdrivers' strike—he wrote it [illegible] days under an electric fan [illegible] in a Boston hotel room—and [illegible] used it for a few benefit [illegible]. Result: Public clamor [illegible] plays by the same author, a [illegible] deal of prestige for the Group [illegible] and the elevation of Odets [illegible] "one of the actors" to its white-[illegible] boy—not to mention the Beethoven records, which he'd been want[illegible] a long, long time.

[illegible] Odets, who was born in Philadelphia and attended the Morris High [illegible] in the Bronx, had been acting [illegible] several years, competently enough the critics say, but without making any great splash. A tall, slender young man with moderately wavy, immoderately stiff hair, thin, nervous hands, eager blue eyes and spectacles, he listened to friends' chatter and jotted down bits that now make crackling dialogue on the stage. All this began to come out after the hard winter of three years ago, when nine members of the Group Theater shared an apartment that, from current accounts, must have been near-Arctic.

Odets, shivering with the rest, was writing a play which he called "Awake and Sing," after a line in Isaiah. The bleakness of his room may have sharpened the first two acts, but not the third, for then he retreated from his Valley Forge to write the third act leaning on the bread box beside the kitchen stove.

Nothing much happened about that play, though it may have helped keep his mind off freezing, until, under approximately opposite circumstances, he turned out "Waiting for Lefty" in three hot days last fall. It was candid proletarian propaganda, and the theater group found it suitable for special Sunday evening performances.

The audience found more in it than propaganda. Then the group hauled it out and produced his cold-weather opus, "Awake and Sing." And following that success the group paired "Waiting for Lefty," with another brief piece, "Till the Day I Die," and offered them as a full evening's bill on Broadway. The critics, and the public, liked them all.

"Waiting for Lefty" represents a strike meeting, with the audience in the place of the union membership, addressed from the stage, with an occasional speech from an actor planted in gallery or parquet. Connoisseurs, noting technical lesions, marveled that in spite of them it was revelational to audiences "who seem not to have known or to have understood or to have felt what taxi drivers might be thinking or feeling or suffering until they saw this play."

The success of "Awake and Sing," dealing with a poor family in the Bronx, definitely proletarian in viewpoint but without thematically formulated propaganda, was attributed not to theme or viewpoint but to the fact that it dealt with real people, "who play pinochle and eat pickles and want money to buy Caruso records and black-and-white sport shoes."

"Till the Day I Die," touching the plight of a musician-communist in Nazi Germany, is described by some, despite minor flaws, "far ahead of anything else that Odets has done in every detail that concerns playwriting." On the contrary, other critics believe it to be by far the weakest of his plays.

IN THEM all, his friends have found unsuspected trifles that, Autolycus-like, he snapped up in casual gossip and translated to telling dialogue, sometimes in situations disconcerting by contrast. Last summer he rested beneath an apple tree with a group of actors between rehearsals. There he snatched a laugh-getter for "Waiting for Lefty"—"The Clancy family tree is bearing nuts."

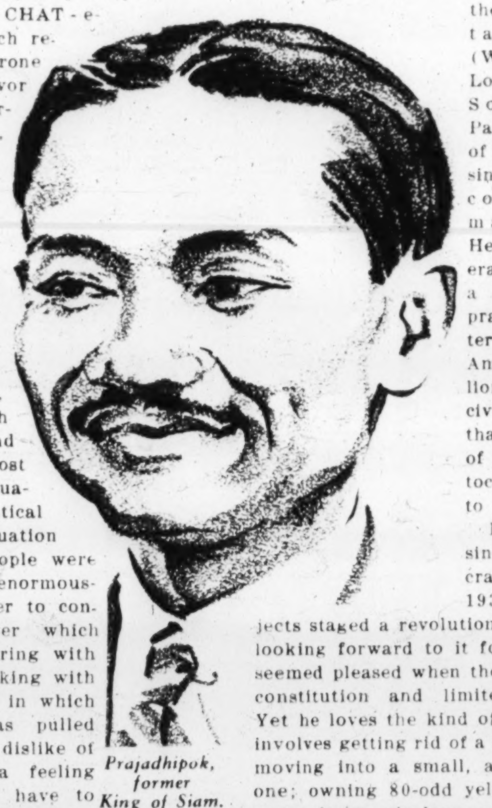
He cuts out newspaper pictures that look like the characters he has in process of creation. Then he writes speeches to fit the pictures.

In his own life, his success has had two major consequences: (1) He wrote another play, "Paradise Lost"; (2) Recalling an interest that fathered his first attempt at the drama, a play on Beethoven, he bought a new phonograph and completed his collection of Beethoven records.

The 100-Pound Ex-King Becomes an English Country Gentleman

LONDON.

AFTER nine years of reluctant kingship and half a year's long-distance bickering with the military clique which wangled from civil officers the prerogative of representing his subjects, King Prajadhipok (pronounced praw-CHAT-e-pok) this March resigned the throne of Siam in favor of his 10-year-old nephew, Prince Ananda, son of a deceased younger brother who possessed a Harvard M. D. When the abdication was finally declared definite, the dapper, smiling, little monarch had put an end to one of the most anomalous situations in all political history—a situation in which a people were begging their enormously popular ruler to continue in power which they were offering with one hand, revoking with the other; and in which that ruler was pulled two ways by a dislike of his job and a feeling that he would have to go through with it anyway if his people were willing to be governed in such a way that he could be of any use to them. In the end Prajadhipok decided they were misled and stiff-necked, told his secretary to announce he was through with them and sat down to write them the reasons—four typed pages.



Prajadhipok, former King of Siam.

The 41-year-old little Siamese (he weighs in the neighborhood of 100 pounds) is one of the few men in the world who knows what it is like to be an absolute monarch. Endowed with a love of sports, a sense of humor and a kind of philosophy peculiar to his compatriots, Prajadhipok is now settling into the slow-moving, comfortable life of an English millionaire and country gentleman. Aside from uncertain health, he is royally equipped for this. A thorough-going liberal modernist, he was educated at England's fanciest "public school," Eton, the Royal Military Academy (Woolwich) in London, and the Sorbonne in Paris. The point of view he has since developed comes from many sources. He has the tolerant patience of a Buddhist, the practical materialism of an American millionaire and the civilized tact that the friends of British aristocrats attribute to that type.

Prajadhipok is sincerely democratic. When, in 1932, his subjects staged a revolution, he had been looking forward to it for years, even seemed pleased when they asked for a constitution and limited monarchy. Yet he loves the kind of comfort that involves getting rid of a big palace and moving into a small, air-conditioned one; owning 80-odd yellow autos, 60 motor boats, airplanes and a 2500-ton yacht. With all that, he has probably broken more precedents than Mahatma Gandhi ever will. He was probably ahead of most of the radicals who wanted to rid Siam and its 10,000,000 people of absolute monarchy. He was the first Asiatic monarch to come to the United States, the first Siamese King with only one wife. His father had 300, and his brother, who spent most of his reign as a bachelor, married three just before his death, vainly hoping for an heir. Prajadhipok's grandfather could only be approached on hands and knees; he himself will talk to anyone.

He was surprised with the kingship. Being fifth in line, it seemed likely that at least one of his four older brothers would have sons to supersede him. All died unexpectedly in a short time. Even aside from the tragedy, this wasn't at all what Prajadhipok wanted, but in 1925, when he ascended the ornate, golden throne of the 144-year-old Chakri dynasty, he determined to give Siam the benefit of his English, European and American background as fast as she could absorb it—no faster. Temperamentally easy-going, he took duty very seriously.

He reorganized the schools and introduced business courses, fired hundreds of inefficient officials. When his people bridled, he knew how to cheer them with lavish spectacles. He could afford white elephants out of an income of $1,000,000 or more. The nation caught on quickly and grew rich on rice grown for 60,000,000 rubber-planting East Indians. Now they can make their own airplanes. But the depression hit Siam hard. When rubber dropped, East Indians grew their own rice again and the Siamese wondered if their monarchy wasn't a bit extravagant. They still loved Prajadhipok, though, and also his pretty young queen, though Rambai-barni can spend $1000 an afternoon on Fifth avenue, and once bought 55 pairs of gloves and 78 pairs of stockings on one tour.

Finally the democracy he himself created became involved in military bossism and communism. Prajadhipok could stand a revolution, but not a self-seeking, stupid clique. He even went so far as to finance a counter-revolution, but that failed.

THE final issue between the King and his Government came last fall when he was having his second operation for a cataract, in London. (He had his first in New York in 1931.) The politicians decided to take away his power of "life and death." Prajadhipok vetoed their bill not because he wanted to kill anybody, but because he feared the loss of this power would give factions a way to instigate legal reigns of terror. He only wanted power to pardon; if they wouldn't let him be arbiter of their vicious little feuds, he knew his office would be superfluous. He threatened abdication. High Government officials came to his rented English country place, Knowle House, Surrey, to plead with him. But when his veto was over-ridden, one of the most popular rulers in the world promptly retired.

Now he will enjoy life, manage his two hotels on the Italian Riviera, live on a generous income assured by having previously bought a $50,000 annuity at Lloyds. At this writing it isn't known whether the remainder of his huge fortune will be confiscated. Most of it probably won't.

During his last newspaper interview Prajadhipok was droll at the expense of reporters who have consistently mis-translated his florid Oriental titles. "Please don't describe me as a brother of the moon or possessor of 24 umbrellas," he pleaded, smiling. "I can assure you I am not!" Meanwhile the boy successor was telling reporters who came to his Swiss boarding school, "I am not happy to become King of Siam, because I should like to amuse myself some more." He said it in decisive, angry French.

Summer Selections

SHORT-SLEEVED ENSEMBLES and TAFFETA EVENING GOWNS

THE good old summertime is not for all of us a period in which to display a series of gay sport frocks, garden party chiffons and other costumes appropriate for the giddy season. Some of us must stay in town to keep the wheels rolling, but we who are town-bound may look and feel just as crisp and cool as our more fortunate sisters, in frocks designed especially for us.

Today we illustrate a collection of gowns and ensembles suitable for town wear.

In the group at the right may be seen a smart ensemble of the sports type in jade green, it's cape lined with periwinkle blue. Its material—a mixed silk and linen—is ideal for summer months. Molyneux's navy ensemble is of a very thin wool, and worn with the striped blouse and broad shallow white sailor hat, is an achievement in smart simplicity.

Arrow-head tucks at the shoulders and waistline are used as an unusual trimming on the black triple georgette afternoon frock which has its interest centered in the charming sleeves. With its touches of delicately embroidered organdie, the frock is grand for any afternoon function.

Checks and plaids continue their popularity, and new adaptations are found in Worth's little suit of brown and white checkered surah and Creed's knockabout coat. The suit is one of Fashion's blessings for hot days and besides being cool is a gem of smartness with its tightwaisted little jacket that has a basque-like flare and the accompanying dotted organdie blouse.

Prints also occupy an important spot in town fashions and the navy crepe de chine with its all-over design of mauve flowers is a nice all-day frock for this time of year.

Whether it is warm or not, evening functions go on, and for mid-summer nights Paris presents new evening gowns which are glamorous indeed. Both of the gowns illustrated below are in taffeta, a favorite material of couturieres this season.

Molyneux's contribution to the gaiety of evenings is in cire taffeta of the softest pink and features a shirred bodice and voluminous skirt. Two large pink roses thrust through the narrow twisted girdle provide the sole trimming for this charming gown.

Quaintly Victorian is the gown of satin striped plaid taffeta. This one is cut on rather unusual lines, gathered at a center seam which runs down the entire length in the frock, and then drawn back to mould the figure and fall in heavy thick folds from the little navy taffeta bustle. Two shades of beige, with a plaid of green, red and blue give a brilliantly colorful and most unusual effect.

SOME UNPLEASANT QUESTIONS—and Their Surprising Answers

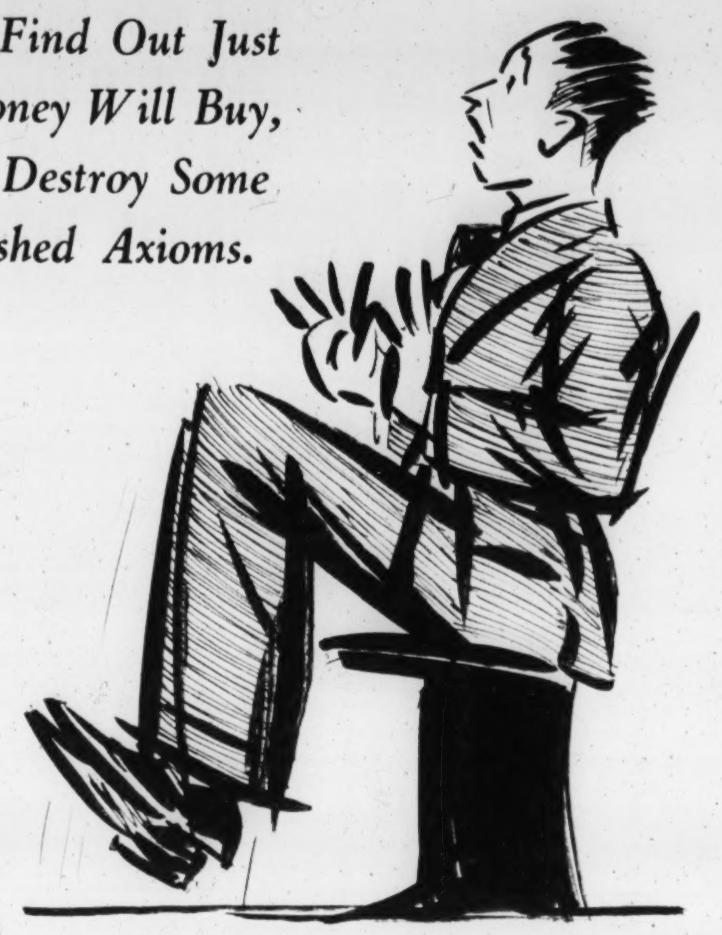
W.A. BYRNES

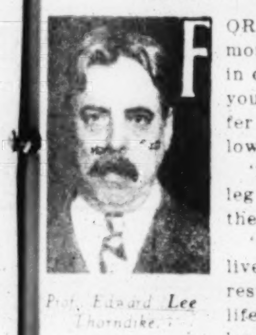


"There are still young men and women who wouldn't get thoroughly drunk for any price."

"The subjects were asked . . . how much cold cash would comfort them for the loss of their eyebrows."

By MAX PUTZEL

Of the Post-Dispatch Sunday Magazine Staff



Prof. Edward Lee Thorndike.

FOR how much money, paid in cash, would you do or suffer the following?

"Have one leg cut off at the knee.

"Have to live all the rest of your life in Iceland.

"Eat a dead beetle one inch long.

"Eat a live beetle one inch long.

"Eat a quarter of a pound of cooked human flesh (supposing that nobody but the person who pays you to do so will ever know it).

"Eat a quarter of a pound of cooked human flesh (supposing that the fact that you do so will appear next day on the front page of all the New York papers)."

"Spit on a picture of your mother."

The man who posed these blood-curdling questions, and 44 others equally distressing to the squeamish, is not the brutal sadist [illegible] picture. He is scholarly, [illegible]whiskered Edward Lee Thorndike, president last year of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, member of a handful of equally distinguished other learned societies and veteran professor of educational psychology at Teachers College, Columbia University, New York. The 40 young unemployed men and women and the 24 elderly relief clients to whom the questions were put, weren't being [illegible] simply because Dr. Thorndike wanted to annoy them, nor was it an inquisition intended to [illegible] his idle curiosity. For the [illegible] let that suffice: They were serious questions and they got serious answers.

[illegible] the answers it was disclosed that the young men [illegible] cannibals for a median [illegible] $50,000, the young women [illegible] $750,000—provided they [illegible] assured their meal would be kept secret. If the deed were made public, the men would want [illegible] $250,000,000 for it. The [illegible] far less delicate, would [illegible] story to the newspapers for as little as $5000, though they [illegible] a median price of $1,125.-

The older people to whom the questions were put—24 unemployed men, and women above [illegible] twice as much as the [illegible] and two-thirds of them [illegible] eat human flesh for any [illegible] even if it were kept secret. [illegible] of the young people answered that they would be secret [illegible] for less than $20,000.

[illegible]eral, sex lines were more [illegible] than age lines, in spite of [illegible] that most old people [illegible] even consider spitting [illegible] mothers' pictures, while [illegible]arter of the young people would do it for less than $10. For the most part the young women—apparently a fairly sophisticated lot for some of them said they would give up all hopes of eternity for $10—were more reasonable in their prices than the young men. Though the girls asked $11,500,000 more for a leg than for an arm, the young men wouldn't part with either for a median price lower than one billion dollars, while the young women's median price for an arm was only a million. Strange to say, the questions also brought out that there are still young men and women who wouldn't get thoroughly drunk for any price, though there were some in the group who would do it for nothing. The men asked a median price of $25, the women a median price of $98, to do it.

MOST of the 51 questions required more consideration than that. The subjects were asked, for example, how much cold cash would comfort them for the loss of their eyebrows, for temporary insanity every July, for the unpleasantness of choking a cat to death or the humiliation of yelling, "The time has come! The time has come!" in staid old St. Patrick's Cathedral on Fifth Avenue until dragged away to the cooler. Somewhat cynical about their answers, Dr. Thorndike becomes rather wistful in a footnote of the book wherein the experiment is reported, seems to wish he had the actual money to offer them and prove them unconscious liars. "A person setting a million dollars as the price for eating an earthworm, might well do it for a hundred if someone actually put the cash before him," the footnote comments.

His book, just published by MacMillan, is called "Adult Interests." It is a dissertation on the questions: How do the interests of the old differ from those of the young? How can psychological information about this be made useful in adult education? Intended for teachers engaged in the new and growing field of educating grown-ups, it is chiefly interesting to the ordinary layman for such succulent bits of whimsy as the test just described, which is intended to establish just how much of a repugnance to changing customs and opinions grows up in us after we pass the age of 40. But before going on with the professor's lighter subject matter, it might be well to indicate his purposes and a few of the conclusions he reached after measuring literally hundreds of people in all walks of life as to their interests, abilities and aversions.

Dr. Thorndike is primarily interested in testing the age-old supposition that education should take place largely during childhood and youth. While it is already a recognized fact that older people can learn faster and better than young children and only a little less efficiently than people in their twenties, no one has yet established just how much being interested in a subject has to do with one's ability to learn it and what changes in keenness occur as age draws on. That would be important if, as the "progressive" educators believe, interest is the most important spur to learning. So Dr. Thorndike begins his investigation by sending a questionnaire to his classmates at college and to some of his former students from 1899 to 1904. He gives them a list of occupations and amusements, asks them to tell him how much they liked doing them in their 20s, their 30s, 40s, 50s and 60s. They are to rate them on a plus-and-minus numerical scale wherein minus five equals, "extremely unpleasant; comparable to . . . a bad headache, or being made a fool of in public," and plus two, for instance, equals, "Would do without hesitation if I had the chance."

THE BOOK OF MORM

"Prof. Thorndike finds that (in adults at least) the usefulness or attractiveness of a subject has little to do with one's ability to learn it."

JUDGING by the answers, interest is greater when one is fiftyish than when one is gloriously three times seven, despite the fact that one can learn somewhat faster at the latter age. But is interest very important after all? And if it is, is it as important at 50 as at 25? To find out the answers to this, Dr. Thorndike gets a group of adults of various ages to learn things which have intrinsic interest, then to learn things which have no intrinsic interest at all. He makes them memorize the birth years of celebrities and of nonentities; the real meanings of rare words, then what other rare words do not mean; they are asked to choose between three books, Fraser's "Golden Bough," the Bible and the Book of Mormon, read the one in which they are most interested, then the one that bores them most, finally to submit to a test on what they learned; they are asked to learn typewriting, then to learn to typewrite backwards.

Discouraging though it may sound to left wing teachers employing the "project" method and other schemes to make fact injection painless, Dr. Thorndike finds that (in adults at least) the usefulness or attractiveness of a subject has little to do with one's ability to learn it. Such outside stimulants to grubbing as a desire to please the teacher or do a duty proved nearly as effective in one branch of the experiment as in the other; the true and the useful are almost as hard to learn as the dull and useless. "The notion that the mind will not learn what is alien to its fundamental vital purposes," Dr. Thorndike proceeds sagely, "is attractive and plausible but definitely false. . . . Intelligent adults will learn the most trivial and useless things, such as lists of nonsense syllables, irrelevant numbers attached to words, locations on meaningless and futile maps . . ."

Then he goes on to smash some further accepted axioms, beginning with an examination of the effect of interest on the learning of lessons, or other subdivisions of a general subject. This takes him to the question of punishment and reward as aids to teaching. He finds that punishment causes a pupil to repeat a mistake. When his subjects were punished by reprimand, a fine or a physical shock, they would learn the wrong response and repeat it.

THIS inspires Dr. Thorndike to come down with both feet on such adages as: "Practice makes perfect," "Experience is the best teacher," "Easy come, easy go," "We learn by our mistakes." Punishment may be a good method in schools, industry or government, he thinks, but it is a dangerous method for teaching adults. It works best only when people are sensitive, and causes shame, fright, revulsion. But it also makes the adult pupil consider the teacher a fool, rather than admit that he himself is one.

But adults differ a good deal. Dr. Thorndike wants to know just how much they differ as they get on in years. He finds that the old get discouraged a little more easily when they are frustrated in trying to learn; on the other hand they seem a tiny bit better able to put up with physical discomfort while learning and a trifle more impatient with having to learn futile or false information. And how about their prejudices and natural aversions? Are the old really more set in their ways than the young, do they have more trouble getting rid of inherent aversions? Dr. Thorndike thought up a neat way to find out.

He got 10 young adults (in their early 20s) and 18 older ones (between 40 and 61), told them: "You will be asked to perform certain tasks of different degrees of pleasantness. After you have performed each task you will be asked to rate its pleasantness for you on a scale from plus 100 to minus 100." The scale indicated that minus 100 should imply "So unbearable that you would prefer death to repetition or continuance." Minus 50 would be "as unpleasant as a violent headache or toothache, or listening to a bore." Plus 10 (and here the professor becomes almost poetic) would be "as pleasant as a cool wind on a sultry day," plus 100—"nothing could be more enjoyable."

The tasks were to take cod-liver oil and to handle a snake—both 15 times during a period of nine days. Some of the results were rather amusing. There was one of the older human guinea pigs who reported he would die three times rather than touch a snake again. He did it all 15 times, though, and didn't mind it as much later, reported it minus 200 the last time.

ANOTHER, who hated it almost as much (minus 190, though that also was out of bounds) found he got to dislike it more and more, ended by chalking up minus 200. One balked flatly and never would touch the snake, though taking the cod liver oil; he said that alone was worse than death.

The final results showed that the old learned to like cod liver oil and snakes a little less easily than the young, but learning this isn't any harder for them than learning anything else. There just isn't much difference. His favorite pupils, presumably, were a young man who was so good that he got to like snakes and oil as well as eating his favorite food, enjoying his best friend or drinking his favorite drink; and an old one who liked these two things better than sleeping when tired or a casual trade-last. Both of them had had a bad time at first.

Dr. Thorndike's final comparison between crabbed age and youth showed him another surprising thing—that they are almost equal in their curiosity and love of variety. They both would get about the same pleasure (age for age) out of riding an elephant, seeing a man hanged, smoking opium, spending an hour with Mussolini or Stalin, going up 15,000 feet in a balloon. There is a big difference between the amount of curiosity in men and women, though. Older women are more curious than young women, on the average, and both kinds are more so than men. His older women would do an average of 148 days hard labor in a penitentiary to get a year's cruise around the world. The young men said they would only do 67 days—on the average—for such a jaunt.

But in the end Dr. Thorndike has to admit that there is an enormous difference between individuals—especially if they are business men who haven't been to college, or psychologists or teachers.

HE thinks it would be a great mistake to give everyone the same kind or amount of learning and that as long as we have a privileged class with most of the money, it's better to select them for advanced education than to make a miscellaneous choice. Even in selecting beneficiaries of free education for adults, he feels there should be considerable discrimination on the basis of interest and capacity to learn. He thinks the advertisement of education a miserable idea for this reason.

He sums it all up in this way: "It would be very unfortunate if the distribution of education to adults should be based upon the doctrine that an indiscriminate scattering of education to all alike is desirable. . . . The fact that an animal has two legs and walks erect gives him no just claim to anything except to be called an erect biped. . . . If he has the mind and morals of a hog, it is just to treat him as a hog. If he has the mind and morals of a Newton or a Darwin, it is just to give him opportunities denied to an idiot, an imbecile, a dullard or an average man."

Admitting these differences, he thinks it important to find out something about the underlying interests, inherited or acquired, which are generally possessed by men and women. This he says, is more important than distinguishing between what is inherited and what acquired. Especially "if we ask whether human beings could learn to love their neighbors as themselves, or to eschew war between and within nations, or to live as happily on 5000-acre farms managed like factories as on little farms each with its one family and their own animals, and how hard it would be to learn these things, and what correlated changes the learning would involve, then we do need to know what man's unlearned likes and dislikes are."

Muny Opera Dressographs

AUDREY CHRISTIE, today's selection from among the Municipal Opera stars who will appear in this space during the Forest Park season, was born in Chicago. She first appeared on the professional stage in vaudeville at the age of 15. Among the hits she has played in are "Good News," "Follow Thru," "Of Thee I Sing," and Sailor Beware." She was seen in the last play in St. Louis during the past winter season.

Accompanying Miss Christie are three sets of costumes she wears in Municipal Opera shows. Cut out the star and paste on cardboard. Then cut out the costumes. Now dress her in her proper outfits, being careful to assemble each costume correctly. The three types of costumes shown here are worn by Miss Christie in the following productions: 1—Pepita in "Madame Sherry," and in this show a dress with flounces is worn; 2—Babe O'Day in "Good News," a part which calls for a rather simple frock; 3—Angie in "Cat and the Fiddle."

THE PLIGHT OF JERRY AND MARY

THE CHARACTERS

O. HUM—A lazy opossum.
JERRY AND MARY—Two inquisitive geese.
TWO STRANGE LITTLE PEOPLE—They dropped out of the sky.

Astronomers have for a long time believed that some of the planets that we see shining in the sky every night have people living on them. No one knew just what these people looked like until two of them dropped out of the sky in an odd little flying machine and landed in Hickory Hollow. What they are doing here has all the inhabitants wondering. We see them standing near their flying machine as

THE PLAY BEGINS

(They stand very still and silent for a long time. They just stare at everything bewilderedly. At last the one who has a can in his hands starts moving. And how he moves. His long arms and legs are jointless and move like little round snakes. Suddenly he makes a low moaning sound and walks away. After walking a while he comes upon O. Hum, who is lying on the ground fast asleep. He puts his hand on O. Hum's shoulder and shakes him.)

O. HUM—(Awakening.) Hey! What's the big idea? Who are you? (O. Hum by this time has turned to see who awakened him. The odd little man holds up the can he is carrying and makes a sound as though he were asking a question. But O. Hum takes only one look and falls over and plays like he is dead. Just then Jerry and Mary come over.)

JERRY—What is that fellow doing to O. Hum?

(The inquisitive geese fly lower. All of a sudden the odd little man drops the can he is carrying and leaps up in the air and grabs the surprised geese by their legs and pulls them down to earth. Then taking one of them under each arm he walks away. O. Hum, who witnessed this through half-closed eyes, now scrambles to his feet.)

O. HUM—Whew! If this is a dream I'm never going to sleep again. (All of a sudden the air is filled with loud cries for help from Jerry and Mary. O. Hum rushes over to where the cries are coming from and is amazed to see Jerry and Mary tied to the queer little flying machine and that odd little man cracking a whip over their heads.)

O. HUM—Gosh, he must think they're horses. I'm going to tell Grumpy about this. (But these queer little people know Jerry and Mary aren't horses. They have run out of gas and want to go back home.)

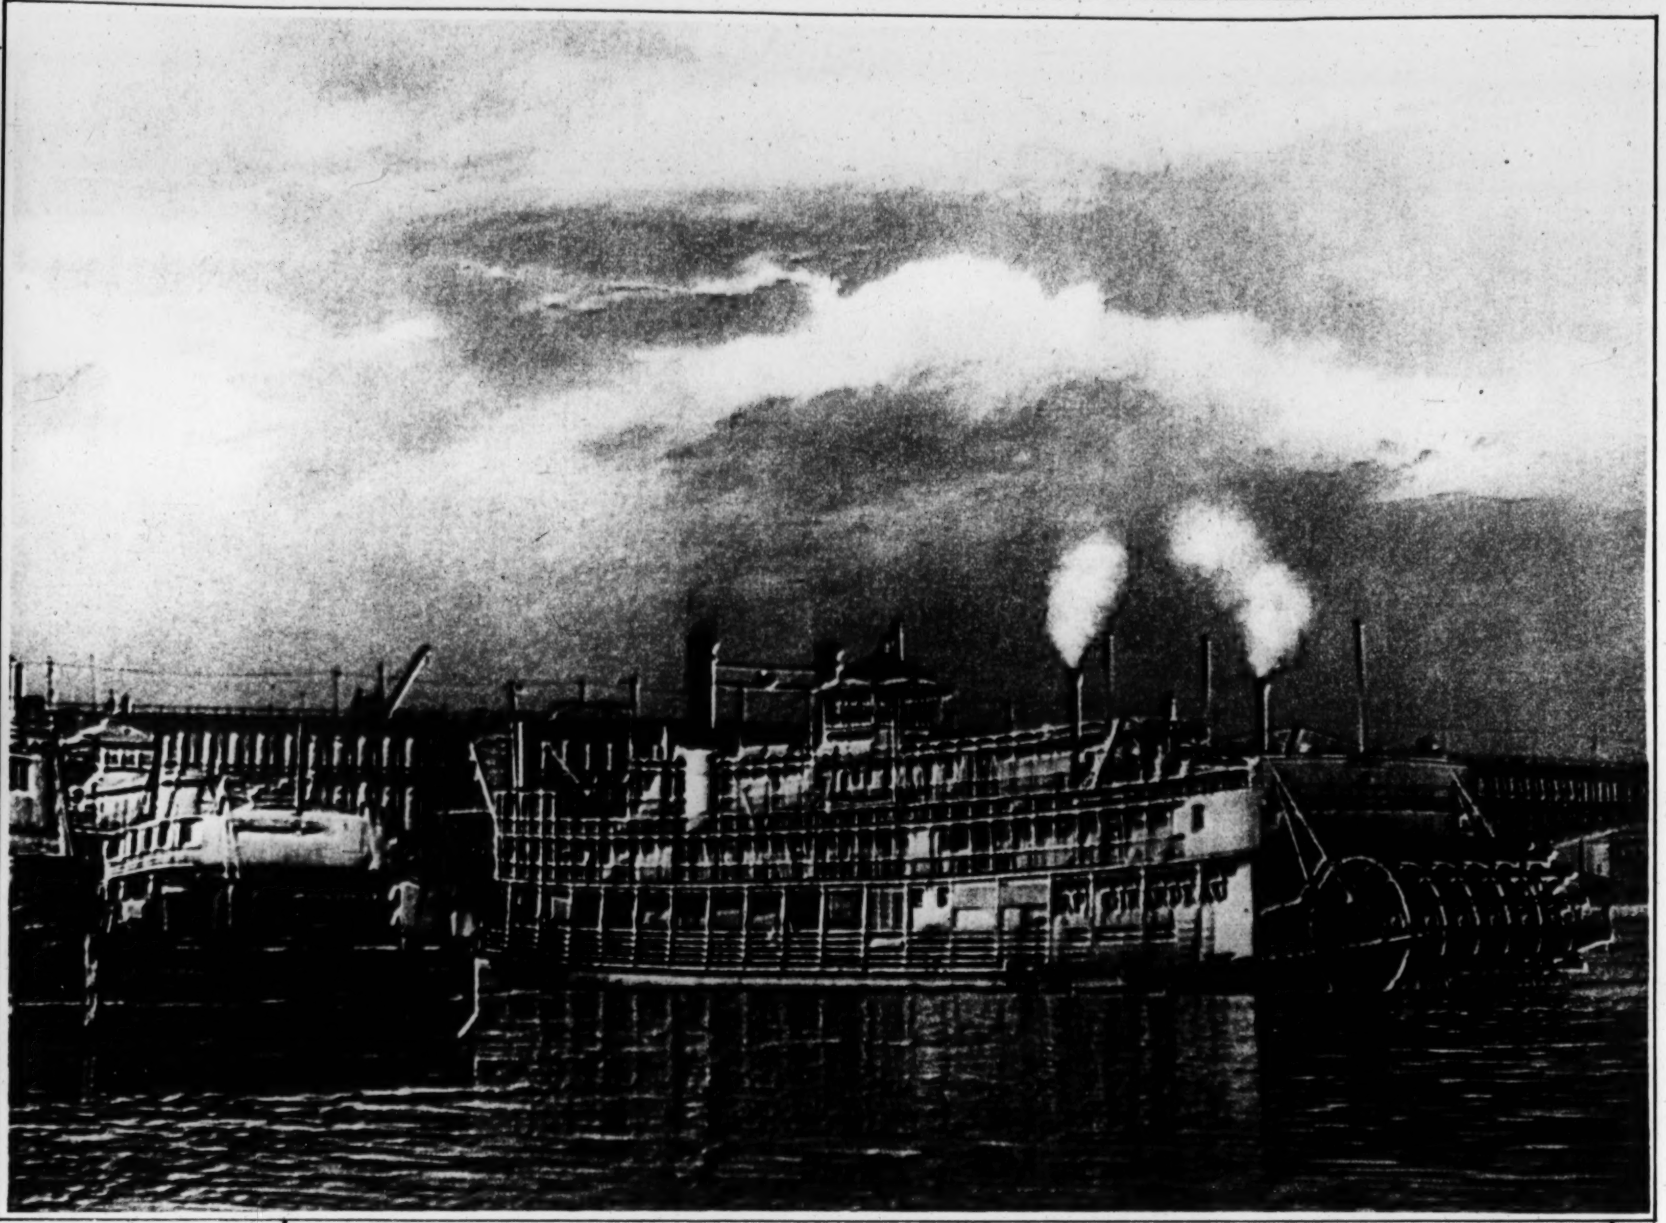
POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL ON FURLOUGH—Gloria Vanderbilt was in the public eye even while relaxing for an afternoon at the benefit country fair held on her aunt's (Mrs. Payne Whitney's) Manhasset, L. I., estate. She is still the bone of contention in a bitter court feud between her aunt and her mother.



BAS-RELIEF PHOTOGRAPHY

THE IMPERIAL LION—Uninitiated visitors to the Emperor's gardens in Addis Ababa have been rudely disconcerted on coming face to face with such pets as this lion, one of Haile Selassie's favorites. The Abyssinian ruler keeps an elaborate menagerie.

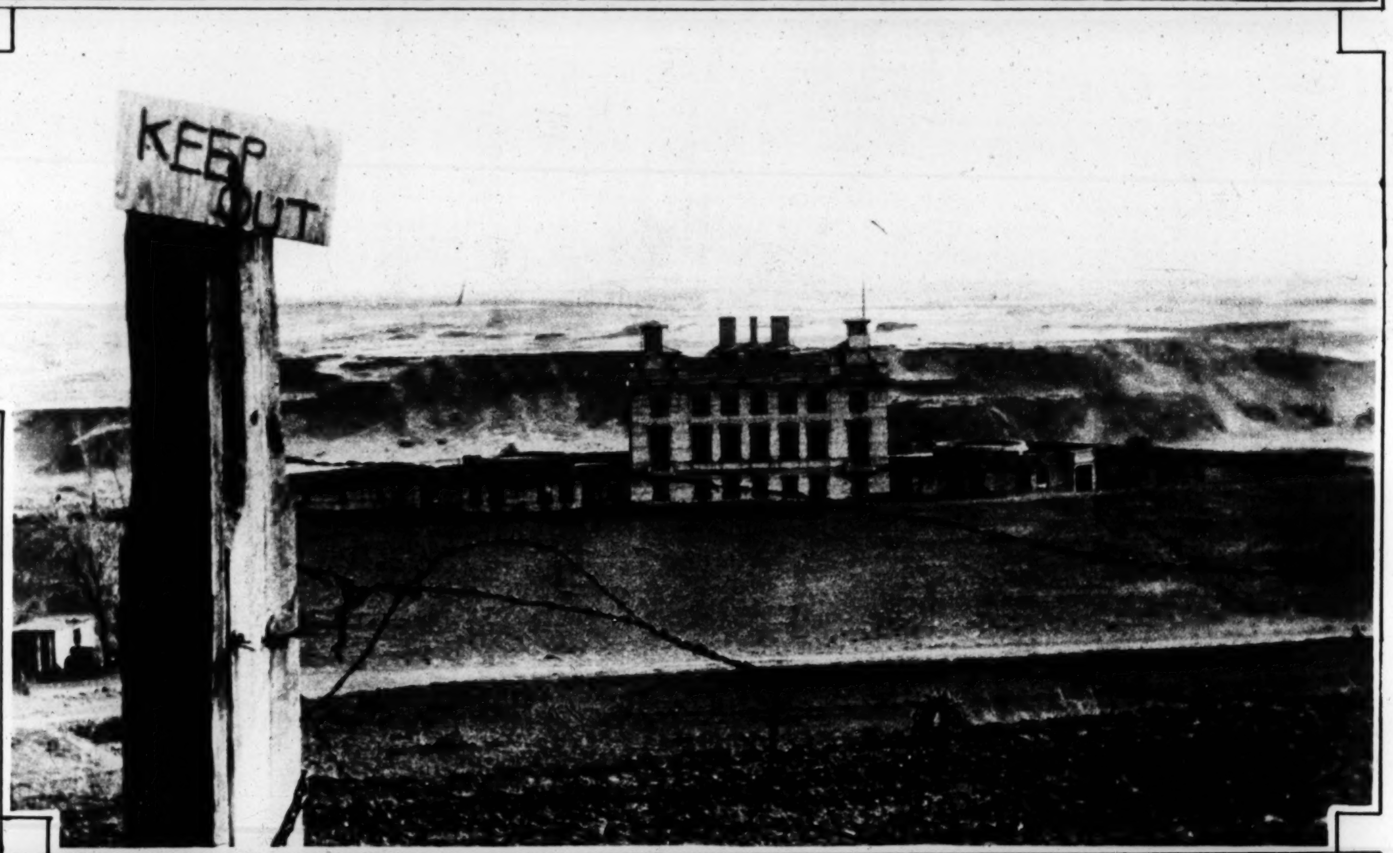
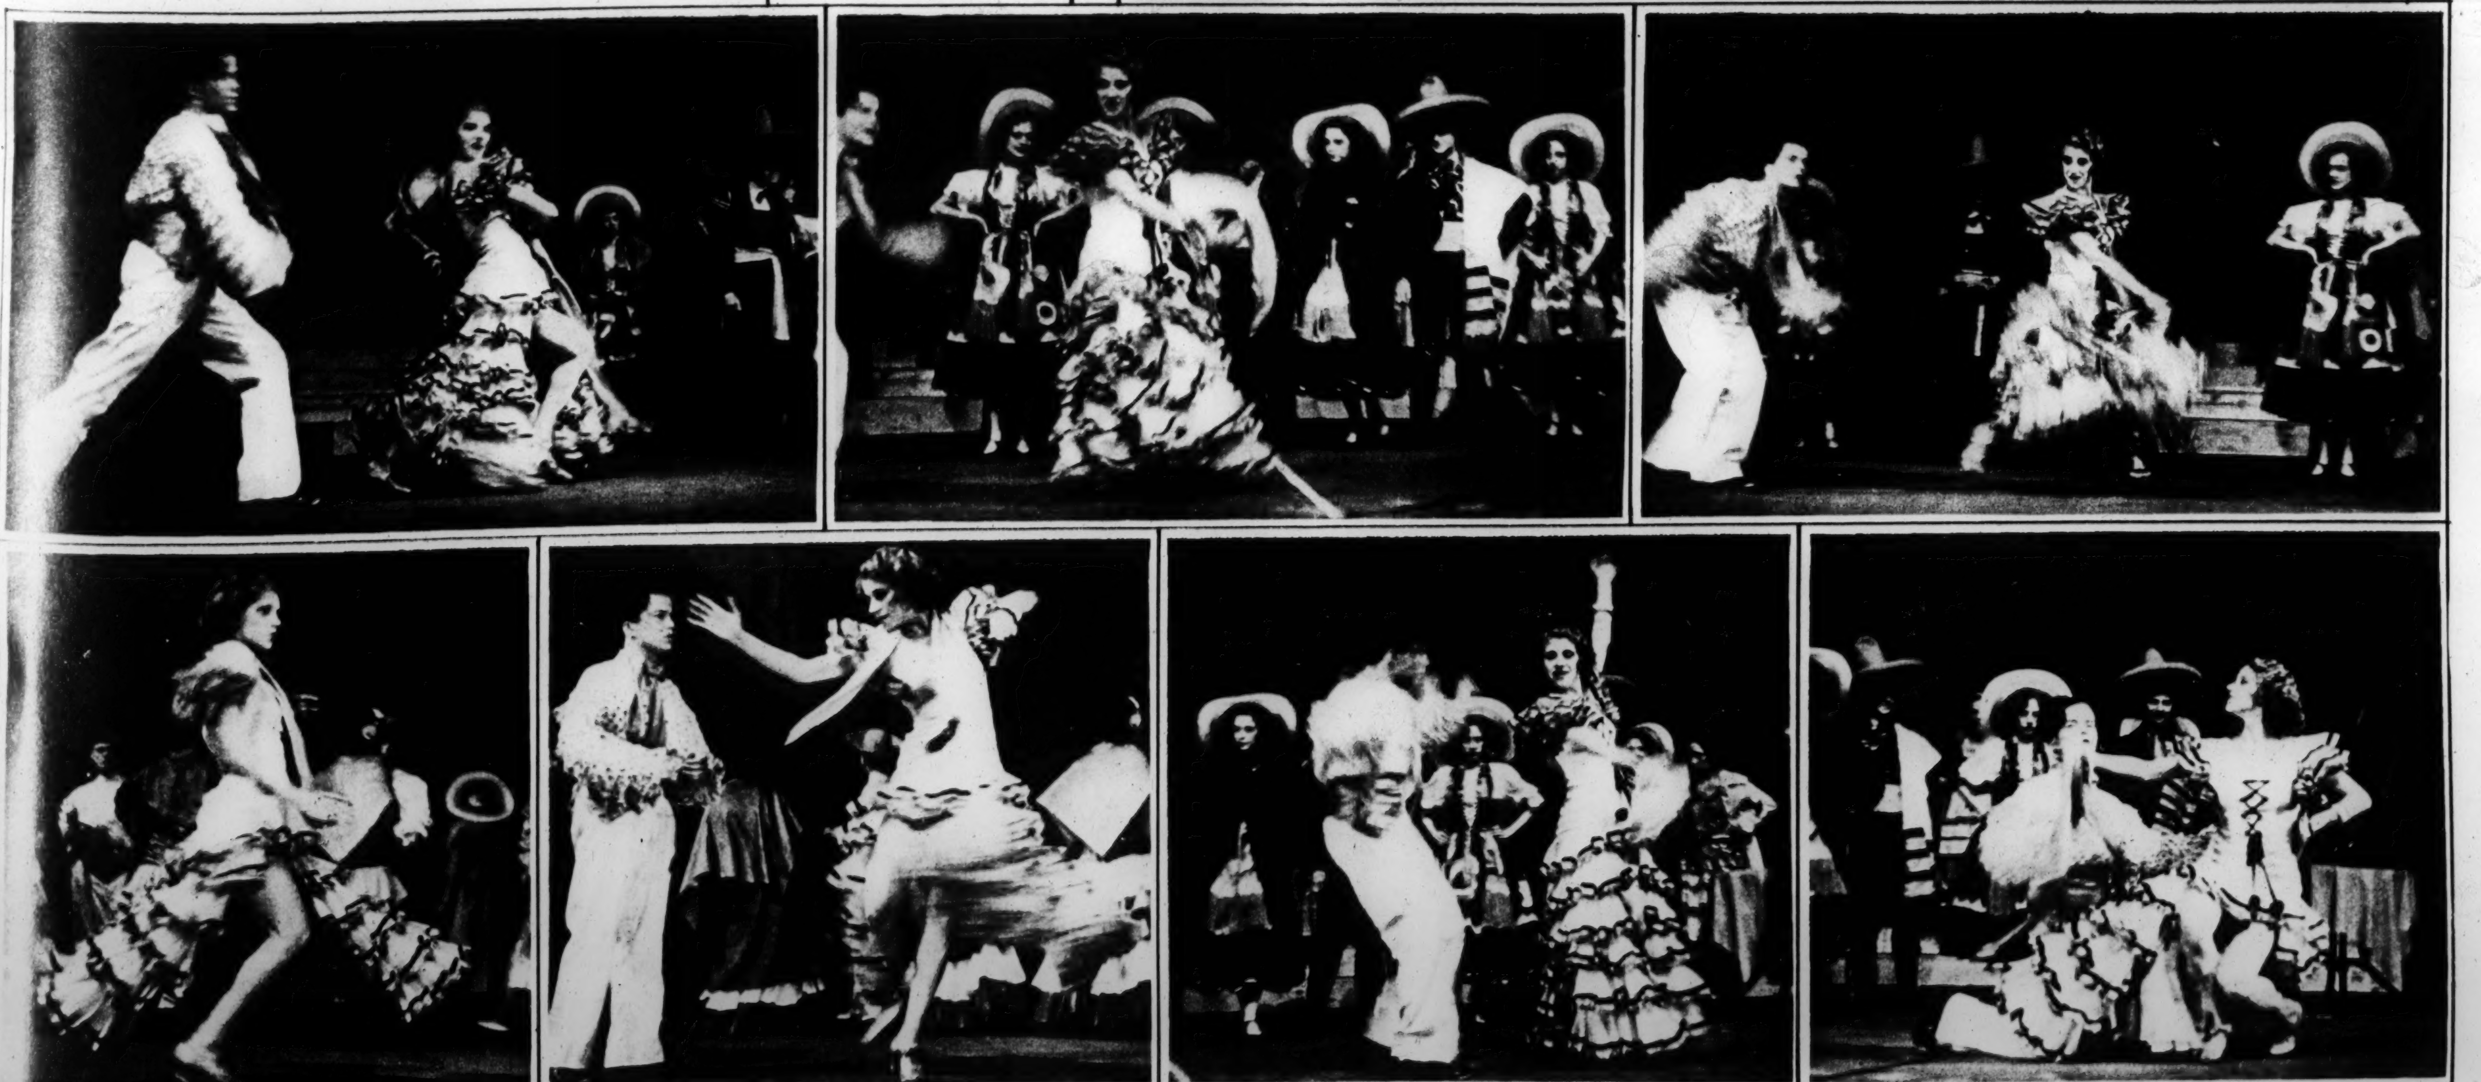
DESERTED CASTLE TO BE A MUSEUM

The elaborate building overlooking the Columbia River in the State of Washington, which the late Samuel Hill built to entertain Queen Marie of Rumania during her visit to the United States, has never been occupied since its dedication. The unpublicized art objects it is known to contain will soon be made available to visitors.



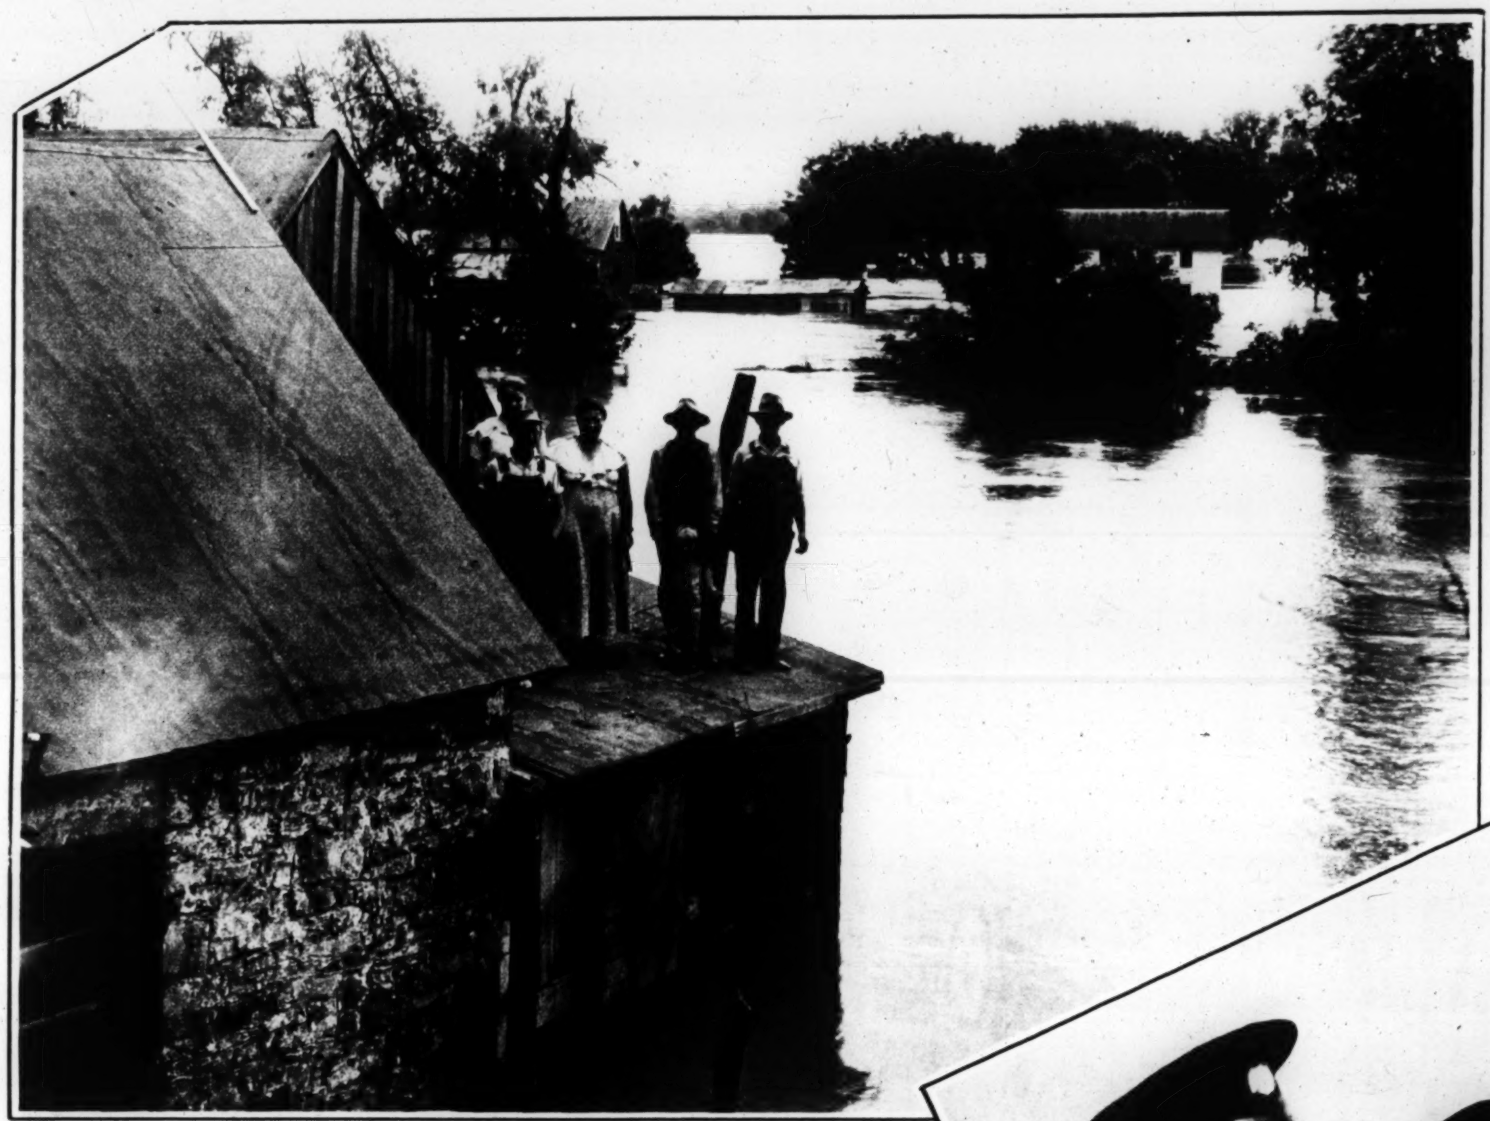


RUMBA—Una Val and Duke McHale, featured dancers in the Municipal Opera company, shown in various successive figures in a dance they perform during the production of "Rio Rita," which closes tonight at the theater in Forest Park.

—By a Post-Dispatch staff photographer.

CREVE COEUR MEANS BROKEN HEART—Farmers in the vicinity had good cause to think Creve Coeur Lake appropriately named, when its waters (vaguely at right) merged with those of the Missouri River in one of the first stages of the worst flood this generation has seen.

"SOME CORNER OF A FOREIGN FIELD"—French children from the nearby village of Coulonges gathered on Memorial day to decorate the grave of Quentin Roosevelt, the late President's son, who was buried where his plane fell in an aerial battle during the war.



THE FLOOD IN KANSAS—Typical scene when the family of Paul Sample had to take refuge on the roof of their house near North Lawrence, while the swollen waters of the Kaw River menaced them and destroyed their property.

ROMANO MUSSOLINI

The Italian dictator's son belongs to the "Sons of the She-Wolf," a Fascist organization for children between six and eight years old and named for the legendary wolf that suckled Romulus and Remus. He is shown at a mass demonstration in Rome, a little unnerved by the camera.

WHICH DO GENTLEMEN PREFER? Two entrants in a contest which will be held in Los Angeles, partly to "determine" whether Eve was a blonde or a brunette. They are Gruenne Seager (blonde) and Darinka Kulich. Each has more than four feet of hair.

Wasser-Auto

DROVE OVER TO DOVER—Jacob Baudig drove an amphibian car of his own invention from his home in Coblenz to England. He crossed the Channel from Calais in six and a half hours, the first motorist to get from Germany to England without boarding a ship.

Near the Iron County quarrying region is this unique formation, a long hill of solid granite surmounted by these picturesque relics of the ice age. Although part of a private estate, the land containing this natural monument is open to visitors.

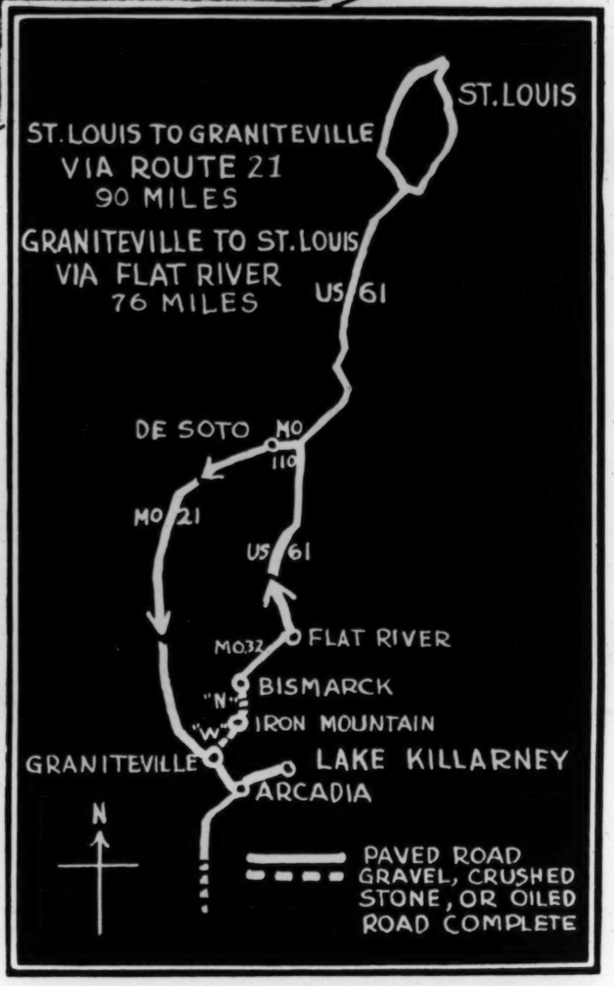
Balanced rock: Although it weighs several tons, this giant boulder is so perfectly balanced that a small boy can move it several inches with little effort. It is part of the scenic formation pictured above.



Route of the suggested tour, showing the proximity of Graniteville to Arcadia and the resort region around Lake Killarney. Among other points of interest not shown here are Civil War fortifications at Pilot Knob, Tip Top Mountain, the remains of Iron Mountain (near the town of the same name), and the picturesque streets of Ironton.

SOME THEATRICAL VIEWS OF THE ANTARCTIC

The crevasse peril: View from below as members of the crew of a tractor worked to cut a ramp so that it could work itself free of a crevasse into which it had inadvertently fallen while carrying supplies on one of the eastern excursions.

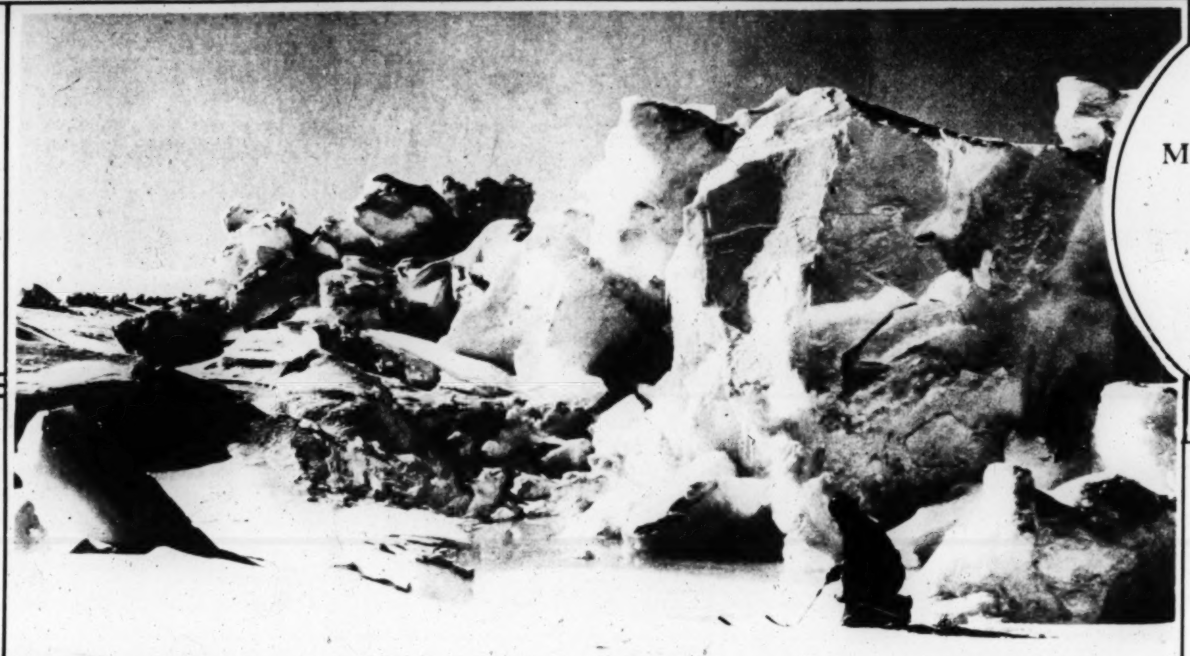
Copyright by Byrd Antarctic Expedition II.



Piled up by subterranean forces: A ridge in the pressure ice—the most difficult sort of obstacle for exploration parties to cross.

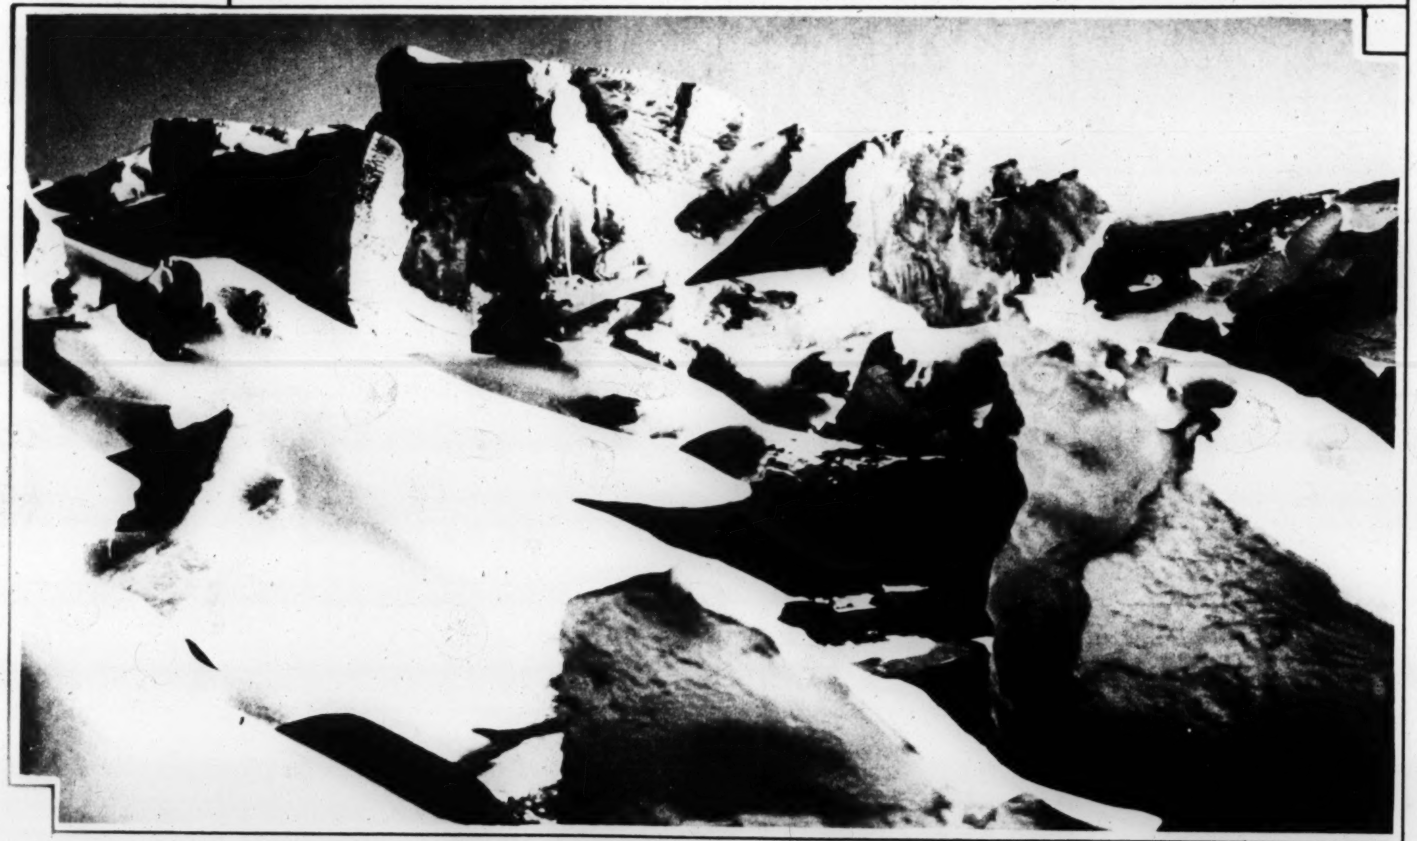


Illustration for "The Ancient Mariner": Such fantastic formations as this ridge of pressure ice exhibits would have appealed to Coleridge, the author of an imaginary epic of South Polar travel.

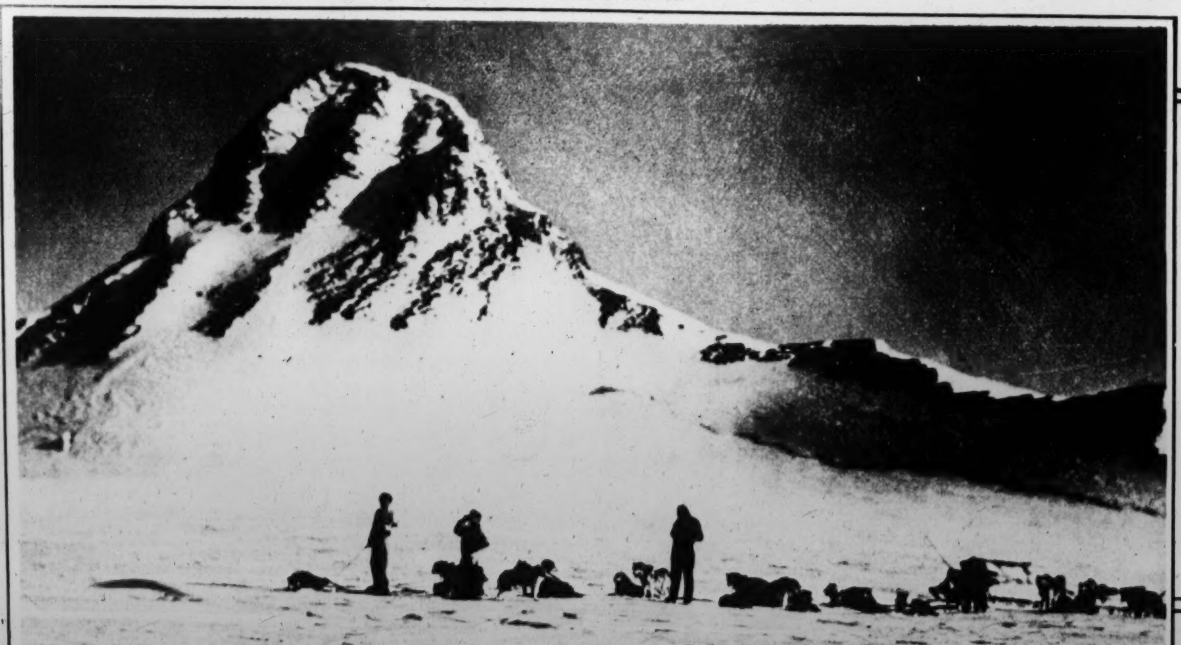

Sledge party: Paul Siple, who was a Boy Scout when he went on the first Antarctic expedition was the veteran who led his team of explorers and huskies to the base of the Edsel Ford Range, one of the peaks of which appears in the background.

Let's look at the WOMEN
Men Marry

Blondes, brunettes, red heads.
Tall, short, and five feet five.
Slender, medium—and larger.
Quiet, lively, clever, clinging, dominating.

THE women men marry are as various and different as the men who marry them.

But there is one quality which unfailingly attracts all men—the essentially feminine quality of immaculateness of person.

The smart woman knows that the greatest danger to this quality is the unpleasant odor of underarm perspiration.

She knows that her daily bath cannot protect her. She must give her underarms special care. And for this nothing is quicker and surer than Mum!

A light fingertipful of Mum under each arm, and you have all-day protection.

You can use it any time—after you're dressed just as well as before. For Mum is harmless to clothing.

The daily Mum habit pays, as thousands of women will tell you. Hadn't you better try it? Bristol-Myers, Inc., 75 West St., N. Y.

USE MUM ON SANITARY NAPKINS and know what it means to be free from the fear of this cause of unpleasantness.

GATEWAY TO THE EAST—The Suez Canal conveys the most heterogeneous traffic in the world. About the same time as this picturesque fleet of lateen-rigged scows passed through, England took in a considerable profit by permitting the passage of Italian troop transports en route to East Africa to menace the Abyssinian border.

SHE WEARS A FAMOUS NAME

Sonya, daughter of Leopold Stokowski, celebrated conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, is shown with her mother, Mme. Olga Samaroff, as they were photographed in Washington recently. Mme. Samaroff, well-known concert pianist and teacher, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Hickenlooper of St. Louis.

HERO WORSHIP—Guests at the Countess di Frasso's bon voyage party in Hollywood were asked to come as characters they particularly admired. Marlene Dietrich appeared as Lida, with Zeus-metamorphosized-as-a-swan twined about her neck. The hostess herself appeared as L'Oiseau de Feu, supernatural spirit in a Russian fable which Stravinsky has made into a famous ballet.

SAFE VANTAGE—A pair of baby opossums at the Los Angeles Zoological Gardens get a look at the world from the back of their fearfully snarling mother.

BAD BREATH, dull teeth, and much tooth decay, say dentists, come from the same source—improperly cleaned teeth . . . decaying food deposits which collect in crevices between the teeth, around the gums and tongue.

And Colgate's Dental Cream gets at this cause. Its penetrating foam gets down between the teeth—works into every crevice. Odor-breeding deposits are emulsified, washed away. Every surface of every tooth is thoroughly cleaned—your whole mouth is fresher, your breath beyond reproach.

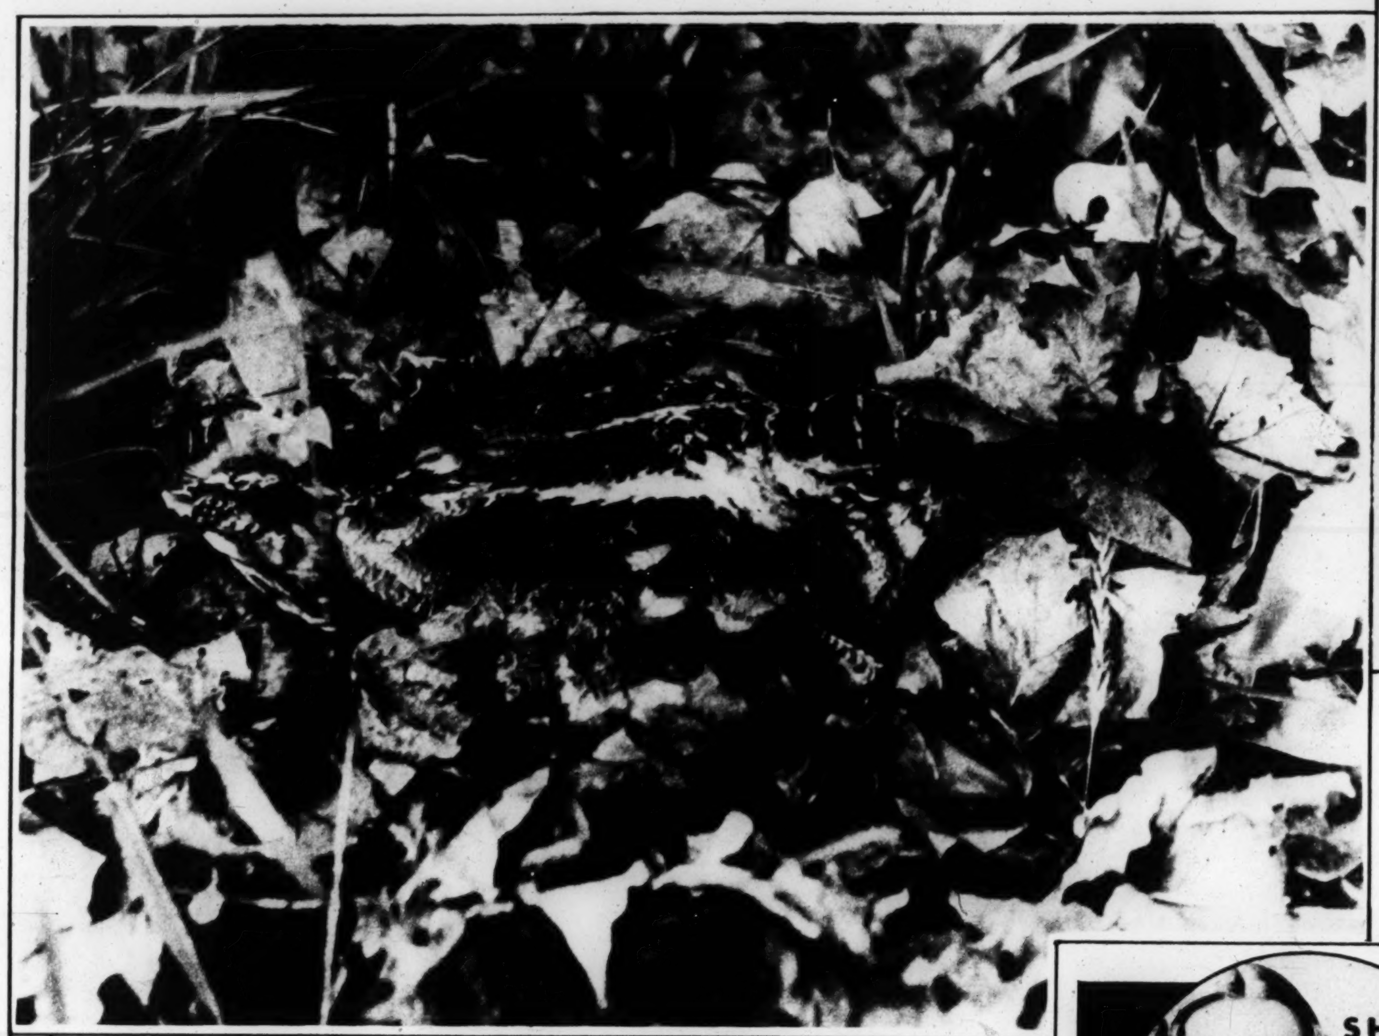
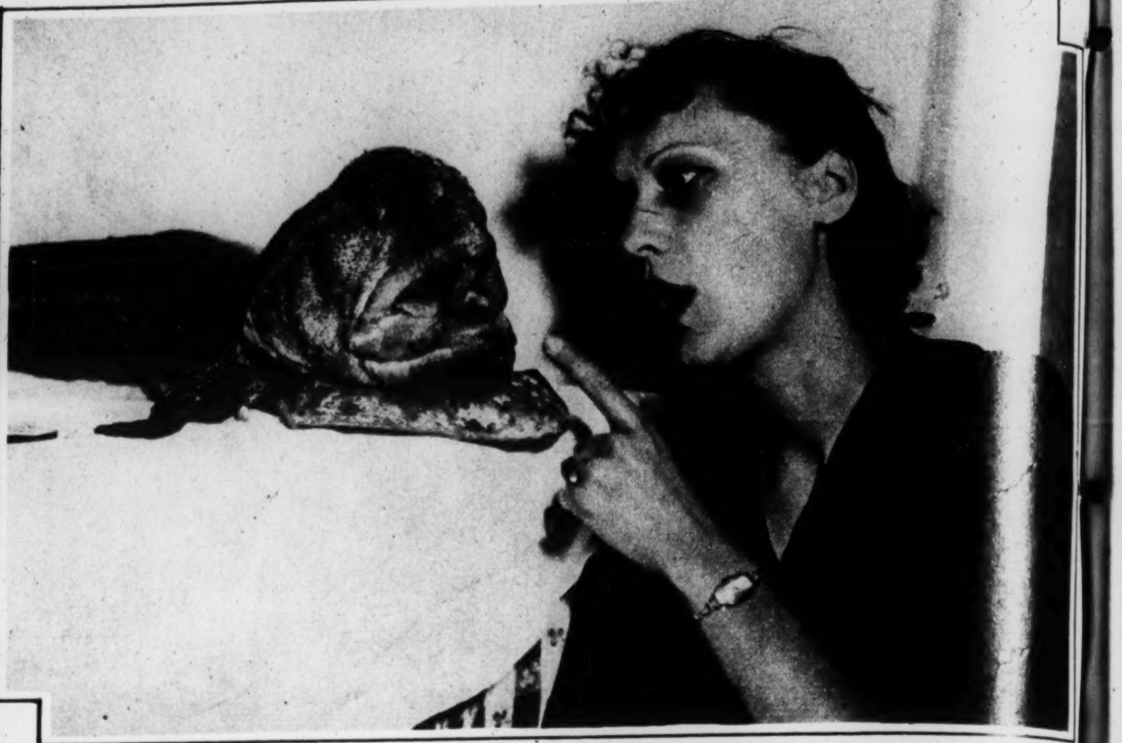
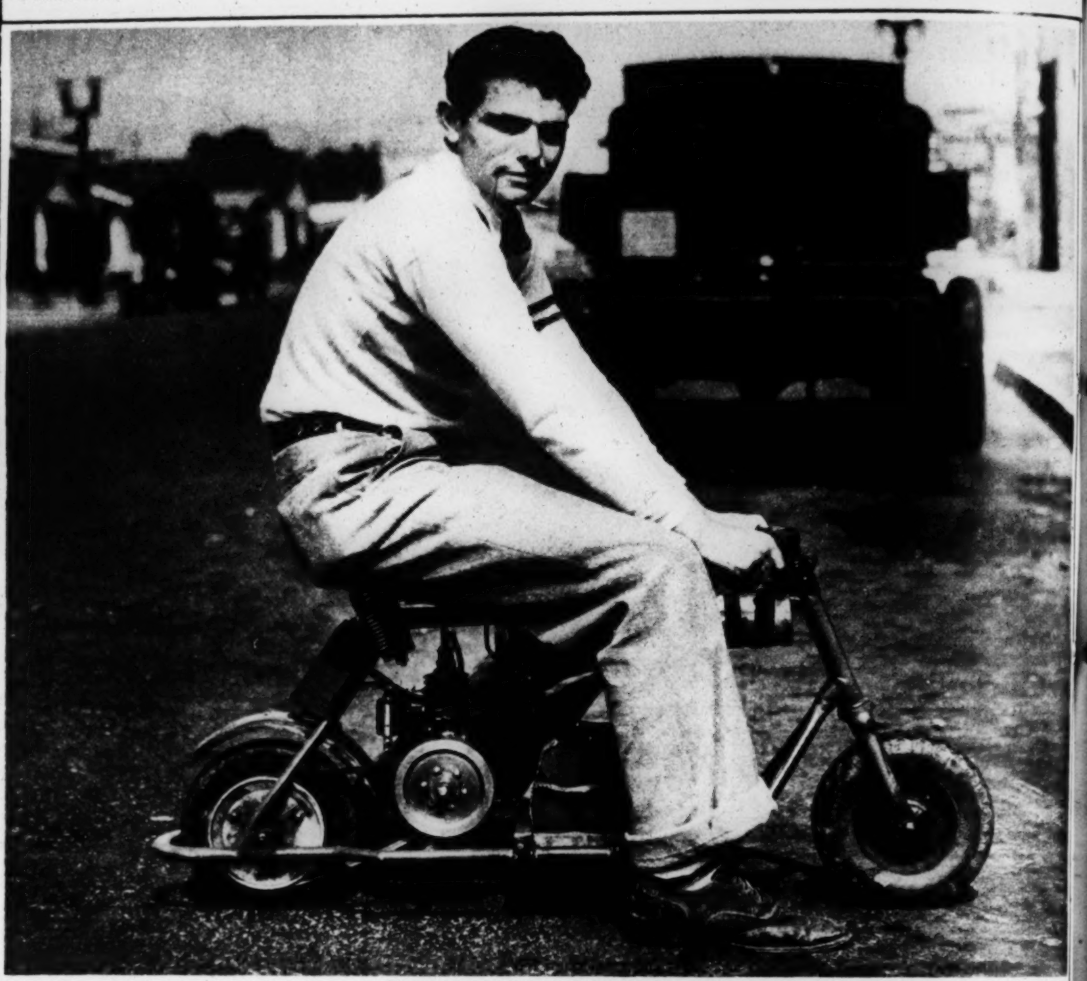
NATURAL PROTECTION—An expectant mother woodcock setting on her leafy nest near Ironton, Mo., is marvelously protected from detection by the markings of her feathers, so much so that she stayed there after a flashlight had been set off to make the picture below. Above is the same photograph treated to make the bird's outlines visible.





"SEA SERPENT"—Attached to the hideous face of this marine monster is a tail which begins just behind the flappers and extends nine feet. It was caught by deep-sea fishermen and brought to San Francisco.



BOY INVENTOR — A Glendale (Cal.) student, Stanley Griffin, invented this tiny motorcycle, which is capable of traveling 150 miles on a quart of gasoline and goes 23 miles an hour. It is powered by a converted air compressor motor.

Here's why only Super Suds could protect Mrs. Gillespie's hands—keep them young and lovely despite 7000 dishwashings.

HOW foolish for you to let your hands become rough and old-looking—just because you must wash dishes every day! Why not instead join Mrs. Gillespie and the millions of other women who have used Super Suds for 4, 5 and 6 years?

For Super Suds is a new form of soap—created specially for dishwashing. Made in tiny hollow beads, it dissolves instantly, completely! Unlike the average, slow-dissolving soap, it leaves no undissolved particles . . . no impurities that irritate tender skin and give hands that red, ugly, "dishwashing" look!

And because Super Suds dissolves so quickly, so completely, it makes dishwashing far quicker and easier. It leaves no gummy, undissolved particles to streak or mar dishes or glasses. Just a quick rinse and they come sparkling clean in a jiffy!

HO HUM! WHAT A WEATHER, EH?
THAT REMINDS ME TODAY THOSE UPPISH CUDDLES, WHO FOUGHT SO MUCH WHEN THEY LIVED UPSTAIRS, SWAGGERED PAST ME ON THE STREET.
SPEAKING OF BOTTLES REMINDS ME
BOTTLES? WHAT HAVE THOSE CUDDLES, WHO ARE ANTI-EVERYTHING, GOT TO DO WITH BOTTLES?
LISTEN JO, A MAN WALKED INTO A STORE AND BOUGHT A BOTTLE. YOU'VE GOT THAT?
A BOTTLE OF WHAT?
IT WAS EMPTY. ALSO, HE DECIDED TO BUY A CORK.
BUY IT? THEY THROW CORKS IN WITH BOTTLES. ALWAYS.
THIS STORE WAS DIFFERENT. I'LL CHARGE YOU $1.10 FOR THE BOTTLE AND CORK, SAID THE CLERK.
$1.10 FOR AN EMPTY BOTTLE? HOW BIG WAS IT?
REGULAR SIZE! $1.10 IS OKAY, SAID THE MAN, BUT I'M A VERY CAREFUL BUYER AND SO...
A CAREFUL BUYER PAYING $1.10 FOR AN EMPTY BOTTLE? $1.10? WHERE DID THIS HAPPEN?
RIGHT HERE IN TOWN. OKAY, SAID THE MAN, BUT...
DID YOU SEE HIM OFFER TO PAY THAT MUCH?
LISTEN JO, AS I EXPLAINED, THIS IS AN INTELLIGENCE TEST
OF WHO..? THE MAN WHO PAID $1.10 FOR...
LISTEN...AND SO, SAID THE MAN, IF YOU CHARGE $1.10 FOR BOTH, HOW MUCH IS THE CORK ALONE?
WHY DID HE WANT JUST THE CORK?
WELL, SAID THE CLERK, IN CHARGING YOU $1.10, I GOT $1 MORE FOR THE BOTTLE THAN I CHARGED YOU FOR THE CORK.
GEORGE, DON'T BELLOW SO LOUDLY. AND YOUR FACE IS AS RED AS FIRE.
TO BEGIN WITH, THEY NEVER CHARGE FOR CORKS NEVER.
WELL, THIS MAN INSISTED ON PAYING FOR IT.
INSISTED? AND YOU ASK ME IF I THINK HE WAS INTELLIGENT?
I WANT TO KNOW WHAT HE PAID BY BUYING JUST THE CORK.
A MOMENT AGO YOU SAID HE BOUGHT BOTH THE CORK AND THE BOTTLE.
HE DID, BUT HE WAS A CAREFUL BUYER, AND SO HE SAID TO THE CLERK, HERE'S THE $1.10.
CAREFUL! $1.10 FOR AN EMPTY BOTTLE! WELL, DON'T BOTHER TO EXPLAIN TO ME AGAIN.

NED BRANT By BOB ZUPPKE
DRAWN BY B. W. DEPEW
HERE'S OUR CHANCE, SHOTGUN, TO LOOK OVER THE HIDEOUT OF THOSE TOUGH GENTS!
NED, IF THEY FIND US HERE, THEY'D START A ROW THAT WOULD MAKE A FOOTBALL GAME SEEM LIKE A PILLOW FIGHT!
MAYBE WE CAN FIND SOME CLUE TO WHAT THEY'RE DOING ON A FARM THAT HAS NO CROPS-
YOU'RE NOT FORGETTING THEY PROWLED THE CARTER GEOLOGY STUDENTS' CAMP LAST NIGHT!
BUT THEY DIDN'T FOLLOW THE STUDENTS HERE— THEY WERE HERE BEFORE THE CAMP WAS PITCHED—THE DOOR'S UNLOCKED— GOOD!
HOW DO YOU KNOW THERE AREN'T MORE THAN THE TWO WE SAW— MAYBE INSIDE!
SOMEONE'S COMING, NED!
GET BEHIND ME, SHOTGUN— WHEN THE DOOR OPENS, WE CAN PILE 'EM INTO A HEAP AND BEAT IT!
NEXT TIME I FAIL TO LOCK THE DOOR, BUTCH WILL LET ME HAVE ONE RIGHT ON THE SNOOT— HE SAID SO—
MAYBE I OUGHT TO TAKE A LOOK AROUND— JUST TO BE SURE WE HAVEN'T ALREADY HAD SNOOPERS!
WELL, NOT MUCH CHANCE, I GUESS— THE ONLY PEOPLE AROUND HERE ARE THOSE COLLEGE KIDS, AND THEY'VE GONE TO BED—
WE'VE GOT THINGS IN THERE WE DON'T WANT ANYONE TO SEE— AND IF ANY OF THOSE EDUCATED YOUNG BRATS COME AROUND HERE - WELL - !
THE DOOR'S LOCKED! WE'LL HAVE TO LEAVE THROUGH A WINDOW— THAT WAS A CLOSE ONE!
A CLOSE ONE FOR HIM! IF HE HAD STUCK HIS HEAD IN, I'D HAVE TICKLED HIM UNDER THE CHIN!

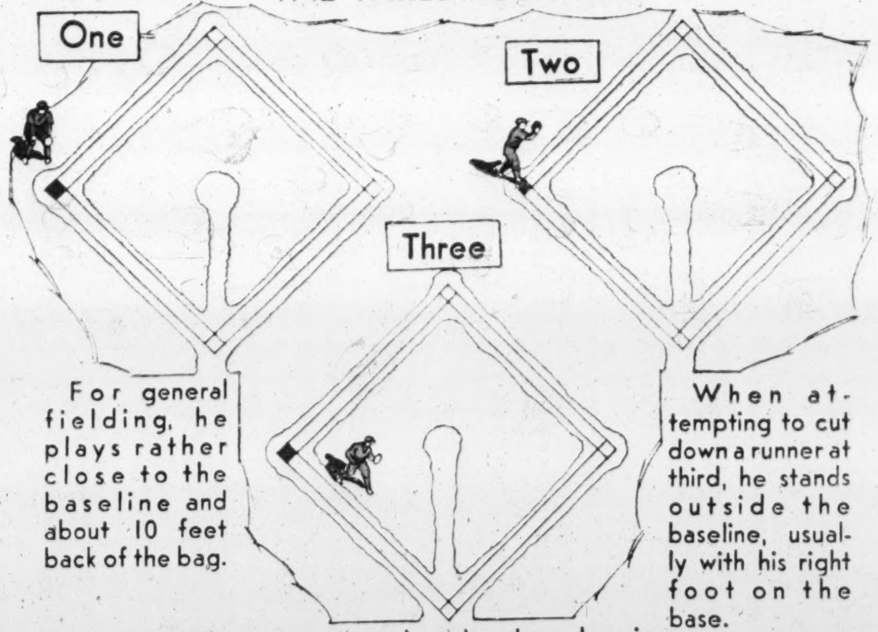
BOYS, HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO HEAR ABOUT MY HUNT FOR BIG GAME IN AFRICA?
THAT WOULD BE SWELL, JAKE!
HOORAY!
WE DECIDED TO HUNT LIKE THE NATIVES, WITH SPEARS— WE HAD JUST ENTERED A CLEARING AND A HUGE LION CAME AT ME!
6-16
AS HE CAME AT ME I DREW STEADILY BACK ON MY BOW AND POINTED THE STEEL-TIPPED ARROW RIGHT AT HIS FOREHEAD—
BUT, JAKE-
I MISSED HIM THE FIRST TIME, BUT KNOCKED HIM CLEAR OFF HIS FEET WITH TWO MORE QUICK SHOTS—
JUST A MINUTE, JAKE—
I THINK YOU SHOULD EXPLAIN TO THE BOYS WHETHER YOU THREW THE BOW AND ARROW, SHOT THE SPEAR OR TWANGED THE GUN!

Baseball . . . . By NED BRANT

How to Play Third Base

The "hot corner," third base is called, because the third sacker usually has time for only one grab at the ball ---it comes at him so fast. In addition to being able to handle "hot ones" the third baseman should be able to run to his left and intercept slow ground balls headed for the shortstop.

THE THREE POSITIONS



One
Two Three

For general fielding, he plays rather close to the baseline and about 10 feet back of the bag.

The third baseman must be able to tear in to meet bunts or slow ground balls, grab the ball with his bare hand and shoot it to first without a lost motion. The faster the baserunner, the faster he must move.

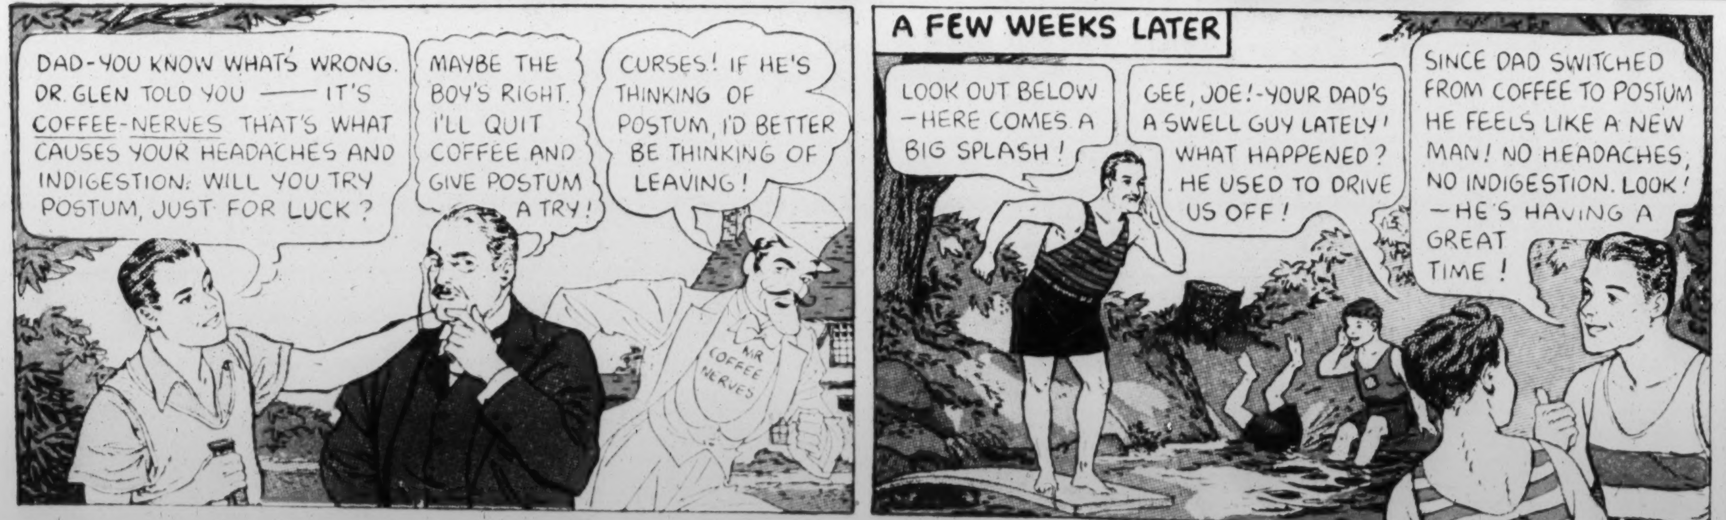
NOW FLY UP IN THE AIR — POP OFF LIKE YOU ALWAYS DO!
MR. COFFEE NERVES



DAD - YOU KNOW WHAT'S WRONG. DR. GLEN TOLD YOU — IT'S COFFEE-NERVES THAT'S WHAT CAUSES YOUR HEADACHES AND INDIGESTION. WILL YOU TRY POSTUM, JUST FOR LUCK?
MAYBE THE BOY'S RIGHT. I'LL QUIT COFFEE AND GIVE POSTUM A TRY!

MR. COFFEE NERVES

GEE, JOE! - YOUR DAD'S A SWELL GUY LATELY! WHAT HAPPENED? HE USED TO DRIVE US OFF!
SINCE DAD SWITCHED FROM COFFEE TO POSTUM HE FEELS LIKE A NEW MAN! NO HEADACHES, NO INDIGESTION. LOOK! — HE'S HAVING A GREAT TIME!

"Well, Dr. Glen said the caffein in coffee bothers lots of grown-ups too. It can set their nerves on edge, cause headaches or indigestion, or prevent sound sleep."

Many people can safely drink coffee. But many others — and all children — should never drink it.

If you suspect the caffein in coffee is undermining your nerves, interfering with your digestion, robbing you of sleep — — — try POSTUM for 30 days. It is simply whole wheat and bran roasted and slightly sweetened. It's delicious, economical, easy to prepare — and may be a real help. A product of General Foods.

FREE — let us send you a week's supply of POSTUM FREE! Just mail the coupon.
